Canadian Soldiers Wreck Tavern In Germany Riot

CELLE, Germany (Reuters)—Canadian Army officers went to the nearby village of Bergen today to investigate a riot last night in which their men wrecked a tavern and injured two Germans. The inn had been the scene of an earlier disturbance, broken up when proprietor Willy Hohgreve summoned a Canadian officer whose wife lives there. Hohgreve said today he thought the troops were seeking "revenge" against him for having called the officer. He said about 20 men took part in last night's outbreak.

Hohgreve said that six Canadians entered his hotel and started throwing beer glasses at the German guests. Then 20 other Canadians "stormed" in, Hohgreve said. They smashed nearly all the furniture, the cash register, the bar and all windows. Then they used chair legs to beat Germans who were present.

German officials said today the Canadians did not appear to have been drinking. They said British police had refused to intervene.

Spokesmen of the 27th Canadian Infantry Brigade declined comment except to say that the Canadians came from a training camp outside Bergen. A report will be made to brigade headquarters.

The brigade's public relations office reported later that at least 30 soldiers took part in the riot. They were believed to be from the Royal Canadian Artillery or the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed near Bergen.

A brigade spokesman said the culprits will be "punished justly" if discovered.

Philip Named Britain's First Gentleman

LONDON (Reuters).—The Duke of Edinburgh yesterday officially became the first gentleman in the land. By Royal warrant, the Queen decreed that her 31-year-old husband ranks next to her in precedence at official functions.

The announcement, printed in last night's official London Gazette, clears up the Duke's position in the protocol laid down for the Royal Family and nobility. Up to now, he has been junior to the three other Royal Dukes, the Duke of Gloucester, The Duke of Windsor and the Duke of Kent.

He was created Duke of Edinburgh, and given the title His Royal Highness, on his marriage November 20, 1947.

Since the Queen's accession, their son Prince Charles, the heir-apparent who will be four years old in November, has technically been first gentleman. Now his father replaces him.

COULD CHANGE

But the Duke holds that position only while the Queen lives. When she dies Prince Charles will automatically become king in direct line of succession.

If the Duke is still alive when his son ascends the throne, his position will once again need to be officially defined.

The London Gazette announcement said: "The Queen has been graciously pleased by warrant to declare and ordain that His Royal Highness Philip, Duke of Edinburgh....shall henceforth upon all occasions and in all meetings except where otherwise provided by Act of Parliament, have, hold and enjoy place, pre-eminence, and precedence next to Her Majesty."

Cyril Hankinson, editor of Debrett's Peerage, the 3,000-page guide to Britain's nobility, said tonight the Queen was doing the same thing as Britain's last queen Queen Victoria, who issued a sim-

Power Failure Across Ontario

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Failure of a generator at the R.L. Hearn steam generating plant in Toronto threw the entire provincial hydro system out for varying periods this morning.

London's voltage dropped for four minutes shortly after noon.

R.M. Laurie, regional manager, Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario said that with the Toronto plant cut out of the system, remaining generators, at Niagara, Des Joachim and Windsor, were unable to fill in additional power since the break came at the noon peak.

In Peterborough the power was off for about 15 minutes and came on again a minute or two after 12 o'clock. Housewives cooking with electricity had trouble getting their dinners ready and probably many a roast was ruined. The Examiner's wire news service from Canadian Press in Toronto was affected also.

Will Continue To Ignore Lights

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Firemen bound for the scene of a fire or other emergency will continue to go through red traffic signals in defiance of the Ontario Highway Traffic Act, Fire Chief R. C. McRonald said today.

"I don't expect my men to sit by the side of the road in an emergency if nothing is coming," he said.

Monday city councillors were critical of the act as they launched a move for the reinstatement of the chauffeur's licence of fireman Douglas McKay, suspended after a July 29 collision involving two fire department vehicles. McKay had pleaded guilty in city court to driving past a red light.

Chief McRonald pointed out that another section of the same act required motorists to pull to the curb on the approach of emergency vehicles.

He said his men would go through the lights "with caution" proceeding "in hopes nobody will lay a charge."

$8,000 Still Missing From Stolen $74,000

PORT LORING (CP) — Police have been unable to find $8,000 of the $74,000 cache which a Florida dentist has been charged with stealing from his friend, a prominent lumberman here.

Dr. Winstead S. Moore, 58, of Palm Beach has been charged with the theft of the money from Shirley S. Clapperton, 37. The theft was discovered when customs men found $55,000 in a car carrying Mrs Moore, Mrs. Clapperton and Clapperton's son at the Fort Erie border crossing.

The case has been set for Thursday at Parry Sound. Officials, however, believe it will be held over until Oct. 9 when it will be heard at Powassan.

Port Loring is about 45 miles north of Parry Sound.

Kill 45 POW's In New Korean Riot

U.S. Guards Use Guns To Quell Outbreak 120 Others Wounded

CHEJU ISLAND, Korea — (AP)—United States guards with blazing guns today killed 45 Chinese prisoners of war and injured 120 others in quelling a riot. The P.O.W.s were celebrating the third anniversary of China's Communist regime when some fanatics turned the jubilee into an attack on their guards.

"The majority of those killed and wounded were shot," said a command spokesman.

Two U.S. soldiers were injured slightly.

The spokesman said:

"It was really a fight. Due to all the confusion that surrounds an incident like this one, many details are lacking."

The 500 prisoners battled two infantry platoons—about 80 men—with stones, rocks, clubs, tent poles and improvised weapons.

From a standpoint of fatalities, today's riot was the second-largest among P.O.W.s in Korea announced by the army. Last February, in a similar riot on notorious Koje Island, 80 prisoners were killed.

About 6,400 hard-core Chinese Communists are quartered in various camps around Cheju City on the island south of Pusan. Also on Cheju are about 13,600 Chinese captives who have said they would resist repatriation to Communist China.

Today's fighting was a full-scale riot, the army said, with the prisoners "reverting to former patterns of violence."

The army said the commander of the Cheju camp yesterday issued an order against prisoner demonstrations. American guards went to the compound at 7:30 a.m. to form work details to continue construction in a "vast winterization program."

WAITING FOR TROUBLE

An army announcement added: "The guards not only found the prisoners demonstrating, milling around and singing, but found that they had put up improvised Communist flags in the compound."

The guards called the camp commander and he "issued orders by loudspeaker that if the demonstration was not stopped, force would be used to effect compliance."

Winds Delaying Atomic Tests

ONSLOW, Australia (Reuters)—Test of Britain's first atomic weapon was reported to be delayed today by strong high-altitude winds which might blow dangerous radioactive dust across Australia from the Monte Bello Island test site, 85 miles off the northwest coast.

In atomic tests in the U. S., authorities have apparently relied on variable winds at high levels to disperse the radio-active formation. But winds here are reported blowing steadily in across the continent.

Woman Reported Driving Car As Robbers Flee

PRINCETON (CP)—Two men looted the bank here of $5,000 today and escaped in a gray car witnesses said was driven by a woman. It is believed much of the cash stolen from the Canadian Bank of Commerce sub-branch was made up of tobacco growers' proceeds from the season just ended.

Provincial police at Brantford announced about two hours after the robbery that the cash box in which the thieves carried away their loot had been found near Burford, 10 miles west of Brantford. The box had been emptied of money.

In the Kitchener district Provincial Police cruisers joined in the hunt. A Kitchener city police car, also assigned to the search, was sent to the Plattsville area.

R. R. Butson, sub-agent of the bank's branch at Paris, was accosted inside the bank by a man who stuck a gun in his ribs. As Butson turned, he was struck twice over the head by a rubber hose filled with BB-shot and then bound hand and foot.

ROBBERS MASKED

He said the faces of his assailant and the second robber were masked with handkerchiefs.

As the intruders left, they took with them the bank's sawed-off .38-calibre pistol.

After the bandits left, Butson crawled across the floor and knocked the cradle telephone from its hook. He reported the robbery to the telephone operator.

The operator got in touch with Postmaster C. G. Carson, whose post office is near the bank. Carson went to the bank and released Butson.

Police threw up roadblocks in the district surrounding this police village in the northern part of southwestern Ontario's tobacco-growing section.

DRIVEN BY WOMAN

Witnesses said the getaway car, reported driven by a woman dressed as a man and possibly the leader of the holdup gang, was a gray 1952 model.

The bank, a sub-branch operated by the Canadian Bank of Commerce branch at Paris, is open Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Princeton itself is about 12 miles east of Woodstock.

Butson suffered a bruise on the forehead and another on the face when the thieves attacked him.

Mrs. Bert Meyers and Mrs. M. Raycraft, both of Princeton, said they saw a man emerge from a

Voting Heavy In First Free Election In Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Millions of Japanese voted today in Japan's first free election since the Second World War, and the fate of pro-American Premier Shigeru Yoshida rested with their decision.

Voting was heavy at the 46,000 polling places. By mid-afternoon an estimated 60 per cent of the 46,000,000 registered voters had cast ballots.

The polls close at 6 p.m. (4 a.m. EST).

Yoshida's dominant Liberal party was expected to win the greatest number of the 466 Parliament seats sought by 1,243 candidates.

LEADERSHIP CHALLENGED

Yoshida's main fight was within his own party. His leadership has been challenged by Ichiro Hatoyama, founder of the Liberal party and its head until he was purged from political life by the allied occupation.

Hatoyama turned over the party reigns to Yoshida in 1946 and the latter guided Japan's government through the occupation.

Hatoyama is not anti-United States. His differences with Yoshida are over financial policy. Yoshida wants a stable budget. Hatoyama is willing for Japan to have an unbalanced budget if it will get big industry rolling again.

There was a possibility that if Yoshida's candidates gained a majority of the Liberal seats, Hatoyama would bolt the party and join with the new Progressive party to form a coalition government.

The campaign preceding the election was conducted against a backdrop of critical issues facing this island on the rim of Communist China and Russia.

THE WORLD SERIES OPENER

Brooklyn Takes Opener 4-2

EBBETTS FIELD, New York—Rookie Joe Black won the first game of the 1952 World Series for the Brooklyn Dodgers to-day, pitching six-hit ball to down last year's champions, the New York Yankees, 4-2. He put the Yankees down in orwer in the top of the ninth inning, striking out Irv Noren, last man up. The Dodgers made it 3-1 in the bottom of the sixth on Duke Snider's long home run which scored Snider and Peewee Reese. Woodling's triple, then Bauer's long fly to centre brought in the Yankees' second run. Homers by Jackie Robinson and Gil MacDougald made it 1-1 until the last of the sixth. Yankees had six hits and two errors. Dodgers 6 hits and no errors. Joe Black of Brooklyn and veteran Allie Reynolds of New York, faced each other on the mound in a battle of right-handers as the Dodgers and Yankees clashed.

Black, winner of 15 games against only four defeats, was appearing in his 56th game this year. It was only his third start. Reynolds, the Yankees' only 20-game winner, was making his ninth appearance in a world series game. His inter-league record is four

U.S. Navy Now Has Ships Ready To Carry A-Bomb

PARIS (AP)—Dan Kimball, United States Navy Secretary, said today the U.S. has ships and navy planes capable of carrying atom bombs as well as a special guided-missile ship "already in being". But no A-bombs actually are aboard the navy craft, he added in a speech before the American Club of Paris.

The secretary, here during a tour of Allied installations in Europe, predicted that it will be "only a question of time before we can take advantage of atomic power" for propelling surface craft, including the largest combat ships and aircraft carriers.

Such a development, he continued, "will mean that carriers will

Kimball discussed guided missiles earlier at a press conference. He said the guided-missile ship the navy now has is intended for anti-aircraft use.

Referring to the recent use of guided planes for bombardment in Korea, Kimball said only limited use had been made there of such weapons because "important targets are not always available in that area."

Lassie's late owner, Axel R. Carlson, a retired gardener, left the bequest to care for the collie and sent her to live with Mrs. Gertrude Hanson, a friend.

German M.P. Lauds Policy Of Canadians

BONN, Germany (Reuters) — A Social Democratic member of the West German Parliament said today that the Canadian 27th Infantry Brigade "set a shining example by leaving their families at home" and not requisitioning German houses for living accommodations.

Heinrich Hoecker told the Bundestag (lower house) that the other western Allies were "recklessly egotistic" in taking over German houses for family use and added that they live too luxuriously.

"West Germans are terribly disappointed because instead of behaving like allies they use too much space for their homes," Hoecker declared.

He called for a new Allied-West German agreement which would place the Allies under German jur-

Hughes Retires From CNE Post

TORONTO (CP) —Elwood Hughes, associated with the Canadian National Exhibition for 47 years, 18 of them as general manager, retired yesterday from the $15,000-a-year post.

Former Mayor Hiram E McCallum, brought into the organization last spring, takes over the job.

Mr. Hughes will continue on full salary for a year and then will receive a $7,500-a-year pension. He will act as a consultant.

Tributes to him were paid by J.A. Northey, C.N.E. president, and Mayor Allan Lamport sometimes one of Mr. Hughes' severest critics. Mr. Northey said: "Mr. Hughes, more than any one individual, has been responsible for bringing the exhibition to its present high level." The mayor said

Predict Bevan Gains

LONDON (AP) — Conservative London newspapers say today that the opposition Labor party is on the verge of civil war following the gains of Aneurin Bevan's left-wing faction in election of the party executive. A Labor organ took a different view.

Harold Wilson and Richard Crossman, two henchmen of the fire-eating "Nye" Bevan, ousted old guard Labor leaders Herbert Morrison and Hugh Dalton from the executive committee yesterday at the party's annual conference at Morecambe.

This gave the anti-United States, anti-rearmament Bevan followers six of the seven committee seats allotted to local Labor parties. The remaining 21 seats — 12 of them allotted to trade unions—were held by staunch right-wing followers of the former prime minister, Clement Attlee, who faces a bitter fight with Bevan for leadership of the party.

SEE SHOWDOWN

Conservative political correspondents saw this as the beginning of a show[illegible] anti-Bevan trade-union leaders and the local parties.

"There is war to the knife between Attlee and company and the Bevan gang, and both know it," says the Conservative Daily Mail. "The Bevanite victories have angered the trade unions."

The pro-Conservative Daily Graphic says the gulf between the party's left and right wings now is so wide as to be almost unbridgeable.

"Today there is a party within the party," the Graphic says. "Tomorrow there may be two parties . . . the big trade unions who pay the socialist piper are tired of rebels who call the wilder tune."

The Daily Express suggests that the trade-union rank and file soon may force their leaders to side with Bevan.

PREDICTS BEVAN GAINS

"Although union leaders may rampage against him, they themselves are dependent on their own rank and file," the Express declares. "And what evidence there is suggests the rank and file may soon be for Bevan, too."

Deny Allied Planes Bombed Greek Troops

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—The United States Fifth Air Force today denied that Allied fighter-bombers had dropped bombs on Greek troops atop Big Nori hill in western Korea last Sunday.

Four F-80 Shooting Star jets swooped down on the hill as the Greeks braced to meet a counter-attack by Chinese Reds. The U.S. Eighth Army communique Sunday night said the four dropped bombs that landed where the Greeks were fighting.

The Greeks withdrew from Big Nori. A liaison officer with them said U. S. bombs killed one officer and four other ranks.

The air force announcement today said an investigation showed "No bombs fell on friendly positions" and the fighter-bombers "did not fire their guns."

The air force public information office would not elaborate on the statement.

Ontario Mayor Gets Welcome In Italy

Badanai, 59, flew to Rome and then came here by car late last night. He had revisited his north-eastern Italy birthplace twice before — once as a member of the Canadian expeditionary force during the First World War.

Bank Robbery Trial Ready To Go To Jury

TORONTO (CP)—Trial of Edwin Boyd, his brother Norman and William Jackson, charged with robbing the suburban Leaside branch of the Royal Bank of $46,207 is expected to go to the jury this afternoon. The Crown announced its case complete. Crown counsel A. O. Klein said he did not propose to contest evidence of Norman Boyd, who swore yesterday that he could not have joined in the robbery Nov. 30 because he was employed with a survey team of the civic works department at the time.

Fred McMahon, counsel for Norman Boyd, said in his address to the jury that the "one person to identify Norman Boyd at the holdup scene was Mrs. Betty Cooley." He said "she had one opportunity—when she was in a state of fright—when her mind was suspended, not working."

Edwin Boyd has pleaded innocent to the robbery, but in the statement admitted yesterday he was quoted as confessing to the holdup.

Boyd has pleaded guilty to a second bank robbery charge and still faces eight others. Also being tried for the Leaside robbery are Boyd's brother, Norman, and William Russell Jackson, who also pleaded innocent.

Two other members of the gang also are charged with the robbery but won't be tried. Steve Suchan and Leonard Jackson, no relation to William, have been sentenced to be hanged for the murder of a Toronto detective.

Det.-Sgt. Adolphus Payne told how Edwin Boyd last March 15 confessed to the robbery in the statement which was admitted as evidence. It was in that statement that he complained that an unnamed confederate had stolen $10,000 of the Leaside loot.

TELLS ROBBERY DETAILS

Boyd, in the statement, told how he and four others robbed the bank and made their getaway. He did not name his confederates.

He told how they agreed to split the loot four ways but "mine and one of the other fellows was stolen from us that night by a so-called friend."

"Did you report this loss to the police?"

"Are you kidding?"

"Anything else you wish to say?"

"I hope you catch that guy that took our money."

Norman Boyd denied taking part in the Leaside robbery. He testified he had worked on a survey job for the city the day of the robbery. Two of his superiors in the Works Department at City Hall supported his testimony.

Four witnesses have identified Edwin Boyd as one of the holdup men; two others said William Jackson was present with a gun.

Mrs. Betty Cooley, a clerk, was the only witness to testify that Norman Boyd was one of the bandits.

Bank Messenger Captures Holdup Man

MONTREAL (CP)—Jimmie Edison celebrated his 35th anniversary as a bank messenger yesterday by single-handedly capturing a long-wanted bank robber.

When the roly-poly Edison shoved a gun in the robber's back the man surrendered without a struggle. He is believed the same man who on Sept. 10 took $1,500 from the same bank—the Victoria Square branch of the Imperial Bank of Canada.

The bank was crowded with customers yesterday and the bandit waited in line, then shoved a cheque through the grill. On the cheque was written: "This is a holdup. Give me money."

Margaret Miles, on duty at the wicket, shouted "Holdup" and then ducked.

Edison pulled a gun from his pocket, shoved it against the bandit's back and told him: "Move and I'll blow your head off."

The man said "I do nothing," and meekly surrendered.

Transport Off Road Toronto Driver Hurt

BELLEVILLE. — A Toronto truck driver was injured and a truck and cargo valued at $35,000 lost Tuesday morning when a transport went off the Belleville road between Marysville and Napanee.

The driver, Bill Gourley, 29, went to hospital here with face burns and minor bruises.

Gourley's truck hit the shoulder of the road, went into the ditch and through a fence, then turned over. As he was crawling out a cab window the vehicle caught fire. The driver dashed to the centre of the road, fearing an explosion.

Another transport driven by Bill Norman, also of Toronto, brought the injured man to hospital here.

Gourley was bound for Montreal from Toronto with about 10 tons of mixed freight.

Justice Stricken With Heart Attack

WELLAND (CP)—Mr. Justice J.L. McLennan of the Ontario Supreme Court, stricken with a heart attack yesterday while presiding in court here, had a "fairly good night," officials at Welland County General hospital said today.

Mr. Justice McLennan, 44, was hearing evidence on rape charges against two Niagara Falls youths accused of attacking an 18-year-old Buffalo girl.

The court sessions were adjourned to tomorrow, but there may be further delay until another judge is named to resume the trial.

Red China Has Big Birthday Celebration

HONG KONG (Reuters) — Communist China celebrated its third birthday today with a massive parade of military might in the capital city of Peiping.

Twenty-seven salvoes from 50 big guns shook the capital as celebrations began.

Excited Chinese radio commentators describing the scenes in the capital said 400,000 persons were in the crowd, thousands waving Red flags. They roared applause when chairman Mao Tze-tung took his place on the rostrum beside the crimson-draped Tien an Men, gate of heavenly peace. Overhead was the inevitable giant portrait of Stalin.

BIG REVIEW

Before Mao's arrival, Gen. Chu Teh, commander-in-chief of China's army of 4,000,000 drove down long lines of soldiers, sailors and airmen in an hour-long review.

The national anthem boomed out of scores of loudspeakers erected throughout the city.

Pride of place was given to veterans returned from the Korean War.

The Communists proclaimed the Chinese "People's Republic" three years ago after their victory in the long civil war against the Nationalist forces of Gen. Chiang Kai-shek.

China Preparing 5-Year Plan Pravda Says

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda said in an editorial today the outlines of Communist China's first five-year plan now are being worked out in Peiping. It predicted the Chinese People's Republic would become an industrial power.

The statement in a front-page ditorial of the official Soviet Communist newspaper coincided with publication by the entire Soviet press of Prime Minister Stalin's greetings to the Chinese on the occasion of the Chinese Communist government's third anniversary. The message stressed Chinese-Soviet friendship.

This dispatch, which passed through Soviet censorship, made no other reference to the five-year plan other than to say it was being worked out.

Up to now the Communist Chinese have not announced any five-year plan as such, but economic plans have been in the making for some time, aiming at raising China's production in basic industries and agriculture.

Social Credit Author Dies

FEARNAN, Scotland (CP)—Clifford Hugh Douglas, prominent economist whose socialist theories of public finance were tried by the Alberta government in the depression years, died at his home here Monday. He was 73.

Douglas was the author of the Social Credit system and wrote several books on the subject including "The Alberta Experiment." When he first expounded his ideas in 1919 he was ridiculed for proposing to keep prosperity by juggling money values and giving citizens handouts to keep industries going. Then Social Crediters were known as the "funny money" group.

The Alberta Legislature passed legislation based on the Douglas theories but it was held invalid by the courts.

He resigned as reconstruction adviser in 1936 because he disagreed with the provincial government on how to put Social Credit into effect. In 1937 he was asked to be an adviser again but he refused.

Dodgers Lead

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Dodgers: Cox teed off on Reynolds' first pitch and chased Noren back to the left-centre field wall for his long liner.

Reese worked Reynolds for a full count, then watched a fast ball whizz by his knees for a third called strike.

Mantle loped in to get under Snider's high fly behind second base.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

SECOND INNING

Yankees: Berra's sharp grounder skidded off Hodges' glove but Robinson, backing up the first baseman, retrieved the ball and tossed to Black, who covered first, in time to get Berra for the out. Hodges received credit for an assist.

Collins sent a high fly to Furillo in short right.

Noren raised a high pop to Reese at the edge of the infield grass near third.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

SECOND INNING

Dodgers: Robinson walloped a home run, on a 3-and-2 pitch, into the lower left field stands, about 10 feet inside the foul line. It was the first hit of the game, Robinson's first World Series home run, and it put the Dodgers in front 1-0.

Campanella rifled a line single to right, Bauer preventing the hit from being an extra-base blow by playing the ball expertly off the wall.

Campanella was cut down stealing, Berra to Martin, in a very close play. Campanella, who had taken off from a big lead, protested briefly to Umpire Larry Goetz to no avail.

Pafko bounced out, McDougald to Collins.

Hodges accidentally tapped a one-one pitch down the first baseline and was an easy out, Reynolds to Collins.

One run, two hits, no errors, none left.

THIRD INNING

Yankees: McDougald lined a home run into the lower left field stands, the ball barely clearing the railing. Pafko, who made an unsuccessful leap for the ball, argued that a fan had reached over below the railing to interfere, but Umpire Boggess ruled the ball had cleared the railing. That tied the score 1-1.

Martin went down swinging to become Black's first strikeout victim.

Reynolds also struck out, swinging at a fast ball.

Bauer was called out on strikes for Black's third straight strikeout.

One run, one hit, no errors, none left.

SECOND INNING

Dodgers: Robinson scooped up Noren's roller and tossed to Hodges for the out.

No runs, two hits, no errors, two left.

Dodgers: Reese lined to Mantle who made a fine running catch in left-centre.

Snider smashed a double that hit the screen at the top of the right field wall and bounced back into the playing field.

Robinson walked on a full count.

Campanella rapped a hot grounder to Martin who tagged Robinson on the baseline and whipped to Collins at first for a double play.

FIFTH INNING

Yankees: McDougald walked. It was the first base on balls given up by Black.

Martin looped a single over third but McDougald was cut down at third by a fine throw from Pafko to Cox. Martin took second on the throw.

Reese fielded Reynolds' bounder and threw him out, holding Martin to second.

Bauer flied to Pafko who made a spectacular diving catch in short left-centre.

Dodgers: Pafko raised a high fly

McDougald made a neat pickup of Hodges' hot smash and threw him out at first.

McDougald also threw out Furillo.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

SIXTH INNING

Yankees: Rizzuto struck out.

Mantle slashed a single to left.

Hodges grabbed Berra's bounder and whipped to Reese forcing Mantle at second.

Collins rapped a one-bouncer to Hodges who stepped on first for the putout.

Dodgers: Black was called out on strikes for the second straight time.

Cox fouled to Berra behind home plate.

Reese rammed a single to right.

Reynolds uncorked a wild pitch that bounced into the dirt and off Berra's shinguards and Reese advanced to second.

Snider smashed a tremendous home run over the scoreboard in right centre field scoring Reese ahead of him and putting the Dodgers in front 3-1. It was Snider's first round-tripper in World Series competition.

McDougald fumbled Robinson's sharp grounder down the third baseline for the first error of the [illegible] left.

Cox attempted to steal but was out, Berra to Rizzuto, who made a spectacular catch of the throw to the wrong side of the bag and followed with a sprawling tag of the sliding runner.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

FOURTH INNING

Yankees: Rizzuto lined a single over Reese's head into left field.

Mantle bunted and beat Black's throw to first with a great burst of speed. Rizzuto advanced to second.

Johnny Rutherford, a righthander and Ken Lehman, a lefthander, started warming up in the Dodger bullpen.

Hodges grabbed Berra's hopper on the first bounce and threw to Reese forcing Mantle at second. Rizzuto reached third on the forceout.

Furillo came in fast for Collins' whistling liner to right and the right fielder's throw to the plate forced Rizzuto, who had tried to score after the catch, to scamper [illegible] on bans.

U.N. Bombers Smash Chemical Plant

SEOUL, Korea — (AP) — The United States Air Force today said only seven U.S. jets were shot down in the furious September air battles that cost the Communists at least 62 of their vaunted MiG-15s over Korea.

The announcement came soon after the Allies opened another month of air blows with a massive B-29 attack against a chemical plant only 40 yards from the Manchurian border. An armada of 48 Superforts dropped about 425 tons of high explosives on the Namsan plant in one of the biggest B-29 raids of the war.

The air force said four F-86 Sabre jets and three F-84 Thunderjets were lost in air battles; five Allied planes were lost to Communist ground fire and 18 other planes were lost to "other causes."

REVISE TOLL OF PLANES

Study of gun camera film revised the announced toll of Communist planes in September to 62 MiGs destroyed, seven probably destroyed and 57 damaged.

The Namsan chemical plant is about three miles from Suiho, a big hydro-electric plant serving North Korean and Chinese industries. The air force said all B-29s returned safely.

Other Allied planes hit Red positions all across the 155-mile-long battle front and behind the lines.

Colored pennants fluttered on the western front as Chinese Communists celebrated the third anniversary of the founding of their Red regime.

SAVAGE FIGHTING

Savage fighting flared on the central front west of the Pukhan River when a company of Chinese tried to capture an Allied hill position. The hand-to-hand fighting lasted nearly two hours. United Nations troops stood their ground and forced the Chinese back with bayonets, grenades and fists.

The U. S. Eighth Army said the Reds lost 3,171 men killed, wounded and captured last week in ground fighting. Comparable U. N. loss figures were not disclosed.

Ike, Truman Try To Destroy Other's Prestige

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dwight D. Eisenhower today accused the Truman administration of crushing a bipartisan approach to foreign policy, and President Truman accused Eisenhower of turning against public power projects and talking like a lobbyist for private power "monopolies."

Eisenhower and Truman, close associates for years in history-making events, dueled in the presidential campaign spotlight today while Democratic nominee Adlai Stevenson prepared for a new vote drive next week.

Eisenhower, Republican presidential candidate, said in opening a 28-state whistle-stop tour in Flint, Mich., that the bipartisan approach to foreign policy "is being crushed by the abuse" of Democrats. Eisenhower said the Truman administration tries to take all the credit for the good things and blame Republicans for all the bad.

TRUMAN ATTACKS IKE

The President said, in a speech prepared for dedication of the $108,000,000 Hungry Horse Dam in Montana, that "it will be a long time before you see another structure of this kind" if Eisenhower is elected.

Truman quoted the general as saying recently:

"The government will build the dams, the government will tell you how to distribute your power. . . The government does everything but come in and wash dishes for the housewife."

It was another speech in the President's attempt to destroy Eisenhower's prestige in a coast-to-coast campaign tour.

Guinness And Guthrie To Visit Canada For Shakespeare Festival

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON (CP) — Alec Guinness, versatile star of stage and screen, and Tyrone Guthrie, former director of the Old Vic theatre, have agreed to visit Canada next summer for a proposed Shakespearian festival at Stratford, Ont., it was announced today.

It was also learned that Jack Hawkins, a rising British character actor, and Tanya Moiseiwitsch, scenery designer, have expressed definite interest in the proposed festival.

The announcement concerning Guinness and Guthrie was made through Ontario House by Tom Patterson, special delegate of the Stratford committee who now is in London.

Guthrie, one of the top men in the British theatre, visited Stratford last July and was impressed by the possibilities of a festival there, the announcement said.

SENTIMENTAL URGE

"Canada is likely, in a surprisingly short time, to become one of the richest and most powerful countries in the world," Guthrie said. "There is a great sentimental urge in Canada to be influenced by Britain, while on the other hand there is a great practical urge to be influenced by the United States."

Guinness has established a reputation as one of Britain's outstanding post-war actors. He rocketed to fame as a film star in "Kind Hearts and Coronets." Then came a series of comedies including "Lavender Hill Mob," and "The Card."

Guinness now is appearing at the Aldwych theatre in "Under The Sycamore Tree" with Diana Churchill. It is understood he will turn down a film role to make the trip to Canada.

Plans for the festival have not yet been approved. It is hoped it will become an annual event, essentially Canadian even though some of the leading stars and directors will come from Britain.

Patterson conceived the idea of a festival when, as a schoolboy, he felt that a public park and brass band, comprising Stratford's main entertainment centre, were scarcely worthy of a town bearing such a noble name.

Despondent Wife Cremates Herself

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The medical examiner's office last night said a 44-year-old housewife, despondent over ill health, carefully removed her wedding ring and then cremated herself in the oil furnace of her home.

Detectives said Mrs. Marguerite Albert apparently turned off the master switch of the furnace and set its thermostat at 76 degrees, warmer than the house temperature. A rubber band and a stout card were found attached to the switch and hanging in front of the furnace door.

Detectives said Mrs. Albert climbed into the furnace and pulled the cord to the master switch before closing the furnace door.

Crushed By Press

BELLEVILLE, N.J. (AP) — A 50-year-old worker, his hand caught in a roller, was drawn into a huge machine press last night and crushed to death. Gerhard Kortelling died before horrified co-workers at the Federal Leather Co., could turn off the leather-coating machine.

Medical Society Meets At Cobourg

COBOURG (ENS) — Medical emergencies were discussed by Dr. William Oille of Toronto University at the regular meeting of the Northumberland and Durham Medical Society. He spoke on coronary thrombosis, acute pneumothorax and cerebral embolism, along with other matters, allied with acute medical emergencies.

Dr. Oille reviewed chief points in diagnosis of the various conditions and the selection of dosage of the most modern medicines used in treatment.

Modern advances in medical science and practice have extended the life expectancy of the whole population. This means that more people are living to the age at which conditions affecting the heart and arteries are common so that these problems are assuming a greater importance in medical practice than they did 25 years ago, it was pointed out.

Following the scientific session, short reports on the affairs of the society and plans for the next meeting were discussed by the president, Dr. Keith Slemon of Bowmanville and the secretary, Dr. H. B. Rundle of Bowmanville. Dr. C. W. MacAhrles, medical officer of the Health Unit, Cobourg, briefly outlined some of the details of the medical inspection of school children, re-inforcing doses of immunization and the provision of home nursing by the health unit staff.

Attending the meeting were Dr. Frank Lloyd, Dr. J. F. Leeson, Dr. I. Shaw, Dr. Barry Woods, Dr. W. E. Wilkins, Dr. D. H. Gear and Dr. W. W. Wade of Cobourg; Dr. E. A. Hunt, Dr. B. Mack, Dr. E. L. Wrathall and Dr. C. B. Kelly of Port Hope; Dr. H. B. Rundle, Dr. K. Slemon, Dr. H. Ferguson and Dr. V. H. Storey of Bowmanville; Dr. J. M. Fleming, Grafton; Dr. A. J. Andrews of Brighton, Dr. J. Iles, Colborne.

William D. Wilson

WESTWOOD (ENS)—The funeral of William David Wilson, who died suddenly at his residence, R.R. 3 Hastings, on Friday, was held Monday afternoon.

His pastor, Mr. A. Tomlinson of Westwood Presbyterian Church, conducted the service.

Mr. Wilson was a son of the late Alexander Wilson and Annie Mary Ferguson and was a native of Lake township. For nearly 15 years he was a blacksmith in Westwood and in 1933 moved to his present farm where his death occurred.

During the First World War he served with the 21st Battalion.

Our Working Women

Out of a total Peterborough population of 38,272 when the census was taken last year, 15,930 persons of the age of fourteen and over were working. Of this labour force, 4,640 were women—4,640 working women in Peterborough. It is no surprise that between a quarter and a third of the working people in the city are women, but this would have shocked our grandmothers whose lives were devoted to kirche, kinder and keuche. Church, children and kitchen are giving place to dollars and doughnuts (machine made, bought at a store).

* * *

The trend is inexorable. In 1941 when women were being recruited for industry and taking jobs vacated by men in the services, only 2,793 Peterborough women were registered by the census-takers as being gainfully employed. Of course, Peterborough's population is now greater, and the labour force is greater, but still the proportion of working women to men was smaller in 1941 than it was last year; less than a quarter. So it is apparent that women did not drop out of business, industry and the professions after the war emergency ended; instead, more women have gone to work. (Incidentally, our figures do not include women statistically called 'housewives'). The 'working woman' is no longer an exception in Peterborough society, nor in the Province or Canada generally, where the proportions are similar to Peterborough's figures. This change is of profound social and economic significance and seems to be permanent unless statute or some illustrious and frowning example (such as Queen Victoria gave) reverse the trend. This is not likely.

* * *

One meaning can be read into the figures of increasing employment of women; that the standard of living is dropping because women have to go to work to augment their husbands' pay and help support themselves and the family. As a consequence of this, family life and the family table suffer. That is the way some critics of North American capitalism would view the situation. Russia would not make this charge, since in Russia nearly every woman must work for a living. Canada—and Peterborough—are approaching this condition, but slowly. The country can still get along with fewer than a million women working.

* * *

Large numbers of women at work in factories, shops and professions do not necessarily mean that a country is hard up and the people struggling to stay alive, although in former times the number of women kept in the home or in idleness might have been a sign of opulence, as in eastern countries the size of his harem marked the man's station and wealth. Because more Canadian women are working than ever before can mean that the standard of living is increasing, for the women are producing money and goods as well as the men.

* * *

Today many women in Peterborough and other Canadian towns work not because they have to but because they want to. They and their husbands want more of the world's goods than their parents wanted. A young husband's income is not often great enough to afford a car, an electric stove, a refrigerator, holiday trips, professional entertainment and fine clothes. If the couple want these things, the wife may go to work. Sometimes the wife becomes so accustomed to earning her own money that she continues to work after the refrigerator and stove and car have been won. New material desires replace the first ones.

* * *

We cannot altogether dismiss the large number of Canadian women in shops, offices and factories as a sign of good times. High costs and taxes compel many young wives to work whether they want to or not, and whether they put babies and kitchen above car and holidays. They have to work to be able to afford a roof over their family heads. So it is in Russia and in Britain, and even in the great United States. And no country is truly rich which cannot keep a large number of women in good food, fancy clothes and leisure; or a large number of men in similar composure and fine raiment. When both men and women have to work for a living, as they do in Russia and as both are increasingly having to do in Canada, life is not as good as it should be and has been.

Conceived In The Pentagon, Born In Paris

Mr. Pearson, Minister of External Affairs, has returned from Europe with a piece of language which should have been nabbed by a censor at this port of entry.

At an Ottawa press conference on the recent North Atlantic Treaty Council meeting in Paris, he said that NATO expected a slight "slippage" on its 1952 military objectives. The word was not a slip of the tongue; it was deliberately slipped into his report. We know and use slipper, slipshod, slipway, slippery and even slippy (we might say that Mr. Pearson was slippy in using slippage); and now we have to know slippage—but God forbid that we ever use it or hear it again.

Mr. Pearson quipped that slippage was conceived in the Pentagon and born in Paris. That is no reason for Mr. Pearson's fondling the international bastard and bringing it back home. We have enough official, almost legitimate jargon now: check (double, triple), target (NATO, national, charity), joint (commission, planning, discussion), expedite (plans), gap (dollar), implement (the Colombo Plan), level (policy, local, national. Let us liquidate slippage soonest.

Tears Return To Politics

A notable incident in the news last week was Senator Nixon's defence of himself against those accusers who suggested that he had been receiving money dishonourably during his political career; he appears to have emerged from this incident with greater prestige than before, and General Eisenhower has been most cordial in accepting him as a running-mate. Those who heard Mr. Nixon on the radio must have been impressed with that part of his speech in which he defended himself; it was an uncommonly frank unbosoming; indeed, there were moments when it was embarrassing to some hearers. And a little surprise may have been caused by a subsequent picture of General Eisenhower and Senator Nixon weeping brokenly as they embraced each other. But to the student of human behaviour this merely suggests that tears have returned to politics and that manly weeping is once more respectable.

Men have always wept copiously, but there have been a few periods in history when they have been forced by custom to conceal the fact. Incidents of tears in history are many; to name but one, the British Parliament wept for five hours before authorising the execution of King Charles I, and the principal weeper, or Chief Crocodile, was Oliver Cromwell. Let it be noted that these tears in no way softened their determination to get rid of an enemy, but they were shed, nevertheless.

We have been going through a tearless period since the beginning of this century. Asquith wept now and then, and so did Earl Grey, but they liked to preserve old customs. The British Parliament which dealt with the abdication of Edward VIII never even sniffed, so far as we know. Mr. Churchill has never given a public demonstration of feeling along these salty lines. No American President, with the possible exception of Harding, has done any weeping since the turn of the century. But tears are back, and we may expect to see them from now on in politics, whenever the emotional atmosphere calls for something special. And no doubt the example will be followed in other, less glorious, walks of life.

Talking Turkey

We are happy to have a circular called Let's Cook Turkey, which is the work of the Poultry Department of the Ontario Agricultural College, and which has just arrived. If you want one, you may have it free at the office of the local agricultual representative, and we suggest that it is well worth your attention. If you have never cooked a turkey before you will find all the steps methodically set down for you; if you are an experienced cook you may still learn something from the selection of turkey recipes which the booklet contains.

Canadian cooks have access to the finest foodstuffs in the world, and when a great number of Canadian cooks have finished with them they are not fit to eat. As cooks, we Canadians are nowhere near as good as our neighbours in the U.S.; we are not as good as the mentioned in the same breath as the French. Too many of our cooks suffer from the delusion that if food is clean, no more can be expected of it; too many of our cooks think that if a dish lacks flavour, it can be improved by pouring sugar into it until it is sweet; too many of our cooks think that vegetables are not fit to eat unless they have been boiled out of all recognition.

A revolution is called for in Canada: we need cooks who are worthy of our noble raw materials. We can think of nowhere from which the seeds of revolution could be spread more fittingly than from the Agricultural College, and we hail this excellent pamphlet on turkey as a revolutionary seed.

BIBLIOMANIA:

Battle Of Good And Evil

EAST OF EDEN, by John Steinbeck (MacMillan of Canada).

SHOULD THE NOVEL concern itself with moral issues? The answer to this question would seem self-evident to Voltaire and Dickens alike and was never seriously questioned until the time of Flaubert. Since then the concept of the novelist as a simple recorder of facts or states of mind has held the field. He stands aloof from good and evil, regarding them as irrelevant to the true purpose of the novel. Steinbeck reverts to the earlier tradition and in his latest book asserts roundly that "the subject is the only one man has ever used as his theme—the existence, the balance, the battle, and the victory in the permanent war between wisdom and ignorance, light and darkness—good and evil."

Throughout its 602 pages the book follows the fortunes of a Connecticut family that emigrated to California. The time ranges between the American Civic War and the First World War. This is a sprawling but strangely gripping work, and Steinbeck has created quite a gallery of characters, from Lee, the Chinese cook and "guide, philosopher and friend", to Mrs. Hamilton, the author's grandmother, tight-lipped and godly. Interwoven in the novel is the motif of Cain and Abel, restated in modern terms.

STEINBECK HAS been most ambitious in the portrayal of Cathy, a completely wicked woman with no redeeming characteristics whatever. The only child of a respectable couple, she indulges in all kinds of vice from her childhood and eventually sets fire to the house in which her parents are sleeping and becomes the mistress of the owner of a chain of brothels. Beaten up by her lover and left for dead she is taken in and nursed to health and finally married by a retired soldier, whom she deceives with his brother a few days after their marriage. The rest of her career is even more unsavoury, and we leave it to the reader to find out what happened. As a character, Cathy is not altogether convincing. Such a monster might have been explained in earlier days in terms of witchcraft or demoniac possession; Steinbeck explains her as lacking in moral sense just as a blind man is lacking in the sense of sight, but this scarcely explains the positive aura of evil that emanates from her every thought and deed.

Another weakness springs from the dialogue. Admittedly most of the characters of the book are unusual, not to say abnormal, but they hardly ever talk like real people confronted with real situations. They attitudinize and philosophize overmuch.

This is a grim and earnest volume. The prepossession with the deadly struggle between good and evil leaves little time to be spared for humour. Scarcely anyone smiles frankly and easily, they are too hag-ridden with dark or noble impulses. We feel that the high-lights of the tragedy might have been brought out better in conjunction with a few hearty belly-laughs.

Yet in spite of these weaknesses there is a compelling sincerity in East of Eden, in which the sombreness of the theme stands out in sharp contrast to the sunny landscape of California. This is not a book for everybody, but admirers of Steinbeck will not to disappointed.

THE LIFE AND DEATH OF STALIN by Louis Fischer (Musson Book Company)

"I HAD TEA ALONE with Lord Halifax in the British Embassy in Washington on January 18, 1944, a scarce six weeks after the Teheran Conference." So begins one chapter of this book.

The sentence serves to stamp the author's position in the hierarchy of American reporters on the international scene and his ability to interest readers. He had tea alone with Halifax, and not with a dishful of other reporters and amateur soothsayers on Russia, Europe and the philosophy of modern international politics. Not everybody has tea alone with Lord Halifax, distinguished nobleman, former British Foreign Secretary and then Ambassador to Washington. Mr. Fischer is a professional American journalist who has had more experience than most in Europe and behind what is now the Iron Curtain. He is more expert than most in saying, "I told you so", after the event.

The book deserves better readers than the title may draw. Anybody writing of the life and death of Stalin runs the risk of being classed as a quack, a fellow-traveller on the present American line, or a sensationalist. Mr. Fischer writes trenchantly with his own authority, and the authority of dozens of writers, analysts and state-makers.

Even if you do not want Mr. Fischer's opinions (but you should; he is well experienced and read on his subject) you will get in this book a competent synthesis of little-known published facts and well-known authoritative chapters in others' writings (e.g. Churchill), pertaining to modern Russia and the western world's cold outlook thereon. You must, however, make allowances for the writer's bias, which is deeply anti-Communist, critical of Roosevelt, and always portentous. Yet he is able to admit that Stalin's insistance in 1942 of a Second Front was "comprehensible, legitimate, and politically astute". Mr. Fischer has a strong regard for Stalin's astuteness.

The book gives in one convenient volume a lot of information about Stalin's background, family and development. It ranges over the course of high diplomacy during and after the war. It highlights interesting anecdotes and telling vignettes relating to the Europe, Asia and America which have made the post-war world what it is today. The story of Roosevelt's teasing of Churchill to exasperation at Teheran, to win the favour of Stalin, is recounted. Churchill left the table. Stalin got up, followed, and put a consoling hand on his shoulder "It was only chaff". A lively, readable and timely book.

TO MAINTAIN OUR custom of closing Bibliomania with a quotation of some interest, let us turn to "Winter Studies and Summer Rambles in Canada", which Mrs. Anna Brownell Jameson wrote during a sojourn in this country in 1836. Of what is now Toronto she says "When the engineer, Bouchette, was sent by General Simcoe to survey the site (in 1793), it was a mere swamp, a tangled wilderness; the birch, the hemlock and tamarack trees were growing down to the water's edge, and even into the lake. I have been told that Toronto, the Indian appellation of the whole district, signifies 'trees growing out of the water'." Derivations of the word "Toronto" have been suggested in surprising numbers, and the city itself favours the notion that it means "a place of meeting". Mrs. Jameson's information, however, lends some colour to the opinions of those who still think that Toronto is a stick-in-the-mud place.

The Economic Situation In Britain Today

By SENATOR RUPERT DAVIES

LONDON, Sept. 30:

IT IS very difficult for a Canadian to size up correctly the situation in this country today. Last Thursday's issue of the London 'Daily Express' carried on its editorial page an article by a special writer to the effect that all is now well with the Conservative Party in Britain. The writer states that the political sun is shining to greet Mr. Churchill on his return from his holiday in France and that all is happiness and joy in the Conservative Camp at Westminster.

However, speakers for the Labour Party tell an entirely different story and still talk very confidently of what they are going to do when they return to power in a year or two. My own opinion, for what it is worth, is that if Mr. Churchill's health continues to be good the Conservatives will stay in power for another couple of years at any rate and by that time may have improved the position in the country to such an extent that they may be re-elected.

WHAT I fail to understand is the economic set-up in this country today. We are told that the Conservative Government has improved the financial situation so far as relations with other countries are concerned. According to the Press there are great hopes in this country about the outcome of the Commonwealth Economic Conference, which will take place in this country in November. However, despite all the statements on the economic improvement that has been effected in Britain the fact remains that tea is still rationed, butter is still rationed, sugar is still rationed and meat and eggs are still rationed and, at the same time, very difficult to get.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHAT I cannot understand are the constant demands for higher wages on the part of the Trades Unions, in the face of the fact that Britain is now confronted with strong competition from both Germany and and Japan, neither of which countries has to worry about any re-armament drive. Those who visited the Trade Fair in Toronto last May will remember that both Germany and Japan has surprisingly good exhibits.

✧ ✧ ✧

A CONTRACTING engineer visited me the other day. He had just come from London, where he had been attending an exhibition of machine tools. He told me that the German machine tools on view were far better finished than those displayed by British firms and that, furthermore, the Germans were apparently more ingenious than the British. He said that for certain jobs concerning his own business he could buy one German tool and by buying three or four "gadgets," as he called them, to supplement this tool he could do three or four different jobs. If, however, he wanted to be patriotic and buy himself British tools he found that he would have to buy a separate tool for each individual job.

IN this morning's issue of the 'Western Mail,' an important daily newspaper published at Cardiff in South Wales, there appears a cartoon at the top of the front page. It depicts a news-board outside a building and on the news-board is printed in big type 'British Engineering and Ship-building to Slow Down 20th October'. Looking at this news-board are two men—a German and a Japanese. The heading of the cartoon is 'It's an ill wind . . .' The Japanese is smiling broadly and under his arm is a big roll of papers labelled 'Jap plans to capture world markets.' He is dressed in typical British formal attire—top hat, tail coat, grey vest and striped trousers. The German is also carrying a big roll of papers and these are labelled 'German plans to capture world markets.' He also is smiling broadly at the news given on the board and is raising his hat to honour it.

This very striking cartoon depicts the position in this country today; British manufacturers are faced with strong competition in many lines from Germany and Japan and yet costs of production are increasing instead of decreasing.

AN INDICATION of how serious this is appears in an article in the 'Daily Express' of two days ago. It is a story about a Mr. Ahmed Dawood, whose picture appears in the article and who is described as a 45-year-old Pakistani millionaire. Mr. Dawood was in Manchester two of three weeks ago with £700,000 to spend on machinery for his cotton mill in Karachi, India. However, after looking over things in Manchester he decided that he could not leave his money there. The Japanese have quoted him prices for the same machinery 75 per cent below the prices of British firms and have promised delivery within six months instead of the ten-month delivery date quoted by British firms.

Mr. Dawood said that he would have preferred to have bought British machinery but the Japanese offer was too tempting. However, before he goes to Japan he is going to visit Germany to see if he can secure German machinery at prices near the Japanese offer. If not he is off to Tokyo to see whether the Japanese machinery will meet his demands.

IN ANOTHER newspaper of the same date appeared an article which stated that 650,000 people are now getting more money for less work in this country. The average weekly earnings of these people has increased from £7. 1s. 1d. six months ago to £7. 7s. 3d. at the present time. In October 1938 the average weekly earnings of these same people was £2. 13s. 3d. The number of hours worked in a week by this large group averages 45 at the present time, as against 46.1 in October of last year and 46.5 before the War.

In the agricultural industry the average weekly earnings of employees during the period from October 1951 to March 1952 was £6. 6s. 8d. for men of 21 years and over. For those under 21 years of age the average was £4. 3s. and the average earnings per week of women and girls in agriculture during this period was £4. 5s. 5d.

In the coal-mining industry the average weekly earnings of miners over 21 was £11. 13s. 3d. on April 26th of this year as against an average of £10. 9s. 8d. for the corresponding period of last year.

These figures give some indication of the difficulties which manufacturers are going to have to meet in facing the threat from Germany and Japan. With regard to the miners, a despatch in a London newspaper states that Mr. Arthur Horner, the general secretary of the Mineworkers' Union, is demanding an increase of £1. 10s. a week.

NEXT to the miners come the cement workers, whose weekly earnings average £10. 13s. 11d. Then come automobile plant workers, who average £10. 7s. 11d. Workers in Britain's aircraft industry average £10/6s. 9d. a week. Increases are being demanded all along the line. More than 100,000 people employed by the 'bus companies of Britain have been given an increase of 7s. a week.

What effect these high wages throughout the country is going to have on Britain's export trade is difficult to predict. There is no doubt at all that the average workman in this country is better housed, better clothed than he has ever been. Even so, no-one would suggest for a moment that he is better off than the average Canadian workman.

I think that so far as housing is concerned the position in Britain is being improved very materially. The Council houses which are going up every week are very nice houses indeed. They are well-equipped but they are very expensive. I was looking the other day at a group of houses that have just been completed by a Council under the Local Authorities Housing Act, which act gives considerable assistance, financially and otherwise, to local authorities in the building of houses. These houses are very nicely situated and very well equipped but their rent is £2 a week. Workmen getting £5 or £6 a week cannot afford these houses with the result that they are being let to people who hold higher executive positions.

AS I SAID before, everyone here is waiting anxiously to see what the outcome of the Commonwealth Economic Conference will be. We all know that Britain has been in many tight places before and has always emerged successfully—it is a well-known adage that Britain always loses every battle but the last one. I think that British genius is just as brilliant as it ever was and my own opinion is that in some manner the competition which it faces from other countries will be successfully met when British manufacturers and workmen sit down together and decide to do something about it.

The immediate problem, of course, is the demand of the Shipbuilding and Engineering Union for an increase of £2 a week. It is upon this demand that the cartoon to which I alluded earlier in this article is based. I shall be surprised if this difficulty is not settled amiably in a couple of weeks or so.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN ANY EVENT, I think that the next year is going to be a crucial one for Britain and I consider that in another year we shall be able to see much more clearly how Britain is facing up to the threat to her export trade from German and Japanese competition.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Surely God will not hear vanity, neither will the Almighty regard it. (Job 35:13.)

✧ ✧ ✧

O Lord, my strength, and my fortress, and my refuge in the day of affliction, the Gentiles shall come unto thee from the ends of the earth, and shall say, Surely our fathers have inherited lies, vanity, and things wherein there is no profit. Shall a man make gods unto himself, and they are no gods? (Jer. 16:19,20.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Therefore, my brethren dearly beloved and longed for, my joy and crown, so stand fast in the Lord, my dearly beloved. . . .

And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus. (Phil. 4:1, 7.)

A BRITISH OPINION

"And the next time we salute a German officer we'll do it without the 'Sieg Heil, Bighead' . . . most of 'em speak English."

(When the German army is reformed, British and other foreign soldiers in occupation in Germany will be required to pay compliments to German officers, as to their own.)

Railways, Unions Remain Widely Separated In Dispute

OTTAWA (CP) — The railways and their non-operating unions are still a long way from a meeting point in their $150,000,000-a-year wage dispute.

The railways were understood today to have gone about one-third of the way towards granting the money demands of the 125,000 employees who do not actually operate the trains. The unions had taken a relatively stand-pat position.

Informants said this was the situation on the main issues in the deadlocked negotiations that led to the current federal conciliation proceedings:

Companies: They have reached the point of offering an 11-per-cent wage increase across the board, against the 45-cents-an-hour demand of the unions. They have rejected the union request for an escalator contract clause to give a one-cent-an-hour boost for every point rise in the cost-of-living index.

Unions: They have turned down the 11-per-cent offer. They have said they will agree to "reasonable" terms but have not laid a specific compromise figure on the bargaining table.

Sources in touch with the dispute said it is unlikely either party has receded beyond these positions in the private hearings before a conciliation board under Mr. Justice R.L. Kellock of the Supreme Court of Canada. The board's proceedings have been adjourned to next Monday.

Rough Career

Rheumatic Fever May Follow Throat Infections

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

For many years rheumatic fever has been one of the principal causes of heart disease. Although it is too soon to say that rheumatic fever has been conquered, great forward steps have taken place in the last few years.

One of these advances is in the field of prevention of attacks. Many attacks of rheumatic fever follow infections of the upper breathing passageways or throat, with germs called streptococci.

For this reason, it has been suspected for many years that if some method could be developed for stopping these streptococcic infections it might be posible to forestall at least some of the attacks of rheumatic fever.

This has been found to be true The discovery of the sulpha drugs and the antibiotics including penicillin, has provided powerful new weapons against the streptococcus.

Many of these preparations have now been tried in various combinations and doses in places where both streptococcic infections and rheumatic fever were particularly bad. The results are most encouraging.

For those who have had one attack of rheumatic fever, or who are particularly vulnerable, these preparations lessen the risk of further attacks and the danger of developing serious heart disease.

The other hopeful development lies in the discovery of and work now being done on cortisone, ACTH, both of which have been discussed in this column.

There seems little doubt that either of these substances, if given to a person suffering from active rheumatic fever, will bring a rather quick and remarkable improvement in most of the symptoms—joint swelling, pain and fever.

It is not known yet, however, whether they will prevent the development of heart disease, because this can be found out only after a long period of observation.

EARLY DIAGNOSIS VITAL

Of course, there are also many things to find out about how much of them to give, when is the best time to give them, about possible undesirable side effects and other problems. But even what is known now gives hope that both prevention and improved treatment of rheumatic fever are really here.

In order to get the most out of the advancing knowledge parents should remember that early diagnosis is important. Symptoms which are suspicious should not be ignored, lest serious heart disease develop which might have been avoided.

ASIATIC INITIATION—Even in southeast Asia, university freshmen are initiated. But at Bangkok's Chullanlungkorn University, the factulty makes it official, setting a day aside for the proceedings and taking part. The new students are "humbled" physically first by walking a gauntlet of leafy branches, wielded by all the other undergraduates, through a series of arches raised by the faculty on the university campus. Exhausted after the three-hour ordeal, they then are paraded into the convocation hall for an address of welcome by the principal, followed by a sermon from a Buddhist monk on the proper approach to studies.

University Students Same World Over

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

BANGKOK, Thailand (CP)—The university student is much the same the world over.

The university initiation parade here has the same theme as in Canadian colleges at this time of year—to humble the freshman in the presence of his university superiors and make him realize how green he is.

The Siamese literally do just that. They set aside a whole day for the purpose, crowned by an address of welcome by the university president and a sermon of admonition by a Buddhist monk.

At Bangkok's Chullalungkorn University all the faculties marshall their new students in twos in front of the Administration Building early on the morning of initiation day.

RUN ROUGH COURSE

After the greenhorns have been drilled in faculty cheers, their ordeal begins.

Watched by the whole university —professors and students — they march behind appropriate banners into the neighboring streets.

On their return to the campus they have to pass through a series of arches, one for each faculty, distributed at intervals along the parkways.

As the froshes advance they find lined along the approach the students of the faculty to which each arch belongs. Each carries a leafy branch and some also have heavy sticks.

Boys and girls alike run the gauntlet and the heavy sticks, it develops, are both to slow them down and to force them on to their knees to get through—also giving their tormentors a better whack with their branches.

Frequently individuals on their way down the gauntlet are halted ard catechized on university history, checked on their knowledge of the college cheers and otherwise humbled.

Exhausted—and sometimes bruised—they are finally led to the convocation hall for the president's welcome and the hardly-needed sermon.

The unique thing about Chullalungkorn's initiation is the participation of the entire university in the ceremony, which has official status.

Body Found In Stoker Said Missing Youth

KENORA (CP) — Ontario Provincial Police Monday said the charred body found recently in a freight engine stoker has been identified as that of Levi Maiawsaice, 18, of New Dinorwic, Ont.

The youth and another Indian had been reported missing from their homes since Sept. 19. It was assumed Maiawsaice climbed into the tender at Kenora to hitch a ride to Dinorwic and fell asleep. Coal taken on at Eagle River could have smothered or crushed him, police said.

His companion, Charles Williams still is missing although he is believed in the north with friends. No inquest will be held.

Conveniently choosing World Series time in N.Y. for a meeting, the N.H.L. hockey brass will try to work out a better agreement with the A.H.L. as to the recall of players during the season. Baz O'Meara remarks: "Trouble is on the wing in the major hockey setup. Singularly enough, a colonel and a major are about to lock horns. Oddly, too, the major is trying to court martial the colonel for exceeding the bounds of duty. Which is a reverse twist if you apply army terms." Seems the colonel, Clarence Campbell as N.H.L. prexy, made a recall agreement with the A.H.L. which Major Conny Smythe—as a loop governor—doesn't like it at all. Fur may fly, and all of it might not be the wily Campbell's, either.

As mentioned elsewhere in the paper today, the Petes' senior "B" hockeyists this season will be sponsored by the Toronto-Peterborough Transport Co., though still known as the Petes. Ray Tanner brought this about through his dad's T.P.T. connections and it should start the club off on the right financial foot. Ben Swarts heads the executive this year, with a large and able body of workers abroad. Jim Ellis is back as coach and Johnny Russelle as manager. Bob Gamble, recovering from a heart attack, has stepped down from the presidency but will continue as a vice-prexy. Open workouts for the combined club will be coming up shortly.

Heavy Gridiron Action

Let's look at the local grid picture for the week a moment. P.C.V.S. seniors are at T.C.S. tonight and the Collegiate juniors go to Lindsay. St. Peter's juniors are in Oshawa. Saturday here sees St. Mike's play St. Peter's seniors at Morrow Park, while Oshawa meets the junior P.C.I.-ers, and Jarvis Collegiate of Toronto tackle the senior Collegians in night play at Riverside. More on these tilts again. Meantime, the O.R.F.U. intermediate "A" Orfuns return to Morrow Park this Friday under the arcs, clashing with Oshawa Red Raiders in an important contest. So, grid fans, you have plenty of home action coming up this weekend.

Had we a bit of spare moolah, we would lay some bets on the lacrosse game in Miller Bowl tonight. There'll be a lot of money change hands, as it's a betting natural. But we'd take the Timbermen to oust Toronto Yorks in this deciding fray for the Eastern Canada senior title. The Yorks are plenty hot now but a third-place club has no business taking three straight over the O.L.A. champions, especially on the latters' floor in this final playoff. With elimination the lot of the loser, the chips are really down this eve and a gutted-stick classic long to be remembered is a certainty. If the weather doesn't mess it up. After all, the Mann Cup series opens Sunday aft in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens. A lot of Mimico and Toronto fans will be here tonight for the big one.

* * * * * *

Ike and Whip A-flyin'

Manager Bob Curtin (who wouldn't be surprised to see 5,000 fans on deck tonight) says Ike Hildebrand will fly up from the Cleveland hockey training camp for the game, and Harry Wipper—back at McGill—will fly to Malton and he here on time. Some of the players are still nursing injuries but all are expected to be ready by game time. In case of rain, the tilt goes here tomorrow night. Petes lead in scoring by 63 to 52 over the Yorks in the six playoff frays run off to date. Meantime, the Vancouver Combines fly east Friday and will loosen up Saturday in preparation for the opening Mann Cup contest next afternoon.

Concerning the joust Monday in Mimico, Bun Morganson of the Tely commented: "With the chips down on every goal, both clubs played fast, rugged lacrosse. There were many spills and trips but Refs Lou Vipond and Joe Murphy exercised good judgment in penalizing only the serious offences. It was easily McPhail's best individual effort in senior lacrosse and he has played some great games. At the windup, Wipper was involved with a wild-eyed fan but Mimico police smothered any serious trouble." The Star's Gord Campbell remarked: "The will to win is tough to beat and it was the rink rats' second win in a row over the favored Petes. If they can do it again in Peterborough, a Toronto team will be in the Mann Cup finals for the first time since Adam was a boy." Hah, save those cheers—and tears—for tomorrow, chum!

SEEKING TWO CHAMPIONSHIPS again this year Coach John Lynch has built two powerful football clubs from the material of St. Peter's High grid champions of 1951. The juniors, now in "A" competition, tackle Oshawa C.V.I. today in Oshawa to open their schedule while the senior Saints meet St. Michael's of Toronto Saturday at Morrow park. At Tuesday's practice Coach Lynch (top photo) gives advice to Bob O'Rourke, Gary Kearns and John Hickey while Carl Brioux and Jack Richardson (left to right, lower) eye the pigskin with which they hope to smother St. Mike's Saturday.

Hundred Apply So Far To Curl Here

By HERB. MARTIN

It hardly seems appropriate that we should be writing about curling, when we are enjoying such fine weather, but believe it or not in about six weeks our club will be in full operation and the boys and girls will be enjoying their favorite winter sport.

That sounds all very well, but before we reach that stage there is a tremendous amount of work to be done—particularly organization work, and that's what we are going to write about today. About two weeks ago all of last year's members received a letter with an application form enclosed from secretary I. Moore. They all know what it means—yes or no. If it's "no" that settles it, if it is "yes," fill out the application, and enclose some folding money and mail the letter to B. Harrison, 427 Dublin St. or I. D. Moore, 298 Margaret Ave. The membership committee asks that you attend to this matter by Oct. 1, and this is the day. Enough about last year's members.

NEED NEW ONES

Each year we need new members to take care of the usual shrinkage and if you old members shrinkage and if you old members know of anyone who would like to join the club, just help them to fill out an application form—and if there are any strangers in town who would like to curl, just contact Mr. Harrison or I. Moore or yours truly.

We must have members to have schedule rinks before we can curl. Please act at once.

Up until last night the secretary had receved 100 applications, so you can see how fast our ranks are filling up.

P Of W Boys Win

Prince of Wales blanked Central 6-0 in junior school soccer yesterday. Elwood White counted three for the winners, Terry Downer two and B. Burns one. Teams:

Central: Rowley, Philp, Ellis, Collins, Dunford, Irwin, Sedgewick, Langley, Caldwell, Earle, Craymer.

Prince of Wales: Johnston, Burns, Curvin, Currie, Andrews, Donaldson, Hrath, Downer, Trotter, Frost, Billingsley, Drummond, Daynes, Patterson.

Referee: D. Watson.

K.E. Team Victors

King Edward intermediates won from Prince of Wales 2-0 ast week in a "B" school soccer natch. It was a good, clean tilt between well-matched teams. Cuff scored both markers, one in the first half and the other in the second part. D. Watson was referee.

St. Peter's Gridders Set For School Schedule With Two Strong Squads

Both champions in the 1951 football season, St. Peter's High School grid teams are back this year as strong as ever, aiming at junior and senior championships once more. In fact, from early practices, both teams appear a little stronger than last year's championship squads and that could easily mean two more titles this year.

As far as the Saints' senior team is concerned, they'll have only two games to win to retain their senior "B" championship in the Ontario Catholic conference. They play a home-and-home series, beginning this Saturday at Morrow park with St. Michael's of Toronto.

Winning that title should be easy for the club is power-packed, the strongest to represent the school since football returned there. There's power in the kicking, running and passing departments.

They've had one game this year, losing a 6-5 exhibition game to P.C.V.S. Garnet and Greys. Besides the league games with St. Mike's, the seniors will play exhibitions with Lindsay, Cobourg, Oshawa and P.C.V.S. during the remainder of the season.

BACKS HAVE SAVVY

Working off a double wingback formation the senior Saints have an experienced backfield. There's fancy steppers, Murray Byrnes and Terry Fitzpatrick at flying wing, rugged plungers Carl Brioux and Dick Foley, at half and runner-passer Jack Richardson at quarter.

The line is rugged, fairly heavy and experienced. Snapping the ball back will be Lou LeBarr, flanked by insides Paul Hickson and Terence O'Leary. Leo Sullivan and Jim (Rocky) Clarke, both experienced, will be at middle, while grabbing passes at the ends will be Gord Whatman and John McGee, of last year's juniors.

The experienced players carry over to the reserves where Gord Sn[illegible]ard Frank McGillen, both strong juniors last year, are alternate backfielders. Linemen backing the strong first wing are Ed [illegible]y, Red O'Connell, Clare Sh[illegible]nessy, Leo Braniff, Darrell Lo[illegible]e and Bob McCormick.

C.O.S.S.A. junior "B" champions last year, Coach Johnny Lynch's juniors this fall will be battling for better honors; they've stepped up into "A" company and with their experienced veterans should make the larger high schools toe the mark.

A GOOD GROUP

The junior Saints are grouped with P.C.V.S., Lindsay, Oshawa C.V.I. and Oshawa Central, opening today in Oshawa against O.C.-V.I. They'll be featuring the double wingback formation, a fairly heavy line and a fast backfield.

The Saints also feature the largest junior lineman in the league. He's 14-year-old Bob Nolan, a newcomer, who stretches up for six feet one inch and tips the scales at 219.

Coach Lynch again has the pleasure of working with an experienced backfield. Veteran John Hickey is still working at the quarter position, with small but shifty halves Bob O'Rourke and Gary Kearns, last year with P.C.-V.S. Flying wings will again be veterans Ron Board and Jim Feeley.

The line is fairly experienced with the exception of the ends who are Paul Buckley and Dave Quinlan, both newcomers. The rest are from last year's champions Paul Byrnes at snap, Frank Gooley and Paul Hurtubise at inside, Paul Kingdon and heavyweight Nolan at middle.

The reserve backfielders have speed and weight in Jack Kane, Lionel Chretien, Don Chambers and John Martin, while another newcomer, Paul Murphy is alternate quarter. With the exception of Jim Hull and Terry Killen, the alternate linemen are new Ray Allen, Lee Wiebers, Kubica and Ron Connolly, Ferg O'Connell and Bill Forestall. Coach Lynch will also be using John Gordon, Bob Beaubiah, John Hickey, this time an inside, and Brian Guerin.

World Series Coverage Most Extensive Yet

NEW YORK (AP)—The $1,500,000 radio and television coverage of the 1952 World Series will be the most extensive in the history of the baseball classic.

Telecasts over the National Broadcasting Co. network will go to 68 stations in 64 U.S. cities and will be in range of 19,000,000 sets in areas with 93,000,000 population.

Radio broadcasts over the Mutual Broadcasting System will go out from that network's 560 regular affiliates plus 100 independent stations. They also will be carried on the Dominion network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Toronto and Montreal TV stations will not carry the series. There are an estimated 118,000 sets in Canada within U.S. reception range—in Ontario and the west coast.

Hirsch, Bickle Discarded By Tiger-Cats

HAMILTON (CP)—Snap Buckets Hirsch, chosen for the Big Four all-star teams in 1950 and 1951—his first years of Canadian football—yesterday was cut from the Hamilton Tiger-Cat club. With him went Don Bickel, 24-year-old halfback from the professional New York Giants.

Their departure left Tiger-Cats with the maximum list of eight American imports before today's pruning date. And, ironically enough, it made Toronto Argonaut Coach Frank Clair look good.

Clair sent Hirsch, a two-year Argonaut lineman, and Canadian-born Dun Durno to the Tiger-Cats this season in a straight trade for Jack Carpenter, 28-year-old middle who formerly played with Buffalo Bills. Durno retired from the game early this month after suffering a back injury.

With the departure of Hirsch, also a former Buffalo Bill stalwart, Clair can figure he got Carpenter for nothing. Carpenter has been playing a tremendous game for the Toronto club.

Quincey Armstrong, formerly of New York Giants who joined Tiger-Cats last week, was chosen to fill the snap position instead of Hirsch, and Ray Dohn Dillon, formerly of Detroit Lions, got the call over Bickle.

Confeds Triumph

Confederation edged King Edward 1-0 in an intermediate soccer joust this week. Ruttan notched the only marker of the keen contest in the dying moments of the game. Both teams came close on many occasions. Teams:

Confederation: MacArthur, Davidson, Carl, Outwater, Kinneburgh, Stephenson, Pulkinghorn, Ruttan, Nichols, Kimball, Parry, Weaver, Hines, Henwood.

King Edward: Lumbard, Finney, Hunter, Warner, Bell, Waldie, Tushingham, Curtis, Cuff, Pope, Parks, Stewart, Plumley, Manley, Stevens.

Referees: Patterson and Corbett.

FOOTBALLER KILLED

DETROIT (AP)—Russel J Lowther, Jr., 29, former Detroit Lions halfback and playing coach of the semi-pro Detroit Tars, was killed yesterday in the crash of a plane in suburban Livonia. Three companions were critically injured.

The monoplane crashed just after taking off, stalling at about 775 feet and falling on a wing.

T.P.T. Sponsoring The Petes In Senior "B" Hockey As Large Executive Chosen

The Peterborough Hockey Club senior "B" entry in the Central Ontario O.H.A. grouping with Kingston, Belleville, Oshawa, Orillia and Stouffville, will be sponsored this season by the Toronto-Peterborough Transport Co. This contact was established through the efforts of Ray Tanner of the Petes' executive. Money for equipment will be supplied by the company and, while the initials T.P.T. will appear on the sweaters, the club will continue to be known as the Petes.

CLUB PRESIDENT

Benny Swartz is the 1952-53 club president, with Eddie O'Toole and Bob Gamble vice-presidents, Baz Phelan secretary, and Fred Scates treasurer. The executive committee consists of: Ray Tanner, George Bennett, Jim Ellis, Frank Jopling, Gus Leonard, Ed. Riley, Irv Cipin, Ed Foley, Jim Guiry, Ed Alberico, Reg Perks, Johnny Russelle, Gene Sheedy, and life member Frank Buckland, who is also on the O.H.A. executive.

Jim Ellis returns as coach of the Petes, with Johnny Russelle business manager, and Sam Micelli equipment manager. The team, which opens its schedule in another month, will be training any day now as soon as ice is available in Civic Arena. With but one senior "B" club in the city this year, players from the Eagles of last season will be trying for berths along with former Petes' players.

WITH WESTERN—Jim Telford is another former P.C.V.S. grid star who saw action recently for Western Mustangs when they dropped an exhibition victory to Sarnia Imperials. Blair Thomson and Byron Young were in the Western lineup, also.

Big Four Teams Lop Off Players

TORONTO (CP)—Bob Heck, 28-year-old outside from Purdue University, yesterday was lopped off the Toronto Argonaut football club roster.

Heck was the first to go as senior clubs across the country scanned their import lists to trim them down to eight Americans before the Oct. 1 deadline set by the Canadian Rugby Union. He was beaten out by Zeke O'Connor from Dallas Texans who joined the Big Four club last week.

In Montreal the Alouettes cut Louis Allen and Larry Smith from the roster.

The club had previously released Fran Nagle, Hank Tiedermann and Charlie Hubbard.

Allen, a middle wing, and Smith, inside wing, were acquisitions since the season opened, previously with Pittsburgh Steelers and Chicago Bears respectively.

At Ottawa, Coach Clem Crowe dropped inside wing Bill Chambers from Ottawa Rough Riders.

Chambers, who left for his home in Los Angeles, came to Ottawa this season from Montreal Alouettes with Gene Roberts, one import Roughies will keep.

Gino Mazzanti, who played several early-season games with Riders, remains as non-playing backfield coach. He played formerly with University of Arkansas and Philadelphia Eagles.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

It was more annoying than funny at the time, but, looking back now, we find a certain degree of hilarity marked the end of the Olympic Games.

And of all things, the laughs were provided by the sombre Russians. When they were edged out on total points by United States athletes, on the standard scoring system, they promptly invented their own, and proved that they were winners. It was so childish, so obviously in the naive Russian mould of propaganda, that at this distance, it's good for a chuckle.

And it's our notion that the international importance of the Olympics, as proving that any one country is physically better than another is just plain silly. Ideally, the Games are competitions among individuals; not between countries. Some countries have these individual stars at various times, some haven't. For popular consumption a newspaper scoreboard is kept. But triumph doesn't necessarily represent a national superiority over the countries which didn't do so well.

This being so, we're glad the United States won the mythical title. For the difference between a Russian and an American over-all points victory is that the Soviet propaganda machine would have made this a tremendous political significance to the decadence of the "imperialistic" countries, as compared with the virility of Stalin's empire. America will merely boast its undeniably great athletes and attach no globular, political significance to the outcome.

Superiority in running, or jumping, or throwing weights proves nothing as indicating one nation is more virile, stronger, than another. If it did, then Czecho-Slovakia would outrank all others, for they sent to the Games the greatest athlete of all, Emil Zatopek, the man who scored the unbelievable triple. We suspect that Russia went into the Games to prove what the propaganda machines would label national superiority, and they almost did it. We suspect, too, that the Soviet mastermind would not have allowed a Muscovite team to enter unless they were considered loaded; lest the cause of collectivism be set back by defeats on athletic fields.

That's the reason there developed that childish stratagem, a re-arrangement of the scoring values, to convince the folks at home that Russia really won, but was robbed by the money-barons of Wall street.

Let's forget any national significance or racial superiority that points-victory in the games might be taken to prove. Our own Canada didn't get many points in the Olympics, but we happen to think, even so, that Canada is a very swell country in which we prefer to live in preference to all others, even if we never score another Olympic triumph.

Beattie Ramsey Hockey Star Dies In Regina

REGINA (CP)—Beattie Ramsay, whose hockey career ranged from the open-air rinks in his native Lumsden, Sask., to the 1924 winter Olympic Games, died in hospital yesterday after a short illness.

The 56-year-old Ramsay, who gave up playing for engineering work in Saskatchewan in 1929, continued his interest in the game until his death. He resigned early this month as president of the Regina Pats junior hockey club.

Beattie was one of the few players to write his own professional contract. The management of Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League told him to name his own terms for the 1925-26 season. He took them up that year and for the next two seasons but when the same offer was extended for 1929-30 he turned it down.

At 32, he said, he wasn't worth his weight in hockey and stayed with his engineering work in Saskatchewan.

His organized playing career started in 1921 while he was studying engineering at the University of Toronto. He captained the Blue and White team, managed by Conn Smythe who later offered him his first pro contract with the Leafs.

Beattie joined the famous Toronto Granites in 1923 and played defence for the sextet at the winter Olympic Games the following year.

In later years his winter sports activities were confined to curling with the Caledonia Club in Regina.

TIMGREN TO HORNETS

TORONTO (CP)—Winger Ray Timgren has agreed to terms with Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League and is to report today to the Leafs' American League farm, Pittsburgh Hornets, at Niagara Falls.

Hap Day, assistant manager of the Leafs, said yesterday a request will be sent to N.H.L. headquarters asking that Timgren's suspension be raised.

Timgren had requested a salary increase and did not show up at the Pittsburgh camp Sunday. Next day his suspension was requested.

AT BAT—Team captains Pee Wee Reese (left) of the Brooklyn Dodgers, and Phil Rizzuto, of the Yankees, indulge in sandlot team-picking. The two shortstops and their teams square-off for the World Series today, following their workout at New York's Yankee Stadium.

Ralph Kiner On Market To High Bidder

NEW YORK (AP)—Ralph Kiner, seven-time home-run king of the National League, has been placed on the market to the highest bidder, the Associated Press learned today.

It also was learned that Chicago Cubs and Boston Braves had shown interest in the Pittsburgh Pirate slugger, but were balking at the "skyscraping" figure put on Kiner by General Manager Branch Rickey.

"Sure, we're interested in Kiner" a Braves official said. "Why shouldn't we be?"

A Cub official said practically the same thing.

"We'd like to have Kiner," the Chicago representative confessed. "We're willing to go pretty high for him, too. But from what I've heard, Rickey wants too much."

Kiner, who will be 30 Oct. 27, has led or tied for the National League lead in home runs ever since he came up to the majors in 1946.

AILING BRUINS BETTER

HERSHEY, Pa. (CP)—There is optimism in the training camp of Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League because the sick are recovering and the injured are back on their skating legs

Except for Fleming Mackell, Bruin centre, the squad appears in good physical shape. Mackell is nursing a knee injury suffered Saturday.

Sugar Jim Henry, veteran goalie, and Jerry Toppazzini, leading contender for a defence job, are back in play. Both suffered ankle injuries. Red Sullivan and Dave Creighton, both sidelined by the flu, are ready for duty.

The Bruins signed two amateurs, goalie Jack Siemon and defenceman Bill Mathew, and assigned them to Tacoma of the Western hockey league. Siemon, 22, is from Kitchener and played in Scotland last season. Mathew, 20, played for Port Arthur Bruins.

WALKER QUITS ATLANTA

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Manager Dixie Walker, former Brooklyn outfielder, has parted company with Atlanta Crackers after leading them to a pennant and to sixth and second place finishes in the Southern Association.

BROTHER ACT—A brother act to end all brother acts is this baseball team made up of nine sons of Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Bingley entered in the Lanark County rural league. Left to right are: Errol, Brian, Lyall, Arnold, Ronald, Vernon, Ray, Blair and Clive. Mr. and Mrs. Bingley are managers of the team.

R.C.A.F. Players Do Big Things In Ball League

NORTH LUFFENHAM, England (CP)—The baseball season is over at Canada's No. 1 Fighter Wing, but they're still talking about the R.C.A.F.'s accomplishments.

The North Luffenham Sluggers won the Harvey Trophy, which means top honors in the Nottingham City Baseball League, and were finalists in the Midland County playoffs.

In fact, the fliers lost only three games out of 23—and of those two were at the hands of the championship Lakenheath Pirates of the United States Air Force. They were undefeated in the Nottingham City League of seven teams, six of which are English.

NOT BAD RECORD

That record is not bad for a bunch of R.C.A.F. youngsters who formed their ball club in May of this year. Team manager is Flt. Sgt. Frank Golding, son of Senator W.H. Golding of Seaforth, Ont.

Canadians chosen for the Midland County All-Star Team were: Golding; LAC. L.G. Barton, Halifax; Cpl. M.L. Maracle, Point Anne, Ont.; LAC. R. Girard, Windsor; L.A.C. G. B. Folker, Hantsport, N.S.; Cpl. D.V. Foley, Peterborough; Cpl. A. L. Knapik, Outlook, Sask.; LAC. R.A. Park, Cochrane, Alta.

Black Carrying Appalling Burden

By GAYLE TALBOT

BROOKLYN (AP) — The key game of the 1952 World Series begins at 1 p.m. EST today at Ebbets Field, bandbox park of Brooklyn's Dodgers. Joe Black, sensational rookie relief artist of the National League champions, will give his all against Allie Reynolds, the kingfish of the Yankee curving corps.

Never in the history of baseball has a first-year pitcher carried a more appalling burden than that assigned to the husky Negro. His team's chances of winning a world championship, or even of giving the famed Bombers a lengthy wrestle for the honor, are believed by the experts to rest upon his ability to turn back the Yankees today.

The consensus of the critics is that the Yankees will win their fourth straight championship in five or six games. Only the possibility that Black, a righthander of impeccable control, might throttle the champions today and perhaps offer valuable assistance later kept many prophets from picking the American Leaguers to wrap it up in four straight.

ALMOST DEMOTED

It's a throat-catching spot for a rookie to find himself in. Only last April, after a series of poor exhibitions, Black was at the bottom of the Brooklyn mound staff and he barely escaped being shipped back to the minors.

Though eventually he proved his merit in relief roles and established himself without argument the most valuable single player in either league, the rookie never started a big league game in his life until the fag end of the season. He went the distance easily, sat Boston Braves down with three hits and won his 15th victory in assuring the Dodgers at least a tie for the flag. In a succeeding start he was knocked out in the fifth inning.

And that is the pitcher the National League—traditionally a "pitchers" league—is forced to call upon today in a desperate hope of stilling New York bats and beating Reynolds, veteran of three Series and money hurler of renown. Beyond Black, nobody can predict with any confidence what any Brooklyn thrower will do on a given day. Manager Chuck Dressen sums up his Series pitching strategy thus:

"I'm starting Black and from there on I'll do what I've been doing all season. If it's necessary to win a game, I'll use two or three pitchers—or four or five. The record shows we've done pretty good that way."

Up to now, it has been axiomatic that the National League goes into the fall playoff with the finer pitching, the American League with the greater power at the plate. Now the National finally comes up with a club which slugs at least on even terms with the Yankees, yet cannot summon three curvers who appear to compare with Reynolds, Vic Raschi and Eddie Lopat.

NO EXCUSE SERIES

What makes the lack doubly distressing to National Leaguers is the fact that this is their World Series of no-excuse. For the last three years their champions have gone into the playoff whipped to a frazz after last-day flag finishes. Last fall the Giants had time only for a quick shower after their three-game playoff with the Dodgers. To them, the Series was an anti-climax.

The Dodgers are well rested this time. They clinched several days ahead of the Yanks, as a matter of fact. This should be the one where the battered senior league gets hung for five straight lickings—and it finds itself relying on a pitcher fresh out of the Cuban League.

Outside the pitching, the experts have had difficulty splitting the two teams apart. Both are solid clubs, loaded with hitting and fielding talent right from the plate to the last outfielder.

The Yankees are conceded to be slightly the faster team, but the Dodgers pack the great home-run threat. Their hitting and fielding averages are so closely matched that no conclusion may be drawn from a comparison.

World Series Notes

By ED CORRIGAN

BROOKLYN (AP) — Last-minute quotes from the opposing pitchers in the opener of the World Series today at Ebbets Field:

Joe Black, Brooklyn—"The way I feel right now it's just another ball game. The Yankees don't awe me at all. After watching them work out, I realized they were just another ball club. They're a good ball club, but the Dodgers seem to be a pretty good club, too."

Allie Reynolds, New York—"I feel okay. I know that the Series starts today. I believe we're up for the game. I know I am, and that's about it."

Outfielders Carl Furillo of the Brooks and Gene Woodling of the Yankees, each of whom is nursing a slight injury, are not worrying.

Furillo's left hand is taped. "The only time I feel any pain is when I swing at one and miss it," said Carl.

Woodling's groin injury seems to have healed and he said he felt "fine" when he lifted his bat.

Steve O'Neill, who managed both Philadelphia Phillies and Cleveland Indians, should be an authority on the Dodgers and Yanks, having tried to beat both of them.

"These are two remarkably strong opponents," he said. "If the Dodgers get a well-pitched game they can beat the Yanks. Brooklyn has a full line-up of players who can run and hit the long ball, and they are likely to win if they get the pitching."

Brooklyn captain Peewee Reese, who played in the 1941 Series against the Bronx Bombers said:

"We haven't talked much about the Yanks, but we are in a good mental state and we think we can win. We've got confidence in our own pitchers. The Yanks are a fast-ball hitting club and we have several pitchers who can change up."

This isn't like the old days in Brooklyn. Not a parade, nor even a demonstration. When the Brooks won in '41, you would have thought the millenium had arrived. Now it's habit. Even Dodger rooters are getting blase about it.

Montreal Canadiens Rated As Good As Last Season

By W.R. WHEATLEY

MONTREAL (CP)—On the basis of past performances alone, Montreal Canadiens must be rated at least equally as good as last season. It is a stand-pat club.

Indications are there won't be a rookie in sight when Canadiens open the National Hockey League season at home Oct. 9 against Chicago Black Hawks.

Coach Dick Irvin predicts:

"If Rocket Richard plays the full 70-game schedule he will break the league scoring record of 50 goals he set in the 1944-45 season."

ROCKET IN SHAPE

Richard, laid low by a mysterious groin ailment last season, is free of his abdominal pains and has been flashing in old-time form. He needs only five goals to tie the life-time record of 324 set by Nels Stewart.

Elmer Lach, named All-Star centre, shows no signs of wear and tear. Neither does play-making Billy Reay. Ken Mosdell and Johnny McCormack have been doing all that was expected of them.

But Canadiens' fortunes may rest with a trio of sophomore forwards who startled the league last season.

They are Bernie Geoffrion, voted Rookie of the Year; Dickie Moore and Dick Gamble. Geoffrion scored 30 goals, Gamble 23 and Moore, who played in only 35 games, scored 18. All coach Irvin asks is that they keep right on where they left off.

Elsewhere up forward, Canadiens have hard-working Floyd Curry, speedy little Paul Meger and Bert Olmstead.

Irvin says he has forward-line reserves "three deep at any position" he can summon from farm clubs.

DEFENCE SOLID

Backed by Gerry McNeil in the nets, the Montreal defence is solid, experienced and capable.

Irvin likely will start with these five defencemen: Doug Harvey, All-Star man; veteran captain Butch Bouchard, Tom Johnson, Jim MacPherson and Dollard St. Laurent, a rookie last year. Reserves, ready for call-up, will be Ross Lowe, Ivan Irwin and Stan Long.

Hollywood Film Sinking Titanic Again

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — They're sinking the Titanic again, this time on a movie lot, and they're having a terrible time sifting fact from fiction.

The Titanic epic will star Clifton Webb and Barbara Stanwyck and is being helmed by Charles Brackett.

"The stories we have uncovered about the sinking are fabulous," the producer remarked. "We have had to discard some of them because they are too fantastic for movie audiences to believe. Some are too fantastic for me to believe. That's only natural since human testimony is inclined to be faulty in times of great stress."

CLAIMED UNSINKABLE

The facts, as Brackett related them, are these: The Titanic was built at a cost of $7,500,000. Its building was accompanied by a big publicity campaign citing it as the most modern, unsinkable ship. Newsreels still exist of the captain confidently embarking on the maiden voyage. Aboard were nine multi-millionaires, several editors, a novelist, a countess and President Howard Taft's aide-de-camp.

On the night of April 14, 1912, a lookout sighted an iceberg dead ahead. The alarm was sounded and the ship was swerved to one side, missing the iceberg. The ship struck a spur of underwater ice, which ripped open the bottom of the ship "like a sardine can."

The Titanic went down with 1,517 persons. When the liner Carpathia arrived on the scene, only 707 survivors could be found.

FANTASTIC YARNS

Many stories of the disaster came out of Senate hearings and newspaper accounts. Among them:

That the first officer on the bridge continued the ship's speed for 10 minutes after the waters were deemed dangerous and that he shot himself after the iceberg was struck.

That one rich couple bribed the crew to put their luggage in a lifeboat.

That a man donned a dress to gain a place on a lifeboat.

That the captain swam to a lifeboat, deposited a child there and swam back to go down with his ship.

That Mrs. Isadore Straus declined to enter a lifeboat and leave her millionaire husband, saying, "I stayed with him a good many years; I'm not going to leave him now."

The acts of heroism outnumbered the selfish ones. As the ship was sinking, those aboard sang "Nearer My God to Thee," and that is the title of the picture. (The title "Titanic" is owned by another producer.)

Labor Council Asks Orchestra Reconsider

TORONTO (CP)—The recent action of the Toronto symphony orchestra in dropping six of its members who were refused admission to the United States was criticized last night by the Toronto and Lakeshore Labor Council (C.I.O.-C.C.L.).

The council, which claims to speak for 50,000 workers in the Greater Toronto area, appealed to the orchestra to reconsider the dismissals.

The musicians were members of the American Federation of Musicians (A.F.L.-T.L.C.).

Postal Official Dies

OTTAWA (CP)—Peter Thomas Coolican, 73, former assistant deputy postmaster-general, died Saturday in hospital at Victoria, according to word received here yesterday. Mr. Coolican spent more than 40 years with the federal Post Office Department. He retired in 1946.

TIGHT SQUEEZE—Dick Ebert, 14, looks up anxiously as he awaits rescue from a small opening between a bridge girder and a concrete abutment 22 feet above the Ohio River boulevard in Pittsburg, Penn. He slipped into the opening while playing. Firemen rescued him after a physician had climbed a ladder to administer a sedative to the lad who suffered merely from shock.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

By G. E. GOOMBRIDGE

Fire Prevention Week is now a permanent feature on the Scout calendar and is scheduled for the week of October 5 to 11. Every Troop and Pack should be given an outline of the necessity of fire prevention in the home and out-of-doors.

Apple Day will be held Saturday, October 18, and we would like to see every Cub, Scout Rover and Officer, assisted by the Group Committee men, out giving a hand in this event. The Local Association needs the funds to carry on another year. The All Saints' Rover Crew are busy getting the cash boxes ready. Mr. Shiner reports the apples as good as purchased.

The Annual Banquet will be held in the week of October 20—was mentioned for the 25 but understand some change may be made. This should be a must for every officer, group committeeman and members of the Ladies' Auxiliaries in the district.

OUT-OF-TOWN NEWS

We are expecting news for some of the out-of-town Troops and Pack which will be included in our weekly column. Have not heard from Bridgenorth of late.

TRINITY TROOP

A corn roast was held out at the Scout Grounds Friday evening with a full attendance of both boys and fathers. The troop has been subject to some reorganization with the following boys being appointed in charge of patrols: Eagles, Patrol Leader Sidney Dinsdale, Assistant Patrol Leader Robert Hutton; Beavers, Patrol Leader Bill Hendry, Assistant Patrol Leader Warren Kennedy; Wolves, Patrol Leader Ted Spearin, Assistant Patrol Leader Jack Freeman; Lions, Patrol Leader Peter Chown, Assistant Patrol Leader John Philips.

Four new members were welcomed to the Pack: Douglas Hardwicke, Brian Malcolm, Don Gibson and Tommy Nesbit, and a former member of the 67th Lawrence Park, Toronto, Pack, David Dunham.

We had a real camp this summer at which the Iroquois Group won first prize for the best tent with Gary Hancock as leader, assisted by John Philips, Bob Perry, Donald Spearin and Jimmy Robinson making up the personnel of the unit. Bill Hendry was presented with a compass for being the best all-round Scout at the camp.

There are now thirty-two members in the Troop Roster with four now ready to receive their First Class award. These are: Fred Spearin, Jim Elliott, Jack Freeman and Ron Cooper. At the last regular meeting, the Rev. Dr. D. Bruce Gordon presented Gary Rishor, Jim Matthews, Jim Elliott, Bob Perry, Del Smith, Don Spearin and Murray Mann with their Religion and Life Badges. A new competition has just started and will run until December.

We are really glad to welcome to our Troop Jimmy Pallock, a red-headed Scout from Capetown, South Africa.

ST. PAUL'S PACK

Several badges were presented to Cubs on the Trail. Ron McWilliams received his First Star; two-year Service Stars went to Frank Montgomery, John Hewitt, Warren Dunfield, Bill Oliphant, John Gordon, Bill Gordon, Tom Caldwell, Daird Minty and Bob Shimer.

Three-Year Service Stars to Michael Philp, Bob Law. First Year Service Stars to Rory McWilliams, Terry Higgins. The following transfers and promotions were made official: Rory McWilliams to Seconder and the White Six; Richard Ward from the Blue Six to Sixer of the Grey Six, Bill Turner to Seconder of the Grey Six; Daird Minty to Seconder of the Green Six; Barry LeRoy to Sixer of the Green Six; Tom Caldwell from the Blue Six to Seconder and the Red Six. Bill Watters Sixer of the Green Six to Senior Sixer of the Pack.

After the going up ceremonies of last week the Pack had to be processed by reorganization with the following promotions being made subject to confirmation: Brian Dunford, Garry Hamilton and Donald Ross went to the Grey Six; Ed. Zinser and Ralph Cunningham to the Red Six; Grant Menzies to the Blue Six; Henry Langley to the Brown Six and Bruce Cotton to the Green Six. First Peterborough Badges and the Ontario Badges were distributed to Cubs.

At a fitting ceremony Donald Sherk and Bobbie Robertson were made full members of the Pack as their White Neckerchiefs were removed and the true Pack Colors placed around the shoulders in an investiture ceremony carried out by Akela Stan Purser assisted by Mr. Trueman.

A real steam-off game was organized by Mr. Trueman called the Duffle-Bag with no winners being declared. During instruction periods the pack took "Growing Things" by Skipper G. and the Union Flag by Akela.

Joe Cunningham came through to complete his tenderpad tests whilst Ken Collins finished his First Star Tests. Mr. Trueman passed Jerry Sedgwick and David Irwin in their Collector's Badge work. The Pack has now established a waiting list with Ian Young being the last boy accepted into the Pack.

REV. KIBBLEWHITE ROVER SCOUT CREW

Last Sunday morning the Crew held its first monthly Communion Breakfast for the 1952-53 season in the basement of All Saints' Parish Hall. The Rev. M. P. Poole was present with Dr. Priest, secretary of the Council of Religious Education of the Anglican Church. Dr. Priest gave a short talk on the relation of the church and scouting.

Those who attended the breakfast were: Dr. Priest, Mr. Poole, Skipper Art Rose, A. R. L. Doug Harris, Assistant Mate Dave Hatton, Rovers Fred Simmons, Kelvin Johnson, Jack White, Ken White, and Squires Ron Hatton, Roly Brier, and Darrel Lipsett.

The crew spent some time preparing metal boxes for Apple Day at Monday night's meeting.

"Fosky the Painter" (Len Foskett), Dave Hatton and Art Rose were handed a paint brush and put to work putting on the ground coat on the outside of the den inside the den, Doug Harris (the chief carpenter?) and his worthy assistants Ron Hatton and Dan Barclay, were engaged in the task of scoring the Ten-Test for the ceiling.

The meeting finished off with a fine snack prepared by "Mrs. Dan Murphy." Ron Hatton's overnight hike was postponed because of the communion breakfast.

Pioneered Radio M. H. Aylesworth Dies In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—Merlin H. Aylesworth, 66, a legendary figure in the early days of broadcasting and first president of the National Broadcasting Company, died yesterday after a long illness.

A public relations executive at the time, Aylesworth was 40 years old when he was chosen in 1926 to launch NBC as the first major radio network in the United States. He had no previous experience in radio and did not even own a set.

Two weeks after NBC was formally organized he put its premiere broadcast on the air over 24 stations.

The broadcast included Will Rogers, Mary Garden, Dr. Walter Damrosch conducting the New York Symphony Orchestra, Tito Ruffo of the Metropolitan Opera, Edwin Franko Goldman and his band, Weber and Fields, Vincent Lopez and his orchestra and others.

That first broadcast was typical of the scale on which Aylesworth operated. He brought a pair of comedians, who were broadcasting over a Chicago station, to New York for network broadcasts. They were Charles Correll and Freeman Gosden—Amos 'n' Andy.

By the time Aylesworth left NBC in 1936 to become president and board chairman of Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corp., network radio had become firmly established in the U.S.

Aylesworth for the last several years operated his own office as advisory counsel and was on the executive board of Ellington and Co., advertising agency.

In 1937 he became a member of the management of the Scripps-Howard newspapers and was publisher of the New York World-Telegram from 1938 to 1940. For a time he also was consultant to Press Association, Inc., a radio subsidiary of The Associated Press.

Will Protest Hydro Rates

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Middlesex federation of Agriculture will protest an increase in Ontario Hydro rates announced last week by Hydro chairman Robert Saunders.

Federation executive and directors last night passed a resolution opposing the boost, which Mr. Saunders said "certainly will be under 15 per cent."

Andrew Cromarty, of Dorchester, introduced the resolution, which will be forwarded to Premier Frost and the Hydro chairman.

It was decided to award a $100 scholarship to a deserving young man to further his education at either the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, or the Western Ontario Agricultarl School, Ridgetown.

The federation will also subsidize the attendance of two representatives from each township at the rural life conference at the University of Western Ontario between Christmas and New Year's.

Assumes New Duties In Sarnia Church

SARNIA (CP) — Dr. D. Bruce Gordon will assume new duties as pastor of Central United Church here Sunday. An induction service will be held Thursday night. Dr. Gordon was formerly pastor of Trinity United church, Peterborough. He succeeds the Rev. Clayton H. Searle who has accepted a call to High Park United Church, Toronto.

Man Instals Fishways Sockeye Salmon Return

By H. L. JONES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's once fabulously rich Pacific salmon fishery is coming back into its own, aided by man-made laws, fishways and research.

Fisheries scientists now say it may not be too long before the great British Columbia sockeye salmon industry produces again in the abundance of 1913 and earlier years. The sockeye is only one of five types of Pacific salmon but is the most valuable commercially.

The year 1913 is a historic one in the $50,000,000-a-year salmon industry. It was the year of the last "big" sockeye run before a slide at Hell's Gate Canyon in the Fraser River blocked most of that system's spawning grounds to the fish. From then the Fraser system, the largest salmon producer, went into decline.

FISHWAYS INSTALLED

Much work has been done since. Fishways have been installed at Hell's Gate. Spawning beds there and in other parts of the province have been protected and new ones started by transplanting. Some of this work has been done by the International Pacific Salmon Fisheries Commission, a Canadian-United States regulatory body, and some by the Department of Fisheries.

Now the commission says the work shows high promise.

In 1937 only a few sockeye were found remaining in the spawning beds of the Horsefly River, one of the interior tributaries of the Fraser. This year more than 5,000 three-year-old sockeye were observed coming to spawn.

These three-year-olds are early maturing fish which precede the main run of spawning adults and are indicative of the size of the run to come in 1953 in the normal four-year birth-to-spawning death cycle of the salmon's mysterious life.

WLCOME RETURN

Not since the Hell's Gate slide have this many three-year-olds appeared in the Horsefly area. It has led commission biologists to predict that next year's run from the Quesnel River—which empties the Horsefly and feeds the Fraser—will be "several hundred thousand sockeye."

SKEENA RIVER RUN

Federal Department of Fisheries scientists here agree.

Their main concern of late has been with the more northerly run of the Skeena River, British Columba's second largest salmon producer. On one of the Skeena's tributaries—the Babine River—the federal men are engaged in a $1,000,000 slide-removal job.

Engineers have cleared at least two channels to allow early-arriving salmon to reach the spawning beds beyond the slide. The work is still going on.

Little Improvement

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mme. Chiang Kai-shek, in hospital here for treatment of a skin disorder, is showing little improvement, a spokesman said Monday. Mme. Chiang has been in the hospital since Aug. 16. K.W. Yu, her spokesman, said she had a bad reaction from dosages of the drug ACTH.

Rifle Nicks Man

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A .22-calibre rifle slug, discharged accidentally, ripped through a car door panel and nicked Robert Thames, 23-year-old Woodstock radio announcer, on the shin here Monday day. Thomas required only minor hospital treatment. Police questioned Terry Johnstone of London but the man was not held.

FREE FUNERALS

COMO, Italy (AP)—Free funerals for all persons dying here were authorized by the city administration Monday night.

Charge Many Signatures On Petition Forgeries

OTTAWA (CP)—Mayor Charlotte Whitton yesterday reiterated charges that many signatures on Ottawa's Sunday sport petition are forgeries and said the names will be sifted even if handwriting experts have to be called in.

The mayor told a Board of Control meeting one signature was that of a person dead two years. Others were of persons not residents of Ottawa. In some cases whole blocks of names had been written by one person, copying a voters' list that wasn't even up to date.

The mayor made the statements in denying suggestions that the petition is being held up by civic authorities. She denied there are 22,000 names on the petition and said City Clerk Nelson Ogilvie will report to the board on that question.

Controller L.L. Coulter said he understood there are 22,000 names on the petition, being sponsored by private citizens to bring a plebiscite on the Sunday sport issue at the December civic election. Since only 11,000 names are necessary to force the plebiscite, he suggested the plebiscite might be allowed to go forward on the ground that more than half the names could not be illegal.

The petition issue landed back in the lap of the council when Crown Attorney Raoul Mercier, asked to check the list, wrote back that if forgeries were suspected, the police, not the Crown Attorney, should be called in.

PRIME MINISTER Winston Churchill and Mrs. Churchill return to London by air after spending a two-week vacation on the French Riviera at the Cap D'Ail villa of Lord Beaverbrook. The Prime Minister faced two immediate problems on his return to work. One was Britain's exclusion from the Pacific Anzus Council of the U.S., Australia and New Zealand; the other was the Machine Trade Workers' threat to ban overtime.

Catholic Editor Attending Peiping Parley

MONTREAL (CP)—A hard-hitting Roman Catholic newspaper editor is among a dozen Canadians attending a Communist-sponsored peace conference in Red China.

The 43-year-old newspaperman is Gerard Filion who directs Le Devoir, Montreal daily which guides nationalist opinion and promotes Roman Catholic social doctrine in Quebec province.

Mr. Filion is the first newspaper man without Communist attachment to enter Communist-run China in many months.

Andre Laurendeau, assistant editor of Le Devoir, said yesterday Mr. Filion accepted an invitation to the Asian peace conference on condition he would be considered a reporter uncommitted to any movement or group.

Mr. Laurendeau said Mr. Filion set out Sept. 11 on the spur of the moment.

On a European trip in 1950, Mr. Filion contented himself with note-taking and published his observations only on his return to Montreal. Mr. Laurendeau said he thought the same plan would apply this time.

500 Convicts Stage Strike

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Some 500 convicts staging an orderly sit-down strike at the Utah state prison Tuesday refused to leave their cells.

Warden Marcell Graham said he expects the prisoners to communicate with him later today for the first time since the strike began at midnight Sunday.

Graham, who has not attempted to meet with the inmates, said he believed the convicts were striking over the state pardons board's interpretation of regulations covering time off for good behavior.

Meanwhile, two trusties escaped from the prison camp last night.

Burns Fatal

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Panko Moskal, 66, badly burned Sept. 22, died yesterday in hospital. Moskal, a cannery worker, was knocked into a vat of boiling water at the Canadian Canners factory here.

"COOL CONTROL"

TABLE TENNIS SHOTS

1 The Smash: Usually taken on the forehand, close to the table. Intercept ball at top of its bounce and hit forward and downward with hard, flat swing. Follow-through brings arm across body. Always keep eyes on the ball.

3 The Drop Shot: Played close to the net. Ball [illegible] bounces on table, taking it with blade of bat slightly laid back. Stroke ball easily, laying it just over net in opponent's court. This shot must be controlled for effectiveness.

Yes, it's control that counts in table tennis as in every sport — control which brings the extraordinary quality that sets one performer above the other. In the ability to approach things coolly, to control every move and moment, lies the answer to better results.

This is one of a series designed to increase the pleasure of Canadians who participate in sports.

2 Parties Merge Against Nehru

BOMBAY, India (AP)—Two major parties in opposition to Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru's government have merged to create a new faction. The new party is more rightist than the Communists but left of Nehru's Congress party.

The new alignment, called the Praja (Citizens) Socialist party, was formed by the Socialists, who broke with Nehru's Congress in 1948, and the Krishak Mazdoor Praja party, which left the Congress in 1951.

Political circles consider the new faction does not constitute an immediate threat to Nehru, but is significant because it is the first attempt to consolidate the opposition to the government.

In India's first general elections last January, the Congress party won 2,248 of the 3,278 seats in the 22 state legislatures, while the Communists took 182, the Socialists 126 and the Krishaks 77.

In the 489-member Indian Parliament, the Congress won 363 seats, the Communists 27, the Socialists 12 and the Krishaks 10.

Reporter Candidate In Mayoralty Race

OTTAWA (CP)—Richard Bennett Coates, 36, a nephew of former Prime Minister R. B. Bennett and now a reporter on the Ottawa Journal, said Monday he is the mystery man who reports last week said would run against Mayor Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa on a "male supremacy" ticket." He said:

"If there has been any mystery surrounding my intentions it has been only because I have as yet come to no decision to take part in the campaign and because the news that many persons had urged me to seek election leaked out prematurely."

George Nelms, Ottawa optician, has announced that he plans to be a mayoralty candidate.

Resumes Studies

Plan Beet Plant

FORT FRANCES (CP)—A group of Rainy River district business men is trying to promote a $6,000,000 processing plant for sugar beets at Barwick, 30 miles west of this Northwestern Ontario town. Roseneath Church Has 89th Harvest Service

ROSENEATH — (ENS).—Special harvest thanksgiving services were held at St. James' Anglican Church marking the 89th annual harvest service. The chancel of the church was lovely with baskets of early autumn flowers and fruits of the orchard and garden, decorated by W.A. members Services were held at 9 a.m. and 7:30 p.m., conducted by the Rev. A. J. Patstone. There was holy communion at the morning service.

At the evening service Mr. Patstone chose his subject, "The Seedtime and Harvest," and compared a mother's influence of sowing the seeds in the lives of young children to the farmer sowing the seed in springtime; the proof of the mother's teaching is in the harvest of after years, and the result of the farmer's sowing is in the reaping of the harvest.

Special music was arranged with Mrs. Frank Brown at the organ in the morning and Miss Doreen Nichol at the evening service.

LATE RASPBERRIES

A cluster of a dozen or more ripe wild raspberries was found in fence row Tuesday by Mrs. J. J. Northey of Smith Township. Mrs. Northey was walking along the 12th Concession, near No. 7 School, when she saw the wild berries by the side of the road. They generally ripen late in July. Mrs. Northey says that there are other canes bearing raspberries in the fence row.

Noted Orchestra To Open Season

Directors of the Peterborough Community Concerts Association meeting Tuesday evening confirmed dates of the 1952-53 series. The famous Boyd Neale orchestra of London (England) will open the season on Saturday evening, October 25.

On Wednesday, December 10, Simoneau, young French-Canadian tenor, will give the second concert. His date has been advanced from one previously scheduled because of singing engagements at La Scala Opera in Milan and the Paris Opera. Simoneau leaves for Europe immediately following his Peterborough recital.

Third concert will be on Wednesday, February 18; the virtuoso violinist Odnopossoff. The series ends on Friday, April 17, when the piano duo of Whittemore and Lowe will play.

The directors of the association headed by Miss Musa Cox, president, set up committees for the season, and decided that doors should open before concerts at 7:45 and close at 8:30. The secretary, Donald Kennedy, said the members' cards will be mailed this weekend.

Sunday Sport Under Attack

KINGSTON (CP)—The Kingston Presbytery of the United Church of Canada yesterday recorded strong opposition to commercialized Sunday sport at its fall meeting here. The Presbytery also criticized raising money for church and charities by bingos and other games of chance.

Several speakers said the Church should impress on its members that the sport issue involved paying admission at the gate to watch a sporting event. A resolution was approved urging congregations to keep Sunday from becoming a "dollar day."

Another resolution said the Presbytery "expresses its strong opposition to the use of gambling methods by some (service) clubs for the raising of funds."

The resolution continued: "We call upon all ministers to study the question of gambling and attempt to enlighten and educate our people as to the evils and detrimental effects of gambling, that our people may know why the Church is opposed to it."

Car Catches Fire

A 1951-model car was badly damaged at noon today when fire broke out as t was parked in the Canada Packers parking lot. It belongs to Norman Dallin of Bridgenorth. Cause of the smouldering blaze is not known. Both the back and front seats were damaged and the repairs will include a complete re-upholstering, at least.

Anti-Aircraft Regiment Train At Rifle Range

Unused since the Second World War, the 420-acre Peterborough rifle range, east of Peterborough, has been taken over by the 50th H.A.A. Regiment as a training area. Under new army regulations the grounds will not be used as a firing range, but will be laid out as an anti-aircraft gun site for advanced training purposes.

During the past two years the regiment has emphasized anti-aircraft, radar and predictor fundamentals, and with the new development will be able to undertake more advanced training.

Work on the grounds started on the weekend when a group under Lieut. B. W. Hamlin with the help of radar began the task of picking out the best sites for gun positions. These sites will be situated in positions as though the crews were actually working under war conditions.

The 3.7 anti-aircraft guns, the radar and predictor equipment, will be "dug in," camouflaged and sand-bagged. There will be other provisions made for the men to remain there, while on schemes.

Besides work on the anti-aircraft equipment, the regiment also plans for live firing of grenades, sten guns and pistols. A firing range will be built for these weapons.

The 28th Technical Squadron, the city's second reserve army unit will use the eastern sector of the training area. Included in their plans is a driving school which will also be used by similar engineering units in Eastern Ontario.

The squadron will make use of the swampy section of the training area. A large part of the work done by the squadron is the recovery of vehicles and guns. They will practice pulling equipment out of the swampy regions.

The 50th Regiment is planning various schemes when the new area is under way; these operations will likely include the 28th squadron whose work runs hand in hand with the 50th Regiment's. Provisions will be made at the site for men to sleep and eat there while "defending the area during wartime." The R.C.A.F. will also assist the regiment in making "raids" seem more realistic by providing aircraft for mock attacks.

Stole Kit Bag, Clothes From Soldier, Jailed

LINDSAY (ENS)—A twenty-year-old Lindsay man, Charles Graham, was sentenced to ten days in the county jail, when he pleaded guilty this morning to a charge of stealing a kit bag and several articles of clothing from a member of the Canadian Army, visiting in Lindsay. The theft of the kit bag, the property of Pte. William Timms, occurred while the two were drinking at one of the Lindsay hotels. Timms apparently left Graham for a few minutes and found the man and the bag missing when he returned.

The police found Graham at his home, a tent beside the Scugog river on the property of Max Vincent south of the town. The articles were there, but he claimed to have thrown the bag into the river. When he learned that Timms had been paying for the refreshments, Crown counsel Lorne Jordan commented that it was a "nice way" for Graham to treat a friend, "after his treating you."

INCENSE OF AUTUMN rises from piles of burning leaves in city parks and around homes as light winds tug colored foliage from the trees and scatter it across carefully kept lawns. Board of Works veterans Tom Metcalfe and Ernie Jewell, shown above in Victoria Park, will have their hands full disposing of the trash. Of present concern to City Fathers is the disposal of harvest residue from private homes that is left at curbs for garbage truck pick-up.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Union Demands Higher Wages From Westclox

Union demands for a substantial wage increase, a 40-hour week and other contract improvements were submitted Tuesday to the management of the Western Clock Co.

Local 570, International Union of Electrical Radio and Machine Workers (C.I.O.-C.C.L) are the bargaining agents for about 400 Westclox production workers.

The present contract does not end until Dec. 1, but the union demands were submitted in writing Tuesday. Management and Local 570 have been negotiating since June on a wage-opener clause that also provides for the settlement of "inequities" on wage rates. No agreement has yet been reached on these.

LISTS OF DEMANDS

Union demands for the 1953 contract include:

A substantial wage increase (amount not specified).

A reduction of the work week from 42½ to 40 hours and an eight-hour day.

Three weeks vacation with pay after 10 years of employment; four weeks after 25 years.

Improvement in health and welfare benefits.

Improvement in the pension plan. The company would be asked to pay the full cost of the pension instead of the 50-50 cost now shared by the employee and the company.

Nine statutory holidays instead of eight, and they are to be paid for whether or not they fall on working days.

Local 570's negotiating committee consists of President Ken Nisbett, Gerald Dolan, Bea McMahon, Jack Benstead and Bill Webster. They are being assisted by Minor Shaw, I.U.E. international representative here in Peterborough.

Arrest Leaside Doctor On Impaired Charge

LINDSAY (ENS). — A doctor charged with having care and control of his car while his ability was impaired, provided a few amusing minutes in Lindsay police court this morning.

When he first appeared to answer the charge, which had been laid only a few hours before, Dr. Harvey Brown of Leaside, told the court before the trial commenced that he had been at a friend's place in Littleworth township in Haliburton county, and had no sooner left the place than he was accosted by the provincial police.

Constable Hardy of the Minden detachment laid the charge. Crown Counsel Lorne Jordan, Q.C., commented that the accused was in no condition to answer the charge, and stood the case over until later today.

Dr. Brown testified, before entering any plea, that he was not responsible for his actions at the time of arrest. When asked whether he would like counsel to act for him this afternoon, he said "I've never had call to use a lawyer before, so I'll just have a talk with my friend the police officer here," and went out of the courtroom with his arm around the shoulders of Constable Hardy.

Prayers Answered

BRISTOL, England (CP)—Loudspeaker announcements at a flying display here summoned ambulance crews and asked 40,000 spectators to pray as a Vampire jet circled overhead with a jammed undercarriage. On the next circuit the pilot freed his gear and made a perfect landing.

Crown's Evidence Fails In False Pretence Charges

Three charges of false pretences against Donald B. Haig, 38, of Toronto, were dismissed in police court today. Haig was charged with obtaining $50 from the S. S. Kresge Co. branch here on July 29 by giving a cheque on a Toronto bank when he did not have funds deposited there to cover it. He was also charged with obtaining 97.60 from the Beaver Lumber Co., during July by false pretences and obtaining $147 from Clelland Caldwell in October 1949 by a worthless cheque.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said he would be offering no evidence on the 1949 charge and evidence on the other two was heard a week ago.

WANTED IN TORONTO

After the three charges were dismissed, Haig was placed under arrest by detective sergeant W. A. Clarke and constable Douglas Farthing on a warrant for jumping bail in Toronto. He also faces six other charges of false pretenses involving the passing of bad cheques in Kingston, Trenton and Toronto and three in Kaladar during June.

At conclusion of the crown's case in the two Peterborough charges, John Corkery who defended Haig, entered a motion for non suit. Magistrate Philp reserved his judgment until today on both charges.

The Magistrate granted Mr. Corkery's motion in the charge of obtaining $50 from the S. S. Kresge Co., and dismissed the charge.

"From the evidence, it appears the accused with Mrs. Shirley Ray approached John Lewis, the manager of the local branch (of the Kresge Co.) and the accused asked him to cash the cheque referred to. Mrs. Ray accompanied him and was known to the manager of the store in a business way for some time. She volunteered that she would guarantee the cheque," said Magistrate Philp.

He said he was dismissing the charge, because the money was paid over not on the reliance of the accused but on the reliance of the guarantee of Mrs. Ray.

ESTABLISHED CASE

On the second charge Magistrate Philp ruled the crown had established a case against Haig in that he had presented a cheque for $97.60 on a Napanee lumber company and purporting to be signed by an official of the company.

F. G. McGavin, manager of the Beaver Lumber Co. here, said he cashed the cheque because he was familiar with the company and that he believed the signature on the cheque was the name of the signing officer of the company.

The cheque was subsequently returned and entered as an exhibit by the crown with a written imitation attached stating the signature was not genuine.

Mr. Corkery argued there was no evidence before the court that the cheque was not a genuine cheque of the lumber company. The cheque was endorsed and Mr. Corkery argued that it was a negotiable instrument and therefore up to the crown to prove that Haig knew the cheque was not good when he presented it to Mr. McGavin.

"On second thought, Mr. Corkery may be quite right," said Magistrate Philp. "Charge dismissed."

MacNab Joins Staff Of C.C.F. Office

OTTAWA (CP) — John E. MacNab, 36, of Midland and Toronto, today joined the staff of the C.C.F. national office here as research director.

Mr. MacNab, a veteran of three years service with the R.C.A.F. during the Second World War, has just completed four years post-graduate studies in the United States. A former newspaper man, he worked on the Aylmer Express, London Free Press and Oshawa Times.

City To Pay $3,656 Legal Fee In Expropriation

Board of Works Monday night recommended payment of $3,656.75 to T. J. Carley, Q.C., who represented the city in the expropriation of the Barry Seabrook property on George St., as part of the site for the new city hall.

Pages of details of his work in the arbitration of value comprised the bulk of his statement.

"Mr. Carley did a good job for the city," Mayor Waddell commented, "and I think the bill is a reasonable one."

A motion by Ald. T. D. Miller recommending payment was seconded by Ald. P. J. Anglesey.

The award to Mr. Seabrook amounted to $15,334.18. It included $10,500 for compensation, $1,050 for expropriation by the city. compulsory taking.

Interest on those two items amounting to $11,550 at 5% from May 1, 1950, to July 30, 1952, $1,298.98. Seabrook taxing of costs on arbitration $2,225, and several small items.

City paid $15,000 into court. That left a balance from the total award of $334.18 due by the city.

Interest on the money paid into court was $130.68, which was a credit against the sum of $15,334.18. After crediting that interest the amount paid by the city was $15,203.50 for the property and expropriation cost.

Of the $334.18 in excess of the $15,000 payment into court, the city gave a cheque for $329.63 in favor of Mr. Seabrook, and $4.55 in favor of the T. Tindle estate, mortgagee.

MONEY SPLIT

In the disposal of the $15,000, paid into court, Mr. and Mrs. Seabrook received $9,986.76, and the Tindle estate $5,013.24.

It was said the city adopted the course of expropriation of the property, with settlement by arbitration, after declining the owner's offer to sell for $21,500, plus interest.

Actual cost to the city from the sums quoted at the board of works meeting was: $15,334.18 plus $3,656.75, amounting to $18,990.93.

Damaged Jail Inmate Fined

LINDSAY (ENS)—A total of $85.50 in fines or costs, or forfeits of 75 days in jail were imposed by Magistrate Gee on a 21-year-old Lindsay man when he appeared for sentence on a second offence against the Liquor Control Act, and a charge of wilful damage to the county jail in Lindsay police court this morning.

Garnet Kelly pleaded guilty to the drunk charge on Monday of this week, and was remanded for sentence until today, when chief turnkey Hartwick of the jail laid the further charge of wilful damage. Kelly also pleaded guilty to this charge. Kelly was arrested on the drunk charge last weekend, and smashed windows in the corridor where he was taken in the county jail. Total damage was about $8.

Magistrate Gee, in passing sentence, remarked that Kelly was at present under suspended sentence on a charge of stealing grain. He advised the accused to get out of town when he was freed, and to find work and better companions also.

Lorraine Derry New President Students Council

P.C.V.S. students went to the polls Tuesday and elected Lorraine Derry as president of their Students' Council to wind up a two-week campaign featuring the political propaganda of the two parties, the Squeaks and the Squawks.

Others elected to the council executive were: George Allison, as vice-president; Skip Pulver as secretary and Ruth Grandy as treasurer. Allison was the only member of the Squeaks party to win a seat.

The defeated candidates, Betty Ann Wilkinson, Chane Carter, Bert Ross and Winona Greenwood will be the chairmen of the standing committees, the social functions, the At Home, school spirit and novelties.

The campaign started two weeks ago when the presidential candidates, Misses Derry and Wilkinson, gave their party platforms. They also closed the campaign on Tuesday, thanking students who had helped with the various duties.

Immediately after the school assembly the students by classes were sent to the office where each student was given a ballot. They then voted in the library and returned to classes.

ALMOST 100 P. C. VOTE

Although it is compulsory for a student to go to the office with his class while voting, they do not have to vote. But practically all the eligible students did as 734 votes were recorded, almost 100 per cent.

The campaign this year was probably the best in several years, especially in the banners and posters throughout the school. They even carried the propaganda to the football games.

Besides the usual comic planks such as waxing the bannisters on school stairways and placing air foam cushions at the bottom of each to provide the students with a quick getaway, there were sensible promises.

Both parties used the school fund as a main party plank, both agreeing to raise funds for school activities by the sale of magazine subscriptions. School spirit was also emphasized by promising prep rallies, chartered buses to games and male cheerleaders.

The annual elections serve two purposes: (1) to select the student council and (2) to teach the students the democratic methods in elections, including the proper way to vote.

This year out of the 734 students who voted, 20 marked their ballot wrongly and these were not counted. Usually there are only one or two not counted, but this year a mistake in not telling the Grade 10 students how to mark the ballot resulted in the spoiled ballots.

Gold Miner Finds Bell In Britain

MANCHESTER, England (Reuters)—William Corran, a Canadian gold miner, who came to Britain looking for a bell for the remodelled All Saints Anglican church of Noranda, Que., has found one—from Manchester's blitzed All Saints church.

He said today the bishop of Manchester, Dr. W. D. L. Greer, had helped him find it.

"I shall have it shipped to Canada," he said.

Corran was born at Widnes, England, and emigrated to Canada nearly 30 years ago.

Total Assessment For City Nears $50 Million, Shows $2 Million Increase

Assessment Shows Population of 38,268
Only Centre Ward Reports Smaller Number
As Citizens Continue Move To Fringe

Peterborough's total assessment amounts to $49,237,617, closely approaching the $50,000,000 mark, in the 1952 assessment roll which was returned to City Clerk Outram today by Assessment Commissioner J. E. Davis. The new valuations are the basis of the 1953 taxes. The increase is $2,289,554 over the corresponding $46,948,063 aggregate of 1951.

The assessment department's count of population is 38,268, a gain of 1,076 over the 1951 total of 37,192. Mr. Davis makes the usual observation that the population figure is not to be accepted as a census. Listing the number of people is subordinate to the valuation of property and business.

SOME DIFFERENCE

The recent federal census of Peterborough reported last year's population of 37,192, indicating the extent of difference between the government's official count of people on the one hand, and the assessment department's total on the other.

Assessment details for 1952 compared with those of last year, in brackets, are quoted from the summary of the new roll:

Land, $8,745,042 ($8,662,583); buildings, $34,996,315 ($32,977,280); total property, $43,741,357 ($41,639,863).

Exemptions, $6,819,322 ($6,430,550).

Total taxable property, $36,922,322 ($35,209,313).

Business assessment, $5,496,260 ($5,308,200).

Total assessment, property and business, including exemptions of property, $49,237,617 ($46,948,063).

Just as an example of effect of the increased value of taxable property, assuming a convenient rate of 60 mills, the amount of new money for municipal purposes would be 60/100 of $1,713,009, or $102,780.54.

The sum $1,713,009 is the increase in taxable property over last year.

The example does not include the business tax, nor is it made at the exact tax rate of this year.

The population by wards in the 1952 roll, set out against the count of last year, in brackets, follows: South Ward, 8,861 (8,674); Centre, 2,156 (2,230); West, 7,591 (7,395); North, 7,680 (7,491); Ashburnham, 5,819 (5,684); Claraday, 6,161 (5,718). Total, 38,268 (37,192).

Fails To Appear Had No Licence, Fined

Elmer Aldred of Lakefield carried his defiance of the Department of Transport's radio inspectors one step further today.

A week ago, he mailed a mantle radio to Magistrate W. R. Philp and attached a note to a summons charging him with not having a radio licence.

The note said: "Dear Sir: Here is your radio."

Radio licence inspector Wm. A. Ricker said he was not interested in the radio and crown attorney John A. Bradshaw asked a week's adjournment to inform Mr. Aldred to pick up his radio.

Today, he did not appear in court and a plea of not guilty was entered on his behalf. After hearing Mr. Ricker's evidence, that Aldred's wife failed to produce a licence when he presented his credentials to her on August 12, Magistrate W. R. Philp said he was finding Aldred guilty.

The penalty—a fine of $3 and $2.50 costs or three days in jail.

Faulty Sprinkler, Flash Fire Cause Damage

A flash fire in the grill of the Empress Hotel Coffee Shop and a defective sprinkler head in Eaton's gave firemen a lively hour early today.

Mrs. Dorothy Brown, short-order cook, was on duty in the Coffee Shop when grease from some french fried potatoes ignited. Flames licked up inside the canopy and the intense heat caused the paint above it to peel off the wall.

The inside of the room was filled with smoke and total damage may go as high as $300. The Coffee Shop will be closed for the rest of the day and a section of the Kawartha Room used instead.

Chemical extinguishers were used by both Empress employees and city firemen to put out the fire.

This alarm came at 6:45 a.m. and all of the fire apparatus, including the aerial ladder, answered the call. Acting Fire Chief Stewart Foster was still there with one of the pumpers when a second alarm came in: this one from Eaton's.

Acting Chief Foster was informed by shortwave radio and left the Empress where cleaning up was going on to investigate the call for Eaton's. It turned out to be a defective sprinkler head in the basement which turned in an automatic alarm.

Oswald Coulter, caretaker, managed to turn the sprinkler system off, but not before heavy damage had been caused to furniture, sporting goods, and other merchandise.

O.P.P. Cruiser, Truck Collide At Corner

Minor damage resulted today when a provincial police cruiser and a truck collided at George St., and Park Hill Rd. at 10.15 a.m.

Harold Patton, Otonabee township, who was driving the truck east on Park Hill Rd., said he had stopped for the stop sign at George St.

He told Constable Jack Wilson who investigated he looked and saw nothing coming north on George St., then started ahead in low gear.

The collision occurred when O.P.P. Corporal John Munroe, 712 Gillespie St., travelling north on George St., made a left hand turn to go west on Park Hill Rd.

Introduce New Film Process To Audiences On Broadway

By MARK BARRON

NEW YORK (AP)—Perhaps the experience will recall the first time you swooped down in a fair grounds roller coaster. Or when, on a first airplane flight, the pilot went into a side slip.

Those first sensations, combined with the scenic effects of a motion picture production, are the combination of cinerama, a three-dimensional film process which made its formal bow to Broadway audiences last night.

The cinerama film, as seen now, is something bordering on a travelogue. But its first showing points the way towards possible technical changes in the entertainment world.

This first film is entitled "This is Cinerama" because it is, in fact, the introduction of a new motion picture process. It is not yet a film with a plot except what suggestions the audience may give to what they see on the screen. The Grand Canyon of the Colorado River in Arizona, the Cypress Gardens of Florida, the triumphal scene of "Aida" at La Scala grand opera in Milan are the themes for this new full-dimensional sight picture at the Broadway Theatre.

BIG SCREEN NEEDED

The cinerama film requires a cylindrical screen about six times the normal size of the usual movie screen. The over-all screen is 63 feet across the top curve and 23 feet high.

Although the screen is concave, the light reflections bounce off and disappear behind the screen so that it appears to be a flat, solid picture to the audience.

The sound tracks on the cinerama film were recorded separately during the filming at seven widely-separated positions for perfect synchronization.

If the audience sees a motor boat or an airplane darting across the widespread screen, they first hear the engines coming from offstage as if they were actually where the camera is focussed on the horizon.

Cinerama pictures will require some changes in the physical setup of stages where this new film technique can be shown. At the moment it can be shown only in New York and London theatres where these stages have been changed to accommodate the enlarged film screen required.

British Government 11 Times Deeper In Red

LONDON (AP)—A government announcement last night disclosed that it is running 11 times deeper in the red than at this time a year ago because revenues are down and expenses sharply up.

But government revenues normally run heavier in the second half of the year and may yet balance the budget.

The Treasury statement covering the six months ended Sept. 30 showed a government budget deficit of £293,210,989 compared to a deficit of £26,291,792 in the corresponding period of 1951.

Can't Identify Two At Trial

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Two men accused of rape, one on trial, the other charged, could not be identified yesterday by the complainant in fall assizes of the Ontario Supreme Court here.

The woman, who constantly interrupted her evidence with pious observations, could not identify as the men she claims violated her, either Wesley Taylor Phillips, 27, of St. Thomas—even when he stood alone in the prisoner's dock—or James Henry Durdle, 22, St. Thomas. Durdle's trial has not yet started. Phillips pleaded innocent.

Cross-examining, defence lawyer A.B. Siskind, tested the woman's eyesight by asking her to describe the appearance of persons in the audience. She missed only two details—Durdle's glasses and his identity, although she said she had seen the man "somewhere before."

The trial is continuing.

Nine Companies Get New Union Agreement

TORONTO (CP)—Nine companies and three unions yesterday reached agreement in a labor dispute in Ontario's fine-paper industry which lasted four months.

The agreement, affecting about 6,000 workers, provides for reduction of the 48-hour week to 44 hours with the same pay; establishment of a common wage differential throughout the industry for night shifts, and a bonus of three cents an hour from now until the shorter hours become effective Jan. 1. The bonus is in lieu of retroactive pay to May 1 and amounts to about $20 a man.

Union representatives estimated that the shorter working hours with the same pay are equivalent to an increase of about 14 cents an hour.

Club Porter Hanged For Slaying Spy

LONDON (AP)—Dennis George Muldowney, 41, a club porter, was hanged Tuesday for murdering a beautiful Polish-born countess who served as a British secret agent during the Second World War.

Muldowney had confessed stabbing Mrs. Christine Granville, 37, in the lobby of Kensington hotel last June 15 after she spurned his affections.

The onetime beauty queen met Muldowney a year before while working as a stewardess on an ocean liner. Friends said the man, a steward on the ship, mistook her kindness for love and pursued her.

Muldowney offered no defence when arrested for her murder. He pleaded guilty and refused legal aid.

Howe Closes Two Divisions As Supply Outlook Better

OTTAWA (CP)—Against a background of improved supplies of strategic materials and relaxed government controls, Production Minister Howe yesterday closed two divisions of his Defence Production Department and announced the resignation of three of his administrators.

The divisions of chemicals and explosives and of newsprint were closed out. Their directors, and the director of the non-ferrous metals division, are returning to civilian jobs.

Dr. J.R. Donald of Montreal, director of the chemicals and explosives division, returns as president of J.T. Donald and Company Limited, Montreal. Mr. Howe said most of his administrative jobs will be scrapped and any remaining problems turned over to Dr. H.H. Saunderson, the department's materials co-ordinator.

R.M. Fowler of Montreal, who headed the newsprint division, resumes the presidency of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association on a full-time basis.

NEWSPRINT AMPLE

The division was set up to direct international allocations of newsprint recommended by the International Materials Conference. The I.M.C. recently announced that the world supply of newsprint has gradually improved and no further allocations will be needed.

F.V.C. Hewett of Toronto, director of the non-ferrous metals division, returns to private consulting practice in Toronto. He is succeeded by Norman B. Davis of Ottawa, who has been acting as divisional consultant. The division's work has recently been cut with the lifting of controls n copper and aluminum mill forms.

The Defence Production Department was set up in April of last year to guide the development of a three-year $5,000,000,000 defence machine. A parallel task was to control essential materials which became scarce following outbreak of the Korean war.

Much of the department's work has been lightened with an easing of world demand for scarce metals and other items. Steel controls were recently eased and further relaxations are expected before the end of the year.

Howe Gives President Some Early Advice

TORONTO — (CP) — The next president of the United States—whoever he may be — got some early advice from Canada's Trade Minister today—reduce trade barriers.

Mr. Howe, speaking before a group of Canadian importers, said that the U. S. has led the way in reducing trade restrictions. But the job was only half done. "Too many barriers" still remained.

"Let us hope," he added, "that whoever wins the coming elections in the U. S. will carry on the good work. Whoever does will find the Government at Ottawa ready to play its part in any genuine effort to bring about freer trade among the nations."

Succession Duties To Total $2,000,000

OTTAWA (CP) — Government sources said yesterday federal and provincial succession duties on the estate of George McCullagh, Toronto newspaper publisher, possibly will amount to more than $2,000,00

It was disclosed in Toronto Monday that Mr. McCullagh left an estate of $4,624,749.

The government sources said that if the dutiable value of the estate was $4,600,000, then the federal and Ontario succession duties would amount to more than $2,000,000.

However, there might be some exemptions.

Pagan Society Seen

KERRWOOD (CP)—The prospect of a pagan society rimming the shoreline of southwestern Ontario was held before Middlesex Presbytery of the United Church for its consideration yesterday.

Rev. A. B. Irwin, Sarnia, speaking for the Church Extension Committee of London Conference, said the whole shoreline of Ontario will become "a vast mission field" if the St. Lawrence seaway is completed. He said the church has got to meet the challenge "or God help us—it will be a pagan society, a materialistic society."

Czech Diplomat Seeks U.S. Asylum

NEW YORK (AP)—A Czechoslovak diplomat and former United Nations secretariat official says he will not return to his Communist-controlled homeland and will seek asylum here.

Dr. Ivan Kerno, who retired last Sept. 10 as U. N. assistant secretary-general for legal afairs, made his announcement last night on the "United or Not" television program.

Kerno, 61, a member of the Czech diplomatic service since 1918 and a former aid of the late Czech President Eduard Benes, said he expects U. S. officials to grant him permission to remain in the U.S. Kerno added that he hoped to work in co-operation with the U. N. on refugee problems.

His self-exile was similar to that of Jan Papanek, former chief Czech delegate to the U. N., who repudiated his government after the 1948 Red coup in Prague.

Kerno said he could now disclose that Benes had informed him that Stalin once promised not to interfere in Czech internal affairs.

Officer Explains Ban On UK Cars

TORONTO (CP)—J.L. Stewart, general manager of National Automobile Shows Inc., said yesterday that exclusion of British cars from the Toronto and Montreal motor shows next February was not a question of patriotism or of international economics, but a simple matter of everyday business.

British car dealers and representatives of United Kingdom manufacturers in Canada had claimed that Canadian auto manufacturers were black-balling their products by banning them from the shows.

As far back as 1927 the companies had agreed to finance and operate motor shows as joint undertakings to promote sales of their products. They had invested several million dollars to popularize the shows.

Mr. Stewart said: "We do not propose to invite companies outside our association to share the benefits of our advertising venture, to which they have contributed nothing over the many years since our association was formed."

Alberta's Position On Gas Unchanged

EDMONTON (CP) — Premier E. C. Manning said yesterday that Alberta's position on export of natural gas is unchanged and that his talks last week in Toronto with Premier Frost of Ontario were "informal chats."

Alberta's position is that the machinery has been set up to permit export of any gas surplus to the province's needs. Applications for export permits have to be approved by the Alberta Conservation Board. Alberta had a Canada-first export policy—provided it was economically feasible.

HAMILTON (CP)—Crown witnesses said yesterday that Henry Lee, 37, and Mrs. Mary Rosenblatt appeared nervous and impatient the day before she died.

Lee has pleaded innocent to a charge of murdering her, laid after the pair was found in a car near Sheffield June 2. Mrs. Rosenblatt had been fatally shot and Lee was wounded.

Mrs. Sarah Dennis, Lee's landlady, said the accused appeared nervous the Saturday Mrs. Rosenblatt disappeared. Her son, Police Constable Thomas Dennis, testified that Lee worried him by his manner over the telephone, and when he went to the house, Lee made vague threats against unknown persons.

Young RCN Leading Seaman Valuable Man On Destroyer

ABOARD H.M.C.S. CRUSADER (CP)—A 27-year-old leading seaman is one of the most valuable men on board this Canadian destroyer during her current tour of duty in Korean waters.

He is LS. Yeiji Imouye of New Westminster, B.C., whose fluency in the Japanese tongue is regularly called into use both ashore in Japan and at sea off Korea.

The burly Inouye, a spare-time judo expert, is captain of one of the Crusader's 4.5-inch guns. He does his interpreting job as a member of the ship's boarding party at sea and as a jeep driver in port.

Due to years of occupation by Japanese in Korea, their language is readily understood by Koreans.

Brought up in Vancouver, Inouye was moved with his family during the Second World War to a camp at Greenwood, B.C., along with other west-coast Japanese families. Eventually the family moved to Guelph, Ont. Inouye joined the navy in Hamilton in 1948 and served for a couple of years at Halifax, where he was a noted athlete.

He has been on the Crusader since June, 1951. His messmates, who claim his first name is too difficult to pronounce, call him "Lanky."

Like other native Canadians, he is confused by customs in Japan. He says he was "really embarrased" during a visit to the family of a great-uncle at Yokohama.

"The ladies of the family bowed and fussed as if I were the emperor," he said. "That's the way they live. . . It's certainly hard to get used to their customs."

Stronger Steel Holds Suchan In Death Cell

TORONTO. — It was seven months ago that Sgt. of Dets. Edmund Tong and Det. Sgt. Roy Perry decided to stop a car bearing licence 418A2 and investigate its occupants. As it turned out, its occupants were an ex-violinist and an ex-hairdresser.

It was just a routine check—at first. But in a matter of seconds the detective car was riddled with bullets, Sgt. Perry was wounded and Sgt. Tong was dying in the roadway.

It took seven months to form all the filmy strands of evidence into a web of accusation. But the web was strong and beyond doubt. So, in 76 days, the violinist, Val Lesso, alias Steve Suchan, and the hairdresser, Leonard Jackson, alias Fred Wilson, will die on the gallows in the Don Jail.

They will die unless a successful appeal against their sentence is made by their defence counsels, J. J. Robinette for Suchan and Arthur Maloney for Jackson. So far they have not decided on an appeal.

CAREFULLY GUARDED

Suchan and Jackson are sitting it out, in the meantime, in separate cells in Death Row in the Don Jail. In fact they are in the same cells they escaped from on the morning of Sept. 8 while awaiting trial.

But their cells are different. New steel gleams in the bars and doors, armed guards sit inside the cell block and the two doomed men will be under constant observation until Dec. 16—the date set for their execution.

They will be watched while they eat. They will be watched while they pace up and down their tiny cells. They will be watched while they try to sleep at night—and the lights will stay on 24 hours a day. There will be no darkness for them to hide behind.

In fact they will be watched in everything they do, including their visits to the washroom.

Slick Robber

NEW YORK (AP) — Bookkeeper Sylvia Freed was taking her firm's $2,300 payroll from a bank to the company office in a taxi yesterday. The taxi stopped at a traffic light. An armed man reached through the window and disappeared, along with the payroll bundle. Miss Freed said she didn't even get a glimpse of the robber.

Robot Weapons Are Tested At Deseronto Airbase

DESERONTO.—At a small, almost forgotten airfield in the southeast corner of Hastings County, Canadian airmen are mastering the rudiments of robot warfare.

For the past six months a compact team of pilots and technicians has been conducting in secret an experiment with radio-controlled target planes, each about one-third the size of a modern fighter.

The immediate objective is to use robots in R.C.A.F. gunnery practice. Longer range planning indicates, however, that the operating techniques now being evolved would provide the basis for Canada's participation in any future push-button war.

Site of the project is the scheduled R.C.A.F. station at Deseronto virtually abandoned since the Second World War. It was from this same expanse of grassland that young Canadians and Britons of the First World War won their wings in flimsy Jenny biplanes.

ROBOT CRAFT NOISY

Since early summer the entire area has reverberated to the roar of robot craft, a long, weird procession of miniature flying machines controlled by radio impulses. There have been five crashes, but in no case has any one been injured.

The craft cost $3,000 apiece, weigh 290 pounds, measure 12 feet from wing to wing, remain airborne for one hour and can attain speeds up to 300 miles per hour and altitudes up to 27,000 feet with a specially-designed four cylinder, 72 horsepower engine. They are made at Van Nuys, Calif. by the Radioplane Corp.

They are launched from a circular asphalt runway 150 feet in radius. The robot is secured to a heavy tricycle undercarriage which speeds around the track at the end of a heavy cable. Once flying speed is reached the robot is disengaged and begins its climb A radio operator then takes over and, with a portable control box, guides by electronic impulses the gyrations which are to be executed.

So far all experiments have been controlled from the ground. Eventually, however, the R.C.A.F. expects to guide its robots from the air. Two Mitchell bombers have been equipped for this purpose at Trenton. They will be able to direct the robots from the ground and set them on any given course.

The main obstacle to air-to-air control thus far has been the unpredictable temperament of this type of craft, known as the OQ-19a Atmospheric freaks can cause a break in radio control. The robot might perform an unscheduled loop directly into the path of another aircraft. Or it might, on a long range flight, lose contact momentarily and dive into a populated area.

Until the R.C.A.F. can obtain a larger proving ground away from centres of population, control will continue to be exercised from the ground. Preliminary plans call for a new target range around Point Petre in the Picton district. Here, both R.C.A.F. fighters and Army anti-aircraft guns can blast away at the robots without danger to themselves or nearby residents.

The R.C.A.F., on a trial basis, purchased 10 of the craft. Only five remain. The others fell victim to a series of accidents during early stages of training. They dived into [illegible]. They were smashed during launching. They landed upside down, or on one wing. Runways at the Deseronto field are scarred by the mementoes of these preliminary experiments.

Indians at the nearby Mohawk Reservation lived in constant fear for a few months. They were finally reassured by the sight of parachutes billowing from the planes as they descended after flight. Each carries a 32-ft. 'chute which opens automatically once contact has been lost with the control point.

The experiment period is now considered to be ended. Launching teams have become proficient in their work. At least two pilots have been completely trained in handling robots, and others are learning.

In charge of the project is Wing Commander George Godson, chief armament officer of the R.C.A.F. training command at Trenton. The R.C.A.F.'s most experienced pilot for this type of flying is Squadron Leader Marshall Sharpe, also attached to training command.

RCAF Lancasters Join U.S. Forces In Manouevres

OTTAWA (CP)—Lancasters from two R.C.A.F. east-coast Maritime squadrons will join United States forces later this month in the second of the joint exercises testing cold-weather amphibious assaults on the Labrador coast.

About 10 of the big four-engined patrol bombers will support a 34-ship U.S. amphibious task group, it was announced today by air force headquarters here and by U.S. Atlantic Fleet headquarters.

Six R.A.F. maritime-reconnaissance planes will also take part in "Operation Noramex II," flying the Atlantic to reach Greenwood, N.S., Oct. 3.

The U. S. task group leaves bases at Norfolk, Va., and Morehead City, N.C., Oct. 6 and will return in November after testing the effectiveness of landing assault troops in cold weather.

The troops will attempt to recapture a radar-radio and weather station established by invading "enemy" forces.

The exercise will send "enemy" submarine attacks against the task force, as well as simulated opposition by "invader" ground forces on Labrador.

The R.C.A.F. Lancasters will join the task group's own aircraft and shore-based U.S. planes in submarine operations.

The R.C.A.F. squadrons taking part are No. 404 commanded by Wing Cmdr. D. E. Galloway, 37, of Montreal, and No. 405 commanded by Wing Cmdr. John E. Creeper, 36, of Owen Sound, Ont.

Nova Scotia May Develop Rich Seaweed Industry

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Nova Scotia some day may reap a rich harvest from the humble seaweeds which grow along her coasts.

Dr. Foster Woodward, director of the Institute of Seaweed Research at Edinburgh, says that "greater development most certainly will be feasible in a few years' time."

Seaweeds in Scotland yield about $3,000,000 a year. Mr. Woodward says the Nova Scotia seaweeds are essentially the same.

The sea growth, which disappeared before the war because of a disease, is reappearing along the Nova Scotia coast. For years it has been used as a fertilizer and also as an insulating material which coastal dwellers used to bank the sides of their homes in winter.

"While seaweed is not a big industry here yet it will grow where required," Mr. Woodward said. In Scotland the seaweeds are processed for use in foodstuffs and animal fodder.

IRISH MOSS POPULAR

The most popular branch of the seaweed industry in Nova Scotia at present is the Irish moss harvest.

It is carried out mainly by fishermen and farmers as a part-time venture. Most of it is shipped in the raw state to the United States where it is processed for use as a gelatine in such things as ice cream.

Collection of the moss, which grows on the rocks of the shoreline, is simple. Each man works from a dory, using as his only equipment a hoe-like instrument.

Local buyers usually dicker for the harvest on the wharves although some of the men dry it first and thus demand a higher price.

All the buyers are connected with United States companies which provide a ready market.

More Divorce Trouble

BOSTON (AP) — Alcoholics are involved in 12 times more divorces than non-alcoholics, Dr. Robert Fleming, director of the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital Alcoholism Clinic said last night. Painful Cramps of "Monthly Periods" halted or strikingly relieved in 3 out of 4 cases in test by doctors!

• Women and girls who suffer from those functionally-caused cramps, backaches and headaches of menstruation — who feel upset and irritable on certain "particular days" — may often be suffering quite unnecessarily!

Such is the conclusion from tests by doctors in which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound gave complete or striking relief from such distress in 3 out of 4 of the cases tested!

Modern in action!

Yes! Medical evidence shows Lydia Pinkham's Compound is thoroughly modern in action. It strikes directly at the cause of menstrual pain!

The effectiveness of Lydia Pinkham's needs no proof to the millions of women and girls whom it has benefited. But how about you? Do you know what it may do for you?

Take Lydia Pinkham's through the month. See if you don't get the same relief from the pains and weakness of "those days"! See if you don't feel better before and during your period!

Get either Lydia Pinkham's Compound, or new, improved Tablets (with added iron). Both are grand, too, for those "hot flashes" and nervous feelings of "change of life"!

Don't suffer needlessly . . . when relief may be so near!

Lydia Pinkham's has a quieting effect on the uterine contractions (see chart) which often cause menstrual pain!

Rev. Spragget Stresses Temperance

SPRINGVILLE (ENS) — Two special services were held in the Springville Church Sunday. In the morning, Allan Spragget, of Toronto, taking his text from the 17th chapter of Acts, brought a convincing message on the responsibility of every Christian in the temperance movement. "The apostle Paul's missionary work was condemned by those who claimed he was turning the world upside down but," said the speaker, "it is the mission of the church of Christ to turn the world upside down. Christian people should enjoy the best the world has to offer as long as it is Christian in its influence but they must not compromise with evil. Christ said they were the salt, the preservative of the earth to transform it and not to conform to worldly ways."

Today, he said, many people are living Godless, self-seeking lives where might is right, and justice and honor are trodden underfoot.

Some people point to the fact that Jesus turned water into wine at a wedding in Cana. "That isn't an issue today," the speaker claimed, "for," said he, "could any one suggest that Jesus would smile today at beer parlors, taverns, broken homes and drunken drivers? Jesus' attitude would be opposition and so the duty and responsibility of us, His disciples, is clear."

"Of the thirty thousand alcoholics in Ontario," he said, "not one ever intended to be an alcoholic, but started through moderate drinking. The road to alcoholism is paved with first glasses."

At the evening service a young people's choir of Y.P.U. of 19 voices led the service of song and sang two choruses "Bless Our Homes" and "Lest We Forget."

The Rev. A. E. Larke's discourse was the story of "The Everlasting Mercy" by John Masefield the poet laureate. It depicted the poet's idea of conversion.

The children's part in the service was the choral reading "Our Pledge of Prayer" ending with "and every day I'll watch and pray, Lord keep me pure and clean alway." This was given by the pupils of S.S. 3 N. Monaghan with their teacher, Miss Eleanor Bowles directing. Billy Whitfield gave a selection entitled "Our Goal."

Roger Hanbidge presented a film "That Boy Joe" and Bernard Preston sang "O Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight." Dorothy Hooten and Lila Seymour contributed a duet.

The offering of the evening will be given to Peterborough W.C.T.U. to assist with their work in presenting prizes to boys and girls of day schools and Sunday schools who study and write the National Temperance course examinations.

During an interlude in the evening service, Miss Lois Paddock on behalf of the Y.P.U. members, presented Miss Margaret Earle with a gift for herself and also a gift for her friend Miss Marion Divan and wished both girls "bon voyage" and a pleasant holiday abroad. Miss Earle and Miss Divan are leaving next Thursday for a holiday in England and expect to remain there until after the Queen's coronation. Miss Earle, vice-president of the Y.P.U., expressed her thanks.

Church Holds Rally Day At Millbrook

MILLBROOK (ENS).—The annual Rally Day service for St. Andrew's United Church Sunday school was held in the auditorium of the church. There was a large congregation and the Sunday school students and their teachers followed the choir in the processional to sit in a body. The Rev. A. M. Butler conducted the service and told the children the story about "Building a Church." He told of the plans being carried out by various church groups to renovate and beautify St. Andrew's. This was important he said, but it was also necessary to build a church of love. Children themselves could help with this by learning to be interested in others.

Fraser Carr gave a vocal solo accompanied at the organ by Miss Estella Hetherington. Music was supplied also by the Sunday school orchestra comprising Beverley Patton, Dorothy Ball, Ada Olan, Laureen Guthrie, Helen Ingham, Mac Ingham and George Patton.

Assisting the ushers in receiving the offering were two pupils from the Sunday school, John Rowe and Garnet Fallis.

The special speaker was Harry Williams of the High School staff who spoke on "Choosing a [illegible] that young people needed help and guidance in making the important decision of a life work. It was necessary first to determine a young person's capabilities to see for what work he was suited; and also to take inventory of available jobs. Often parents chose white collar jobs for children who mould be much happier in trades where mechanical dexterity was the major requirement. In larger schools a great deal of time and effort was spent in testing young people to determine their capabilities. He thought perhaps schools were even better equipped than parents to assess a student's strong points. Parents could help he believed by exposing children to a great variety of interests. In his own line of natural history, studying birds and plants, he thought the men who had been most successful were those who had started at an early age to recognize the different birds, trees and specimens of plant life.

A party was held at Club Aragon in the evening.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

The organist and choir members of St. Joseph's Church, Douro, met at the home of Miss Ella Foley to spend a social evening and honor two of its members, Joseph Foley, whose marriage is today, and Gerald Walsh, who will be married on Saturday.

An address was read by the organist Mrs. V. Kennedy and a gift of cuff links and tie clips were presented to the men by James Walsh and Joseph Towns. Suitable replies were made by Gerald and Joe.

Short speeches were made by John Holland and Howard Walsh. The evening was spent in card playing, singing and dancing.

Married 50 Years Ago In Fine Style, Still Happy

A minister two hours late, a dance which lasted all night and a mock horse whipping ceremony were a few things recalled Tuesday by Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Johnston, 22 Gordon Ave., when they celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary.

The first wedding in the Lake Katchacoma district, the Johnstons were married at the house of John Westlake. There Ethel Westlake and "Gus" Johnston took their marriage vows but not until after a lengthy wait.

The marriage was set for 7 p.m.; the night was wet, rainy and dark. The ministers, the late Rev. Cresswick and the Rev. G. V. Gwilman, Church in Young's Point, made the trip with a horse and buggy to the Westlake home. But somewhere along the way they became lost and didn't arrive for the ceremony until 9 p.m.

Why two ministers? Mr. Johnston laughingly claims that "they wanted it to be done right."

The bridesmaid, best man and flower girl are all still alive, and all were at the anniversary party held at Club Aragon except the best man, Walter Parnell, who was absent because of illness. Mrs. Johnston's attendants were Miss Blanche F. Westlake of New York City as bridesmaid and Miss Edith Westlake as flower girl.

DANCED ALL NIGHT

Then the wedding party began. They danced, danced and they danced all night, "we never knew it was morning." Then as the newlyweds drove away with their horse and buggy, Mrs. Johnston's brother "horsewhipped" Mr. Johnston for taking his sister away. They spent their honeymoon in Montreal.

Married life for the Johnstons has been good. Mr. Johnston held a steady job, working 34 years in the textile business at the Auburn plant in Peterborough and for a short while in Hespeler. They had six boys and a girl, Ernest of Philadelphia, Mrs. Bruce Barnhardt of Hamilton, Jack of Peterborough, Ted of Toronto, Kenneth of Winnipeg, Keith of Peterborough and Donald of Toronto.

After a day full of congratulations from relatives and friends, the Johnstons attended an anniversary dinner in the evening at Club Aragon.

J. E. R. Munro Tells Students To Learn By Watching

The value of first hand information by personal observation for would-be teachers was stressed by J. E. R. Munro, recently retired principal of Queen Alexandra School Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Munro was the guest speaker at the staff reception for the students at the Peterborough Normal School.

In this valedictory address to 40 years in a teaching career just ending, the speaker gave helpful observations to 146 normal students.

"My advice to you as students this year is to wait until next year to read all books recommended to you and spend all your time here watching your instructors," he said. "Get your training here by personal observation."

Mr. Munro explained that there are three sources of information —evidence, which is by personal observation; hearsay from somebody else, and reports as from books. The student must learn to properly weigh the value of second hand information whether from other people or from books before he can depend on it for an education. He must be able to recognize slanted second hand information.

Tribute was paid by the speaker to former members of the Normal School staff for the high standard of training they had set and maintained.

In his concluding remarks, Mr. Munro listed aspects of teaching that had made it a rewarding career for him. He explained it was vital because of the part it plays in the lives of children. It is unpredictable. You never know all the answers and as a result it is always a bit of a gamble. And it established a vital link with the people who are associated with you—the parents with whom you have the common interest of the development and training of their children.

The speaked was introduced by Mrs. Leo Copp and thanked by Mr. Copp who was master of ceremonies for the reception.

Civic greeting and welcome were extended to the students by Mayor Hugh Waddell and they were also welcomed by W. B. Gordon, chairman of the Board of Education.

Soloist for the afternoon was Robert Aspinall who sang two selections, "Windmill", and, "Rolling Down to Rio," accompanied by Charles Allen.

A tea followed the program with Mrs. Crawford Turner in charge assisted by Miss Norma Timlin and Mrs. J. E. R. Munro. Mrs. Copp and Mrs. F. B. Smitheram poured and the servers were members of the staff.

The tea table was decorated with a mixed flower bouquet and white tapers in silver candelabra.

Find Opposites May Attract But Not Make Harmony

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been going with a very fine fellow, Joel, for about six months. We broke up about two months ago because we hadn't been agreeing too well. He is very quiet and shy—I am just the opposite. I honestly admit that at times I was too noisy and even made a scene occasionally to liven things up. Joel didn't approve of my exuberance. He thought I would never settle down, and we broke up.

Now I really miss him, and realize that I have been foolish. I am sure if I could see Joel, he could be convinced of the change in my actions.

R. M.

ANSWER: You are faced with more than mere regret for past boisterousness. You and Joel are fundamentally opposed in character, and your problem is whether the gap between you can ever be bridged. If you have a naturally gay, vivacious nature, he will never like it; you, on the other hand, will never be able to adjust to his quiet mood. Where will you meet on common ground? Even love cannot accomplish so great a miracle.

Are you prepared to spend the years of your married life quietly reading, or conversing? There will be no parties, no dances, no gay companions. Always you will be repressed.

MARRIAGE WOULDN'T WORK

If a six months' friendship produced disagreements between you and Joel, do you think marriage would automatically produce compatibility? I assure you it would not. Slight differences in temperament are not a hindrance to happiness—in fact, they are often conducive to harmony—but when major divergences are involved, danger looms ahead!

You would undoubtedly be much better off if you tried to find a friend who is equally fond of good times and gay company. Doubtless your own exuberance does need toning down, but it should not be entirely killed. The world needs laughter, and blessed are those who can give it.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Though I am only 16, I am deeply in love with a boy of 20. I have built high hopes of marrying him in the near future, but he is continually letting me down. Lately, he has often failed to come to the house after he has promised to be there. For three weeks he didn't see me at all, then I called his place of business and asked for him. He said he would be here Friday, but he never arrived.

AUDREY G. L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Can't you take a hint, girl? The boy simply doesn't want to see you any more, and the least you can do is recognize the fact and let him go. Pursuing him to the office was the last straw. That is one thing almost every man resents. Naturally, he couldn't get into an argument with you over a business telephone, so he got rid of you as expeditiously as possible. Forget him, and look for another beau.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl of 14, and my biggest problem is that I cannot talk to my mother the way I would like to. We have never been close. Do you think any of it would be my fault?

H. R.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If you have made an effort to talk to your mother, it certainly is not your fault that she hasn't responded.. Many mothers find it difficult to talk heart-to-heart with their teen-age daughters; then in later years they wonder why there isn't a closer bond between them and their children. Often the fault lies in the fact that mother doesn't know how to approach her daughter on personal or intimate matters. If you like, or if any mothers who read this are interested, I can suggest some booklets that would be helpful in breaking down the barriers.

3 Canadians Working For Degrees

LONDON (CP)—Three young Canadians, intent on becoming top psychologists, are doing research for their degrees in London—and are just getting by financially.

They form part of a group at Maudsley Hospital under German psychologist Dr. H. J. Eysenck. On returning to Canada they hope to enter clinical psychology or teach in universities.

The Canadians are Hugh McLeod and Duncan Blewett of Vancouver, who hold master's degrees from the University of British Columbia. Robert Payne of Calgary has just finished three years' research and is getting ready to write his thesis.

TO SOME END

These three men are working for their doctorate of philosophy in psychology.

McLeod came to London last year after working three years in Canada for "research" money. He is the only bachelor among the trio.

Blewett is accompanied by his wife Irene, who teaches at a London school.

All feel it would help completion of their courses if they could borrow funds, as they could in Canada. The bogy that haunts them is running out of cash on the last lap.

"NO HANDOUTS"

"They don't want any handouts," a hospital official remarked, "they'll gladly pay a loan back with interest—if financial pressure could be lifted during their important final months of study."

McLeod and Blewett are compiling data on psychology related in twins of the same sex. Their children-subjects range from 12 to 15 years.

The students have seen 25 sets of twins and hope to finish their work by October, 1953.

Recent arrivals at this advanced school of research and study in psychology are two Canadian women—Daphne Courage of St. John's, Nfld., and Thelma Coulter of New Westminster, B.C.

ON OR OFF

Excitingly new, for fall, are the cloth coats designed with dramatically large, long hair fur cuffs that can be removed at will, from the sleeves, and used as single or double muffs.

Stylist Believes Short Hair Best

TORONTO (CP)—It is a hairdresser's duty to create a hair-do so that a woman's hair may rightly be called "her crowning glory," says Ingerid Arvesen, director of the Ingerid school of hair design, New York City.

Miss Ingerid, here to instruct hairdressers at the second annual convention of the Ontario Hairdressers Association, at one session showed delegates 15 ways to dress long hair.

Short hair, she said, is the smartest and healthiest because it gets more brushing and shampooing and is better cared for by the woman herself.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

DIRECTIONS

I was puzzled to know what to do with 3 leftover cooked cobs of corn. I could have tossed them in the garbage pail, of course, but my Scottish ancestors won't let me be wasteful — even from their final resting-place. So—I did what I describe below.

PORK CHOPS ON POTATO AND CORN CASSEROLE

It was good too — otherwise I wouldn't pass it on to you—would I?

I pared 6 medium potatoes and for speed's sake shredded them on the coarsest shredder—instead of slicing them.

I had about 3 cups hot milk in my big glass casserole and did this shredding directly into it so they would not brown. I cut the corn off of the cobs and mixed it into them, then I sprinkled liberally with salt, not so liberally with pepper. Placed the pork chops to top, with the fat edges overlapping the bone edges, put on the cover and baked the whole business at 400 deg. Fahr. for 20 minutes, until the milk boiled, then reduced heat to 300 deg. Fahr. for another hour. Little lima beans would have been good in this too—about 1 cup. OR you could use cooked rice or macaroni instead of potatoes.

SPANISH EGGPLANT

I had never tasted this before, but liked it very much—so did Marianne who was home on her day off, and Pete, and my two sisters. All pretty good eating critics too.

One medium to medium-large eggplant (to serve 5), ¼ cup chopped green pepper, ¼ cup chopped onion, about ½ cup good bacon fat or salad oil, 6 medium tomatoes, 1 lump sugar, 1½ teaspoons salt, grated cheese to be sprinkled over this is optional.

Pare and dice the eggplant in about ½ or ¾-inch dice, and saute this together with the chopped pepper and onion in the fat—but do not brown it—it should merely soften a little and absorb the fat. Peel the tomatoes and slice them into it, and add the salt and sugar, stir well, cover and reduce heat and let cook very gently for about 10 minutes, then remove cover and let cook 10 minutes longer until some of the liquid evaporates. I ate mine without cheese and liked it. The others used grated cheese on theirs. I think with the cheese on it would be a good item for a vegetable plate—quite rich and satisfying.

VIENESSE COFFEE RING

There are so many recipes for Coffee Cake I do not know which one to select—so am giving you the one we like in our house—not necessarily the best—but the present favorite.

One fresh compressed yeast cake, ¼ cup lukewarm water, ½ cup milk, ¼ cup white sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons butter or shortening, 1 well-beaten egg, 2 cups sifted bread flour, ½ cup washed and dried raisins, 3 tablespoons chopped peel. Ingredients for top: 3 tablespons brown sugar, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon, 1 tablespoon (or more) finely chopped nuts—we prefer almonds or pecans. Have ready an 8½-inch ring mould if you have one—if not use any pan. Crumble yeast cake in lukewarm water and stir until dissolved. Scald the milk and add the sugar, salt and shortening to it while still hot. Cool to lukewarm—blood temperature. Add well-beaten egg and dissolved yeast. Add 1 cup sifted flour and beat until thoroughly mixed. Add the raisins and peel, then remainder of flour. Beat for at least 3 minutes—this beating takes the place of kneading. Turn mixture into greased ring mould and spread evenly. Mix the sugar, cinnamon and nuts together and carefully sprinkle over and press into top. Cover and let rise in warm room for 1½ hours or until doubled. Bake in oven of 375 deg. Fahr. for about 30 to 35 minutes.

Thanksgiving Service At Millbrook

MILLBROOK (ENS) — In his Thanksgiving message to the large congregation which attended the harvest thanksgiving service in St. Thomas' Anglican Church on Sunday evening, the Rev. A. A. Chote, the rector, said that often we neglect to be thankful in the home, to each other and particularly to our parents. Also many times parents forget to be thankful to children who, perhaps, sacrifice their whole career for the family.

The church had been decorated for the occasion by the Chancel Guild assisted by other members of the congregation. Fruits and vegetables had been placed at either side of the chancel steps. There were vases of flowers in each window, and the pews had been marked off with small sheaves of grain and clusters of mountain ash berries.

Special music was provided by the choir under the direction of Mrs. G. A. Spicer, with J. O. Medd at the organ.

What's Right?

You receive a telephoned dinner invitation and would like to consult your husband before accepting for you both.

WRONG: Feel you must either tell the hostess "Yes" or "No" at the time.

RIGHT: Ask the hostess if you may check with your husband to see whether or not he has made other plans and call her back.

Have New Plan To Push An Armistice

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States is discussing with several close allies a double-barrelled plan for the U.N. Assembly to urge the Communists to accept immediately an armistice in Korea or risk a wider U.N. embargo and condemnation.

A diplomatic source in close touch with the situation said yesterday the U.S. is considering this course in the Assembly opening Oct. 14:

1. State Secretary Dean Acheson would put before the Assembly a resolution by which the Assembly would express its approval of the U.N. proposals at Panmunjom and urge the Communist Chinese and North Koreans to accept them. This resolution would be sent to Peiping and Pyongyang by the Assembly president.

2. The Communists would be given a reasonable time to answer. If they did not answer or rejected the appeal, the U.S. would want the Assembly to approve a resolution providing for stronger embargoes against Communist China and North Korea, for a strong condemnation of those two regimes, and for U. N. members who have not yet sent forces to Korea to chip in troops for the fight. Only 16 U.N. members, including Canada, plus South Korea actually have troops in Korea.

The reaction here was said to have been mixed. One diplomat said Britain and France were lukewarm to the American proposals.

William C. Brown Dies In Windsor

WINDSOR—A native of Peterborough, William C. Brown, 52, of Windsor, died Monday while at work at the Ford Motor Company plant. He had lived in Windsor for the past 38 years.

Mr. Brown was born in Peterborough and was a veteran of the First World War, serving from 1916 to 1919.

Surviving are his widow, the former Elizabeth Colquhoun, three sons, James, R.C.A.F. in Montreal; Harry, of Peterborough, and Frederick at home; two daughters, Mrs. Ross May (Josephine) and Mrs. James Jamieson (Margaret), both of Windsor. There are three grandchildren.

Funeral service will be held Thursday at 10.30 a.m. Burial will be in Greenlawn Memorial cemetery.

U.K. Baronet In Debt To Work As Laborer

PRESTEIGNE, Wales (Reuters)—Sir Eric Richard Meadows White, Eton-educated second baronet, said yesterday he hopes to make good his debts by saving part of his £5 10s weekly salary as a common laborer.

His accounts in bankruptcy court Monday showed he owed about £450.

The 42-year-old baronet admitted he has spent more than £20,000 since he succeeded his father in 1940, the majority of it inherited funds.

Red Censorship Serious Thing Survey Shows

ZURICH, Switzerland (Reuters) A survey conducted by an organization of the west's prominent newspapers warned today that the absence of straight news reporting in Russia is a factor which may affect the whole course of war or peace.

The survey lists the following among restrictions on foreign correspondents in Moscow:

1. There are no uncensored telephone calls out of Russia.

2. Foreign broadcasts by western correspondents are not allowed.

3. The state secrets law classes as espionage the passing of information on a wide range of topics—economic, agricultural and scientific as well as purely military.

4. Soviet citizens are forbidden to have any dealings with foreigners unless officially authorized to do so. A correspondent needs a special permit to visit a public library.

CAN'T TRAVEL

5. Correspondents are excluded from more than one-third of Moscow and may not travel more than 25 miles from the centre of the city.

The survey recommends that newspapers and news agencies should concentrate more on perfecting the journalistic training of experts on Soviet affairs, who would be capable of explaining the information — "indeterminate in quantity and undigested in character"—which is received today from Russia.

The institute has a membership of 500 western newspaper editors.

Fighter Planes Reach Greenland

OTTAWA (CP)—A group of 57 jet fighter planes, which had been waiting at Goose Bay, Labrador, since Monday to resume their flight across the Atlantic, have arrived safely at Greenland on the second hop of the journey, R.C.A.F. headquarters announced today.

Word reaching headquarters said the planes made the jump to the Greenland station, Blue West One, yesterday afternoon.

Meanwhile six other jets which left their home base at North Bay, last Sunday and were forced to stop over at Bagotville, Que., have continued on to Goose Bay.

The 63 planes—a full fighter wing—are bound for Gros Tenquin, near Metz, France. They left their home bases at Uplands, near Ottawa, St. Hubert, near Montrea, and North Bay last Sunday.

They will make up the first of a four-wing division to be established near Metz under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization by 1954. Their next hop will be to Keflavik, Iceland.

Russians Use NaziPropoganda

BONN, Germany (AP)—The West German government said today the Russians are using old Nazi propaganda films to incite the Middle East Arabs against Israel and Britain.

The government's official information bulletin said the Soviets had bought up copies of two films produced by Veit Harlan—"Jew Suess" which has been attacked as anti-jewish propaganda, and "Oom Kruger," the story of the South African Boer War leader which lambasts "British colonialism."

The bulletin said that the Soviet film export monopoly was distributing these films in Arab countries, "having changed their titles but not their contents." Both films were produced on orders of Nazi Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels.

Youngster Hit By Car In Lakefield

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—A four-year-old boy was hit and only slightly shaken up by a car about noon Tuesday on Reid St. in front of the laundry owned by his parents.

Peter Perley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Perley of Lakefield, was crossing the road when he was hit by a car driven by an unidentified woman. The woman stopped and stayed until Mrs. Perley came out and took the boy inside the laundry.

She drove away then without giving her name to Mrs. Perley.

The boy was rushed to Peterborough Civic Hospital where X-rays showed no broken bones. He was allowed to go home.

Police Chief Leslie Foster is investigating.

Price Controls In United States May Come Soon

NEW YORK (AP) — The Iron Age, metalworking trade weekly, said today the end of price controls may come sooner than most people expect.

"Weight of its paperwork is putting a staggering burden on the budget-trimmed Office of Price Stabilization," the publication said. "At the same time its profit-squeeze policy toward manufacturers is bringing an avalanche of complaints."

These complaints were described as resulting from an O. P. S. rule under which industry's prices can reflect higher steel costs but not higher labor, freight and other material costs.

The Iron Age commented that "in most manufacturing plants the latter increases amount to much more than steel price rises."

Outlining the market for steel, the trade weekly said:

"Although some easing has been noted in wire products, most tonnage items continued in tight supply. Sources which had been expecting some easing in sheet demand report consumers' appetite for both hot- and cold-rolled sheets still very strong. Bars, plates, structurals and oil country goods are as tight as had been expected."

But the Iron Age reported steel production now has fully recovered from the strike of June and July, and for the second week in a row the industry hopes to operate at 104 per cent of rated capacity.

Will Weave Velvet

LONDON (AP) — The task of weaving the royal purple velvet which the Queen will wear in her coronation robe next June 2 goes to Lily Lee, a middle-aged craftswoman. Miss Lee wove the velvet for the robe the Queen Mother used at her coronation in 1937.

Charge McGrath Doesn't Want Clean-Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional investigators said today that former Attorney-General J. Howard McGrath showed "no enthusiasm" for a Justice Department clean-up. Rather, they said, he "appeared to wish to delay and frustrate investigation."

From their findings, investigators said, it appears clear that the department under McGrath wanted to prevent an examination of its files for reasons which "cannot but arouse suspicion."

McGrath, fired last April 3 by President Truman after the administration clean-up drive bogged down, was raked over for a second time in part two of a report by a House of Representatives judiciary sub-committee.

Chapter one of the report, issued last Monday, criticized McGrath's appointment of Newbold Morris, New York lawyer, to head the clean-up campaign and questioned McGrath's good faith in making the appointment.

BENEATH DIGNITY

In reply, McGrath commented: "The report is beneath the dignity of men who care to be honest and honorable."

Advised of today's second instalment, the former Attorney-General told a reporter he had no intention of "engaging in a cross-fire of discussion on each of the committee's interim reports."

"I shall wait until they have concluded their work," he said, "and at that time I shall say what I think is appropriate."

In today's instalment—the third is due next week—the sub-committee, headed by Representative Frank Chelf (Dem. Ky.), pictures McGrath as an official who exhibited "a deplorable lack of knowledge of the department he was supposed to administer." It adds:

"His testimony and his record as Attorney-General indicate that he was content to let the status quo remain without knowing what the status quo was."

Find Youth's Body At Base Of Cliff

SEWARD, Alaska (AP) — The broken body of a 16-year-old boy who slipped into a forbidden hunting area was found yesterday at the base of a 1,000-foot cliff.

The youth reached the fatal spot after bypassing police who had set up roadblocks in their search for an escaped convict.

The youth, Willard Mehurin, had been missing since Sunday when he failed to meet a companion, Jack Parret, 19, after a shooting trip.

Cunard Commodore Retires From Service

LIVERPOOL (Reuters) — Cmdr. G.E. Cove, commodore of Cunard's fleet of "Atlantic greyhounds" and master of the Queen Elizabeth, has retired, the company announced yesterday.

"Age has caught me up, so now I'll devote my days to woodcarving and gardening," the genial 63-year-old master mariner told callers at his home yesterday.

5-Ton Shark

BREMERHAVEN, Germany — (Reuters) — A fishing vessel put into port last night with a 39-foot, five-ton basking shark which it had caught in its dragnet off Iceland. The shark had destroyed part of the 46-ton ship's superstructure when it was hauled aboard. It had also crushed a 30-ton catch of haddock so flat that the fish had to be tossed overboard.

Convicted Of Perjury Jailed Six Months

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Alvin Girard, about 30, of nearby Maidstone township, was convicted yesterday of perjury by County Judge Albert J. Gordon and sentenced to 12 months definite, six indefinite, in reformatory.

Girard was convicted of making a false statement on oath during a 1948 examination as a judgment debtor before Allan G. Bell, special examiner in Windsor for the Ontario Supreme Court.

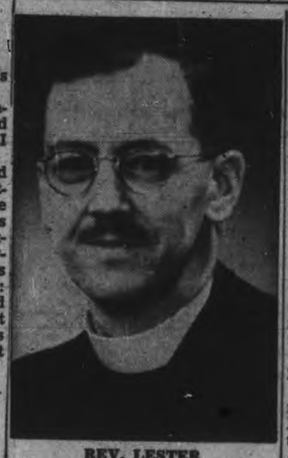
Defence Counsel A.F. Gignac, Q.C., said the case will be carried to the Ontario Court of Appeal.

Paper Closes

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Novedades, one of Mexico City's leading morning newspapers, closed its doors yesterday in the face of a strike threat by its editorial and mechanical employees. Wage negotiations have been going on for several weeks.

Wife Says Husband "Not To Blame"

STRATFORD (CP)—From a hospital bed, Mrs. Audrey Buckner, 26, said yesterday at a special court session her husband was not to blame for injuries she suffered July 26 when she was run over by an automobile after jumping or falling from her husband's car.



The husband, 33-year-old Melville J. Buckner, has pleaded innocent to a charge of assault occasioning bodily harm.

Mrs. Buckner said that after an evening of drinking, she jumped from the Buckner car near her home.

The hearing was adjourned to Oct. 15.

Try To Escape

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—Five prisoners, including an associate of revolutionary leader K. I. Singh, fought a gun battle with prison guards Monday night in an unsuccessful bid for freedom. One prisoner was killed and the others wounded. Prison officials said the quintette, led by Singh's assistant, Jamadar Bhimbadauer, tried to duplicate Singh's successful break from prison last January.

REV. LESTER

Rev. H. G. Lester Ends Pastorate

WARKWORTH (ENS) — The Rev. H. G. Lester, pastor of Warkworth United Church charge for the past eight years, gave his farewell address at all three apoint-ments on the charge Sunday. He spoke at St. Paul's in Warkworth, Dartford and Oak Heights.

Using a text from Ephesians—"Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord. . ."—he said the world was in great need of people who are strong enough to resist the temptations of these times.

During Mr. Lester's pastorate, the Oak Heights appointment entered the charge, Dartford and Warkworth churches have been re-decorated, and 165 new members have been received into the charge.

BAPTISMAL SERVICE

Two children were baptized at Sunday's services: Steven Fraser Brickenden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Brickenden, Warkworth, and Douglas Elwood Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert B. Mitchell, Oak Heights. Several new members were received by certificates of transfer.

Mr. Lester, born and educated in Montreal, Que., is a graduate of McGill University and the United Theological College in Montreal, and a post-graduate fellow at Edinburgh and Strasbourg universities.

He has held pastorates at Bonnyville and Viking, Alberta, coming to Ontario in 1941, when he was named minister at Seagrave. He accepted a call to Warkworth in 1944.

Chairman of the St. Paul and Wainwright presbyteries in Alberta and the Cobourg presbytery in Ontario, he has been for the past two years secretary of the settlement committee of the Bay of Quinte conference.

He left this week to take up his new work as pastor of Shawville United Church in the Ottawa presbytery.

Republicans Leave Smith Charge Alone

By JACK RUTLEDGE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican leaders today appeared to be taking a long second look at the question of making political capital of statements by Gen. Walter Bedell Smith about Communist infiltration into the top United States intelligence agency.

First reaction in the Republican camp was that Smith had handed the Republicans a prime campaign target. Early yesterday, before Smith issued a statement amplifying his remarks, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was reported planning to develop it as an issue in his presidential campaign.

Later, however, after Smith had read his amplifying statement to Eisenhower and to the Democratic presidential nominee, Governor Adlai E. Stevenson, there appeared to be a growing reluctance to draw Smith's super-secret Central Intelligence Agency into the political cross-firing.

A spokesman for the Republican National Committee said last night "we have no plan to make a political football" of the matter.

One of Eisenhower's aides quoted him as saying he would not do anything to endanger the security of the U.S. or the C.I.A.

FURORE MAY SUBSIDE

Barring another change of pace, it appeared that the sudden furore touched off late Monday, when General Smith said he assumed that Communists had penetrated into every U.S. security organization, might die down.

In amplifying his original remarks, Smith told a press conference yesterday that it was necessary for him to "assume" such penetration had occurred.

He said he actually did not know of any Communists in his agency.

Stevenson said yesterday the C.I.A. head's statements "make ludicrous the claim of Republicans that the job of nabbing Communists in government" is a simple push-button job the Republicans can handle easily once the Democrats are out of office.

Dr. R. E. McMullen Dies In Oshawa

OSHAWA.—An active member of the city's medical fraternity for the past 25 years, Dr. Reginald McMullen died at the Oshawa General Hospital on Tuesday in his 53rd year. He had been in poor health for the past year.

A son of the late Rev. William McMullen and Mrs. McMullen, Dr. McMullen was born at Harrow, Ontario, on September 11, 1900. During his residence here he took an active part in the life of the community, being a member of Simcoe Street United Church, a past president of the Ontario Riding Liberal Association and a director of the Oshawa Merchants Baseball Club.

Dr. McMullen was also an enthusiastic flower gardener and was very much interested in music, his particular interests in this field being centred on the piano and organ.

Dr. McMullen was a member of the Oshawa Board of Education at the time of his death and this year was chairman of the management committee of the board. He was serving the second of two two-year terms, having been first elected to the board in 1949.

A graduate of the Faculty of Medicine of the University of Toronto in 1926, he took postgraduate work at the Toronto Western Hospital and also at the Lying-In Hospital in New York City. A specialist in anesthesia, he was also a graduate of the McKesson School of Anesthesia in Toledo, O., and was a student and graduate in this type of medical work in Philadelphia.

5 Children, Mother Burned To Death

ARE PETERBOROUGH LACROSSE FANS CRAZY? That's what a group of Toronto lacrosse enthusiasts asked Wednesday night when 4,000 fans sat under umbrellas, blankets and newspapers in drizzling rain watching the Timbermen-West Yorks final game. "Why even Americans at ball games won't sit in rain to see a game," they added. Timbermen's faithful followers shown grouped above are waiting for the second half to begin; but before that the officials ruled no game. Umbrellas were common, newspapers over heads were more common, and drenched fans extremely common. But they'll likely all be back tonight when the deciding game of the Eastern Canada finals will be replayed at Miller Bowl.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Russia Sends Warning To Denmark

Danes Deny Allowing NATO Troops Bases On Their Soil

COPENHAGEN (Reuters) — Denmark today denied Russian allegations, contained in a protest made last night, that she has decided to "accept the installation of foreign armed forces on her territory.

Foreign Minister Ole Bjern Kraft said Denmark has not yet decided whether she will allow North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces to be stationed in the country. And she will not make a decision until the issue has been considered by Parliament.

"The Russian protest thus deals with decisions which have not yet been taken," he added.

The Russian protest said the stationing of foreign forces in Denmark must be considered "as endangering the security of the Soviet Union and of other countries in the Baltic region."

The formal Russian protest, published today in all Moscow newspapers and delivered yesterday to the Danish minister here, said establishment of such bases would violate Danish-Soviet agreements reached since the end of the Second World War.

"The Soviet government puts upon the Danish government all responsibility for possible consequences of such a policy," the Russian note said.

The protest followed close up on Soviet press attacks on the recent eight-country N.A.T.O. naval manoeuvres around Norway and Denmark, both Atlantic Pact members.

The tone of the note indicated the Russian government is taking an extremely serious view of the question.

Arrive In Iceland

LONDON — (Reuters) — Three Canadian Sabre jet fighter squadrons taking part in a mass west-east flight across the Atlantic have arrived at Keflavik, Iceland. The squadrons took off from Goose Bay, Labrador, Wednesday on the 780-mile flight to Keflavik. They are waiting for better weather conditions before flying on to Prestwick, Scotland, 850 miles from Keflavik.

Bevan Group Loses Out On Arms Plan

MORECAMBE, England (Reuters)—Moderate elements of the Labor party today wrested a victory from the radicals when the annual convention turned down a resolution calling for a reduced arms program.

The motion had the backing of Aneurin Bevan and his supporters. Bevan has made rearmament a main issue in his cleavage with party leader Clement Attlee, whose Socialist government drew up the defence program before losing power last year.

Despite the defeat, the vote of 3,644,000 to 2,288,000 — delegates wield block votes covering the number of members they represent — indicated considerable support for Bevan, even among trade-union groups which officially have threatened him with war to the finish.

FIGHTING SPEECH

Attlee made a fighting speech today from the platform of the theatre which serves as the convention hall. He declared: "I have not much respect for people who clamor for reduction of armaments by the defenders of freedom, and who entirely ignore the fact of this armed dangerous state which has shown no readiness to discuss disarmament."

Chief advocate of the Bevan case was Harold Wilson, former trade minister who resigned with Bevan from the Attlee government on the grounds that the original £4,300,000 four-year program drafted by Attlee would wreck the country's economy. The program has since been scaled down by the Conservative government.

Wilson reiterated that claim today. He said the arms program would determine "our standard of living and our policy of trying to raise the standard of life throughout the world, which is one of our biggest defences against world Communism."

The resolution gave the 1,200 delegates the first clear-cut opportunity of lining up for or against Bevan. He and his followers have been riding the crest of the wave since six of them scored a stunning success by election to the party executive.

Flames Prevent Rescue Attempt By Police Officer

SUDBURY (CP)—A mother and her five children were burned to death early today in a fire that destroyed their one-storey frame home on Garson road, about eight miles northeast of here. Dead are: Mrs. Milton Gauvreau, 34; Helen, 12; Leslie, 8; June, 4; Roy, 2, and William, 16 months. There were no survivors. The house burned within a few minutes after the fire broke out. Mrs. Gauvreau's husband, who works at the Copper Cliff smelter, arrived home during the height of the blaze. He had to be restrained from entering the building by police and others at the scene.

NO CHANCE TO HELP

Constable Kerns, one of the first persons to reach the fire scene, had been patrolling on the Garson road nearby. He reported that one moment all was quiet and, seconds later, the whole building was in flames.

He said it would have been impossible for anyone to enter the house to attempt a rescue.

Provincial Police said the deaths were probably caused by suffocation. The house was lined and partitioned with cardboard and the police said it was likely set on fire by an overheated stovepipe.

The Garson volunteer fire brigade arrived on the scene too late to be of any assistance in fighting the flames.

Cheju Rioting Signal For Mass Escape

CHEJU ISLAND, Korea (AP) — Yesterday's rioting on this prisoner-of-war island was only a prelude to a planned mass escape of 5,884 Chinese Communists, United States authorities said today.

Maj.-Gen. Thomas W. Herren told correspondents the riot was to be a signal for a mass breakout, but that U.S. troops acted in and "broke the back of the planned revolt."

Herren said the prisoners planned to join Communist guerrillas in the mountains if they escaped.

Fifty-six of the rioting prisoners were killed or fatally wounded. More than 100 others were injured.

Herren said the break-out was planned for Oct. 1, the third anniversary of the founding of the Chinese Communist regime

LEARNED BREAK PLANS

Col. Richard D. Boerem, commander of the Cheju city camp, said P.O.W. command headquarters learned of the planned break last Aug. 24th and immediately began making plans to stop it.

He said that the Reds in compound seven were supposed to throw rocks at American guards as a signal for Reds in the nine other compounds of the camp to break out.

Yesterday Communists in compound seven threw a barrage of rocks at 80 U.N. infantrymen. It was then that the troops retaliated with a volley of fire.

Today U.S. troops entered and searched every P.O.W. compound on the island. The army said there were no incidents and the situation was stable.

Today's search turned up several hundred improvised weapons

Boeram said he called for the U.S. troops when the Reds refused to lower their home-made flags or to stand still for a routine head count.

Cost-Of-Living Index Change

OTTAWA (CP)—The cost-of-living index comes up for a double shuffle this month—in the old form and the new.

The old form, based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100, likely will be published tomorrow.

Then, after a lapse of several weeks—to lessen confusion—the Bureau of Statistics plans to publish the first edition of its new Consumer Price Index which eventually is to replace the old prices barometer.

To the eye, the first edition of the C.P.I. may show an amazing change, with living costs suddenly dropping some 60 points. But actually the plunge will be illusory, brought about merely by pushing the base ahead to 1949 prices equalling 100.

For example, during July the cost-of-living index dropped fourtenths of a point to 187.6 from 188.0. That's on the 1935-39 base. The new index would show it somewhere in the 120s.

The deciding lacrosse game in the Eastern Canada finals will go on as scheduled, in Miller Bowl tonight, officials said at 3 p.m.

YANKS TAKE SECOND GAME 7-1

EBBETTS FIELD, BROOKLYN.—Billy Martin's sixth-inning home run with two on sewed up the second game of the World Series for the New York Yankees as they trounced the Brooklyn Dodgers 7-1. The win for the Bronx Bombers deadlocked the series at one game apiece. Attendance at the second game was 33,792. Martin's homer capped the climax of a five-run inning. Two runs had been scored before, one on an error by Hodges; the second on a scratch bunt by Gil McDDougald.

Single runs in the fourth and fifth provided the rest of the Yankees' scoring. Their seven runs came from nine base hits.

Encouraged by their first opening game triumph in six world series, Brooklyn Dodgers today sent in Carl Erskine 14-6, to the mound in an attempt to make it two in a row over New York Yankees.

Manager Casey Stengel, apparently undisturbed by yesterday's 4-2 defeat, stuck to his original veteran righthander, who won 16 and lost six, has not won a complete game since Aug. 23

Another capacity crowd of some 35,000 was on hand despite the warm, humid, cloudy weather with threats of rain.

FIRST INNING

Yankees: Bauer worked the count to 2-2 then dropped a single between Snider and Furillo. With a count of 3 and 1 on Rizzuto, the Yankees attempted a hit and run play. Rizzuto, however, swung and missed, and Bauer was an easy out at second, Campanella to Robinson. Rizzuto drew a base on balls on the next pitch.

Mantle struck out swinging at a fast ball. With a 2-strike count on Woodling, Rizzuto lit out for second but was out, Campanella to Reese. No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.

Dodgers: Rizzuto took Cox's grounder and threw him out. Reese flied to Bauer in short right. Snider looked at a third straight strike. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

SECOND INNING

Yankees: Woodling walked Berra singled to right-centre, Woodling racing to third. Collins struck out on three pitches. McDougald also struck out, Reese came in fast for Martin's slow roller and tossed him out at first. No runs, one hit, no errors, two left.

Dodgers: Robinson drew a base on balls to become the first Dodger to reach base. Campanella, swinging at the first pitch on a hit-and-run play, rapped sharply to Collins who made the unassisted put-out at first as Robinson raced to second. Pafko flied deep to Bauer, Robinson advancing to third after the catch. Hodges walked. Robinson rattled Raschi with his antics on the baseline, giving the capacity crowd a thrill. The harried pitcher finally walked Furillo on a full count, causing Manager Stengel to emerge from the dugout for a brief conference on the mound. Pitcher Erskine came to bat with the bases loaded, and hit the first pitch to Mantle for the third out. No runs, no hits, no errors, three left.

THIRD INNING

Yankees: Erskine walked Raschi on five pitches. Reese raced to his right for Bauer's sharp grounder, whipped to Robinson to force Raschi at second and Robinson [illegible] backed up for Rizzuto's high hop and tossed him out at first. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Dodgers: Cox was called out on strikes. Reese lined a single into left-centre for the Dodgers' first hit. Snider caught the Yankees flatfooted, laying down a perfect bunt inside the third baseline and crossed the bag without even drawing a throw. Reese stopped at second. Robinson slapped a one-bouncer to Collins who threw to Rizzuto forcing Snider at second as Reese advanced to third. Snider accidentally spiked Rizzuto on the right foot as he slid into second. The injury was not serious and Rizzuto returned to his position. Campanella smacked a ground

Car In Harbor Former Omemee Woman Drowns

PORT ELGIN (CP)—Anna R. McCrea, Toronto, sister of Lady Eaton, was drowned at this Lake Huron resort yesterday when a parked car suddenly rolled free and ran down an incline into the harbor.

Eye-witnesses said the car was headed for the beach when it veered and plunged over a wharf into eight feet of water.

Several onlookers dived into the water in an attempt to get the woman out of the car, which landed upright on the harbor bottom. Their efforts to free her failed.

BRING CAR UP

Thirty-five minutes after the car pitched into the harbor, a tow truck hauled it onto the dock. Firemen and local doctors worked for almost an hour with a respirator rushed to the scene but were unable to revive Miss McCrea.

Police said the car ran only some 25 feet before it spun off the dock.

Miss Belle McCallum, nurse-companion to Miss McCrea, said she had left the car parked on Elgin St. near the lakefront to call at Sunset Lodge.

"I was on my way to the lodge when I heard a splash," she told police. She turned around to see the car gone and people running onto the dock.

Miss McCrea was the daughter of the late John and Jane McCrea of Omemee.

Jackson's Half-Brother Suspect In Drug Case

TORONTO (CP)—City morality officers and R.C.M.P. yesterday rounded up six men and one woman on narcotic charges. One of the suspects was Samuel Stone, 36, half-brother of Leonard Jackson, under death sentence for the murder of Sergeant of Detectives Edmund Tong.

Police said that in the city-wide raid they seized 108 capsules of heroin, as well as hypodermic syringes, a medical scale for weighing drugs, and a quantity of spoons and needles.

Others arrested were Raymond Combatley, 33; Joe Tebeau, 53; Aileen Lavoie; Steven Pavarchock, alias Powers, 35; James Sharpe, 42, and Leslie Powell, 43.

All arrests were made in the downtown Jarvis Street area.

Storm Disrupts Communications Across Ontario

TORONTO — (CP). — Severe electrical storms and heavy rain swept Ontario yesterday, disrupting communications and power supplies, starting fires and blocking roads with uprooted trees.

Many sections of the province were blacked out by hydro failures as the storm moved in a southeasterly direction from a line between North Bay and southwestern Ontario.

By evening telegraph services had been disrupted in several places and in Toronto, the CBC's two stations, CBL and CJBC, went off the air for most of the night. Canadian Press leased news wires between Toronto and Montreal and Ottawa and from New York to Windsor and London were affected for several hours.

LIGHTNING STARTS FIRES

Lightning started seven fires in the Belleville district and basements were flooded. Two barns were destroyed. Power failure in London blacked out most of the city for 20 minutes and minor fires were started. All hydro and telephone communications in the Dutton area were disrupted and in St. Thomas, police, hydro and telephone officials were besieged for a time with calls reporting breakdowns.

The house of Robert Ridge, Bank Street, Millbrook, was damaged by fire [illegible] when lightning struck the roof. Fire broke out in an upper bedroom.

Free Von Mackensen From Werl Prison

BONN, Germany (AP)—Former General Eberhard von Mackensen, once sentenced to death for war crimes, today was freed from the British prison at Werl.

Mackensen was deputy to Field Marshal Albert Kesselring in Italy during the war. Kesselring is serving a life sentence.

Mackensen was convicted in 1946 of being concerned in the shooting of more than 300 hostages in the Ardentine caves in Italy and was sentenced to death. This later was commuted to life imprisonment.

Now 63, he was released as an act of clemency, the British announcement said. It added that he had served the equivalent of a 10-year sentence, taking into account time in prison before his trial and time off for good conduct.

Weather Prevents U.K. Atomic Tests

ONSLOW, Australia (Reuters)—Strong westerly winds continued to blow in this atom test area today, diminishing hopes that Britain would explode her atomic weapon near here tomorrow.

This morning the weather [illegible] appeared to be improving, but conditions at high altitudes worsened during the day. Scientists fear that this high-level turbulence might carry radio-active clouds over the Australian mainland.

According to unofficial reports, the tests had been planned for Tuesday or Wednesday, but were delayed due to bad weather.

Arraign Accountant In Fraud Scheme

MONTREAL (CP)—A young, unnamed accountant will be arraigned today on a charge of theft, after working an almost foolproof fraud scheme.

Police said the man entered a west-end department store where he was formerly employed and hid himself until after closing time.

He then passed himself off as an employee working overtime, stole $20,000 in cheques, franked them with the store's machine and later forged the signatures of company officials on them.

He then began deposing the cheques to accounts he had opened in the names of bogus firms.

Nine Soldiers Held For Brawl

HANNOER, Germany (Reuters) Nine soldiers were held under close arrest by the Canadian 27th Infantry Brigade here today following a brawl in the bar of a German hotel Tuesday night.

The hotel proprietor estimated damage at $2,336, claiming the soldiers smashed eight tables and 32 chairs, broke all the windows, mirrors and glasses, damaged the bar and tore the lamps from the ceiling.

The spokesman said the destruction was a "planned operation."

The soldiers will be charged and court-martialled when the investigation is completed.

3 In Boyd Gang Convicted Of Bank Robbery

TORONTO (CP)—Three members of the Boyd gang, including its ring-leader, Edwin Alonzo Boyd, yesterday were convicted of the armed robbery of a suburban bank last fall. Boyd, his brother Norman and William Russell Jackson will be sentenced when other charges against them have been heard. The jury recommended leniency for Norman Boyd. His Lawyer, Fred McMahon, said he will appeal Norman's conviction. All three had pleaded innocent to the $46,207 holdup of the Leaside branch of the Royal Bank of Canada last Nov. 30.

Steve Suchan and Leonard Jackson also were charged with the robbery but were not tried. They are under sentence to be hanged Dec. 16 for the murder of a Toronto police officer.

Edwin Boyd had previously pleaded guilty to one bank-robbery count and still faces eight others in addition to two jail-breaking charges. During Boyd's last escape from the Don Jail Sept. 8 with three confederates, the four were the most-wanted criminals in the country. The others were the Jacksons and Suchan.

NORMAN HAD ALIBI

Judge Robert Forsyth, in his charge to the jury, said Norman Boyd's alibi evidence was strong and should be closely considered. He had testified that the day of the robbery he was working on a city survey gang and two superiors corroborated his testimony.

Mr. McMahon told the jury there was "not one tittle of evidence" against Norman except "identification by one excited and flustered bank clerk."

Crown counsel A. O. Klein said there could not be any doubt as to Edwin Boyd's guilt. He said Norman Boyd could have left his survey job for a short time. The robbery had taken only a minute or two, he said.

While the jury was out, Suchan's parents, Joseph and Elizabeth Lesso, went on trial for harboring Edwin Boyd and Leonard Jackson for more than a month after their escape from the Don Jail, Nov. 4, 1951.

Liberals Win Majority In Japan Vote

TOKYO (AP)—Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida and his Liberal party have won an absolute majority in Japan's House of Representatives, virtually assuring a continuation of the country's pro-American policies.

Voters turned their backs on the Communists, refusing to return a single Red to office in yesterday's election. In the old Diet (Parliament) the Communists had 22 seats.

With only three of the 466 seats still to be decided, the line-up was: Liberals 237, Progressive 84, right-wing Socialists 57, left-wing Socialists 54, Independents 19, minor parties 12, Communists 0

The Liberal party victory was dimmed by the loss of nearly 50 of the 285 seats they controlled in the last Diet.

SEE LEADERSHIP BATTLE

Although the Liberals won control of the government, leadership of the party itself still was in doubt. Observers foresaw a bitter battle between Yoshida and Ichiro Hatoyama, a tussle that might split the Liberal ranks.

Hatoyama, founder of the party, was purged from political life by allied occupation authorities six years ago. He turned the reins of authority over to Yoshida. Now he wants them back. He and other occupation-purgees regained their right to seek office when Japan regained independence.

Yoshida has refused to surrender his power. He says Hatoyama, who suffered a stroke last year, is physically unable to bear the strain of leadership.

Yoshida followers won 103 of the Liberal seats and Hatoyama's followers won 68. Sixty-six are neutral.

Balloting indicated that many voters, irked by the Communist program of anti-American violence, turned to the Socialists. The two Socialist groups won 111 seats, compared with 46 in the old diet.

TV Suspected Causing Crashes

DESERONTO (CP)—Television station WHAM-TV in Rochester, N.Y., is suspected of causing crashes of radio-controlled model airplanes the R.C.A.F. has been using as gunnery targets.

The theory is that the TV signals, coming across Lake Ontario to this base 17 miles east of Belleville, interfere with the controlling radio waves, air force officials said yesterday.

Five recent crashes of the robot planes, worth $3,000 each, are blamed on the interference.

In Rochester, WHAM-TV General Manager William Fay said he had not heard of the suspected interference. He said his station's signals could be received across Lake Ontario.

Prices Remain Weak On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO (CP)—Prices continued weak today in early afternoon stock market trading.

Industrials and base metals improved slightly from early losses but remained below yesterday's prices while golds fluctuated mildly without making an index gain. Western oils recorded a gain as leading issues advanced but the section as a whole showed a majority of losses.

Trading continued sluggish and volume for the first three hours totalled 1,237,000 shares.

Federated Pete led the western oil list with a gain of 55 cents while losses ranged to the 15 cents suffered by General Pete A. Other losers were Bailey Selburn, Landover and Albermont but Calvan, Canada Southern and Husky gained.

Storm Disrupts

Gales of 75 miles an hour swept Chatham and felled trees. Nine areas were listed by the Toronto hydro-electric system as being without power at 10:30 p.m. and extra men were called out to assist crews in repairing damage. Streetcars were held up in some sections of the city by fallen high tension wires.

COOLER WEATHER

By early this morning, the storm had passed and cooler weather was forecast for today, with blustering winds across the province.

While southern Ontario had thunderstorms, Northern Ontario had wintery conditions. Armstrong and several other points reported snow.

First effects of the storm were felt just before noon yesterday when a lightning bolt struck the hydro's southern Ontario system and blacked out various sections of the system for 29 minutes. Cooking facilities were interrupted from Ottawa to Windsor and in many large buildings, elevators were halted. Passengers trapped between floors had to make use of emergency exits.

HIT BY OWN PLANES—Greek infantrymen on duty in Korea spell out their slogan, "We'll try to be better than others," with stones in earth. The brave motto was backed up by a gallant assault on Big Nori Hill by Greek soldiers, who seized the position from the Reds in a fierce 8-minute attack. Ironically, the Greeks were later hit by fire from UN fighter-bombers by mistake and had to give up the hill with an undisclosed number killed and wounded.

single in the hole between third and short scoring Reese with the first run of the game and sending Robinson to second. Pafko struck out. One run, three hits, no errors, two left.

FOURTH INNING

Yankees: Mantle crashed a double off the scoreboard in right-centre field, sliding in ahead of Snider's throw.

It marked the fourth straight inning that the Yankee lead-off batter reached base.

Robinson came in on the grass for Woodling's slow bounder to get his man in a close play as Mantle took third.

Berra flied to Furillo in medium right, Mantle scoring after the catch to tie the score at 1-1 as the rightfielder's throw arrived much too late.

Erskine tossed out Collins.

One run, one hit, no errors, none left.

DODGERS: Hodges struck out but had to be thrown out at first when Berra dropped the third strike. Furillo flied to Bauer. Erskine bunted the first pitch and McDougald threw him out. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

FIFTH INNING

Yankees: McDougald walked. McDougald stole second as Campanella dropped a strike called on Martin. It was a stolen base and not a passed ball. Martin belted a two-strike single over third scoring McDougald to put the Yankees in front, 2-1. Martin took second on Pafko's throw to the plate which got away from Campanella. No error. Erskine threw three balls to Raschi, then struck him out with the next three pitches, the third one a called strike. Bauer walked on a full count. It was the fifth walk given up by Erskine. Erskine's fifth pitch to Rizzuto hit home plate and Bauer lit out for second with Martin occupying the bag. In the ensuing rundown, Martin made a dash for third but was out, Campanella to Cox, with Bauer taking second. Reese threw out Rizzuto. One run, one hit, no errors, one left.

Dodgers: Cox bounced out, Rizzuto to Collins. Reese was called out on strikes. Snider struck out but had to be thrown out when Berra dropped the third strike. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

SIXTH INNING

Yankees: Mantle dragged a successful bunt past the mound, reaching first safely as Robinson was unable to make a play. Woodling lined a single into right centre, Mantle stopping at second. Erskine uncorked a wild pitch, both runners advancing. Berra walked to fill the bases. It was Erskine's sixth base on balls. Dressen came out to the mound to confer with his pitcher. That was all for Erskine as Loes took over. Collins hit to Robinson who tagged Berra on the baseline and threw to Hodges in an attempt for a double play but Hodges dropped the throw and Collins was safe on the error as Mantle scored and Woodling went to third. McDougald bunted and was credited with a hit when Hodges fielded the ball but could not make a play at any base. Woodling scored as Collins reached second. Martin smashed a home run into the lower left field stands scoring Collins and McDougald ahead of him to put the Yankees in front 7-1. Raschi was called out on strikes. Bauer went down swinging. Five runs, four hits, one error, none left.

SEVENTH INNING

Dodgers: Mantle made an easy catch of Hodges' fly behind second base. Furillo went down swinging for Raschi's seventh strikeout. Rocky Nelson came in to bat for Billy Loes, and walked on four pitches. Cox went out, Reese to Hodges.

EIGHTH INNING

Yankees: Ken Lehman a left-hander, came in to pitch for Brooklyn. Berro rapped the ball into right field for a single. Joe Collins walked, advancing Berra to scoring position. McDougald hit a high fly to Snider in centre field for the first out Martin lined to Pafko to left field, and both runners held their bases. Lehman scooped up a roller and threw to Hodges to put out Raschi.

Dodgers: Reese walked, taking Raschi's fifth base on balls. Snider struck out. Robinson flied to Woodling in left field. Campanella's long fly was taken at the left field wall by Woodling.

NINTH INNING

Yankees: Hank Bauer, lead-off man for the Yankees, drilled a hot one to Reese, who threw to first for an easy out. Rizzuto flied high to Pafko. Mantle lined a single into left centre for New York's 10th hit. Woodling popped high along the third baseline and Berra took it in fair territory for the third out.

No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

Dodgers: Pafko popped to Berra behind the plate. Hodges was nipped at first by Collins. Furillo struck out.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Plan To Vote On Wage Offer

WATERLOO (CP) — A proposal for the settlement of the three-month-old strike at the Sunshine Waterloo Company Limited will be voted on at a meeting of Local 3292 of the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) at a meeting Friday night in the rubber workers hall.

James Robertson, international representative of the United Steelworkers; C.H. Millard, national director, and C.H. Tinson also a union official, concluded talks with the Sunshine Waterloo representatives yesterday and emerged with a proposal for settlement.

A company official confirmed the report that the settlement proposal had been signed by representatives of both parties.

Tours Naval Base

SINGAPORE (Reuters) — The Duchess of Kent, on a closely-guarded tour of south-east Asia, toured the Singapore naval base today.

In Critical Condition

STRATHROY (CP)—Mrs. Edna Hardy, R.R. 2, Sarnia, is in critical condition in hospital here after her husband's car crashed into the rear of a parked transport near Hickory Corners. Her husband, Alex, and daughter Margaret, 14, suffered minor injuries. The accident happened late Tuesday night.

Canada Prepared To Have Ceiling On Armed Forces

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Canada yesterday announced she is prepared to accept as part of a general disarmament plan limitations of Canadian armed forces to less than one percent of its population. David M. Johnson, Canada's permanent delegate to the United Nations, told the 12-member U.N. Disarmament Commission that proposals by Britain, the United States and France for arms limitation have made a "real contribution" to the work of the commission.

He expressed regret, however, that Russia has rejected the Western proposals without having shown a "readiness to consider and discuss them seriously."

MILITARY CEILING

The three-power Western plan calls for a military ceiling that would limit the U.S., Russia and Communist China to 1,500,000 soldiers each and Britain and France to 800,000 each. Other states having substantial armed forces would be limited to armed forces of "less than one per cent of the population or less than current levels, except in very special circumstances."

Canada's armed strength was given as of last March 31 at 95,394. Under the "one per cent ceiling" Canada's armed strength would be at the most about 150,000

The Disarmament Commission is made up of the 11 members of the Security Council plus Canada. Canada is included because of her contributions to development of atomic energy.

The western powers in August made Soviet acceptance of the military limitations the condition of holding Big Five and regional conferences aimed at progressive disarmament. Russia rejected the proposals, charging they were "hypocritical."

Order Arrest Of Bishop

VIENNA (AP)—Press dispatches from Bulgaria said today a Communist court has ordered the arrest of Roman Catholic Bishop Giovanni Romanov of Sofia and Plovdov.

The "Neue Wiener Tageszeitung" said that Romanov had been denounced as a "war criminal" by two of 40 Catholic priests now on trial before the court.

The group of 40 priests were brought to trial in mid-September on charges of establishing an "espionage net" on order of the Vatican.

Western diplomats in Vienna said the arrests of the priests and of Bishop Romanov obviously were designed to destroy what remains of the Roman Catholic Church in Bulgaria, where it is a minority sect. The national faith is that of the Eastern Orthodox Church.

Predict Thomas Next Minister

KITCHENER (CP) — A prediction that Works Minister Thomas of Elgin will be Ontario's next minister of agriculture was made at Woolwich township plowing match near here yesterday by Dr. S.F. Leavine, Progressive Conservative member of the Legislature for Waterloo North.

"When the Conservatives win the next election it goes without saying he will be our next minister of agriculture," he said.

Agriculture Minister Kennedy has been in indifferent health.

Condemned Slayer May Cheat Chair

COLUMBIA, Miss. (AP)—A condemned slayer whose execution is set for Oct. 31 is trying "to cheat the electric chair" by a hunger strike jailer Ephram Pittman said today.

Pittman said Luther Musselwhite 32, convicted of the 1950 slaying of a lumberman, Virgil Price, had not eaten a bite or taken a drink of water for six days.

"He's sinking pretty fast now," Pittman declared, "and may succeed in cheating the chair."

Heavy Fighting Near Hill Crest

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — United States and Communist jets tangled in October's first air battles today. The Fifth Air Force said one Red MiG-15 was shot down and two were damaged.

The day's heaviest ground fighting flared on the east-central front. South Korean infantrymen fought to within 50 yards of the top of wire hill, captured by Chinese Reds Monday. Heavy fighting was still in progress.

The air force announced that Allied planes shot down 10 Russian-built MiG-15s in the last three months. United Nations losses in the air battles were seven U.S. F-86 Sabres and three F-84 Thunderjets. Sixty-two of the MiGs were downed in September.

B-26 bombers hunted Communist supply vehicles last night and pilots reported 50 destroyed. They also reported knocking out two locomotives and damaging another locomotive on the east coast far behind the lines.

Pass Sweeping Emergency Act

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters)—The legislature last night approved sweeping emergency measures aimed at smashing the dread "Mau Mau" secret society before it menaces the safety of this British colony.

The iron-fisted measures, prepared by the government and approved by the Colonial Office in London, include:

1. Rigid restriction on movement of members of the society which has pledged to drive the white man from Kenya.
2. Control of the press and other publishing firms.
3. Registration of societies of 10 or more members with the exception of trade unions, co-operatives and Freemasons.
4. Permission to use confessions made to police in court trials.

Drop Lightweight Cattle Price Support Ottawa Says

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian government, concerned over the possibility of a beef glut and a storage bottleneck, has decided to drop price support for lightweight cattle. Officials disclosed yesterday that the Agriculture Department at present is offering to buy only heavyweight cattle—dressed weight carcasses of 700 pounds and over. This means, in effect, that there is no government floor price for lightweight cattle. Announcement of a reshaped price-support program last week indicated the price support would be extended to all "fully-finished" cattle. Reason for only partial application of the government's price stabilization program is the possibility of a tremendous glut of beef on the market if the government offered to buy all shapes and sizes of carcasses.

STORAGE SPACE LIMITED

Storage space is limited, officials said. An abnormally high flow of beef from farms to market could develop into a storage crisis until export channels to the United States are reopened—possibly not until next spring or later.

Under the new support program, the federal floor on cattle is cut to 23 cents a pound, basis good steers at Toronto, from 25 cents, with prices varying regionally across the country.

For heavyweight steers and heifers—carcasses weighing 700 pounds or more, cold dressed weight—the floor is unchanged from the 25-cents-a-pound base until Nov. 15 next. Then the price will drop to 23 cents—applicable to all types of cattle.

Believe Russia Can Muster Million Reserve Fliers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia has about 1,000,000 air force reservists she could call upon in case of a war. The United States has 300,000.

This was reported today by the U.S. Air Force in the "Air Reservist," official monthly magazine.

The article left many holes in the complete picture because, the Air Force said, it was impossible to get all the information needed.

The 1,000,000-man reserve organization would supplement the regular Russian Air Force in case of war. How many aircraft these reserves would put in the sky the Air Force couldn't say.

The Russians said in March, 1951, they had 18,000 combat planes with a big enough regular air force to fly them. The total manpower of the Reds' regular air force is not publicly known.

The U.S. now has a 970,000-man air force with about 20,000 combat planes.

Backbone of the Red air force reserve is the aero clubs, staffed by professional flying and training instructors.

"In 1937, the Soviet leaders gave

VAST PILOT RESERVE

In 1937, the Soviet leaders gave the aero clubs the mission of training 150,000 pilots. Just what percentage of this goal was reached is not known, but when World War II started the clubs had created a vast reserve of semi-trained pilots and technicians upon which the Soviet Air Force was able to draw during the early part of the conflict," the Air Force said.

The reservists take part each year in the Air Force Day program in Moscow. From actual observations, the Air Force said, the standard of their flying is high.

When they complete active duty, Russian airmen automatically become members of the reserve until they're 50.

New Bridge Open For All Traffic

COBOURG—(ENS) —Although the formal opening is not until the counties council convenes for its fall session, the new Factory Creek Bridge was cleared of its barriers for pedestrians and vehicle traffic yesterday.

The bridge has a 30 foot wide thoroughfare for vehicles and the pedestrian walk on each side adds another 12 feet to the width. Of concrete and steel construction it spans the Factory Creek. In order to benefit from the 80 per cent bridge subsidy, the bridge was taken into the counties road system and the cost to the town of Cobourg is only $3,500 for the sidewalks. Total cost is $30,000.

Later the bridge will revert to the town of Cobourg. Bulldozers and graders were working along the creek Wednesday afternoon, straightening out a bend in the creek in order to prevent spring floods and ice from cutting into the west bank near the bridge.

Gale Pounds Trail Of Damage N.Y. State,

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — A rain-and-thunder storm riding on a 40-mile-an-hour gale pounded western New York State last night, leaving trees uprooted, power lines down and buildings in flames.

It struck hardest in Niagara county. Both Lockport and Niagara Falls reported power failures. Two barns north of Lockport were burned down after being struck by lightning.

Barns in the town of Greece, near Rochester, and on a farm near Albion also were destroyed by fire.

A market in Niagara Falls was struck by lightning, jarring bricks loose from the walls.

Twenty hogs died in one of the two barns that burned down near Lockport.

Trees and power lines were scattered over highways throughout Niagara county. In Niagara Falls, one part of the city was blacked out when power failed. Rushing water caused one city street to cave in.

The weather bureau at Buffalo airport said winds averaged 44 miles an hour with gusts up to 70. Winds of 60 miles an hour swept Niagara county at intervals.

Civic Union Asks To Open Negotiations

COBOURG— (ENS) —Council at its meeting here received a letter from the National Organization of Civic Utility and Electrical Workers stating that the union desired to open negotiations for a new contract.

Both utilities and civic employees are in this union, but the letter was in reference to civic employees only as the utilities employees negotiate directly with the utilities commission. The last contract was December 1. As it was only a formal notice, the communication was received and filed.

Councillor Charles Johnston, chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee informed council that next week was National Fire Prevention Week.

A letter from the Department of Planning and Development, advised council that it was in order for Charles Jackson, local contractor, to proceed with his apartment house construction at the east end of the town. Owners of lots in the Rankin sub-division had opposed the erection of the apartment house on the grounds that the by-law provided for single family dwellings only.

Council gave tentative approval of plans for a 93-lot housing subdivision owned by Herbert Holloway, the lots being located out north Division Street on the west side. Some homes have already been built in the subdivision and the owner said he would be willing to see a bylaw passed which would govern the type and style of dwellings in that area. As yet the plan does not include provision for a park, playgrounds or a school.

Not Allowed Off Ferryboat

HONG KONG (Reuters)—A man who claims he is a United States citizen spent the last two weeks shuttling back and forth between here and the Portuguese colony of Macau on the ferryboat.

Neither British nor Portuguese authorities will let him come ashore because he has no passport.

The British owners of the boat, the Lee Hong, say he gives his name as Michael Patrick O'Brien and says he was born in the U.S. The U.S. consulate here is checking his story.

He leaves Hong Kong every morning, arrives in Macau three hours later, has lunch aboard, then steams back to Hong Kong.

He has no ticket and no money. Crew members have put him up in a cabin and are giving him his meals.

Bevan In, Attlee Out?

As suggested in our special article yesterday from London on the economic situation in Britain today, it is very difficult to assess the political condition in the United Kingdom. Some believe that the Churchill government's days are numbered; others that it may survive another two years, by which time the economic situation may have improved, to give the Conservatives strength at the polls. However, a Labour government will be returned some time, if not this year or next, and it is of real interest to people outside Britain whether it returns with Attlee, or with Bevan. Mr. Attlee represents the seasoned conservative side of Labour, Mr. Bevan the left, hot-worded side.

* * *

The British Labour Party has been holding its annual conference. Several strong Bevan supporters have been appointed to directive positions there, seeming to indicate a loss of prestige and strength in the Attlee faction. The British Labour Party is a complex organization, and the Trade Union leadership has a very important influence on the Labour vote, perhaps more important than the representations of the rank and file meeting at the Lancashire seaside resort this week.

* * *

The annual conference is a great assembly of the party, but each affiliated organization represented there (a constituency association, a trade union, or the Fabian Society) has only one vote for every thousand of its members. Each large trade union, having more than a million members, has more votes than all the constituency parties put together. The union representatives usually stand solidly behind the official leadership in basic matters—Mr. Attlee. The constituency representatives, more politically active than ordinary union members, are usually in the left wing of the party, and therefore this week tend to support Mr. Bevan. If the Trade Union delegates throw a crumb to the Bevan faction, it is not the whole plateful. Major tactics and policy, though mulled over thoroughly at the Labour Conference, are not decided there. The way the rank and file vote at Morecambe is not a sure indication which way the party is moving. If an election were called this year and Labour were returned to power, it is altogether likely that Mr. Attlee would have the power.

First Canadian Aircraft

On Monday last in the presence of a large concourse of statesmen, engineers, businessmen and lesser breeds within the law, a new jet engine plant was opened at Malton. Malton is the place people go to leave Toronto by plane. The plant was built to produce a turbojet engine for a twin-engine long-range fighter plane, the CF-100. The engine is called Orenda—which suggests horrendous, but is said to be the name of an Indian spirit, "the source of all power."

This engine, Canadian in design and manufacture, is indeed powerful. The A. V. Roe company, producing the Avro Canada Orenda turbojet claims for it these qualities and characteristics:

In flight at 600 m.p.h. it produces enough power to drive 100 cars or enough heat to supply 6,500 standard homes.

At high speeds the engine grows three-quarters of an inch in length, while each turbine disc and blade grows a quarter of an inch.

Blades and nozzle are at orange heat when running.

There are over seventeen hundred blades in the engine and a total of about twelve thousand parts [illegible] excluding nuts, bolts and washers.

Tolerances of parts run to two ten-thousandths of an inch—or one tenth the thickness of a human hair.

Tips of the turbine blades travel at 750 m.p.h. Each blade—weighing only a third of a pound—produces the equivalent of 170 h.p.

The fuel is rotating at 500,000 revolutions per minute when it leaves the feed nozzle. This atomizes the fuel to droplets ten millionths of an inch in diameter.

Amount of air sucked through an Orenda within a minute would [illegible] a building 100 ft. square and 8 ft. high.

Fascinating tid-bits. This is the first aero engine to be designed and produced in Canada. It is fitted to the CF-100 fighter, also designed and built in Canada, thus making the first all-Canadian aircraft. Canadian aircraft engineering and production are thereby coming up to the reputation and achievement of Canadian flying.

The big new plant at Malton will employ thirty thousand on the CF-100 program, additional to the fifteen thousand employed on the other work by Avro Canada. Such employment, engines and aircraft account for a good many million dollars of the Department of Defence Production's spending—Mr. C. D. Howe's department. Mr. Howe has done more than any other Canadian to advance the cause of Canadian flying in Canadian machines.

We might as well give some figures about the plant itself, to balance the statistics on the engine.

Amount of concrete used in the construction would surface eight miles of standard street or five miles of the Queen Elizabeth dual highway.

Total weight of steel incorporated would have built a bridge 50 ft. high and three-quarters of a mile in length—from College Street to Bloor.

About 250 tennis courts or 11 full-size football fields could be housed in the main sections of the plant.

The length of power cable used would stretch from Scarboro to London, Ontario.

In sections, the fluorescent tubing would serve several large departmental stores, or, if you prefer one long light, from Bloor at Yonge right out to Richmond.

Peak supply of electricity would more than suffice the whole town of Barrie.

To put the matter more mildly: the new Malton plant is big.

Lord Astor And His Stud

The second Viscount Astor, often better known as the husband of Lady Astor, had two inheritances from his father; one helpful, one a hindrance. He had wealth, including the British weekly paper The Observer and his famous home Cliveden, where Canadian officers of both wars were nurtured and entertained and where, under Lady Astor, politics blazed in Georgian state in the drawing-room. From his father he had his title.

Lord Astor, as William Waldorf Astor (famous American family names) was a Member of Parliament for Plymouth from 1910 until his father's death in 1919, when he had to go to the House of Lords. (He was fond of Plymouth and was its Lord Mayor throughout its difficult war years.) His first action in the Lords was to propose that peers might be allowed to give up their peerages. This proposal was unsuccessful, so his wife Nancy contested the by-election in Plymouth, won his old seat and became the first woman member of the British Commons. Since then Lady Astor has been a brilliant jet in disputatious causes like temperance.

Lord Astor, who like his wife was born in the United States, was a devoted public-spirited and enlightened British subject and gave time, energy and money to British interests in international affairs, to agricultural research and to horses. He began his career on the Turf fifty years ago when he bought a thoroughbred mare named Conjure for only a hundred pounds.

From this small start grew one of the most successful studs of the twentieth century. From Conjure and his other foundation mares Popinjay and Maid of the Mist descended the horses whose victories put Lord Astor at the head of the winning breeders in 1925 and 1936. He never won the Derby, but horses bred and owned by him finished second in it five times. He won the Derby's Two Thousand Guineas and One Thousand Guineas twice; he won the St. Leger once. He never betted.

Lord Astor relinquished The Observer to the Observer Trust, which he set up in 1945, and his horses to his eldest and youngest sons in 1951. He died Tuesday at the age of 73.

"It's A Lovely War"

We are sorry to learn that Red Newman is dead. Thousands of Canadians knew him, and he especially endeared himself to veterans of the First Great War. However, a new generation of Canadians has grown up which knows nothing of Red Newman, and to them we offer the following information.

During the First Great War the Canadian troops abroad were entertained under all sorts of circumstances by a concert party which called itself The Dumbells; Red Newman was one of this group, and his special "turn" was an elaborate rendition of a song of many verses which most Canadians over 35 know.

Oh, oh, oh it's a lovely war!
What do you want with eggs and ham when you've got plum and apple jam? . . .

Newman sang it in a rich but raucous voice, wearing a terrible red wig and the strangest uniform ever seen; into it he injected a wonderful bonhomie, a genial irony which delighted his audiences. What he may have been like in private life we do not know; the private life of a public entertainer is unimportant. But on the stage Red Newman was an embodiment of the gusty humour which carried Canadian and British troops through many a bitter month in the trenches.

How do we spend
The money we earn?
Oh, oh, oh it's a lovely war!

President Truman, we read, has been voted the world's best-hatted man. Indeed? And who voted? Harry's hatters? Just for argument we propose Winston Churchill as not merely the best, but also the most variously, hatted man of our age, and perhaps in history.

THE AMERICAN SCENE:

Politics On T.V. Crude Effort

By KENNETH HARRIS

I'VE JUST SEEN the first political propaganda show ever to be put on television. I mean a show, with actors, actresses and plot, as opposed to the television appearance of a party candidate to make a speech or to answer questions at a press conference.

It was, as I suppose all first attempts on film, radio or T.V. tend to be, a pretty crude effort; it would make me vote against, not for, the party which put it on the air.

This production happened to be put on by the Republicans, whose presidential candidate, General Dwight Eisenhower, is currently describing the Korean War as an "unnecessary war", with no end in sight, in which young Americans are dying owing to the "bungling" of the Democrat Administration. This theme, straightforward and simple enough, to be sure, was enacted as follows:

FIRST WE had a few minutes of a big, fat, smug, cigar-smoking Democrat— the casting of whom, I might say, would give offence to a minority group with whose votes the Republicans could well do this year. He sat back in his chair saying several times, "Don't let them take it away" — one of the Democratic party's slogans.

This was dissolved into a scene representing two American G.I.s up in the front line in a Korean fox-hole. One of them talks about the futility of taking one hillock after another without getting any further to winning the war. A few minutes later, he is shot down by machine-gun fire. The other perseveres for about fifty lines of script, cannot stand it, and then deliberately exposes himself to fire so that the war will end for him at least. The narrator is then faded in, and he talks about "Democratic Bungling".

THIS TELEVISION episode, to my mind, illustrates what is the main weakness in the Republican election campaign—its lack of balance. The Republicans know that the frustration which Americans feel about the stalemate in Korea, coupled as it is with a widespread feeling that it must not be allowed to last much longer, is a factor which may help to put the Republicans in and throw the Democrats out in the November election. But, as in the case of this television programme, the Republicans go to town on the theme in such an immoderate way that they often throw away their advantage.

This television programme, for instance, antagonised many people because they felt it libelled the American G.I.—an American soldier commits suicide because he cannot see an end to the war.

IN A SIMILAR WAY, thousands of spirited Americans who have never accepted the idea that those countries of Europe which have been occupied by the Communists must for ever remain so, were disturbed when Eisenhower made his speech about "liberating" these peoples. They saw the spirit of another world war.

To take a more recent example: when the press reported that Senator Richard Nixon, the Republican candidate for the Vice-Presidency, had taken financial assistance from certain businessmen, if he had replied that he had only taken it to enable him to do more public work than he was able to do on his salary, even his critics would have had to go some way towards accepting that explanation. But Nixon no sooner heard the stories printed in the press than he shouted that they were "smears" being made against his name by "Communists" and "crooks" who wanted "revenge" for the good work he had done against them in the past.

FILM-FANS who have seen Jane Russell take the part of a female Dead-Shot Dick in several Bob Hope films may have wondered whether the plot had any resemblance to reality—if anybody ever thinks about a plot while he is looking at Jane Russell. I have just been reading about an interesting Texan brunette who has been arrested on charges of behaving rather as Miss Russell behaves in some of her films.

The girl, 21-year-old Miss Melba Doris Bashem, has been arrested by the local sheriff for allegedly leading a gang engaged in rustling cattle. She began adult life as a "soda jerk"—attendant behind a soft drinks bar—but, on her way home to the country for week-ends, so the police say, she could not get it out of her mind that there was more money to be made out of rustling the sleek cattle which she saw at the roadside than standing behind a high-stocked bar jerking soda for a bunch of high-school boys. This view, it is alleged, she was able to communicate to her brother and several of his friends.

In one respect at least, Miss Bashem differs from the character portrayed by Miss Russell—Miss Bashem is alleged to have done her rustling in a 1951 Ford, to have used a pneumatic-tyred trailer instead of a lariat.

✧ ✧ ✧

TALKING OF Jane Russell I see that the National Knitted Outer Wear Association and Wool Bureau has used its influence to have a change made in the annual "Sweater Girl" contest which takes place next week. The Outerwearers have seen to it that the phrase "Sweater Girl" has been dropped, and that the week-long event is to be published this year by referring to the election of the "Sweater Week Queen".

The idea behind this is that the Outerwearers have realised that while lascivious males go for the "Sweater Girl" idea well enough, the "Sweater Girl" notion rather limits the points of interest to which a sweater-wearing competition draws attention. After all, men, little children, and even cats and dogs, buy sweaters too.

Nevertheless, I doubt whether, when the photograph of the winner is published, it will be that of a well-developed baby or a curvaceous Boston Bull Pup.

✧ ✧ ✧

I ALWAYS keep my eye open for new inventions, because one simply does not know what the Americans are going to get up to next. When I read this week that a Mr. Joseph A. Grimm of Milwaukee had invented a machine for cutting mock chicken legs, I thought that things were getting a bit too far.

A mock chicken leg, however, is not a real part of an ornithological imposter or an unreal part of the genuine article but a series of squares of meat impaled, and so joined, by long skewers. Mr. Grimm's ingenuity consists of inventing a box with slots through which seven motor-driven knives can hack away at mock chicken legs packed in the box in phalanxes. Having prepared this definition I read it over the phone to a clerk in a patent office. "Not in phalanxes," he said. "It's in some kind of tomato sauce."

Letters To The Editor

NUMBERS ON GEORGE ST.

Sir: Is there any prospect in the near future of having all the properties, instead of the occasional one, on George Street numbered?

I hear many complaints from outsiders making business calls in your city who find it difficult to locate a store property and it is almost unbelievable that a city like yours should be so backward in this respect.

Yours truly,
WALTER J. HELM.

REPORTING APPRECIATED

Sir, I was instructed by Peterborough Presbytery of the United Church of Canada, meeting in Warsaw, Sept. 24, 1952, to write to you "and express our appreciation of the excellent coverage you gave the Marine Mission Work on the B.C. coast, and ask for your continued support of Church work in general." It is with pleasure that I comply with the instructions of Presbytery and pass this resolution on to you.

Sincerely yours,
H. B. HERRINGTON

DISGUSTED LIBERAL

Sir: I heartily agree with your recent editorial in which you took the Government in Ottawa to task, Mr. Gardiner in particular, for the reckless way they throw the people's money around, supporting floor and ceiling prices.

I have voted Liberal all my life but have sworn I will never vote for any Government that harbours such an unscrupulous person as Mr. James Gardiner. Between Mr. Gardiner and Mr. Abbott, they are going to make the Liberal party pay a terrific toll in the next election.

A LIFE-LONG LIBERAL

MISSING LINK WILL STAY MISSING

Sir: I was pleasantly surprised to read your editorial, 'Still Missing' in last Friday's Examiner, that the editor humbly suggested: 'perhaps there never was a Missing Link'.

I recall the same suggestion being made over a year ago by an archaeologist but presumably with little success among his fellow scientists.

As a matter of interest, I should like to quote from a talk on 'Evolution' given by Abdul Baha, son of the founder of the Baha'i Faith, at the Open Forum, San Francisco, in October 1912:

"The 'lost link' of Darwinian theory is itself a proof that man is not an animal. How is it possible to have all the links present and that important link absent? Its absence is an indication that man has never been an animal. It will never be found."

Yours truly,
EDWARD OLIVER

PETERBOROUGH HEARD IN VANCOUVER

Sir: Will you kindly express my sincere appreciation through The Examiner of the thrill I got to-day at 1.30, hearing the voice of the Rev. Bruce Gordon of Trinity Church, Peterborough? This wonderful address, also the choir, who among them I am sure there are some still left who will remember me.

How wonderful to sit in your home so far from your loved ones and all your dear friends you left behind to be able to enjoy these privileges.

It was a lady friend in church who told me about reading of this, or I would have surely missed it, but when any of my friends here in Vancouver hear the name of Peterborough, they always think of me. Rev. Gordon is a stranger to me; I was a member of St. Paul's Church and Choir up to the time I left your city, before he came to be minister in Trinity United Church.

It came very clear from our CJOR station and CHEX, Peterborough.

I am delighted to receive The Examiner every week from my daughter, so I do not miss much of the Church news in particular, all of which I have always been interested in all my year's activities, as well as a Life Member of our W.M.S. and still able to carry on, for which I am very thankful to the Giver of all Good Things.

I remain,

Yours sincerely,
E. E. COX

ATTEND EXHIBITION ANNUAL MEETING

Sir: In reading the letters re: the recent Exhibition, I might as well write as others have.

Having attended fairs since 1896 both as a visitor also an Exhibitor, at Toronto and smaller fairs; I have therefore seen fairs both come and go.

The fairs that have been organized in that time have been to encourage the agricultural industry in all its branches, which takes in a large scope for as we all know that humanity depends upon the products of the soil. The fairs that have gone out of business have been those that catered to the imaginary "thrills" that lasted just as long as they were being watched.

Since I have read the letters that have appeared in The Examiner, I have asked several exhibitors of live stock what their opinion was of the recent Ex. as it concerned their exhibits and they all without exception said that they considered it a splendid exhibition.

Some we have talked to have objected to having machinery take up so much space and I have talked to machine agents and they have told me that they did a big business but that they considered the fair a flop because there was a poor Midway.

Personally, I hardly ever go through the Midway but as so many have expressed themselves as being in favour of a large Midway I thought I would take a walk through the Midway while at Lindsay Fair.

Of course, there were large canvasses with pictures on them explaining what wonderful sights to be seen inside and it was quite contrary to the language one customer used when he came out.

Of course there were the "dancing beauties" out on the platform in front of the tent, but being of the more modest sort I did not go in, as I thought I had seen about all there was to see.

Then there was that outfit going that turns you around and back again and then turns you upside down. When one lady got out she had a real vomiting spell. Now I am not condemning the outfit that she had been in as there might have been something else wrong with her that caused her to vomit. I cannot say as to that. But returning to the Peterborough Ex., I ask where would you find a better exhibit of cattle, horses, sheep or swine and poultry too? These all need to be encouraged. It cost money time, and tact to bring these forward and the only source there is to get them before the public is through the various Exhibitions.

The CHEX put on splendid programmes. There does seem to be a slowness in bringing the exhibits forward but this could be remedied.

Now a word about the officers. I believe the Manager, Mr. Gillespie, and his staff have done the best they could to make the Fair a success. Also, I believe the president and the various committees have done their best. As I am particularly interested in the sheep department, I just want to say that the Committee in charge — Mr. Savigny and his companion stand in the highest estimation with the sheep and swine exhibitors for their courtesy in carrying out their duties.

Of course all have not the same idea about running an Exhibition, but whatever the cause may have been, it is unfortunate that such opposition has arisen as the Examiner has a large circulation and people from various parts are talking about the recent Ex. When in Millbrook last week, a person said to me, I guess by the letters I see in the paper that the Peterborough Exhibition is about on its last legs.

In closing may I suggest one thing? Why not let us co-operate and put our shoulders to the wheel—both those who think the Ex. was a flop and those who think it O.K.—and try and attend the annual meeting in Jan. and then we will understand more clearly what is involved in operating an Exhibition.

Unconsidered Trifles

The none too experienced hunter from the city drove up to an old guide's cabin in the country, introduced himself, and said: "A friend who belongs to the Rod and Gun Club thinks you could help me bag a moose."

"Rod and Gun Club, eh?" The grizzled guide looked dourly at the visitor's light-calibred rifle and grunted: "You wound a bull elk with that pea shooter, mister, and right away you'll be joinin' the 'My God—and Run' Club."

✧ ✧ ✧

"I never thought I'd pull through but I did. First I got tuberculosis, ptomaine, appendicitis and phthisis. Then came arterio-sclerosis, angina pectoris, rheumatism, arthritis, influenza and sciatica. I was given morphia, strychnine, hypodermics. . . ."

"You look well on it!"

"I wasn't ill, you ass. I was up for my spelling test in connection with a Health Ministry job."

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And, behold, they brought to him a man sick of the palsy, lying on a bed: and Jesus seeing faith said unto the sick of the palsy; Son, be of good cheer; thy sins be forgiven thee. And, behold, certain of the scribes said within themselves, This man blasphemeth.

And Jesus knowing their thoughts said, Wherefore think ye evil in your hearts? For whether is easier to say, Thy sins be forgiven thee; or to say, Arise, and walk? But that ye may know that the Son of man hath power on earth to forgive sins, (then saith he to the sick of the palsy), Arise, take up thy bed, and go unto thine house. And he arose, and departed to his house.

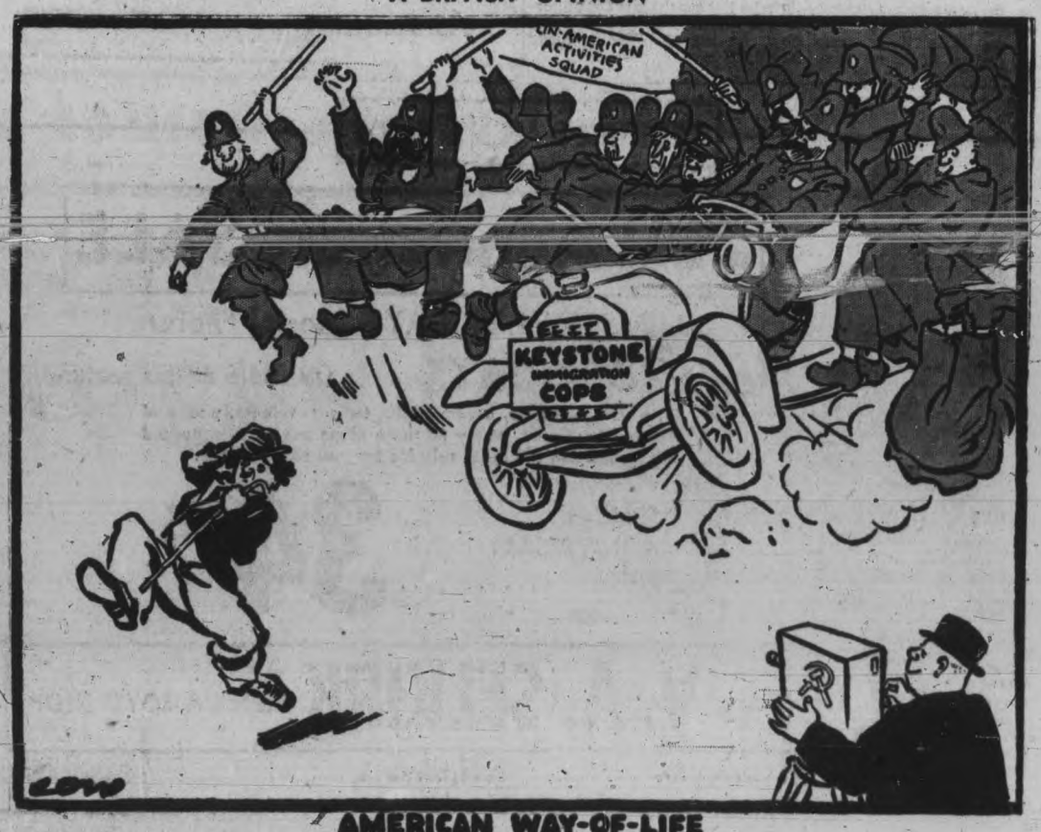
But when the multitudes saw it, they marvelled, and glorified God, which had given such power unto men. (Matt. 9:2-8.)

✧ ✧ ✧

God be merciful unto us, and bless us; and cause his face to shine upon us; Selah. That thy way may be known upon earth, thy saving health among all nations. (Ps. 67:1, 2.)

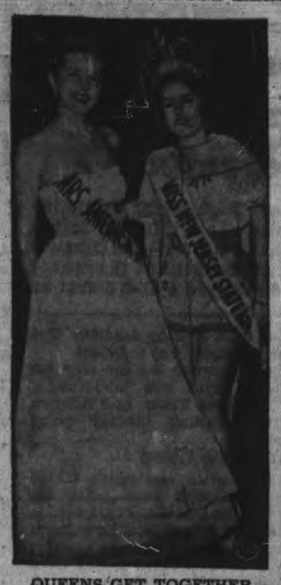
Is "Charlot" a Menace?

(New York Times)



Long ago the French called him Charlot, the Spanish Carlitos, the Italians Carlino. He seemed to express much of the pathos, the puzzlement and the comedy of our day. He came into this position, in spite of great native gifts, almost by accident. His arrival in Hollywood some forty years ago was strategically timed. He fitted exactly into the technique of the silent film, though he later managed to adapt himself to films that made noises. Such was the career of Charles Chaplin.

Mr. Chaplin has always shown a sympathy for the underdog. Perhaps this was natural in a man who had been brought up in extreme poverty and had seen his family and friends suffer for lack of the necessities of life. He knew the humor of the common man and he took infinite delight in puncturing the pretensions of the proud. These gifts and these attitudes, ironically enough, made him wealthy. Some of his best-loved pictures were turned out at the rate of one a week. As success brought him more leisure he made fewer pictures. Indeed, the complaint of those who loved the early Chaplins is that there are so few Chaplins today.



Now comes Attorney General McGranery with word that Mr. Chaplin, now outside the United States on a pleasure trip, may be subject to detention when he returns on the ground that he has "subversive" tendencies. Mr. Chaplin is exposed to this procedure because he has never taken out citizenship papers. Possibly it will be shown that he has in some way been connected with or deceived by what have been described as Communist fronts. He himself has insisted that he is not a Communist but a "peace-monger."

But those who have followed him through the years cannot easily regard him as a dangerous person. No politicial situation, no international menace, can destroy the fact that he is a great artist who has given infinite pleasure to many millions, not in one country but in all countries. Unless there is far more evidence against him than is at the moment visible, the Department of State will not dignify itself or increase the national security if it sends him into exile.

Claims Flight Over Everest

LONDON (CP)—Kenneth Neame made a wartime flight over Mount Everest in his Spitfire fighter plane, but he never told anyone about it.

He feared disciplinatory action by the R.A.F. because he flew over territory in the Himalaya Mountains which had been ruled out-of-bounds.

A friend let the cat out of the bag by producing notes from Naeme's dairy and photos to add weight to the claim.

Neame, now a medical student in London University, says he doesn't fear any trouble now since he's been out of the service for some time.

Neame took pictures of the world's tallest mountain—more than 29,000 feet—through the plastic top of his cockpit.

Larry McCarthy, who for some odd reason left Peterborough to reside in Cobourg, sends us a couple of rather lengthy rhymes, too long to publish. One is entitled "Sour Grapes" and he says 'twas originally titled "Cornish Rhapsody," written by Roy Cornish of the Oshawa grid Raiders' executive. The reply "Play The Game" was composed by Mrs. Len Graves, whose hubby heads the Cobourg Booster Club for the Galloping Ghosts. They do take their O.R.F.U. games seriously in these centres, and we should up here, too, as Orfuns have a strong squad this semester — one also having ambitions to "go west in '52," the Cobourg slogan. Oshawa Raiders clash here with Orfuns Friday night in what should be a great grid game.

Noticed a heading last week in a Toronto paper: "Jarvis Surprises Rivals With Twin Quarterbacks" — an intriguing angle. It was in a high school game in Toronto betwixt Jarvis and Parkdale. In part the item read: "Instead of the usual one, Coach Warren startled rival coaches by using two quarterbacks at the same time, and system paid off. It allowed the high schoolers the maximum amount of deception and mobility. All three Jarvis majors were scored using the twin quarterback system. In a T-formation, two quarters face away from the line right behind the centre. The ball is snapped to the fullback who proceeds to swing whichever way the defensive squad shows weakest.". Hm, wonder if Jarvis will work this new angle when they play P.C.V.S. seniors here Saturday night.

Comes the World Series

It's World Series time once more and the figure filberts who follow baseball from early spring to late autumn are in their glory. Not only is the diamond sport the national game in the States, it has a great many newspaper and radio followers in Canada. Many chucks manage to take in a lot of major loop games in the season, and some lucky ones travel over for the fall classic. Our choice, the Dodgers, took the opener 4-2 on fine flinging by rookie Joe Black (who pitched all winner in the Cuban loop and all summer in the National) and three homers. Yanks also had a homer, so these guys are certainly swinging from their heels in the big series. They go again today in Brooklyn ere switching to New York.

Eastern Canada senior lacrosse finals will now have to be a best-of-seven-and-a-half series, seeing as last night's number was washed out halfway through. With Yorks leading the Petes 9-7 at the time rain intervened, they'll replay it here tonight, starting from scratch, and ticket-holders' stubs will be honored from last eve. Should tonight's tilt be rained out, the deciding game will be staged Friday p.m. in Civic Arena, since the winner must be in Toronto on Sunday aft to open Mann Cup finals. Around 4,000 fans sat through the drizzle Wednesday night and no one complained when 'twas called off. Too much rain and too much Yorks.

They Must Dig, Dig, Dig

No fooling, the Timbermen must pull up their socks or they've had it. Came out like real champs to dominate play in the 6-3 first quarter, but slipped in the second heat as Toronto outhustled 'em and outscored them by a 6-1 margin to lead at the half 9-7. Even scored twice when Yorks had a man in the sin bin! Prexy Bob Peirson will read the riot act to the homesters today and try to fire them back into their winning ways. He feels that some of them aren't giving it all they have every minute of the game, that the Yorks are beating them to the loose balls and having that extra half-step on them. We find some of the locals are letting Yorks get set for rushes and shots instead of crowding them hard to keep them off-balance. As though they were afraid of drawing penalties for hard checking. This is the big one and it's worth fighting for all the way. Come on, you champs!

* * * * * *

Harry Wipper will stay over, while Ike Hildebrand is a question mark tonight. He'll be here if his puck manager gives permission. Ike was turning in a whale of an effort last p.m. with three goals. Coach Bob Thorpe helped on three, Don Ashbee had a pair of assists, and Russ Slater was in on two. Leo Teatro tallied three for the visitors, and Jim McNulty two. Play was quite clean in the slippery going. Timbermen might well have snapped back to form in the last half to take the game and series, but one can't be sure. Yorks might have continued to lead. The Toronto team right now is hotter than the south end of a firefly heading north—so the Petes will have to be hot tonight too in the deciding playoff. Or else . . .

Direct Rhythm Wins, Fastest Living Pacer

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Direct Rhythm went a mile in 1:56 1-5 yesterday to become the world's fastest living pacer and the fourth fastest harness horse of all time.

The time is surpassed only by Billy Direct 1:55; and Dan Patch, 1:55¼, trotter.

Accompanied by two prompters, Direct Rhythm was at the quarter in :28 2-5; the half in :58; and three quarters in 1:26 3-5.

Owned by W. G. Reynolds of Louisville, the four-year-old stallion was driven by Del Miller in the trial.

Rags To Riches Story For Joe Black

BROOKLYN (AP)—From rags to riches in less than a year; that's the story of Joe Black, Brooklyn's super-duper relief ace and World Series star.

Last spring, anyone predicting that Black would pitch—and win—the opening game of the 1952 world series would have been rushed to the psycho ward.

Black, a six-foot two-inch, 220-pound righthander, was taken south by the Dodgers on a "look see" basis. The righthander had won only 11 games and lost 12 while playing for Brooklyn farms at Montreal and St. Paul in 1951. He spent the winter pitching in the Cuban Winter League under Billy Herman, a Brooklyn coach.

Herman urged the Dodger brass to look Black over at the Brooks' camp site at Vero Beach, Fla. Black made the grade and was hailed by some as another "Don Newcombe."

Manager Charley Dressen didn't use the 28-year-old rookie much at first. But as other starters and relief pitchers faltered, Black saw more and more action.

He appeared in 56 games, winning 51 and saving at least 51 more.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

Commencing around 10.30 o'clock in real fine weather and finishing at five o'clock in rather uncertain weather, the ladies' lawn bowling club held their "last fling" tournament on the local greens Wednesday. As far as open tournaments are concerned that's it for this season.

Besides local rinks there were entries from Cobourg and Port Hope and, although the attendance was not large, for this time of the year it was not too bad.

Mrs. W. Whitty's trio were high for three wins and Mrs. W. Hepburn's rink second for three wins.

It was just another one of the many tournaments sponsored by the ladies' club and adding it all up they have had a good season.

The ladies' committee in charge of all these tournaments were Mrs. H. Wilson, Mrs. L. Bearne, Mrs. K. McVeety and Mrs. J. Knights.

WINNERS

1st—Peterborough — Mrs. G. Gimblett, Mrs. Cameron, Mrs. W. Whitty, sk.

2nd—Peterborough — Mrs. J. Cullen, Mrs. N. Killingbeck, Mrs. W. Hepburn, sk.

3rd—Peterborough — Mrs. J. Knights, Mrs. E. Jeffrey, Mrs. A. Jackson, sk.

4th—Port Hope—Mrs. Rutter's rink.

5th—Cobourg—Mrs. J. Watson's rink.

With the passing of Benjamin Ward at Oshawa, on Monday, both the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club and the Peterborough Curling Club lost a real friend and a strong supporter. The late Mr. Ward was a regular competitor in all local bowling tournaments and curling bonspiels for a great many years. He was an all-round fine chap and he will be missed on the greens and on the ice.

HIT THAT DUMMY is an old-fashioned yell at P.C.V.S. Garnet and Grey practices now; this year the boys are hitting a new machine used by most American schools. It is called a charger-blocker. Coach Bev Goulding, standing on the back, has Fred Ash charging to the standards. The Garnet and Grey will need to know blocking and charging this Saturday when they tackle Toronto's Jarvis collegiate Saturday night at Riverside Park.

Kansas Blanks Rochester 9-0

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Righthander Eddie Erautt hurled a two-hit shutout and hit a homer as Kansas City Blues defeated Rochester Red Wings 9-0 in a rain-abbreviated five-inning Little World Series game last night.

Kansas City leads 3-1 in the best-of-seven junior classic.

Erautt, an option from Cincinnati, won his sixth straight post-season game for the American Association playoff champions. His over-all record now is 27-5. Erautt walked two in the first inning, then struck out seven the rest of the way.

Three-run homers by Bill Skowron and Don Bollweg gave Kansas City a 6-0 lead after the first two frames.

Yorks Leading Petes, 9-7 In Deciding Playoff When Rain Washes Out Tilt

Rain washed out the seventh and deciding game of the Eastern Canada senior lacrosse finals here last night with the score 9-7 for Toronto West Yorks over the Petes' Timbermen at halftime. The game will be replayed here tonight, weather permitting. If it cannot be played Thursday, it must be staged Friday, indoors, if necessary, since the Mann Cup finals open Sunday afternoon in Toronto. A crowd of some 4,000 jammed Miller Bowl and they sat through the light drizzle which started part way through the first frame and through the heavier shower of the second stanza. Referees Lou Vipond and Piper Bain decided at the half-time intermission that the field was becoming unplayable, and called off the contest.

A NEW GAME

The 9-7 score means nothing in the replayed game, since a playoff senior lacrosse match must go four full periods—and overtime if necessary—or it is ruled no contest. Yorks and Petes are presently tied with three wins each, and the deciding game is to be staged in Peterborough, as the local club won the toss for the odd game.

Timbermen led 6-3 in the first quarter as they looked up to form again after a few indifferent performances in this series. However, the scrappy Yorks, led by Don McPhail, roared back to outscore the Thorpe team 6-1 in the second chukker to take over the game lead 9-7 at the halfway mark. They even scored twice in this period when short a man, Digby sitting out a slashing penalty. Hewitt had served one for holding in the first quarter of a clean, speedy tilt.

LED THE YORKS

Leo Teatro led the Toronto team in scoring for the half-game with three goals. Jim McNulty notched two and singles went to McPhail, Les Digby, Johnny Hewitt and Billy Timpson. An assist each was marked to Nick Ferri, Bruce Webster, Tommy Banks, Ken Croft and goalie George Johnston. The latter looked up to form again, and Moon Wootton in the rival cage was kicking them out in open play.

Ike Hildebrand, in possibly his last showing here this season — due to pro hockey commitments—was turning in a starry effort with three goals, as Lou Nickle, Nip O'Hearn, Russ Slater and Ross Powless tallied one each. Bob Thorpe was clicking, too, as he aided on three, and Don Ashbee helped on two neat ones. Curly Mason, Dootch Vitarelli and Russ Slater had an assist apiece.

Confeds Triumph

Confederation beat Prince of Wales 3-1 in intermediate school soccer yesterday. Ruttan, Nichols and Parry scored for the winners, the latter on a penalty kick. Marshall counted one for the losers in a tidy tussle. Teams:

Confederation: MacArthur, Carl, Davidson, Stephenson, Outwater, Kinniburgh, Pulkinghorn, Ruttan, Nichols, Parry, Kimball, Henwood, Hines, Kokesh, Kiff, Weaver.

Prince of Wales: Conners, Hatley, Ridley, Allen, Meredith, Marshall, Playford, Davis, Faulkner, Gilders, Scholey, Stewart, Corp, Hatton.

Referee: J. Burns.

St. Peter's Juniors Win Against Oshawa 15-0 As Collegians Defeated

Coach Jimmy Lynch's St. Peter's High junior Saints indicated they'll be one of the teams to beat this year in the Lakeshore League by trimming Oshawa C.V.I. 15-0 in Oshawa. Meanwhile in Lindsay P.C.V.S.' junior Garnet and Greys suffered severe yardage penalties and absorbed a 27-0 defeat at the hands of L.C.I.'s gridders.

At the same time in Port Hope the senior Garnet and Greys in their annual exhibition game with Trinity College School were edged 5-2.

The P.C.V.S.-Trinity College game was typical of the annual football tilts, well-matched, closely and cleanly played by both teams. Well-executed running, passing and kicking plays were featured, but only T.C.S. managed to cash in.

OPENED SCORING

Bev Goulding's lads opened the scoring in the second quarter, starting their march on their own six-yard line. Murray Grafstein's 20-yard plunge and a 32-yard passing play from Bob Craw to Geale were the major plays which carried the ball to the Trinity 23. From there Dave Langhorne attempted a placement which missed, but Trinity's John Seagram was driven behind the line for a rouge safety touch, two points.

Trinity College started their major scoring march on their 25-yard line. They worked to the P.C.V.S. 52, but there lost 13 yards. Trinity faked a kick and a long pass, Gordon to Board, which saw Board carry to the Garnet and Grey 12-yard line. In two plays the ball was on the one-yard line from where Doug Colbourne crossed for a TD.

In Lindsay Al McQuarrie's junior Garnet and Greys lacked drive and according to several spectators looked at times "like a bunch of old men." But they were also hurt by penalties which cost them close to 200 yards while Lindsay suffered only a loss of 40 yards in penalties.

COUNTED EARLY

The spunky Lindsay lads intercepted a pass in the first five minutes and turned it into a major score. Minutes later they connected on a passing play for a second touchdown, making the score 10-0 at the quarter. On another passing play in the second quarter Lindsay added a third TD and a convert point, 16-0.

P.C.V.S. had passing troubles again in the third quarter when Lindsay intercepted again, working it for another major, following up with another touchdown along the ground and a single point on a kick to deadline. The fourth quarter was scoreless.

Bob Growden led the way for Lindsay with two touchdowns. Art and Reg Truax and Kitchen were the other Lindsay point men.

SAINTS GO GOOD

Chances for last year's C.O.S.S.A. Junior B champions, St. Peter's High, in the A competition took on a bright look in Oshawa when the Saints blanked Oshawa C.V.I. 15-0. But they still have to meet stiffer competition in Oshawa Central and Lindsay.

Veteran quarterback John Hickey, who played an outstanding game, accounted largely for the first touchdown. From St. Peter's 35, the Saints started plunging, first Gary Kearns for five, followed by a 40-yard break by Hickey. This drive ended in Bob O'Rourke plunging through centre for a major.

Held scoreless in the second quarter, the Saints rolled again in the third, featuring plunging by Bob O'Rourke and Don Chambers. Hickey promptly picked up the second five-pointer on a quarterback sneak, making the score 10-0.

In the final five minutes fleet Bob O'Rourke, on a handout and with good blocking, romped 90 yards for the final major.

O'Rourke, Kearns, Chambers, and Hickey were the pick for the Saints' backfield, and Bob Nolan, Ray Allen and Frank Gooley along the line.

Snider's Winning Home Run Called "Revenge Wallop"

By WILL GRIMSLEY

BROOKLYN (AP) — Duke Snider's game-winning home run was a "revenge" wallop and Joe Black, big Brooklyn rookie righthander who tamed the mighty Yankees in the first game of the World Series, is ready to go again today "if needed."

"And I may use him, too, in the late innings if it's a close ball game," said the Dodgers' bouncy manager, Charlie Dressen, yesterday in the pandemonium of Brooklyn's dressing room.

"Joe has told me he wants to work. If he feels okay tomorrow I may call on him."

Snider, Black and smiling, sharp-eyed Dressen shared most of the attention in the dressing quarters underneath Ebbets Field.

Snider, husky centrefielder whose giant poke in the sixth inning broke open the ball game in Brooklyn's favor, said he hit a sliding fast ball thrown by pitcher Allie Reynolds.

GOT BIG KICK

"I got a big charge out of it too," he added. "In the first game of the world series in 1949 Reynolds struck me out three times. I swore I'd get even, and I did today."

Snider's big hit, his second long belt of the day to right field, gave the Dodgers a 3-1 lead. They finally won, 4-2.

The most relaxed Brooklyn athlete semed to be Black, whose tireless relief pitching carried the Dodgers to the National League flag.

But he was far from relaxed, big Joe insisted.

"It wasn't easy. Don't ever let anybody tell you that," he said.

"Nervous? My stomach was full of butterflies."

"It's Carl Erskine tomorrow, then Preacher Roe," said Dressen "You know we very well might win three in a row and then we wouldn't have to use Black again."

D. Abraham Leads

Doug Abraham led with high three of 973 this week in the Major Bowling League, as A. Caccavella rolled top single of and and Burtol's led teams with pinnage of 3,793 and single of 1,376. The 7-0 wins went to Hollingsworth, U.E., Herb's and Crowley over O.P.P., Selkirk, Wonder and Examiner, as 5-2 wins were taken by Cherney, Burtol's, Bickell, Brewers and Revenoors over Odeon, Plaza, Studes, Edward and Deeth & White. Silents beat Clapper's 4-3 and Sunshine won by a similar score over E. & B.

Good scores included: A. Caccavella 832, D. Dawes (305) 814, M. Caccavella (317) and (302) 776, A. Hall (303) 775, J. Godson 751, J. Wade 765, R. Foster 768, J. Patterson 750, W. Harris 736, D. Leether 738, H. Killen 726, M. Doris 727, D. Moriarity 708, M. Hill 706, and J. McKenzie 703.

LIVVIES HOPEFUL

TILLSONBURG (CP) — Tillsonburg Livingstons are going all out to retain their Canadian senior basketball laurels, this coming season.

"We'll have just as strong a team and maybe stronger than the one we had last year when Tillsonburg captured the Canadian title," Gerry Livingston, team sponsor said yesterday.

"We plan to start drills in about a week's time in Tillsonburg and we will have all but two of last year's squad ready for action."

Dodgers Surprise Experts Beating Yanks 4-2

By GAYLE TALBOT

BROOKLYN (AP)—The Dodgers may win this World Series and make a lot of experts look bad.

It was a smart, loose team which outslugged the Yankees 4-2 in yesterday's opener, extremely skilled on defence and a picture of confidence in its every move.

Joe Black, the big Negro rookie, throttled the American Leaguers in the tight spots, and he is due to be back for several more helpings before it is over.

This was the first opener the Dodgers ever have won in six World Series.

GAMBLE PAID OFF

Manager Chuck Dressen's all-or-nothing gamble of starting his freshman reliever didn't really look to be a gamble at all as Black mowed down the Yanks inning after inning. The big fellow appeared to get faster as he went along. No harder ball was thrown all day than the strike which Irv Noren looked at to end the ball game.

As they go into the second game today behind Carl Erskine, their small-size righthander, the National Leaguers have every reason to feel their oats. Having disposed of Allie Reynolds with three well-hit home runs, they have no particular reason for fearing Vic Raschi, the Yankees' second best.

Erskine, a righty, had arm trouble much of the year and for long stretches was of little help, but he came like a champion toward the end when the Dodgers were sorely pressed and clicked off three victories in the last 10 days to help Black wrap up the title.

Black's pitching was, of course, the standout performance of the opener, but not too much. The Yankees ran into a ball club which can field right along with them.

PAFKO A STANDOUT

Andy Pafko, in particular, put the American Leaguers in their place. The Dodger leftfielder turned in two tremendous plays to choke off a Yankee threat in the fifth inning. First he made a remarkable peg to third to cut down Gil McDougald after Billy Martin had singled, and then he came in a mile to make a somersaulting catch of a drooper by Hank Bauer.

That was Pafko's inning. The seventh belonged to Billy Cox, who is widely acknowledged to be the finest fielding third baseman in the game today. The Bombers, trailing as they did most of the day, got something going when Noren led off with a walk. Cox made a brilliant stop and throw on McDougald's slashing grounder to start a double play which stopped the Stengeleers in their tracks. To complete the inning, he backhanded Martin's hopper over third and threw him out.

In other words, the Dodgers did everything they were supposed to do. They hit the long ball, they fielded spectacularly and they had a man named Black.

The day's hardest hit ball probably was the homer slugged by Peewee Reese in the eighth, which only ensured the victory after Duke Snider's towering two-run smash over the clock in rightfield had sent the Dodgers into the lead 3-1. Reese's drive went like a bullet into the leftfield seats—practically no trajectory at all.

CATCHERS LACK LUSTRE

Yogi Berra did not acquit himself with any honors to speak of. The Yankee catcher got the ball out of the infield only once in four tries and twice he forced teammates at second when a hit might have broken the game wide open. His opposite number, Roy Campanella, didn't do too good, either. No one would have suspected that they are the game's two top catchers. Jackie Robinson—twice—was the only Brooklyn player left on base in the entire contest, and Campanella was the batter who stranded him both times.

Although Mickey Mantle struck out in his final time at bat when the Yanks were desperate for a hit, the "pheenom" from Oklahoma gave warning that he must be dealt with by collecting two of his team's six hits, one of them on a bunt. The fleet kid, who will be eligible to vote for the first time this November, also raced to make a catch on Reese in the fourth inning which would have done full credit to Joe DiMaggio.

They'll Do It Every Time

By Jimmy Hatlo

Can't Guess Ball Over Fence

BROOKLYN (AP)—You can't," said Casey Stengel." Guess the ball that goes over the fence."

The grey, gravel-voiced manager of New York Yankees did not particularly sad yesterday afterlosing the first game of the World Series to Brooklyn Dodgers, but he didn't look happy either.

"I thought our side did all right. They fielded all right. But you can't guess the ball that goes over the fence."

Three home runs did it for the Dodgers, putting the Yankees one down in the opening game just as they were last year against the Giants when they went on to win.

"Well," said Casey, "it was a nice game. They got more home runs than we did. Billy Cox played a nice game. Joe Black pitched a pretty good game."

NEARLY—Nellie Green, of Saskatchewan Roughriders, just missed this pass from quarterback Glenn Dobbs as Gerry Duguid (35) of Calgary Stampeders leaped in the air to knock the ball to the ground. Third place Stamps won the game 16-9 at Regina for a six-point margin over the last-place Roughriders in the Western Football Conference.

NHL Rejects Agreement For Recalling Players From AHL Clubs

NEW YORK (CP) — A proposed agreement governing hockey players recalled from the American Hockey League has been turned down by the National Hockey League. The A.H.L. announced recently it would not allow recall of players optioned to its clubs by the senior league during the season. President Clarence Campbell of the N.H.L. tentatively agreed to the decision after gaining concession from the A.H.L. to recall of players where a team is weakened by injuries.

But last night the N.H.L.'s board of governors refused to accept the no-recall arrangements, a decision which would almost cut off the flow of players from N.H.L. clubs to their A.H.L. farms unless the junior league relents.

The A.H.L. meets in a schedule-drafting session at Buffalo, N. Y., today. President Emory D. Jones, reached in St. Louis last night, said the no-recall ruling is still in effect. Reconsideration of the rule, however, was a possibility.

Campbell, whose tentative acceptance of the rule came under strong criticism from N.H.L. club owners, was not available for comment.

DISPUTE SETTLED

The league meeting also saw settlement of a dispute over centre Edgar Laprade of New York Rangers.

The Port Arthur star asked to be put on the voluntary retired list after last season, and Campbell asked for waivers on him. Chicago Black Hawks and Toronto Maple Leafs claimed the 33-year-old player for the waiver price of $7,500.

Laprade agreed to return to the Rangers this season after centre Don Raleigh broke a wrist in training. Manager Frank Boucher protested the waivers, saying the rule does not apply when the player, rather than the club, asks for retirement.

Last night Toronto and Chicago withdrew their waiver claims, leaving Laprade free to play for New York.

The governors also approved the league's inter-club draft arrangements. All N.H.L. clubs must file by today a protected list of 20 players and two goalies. All other professional players on the list become subject to a $10,000 draft to A.H.L. clubs, based on an inter-league agreement of Sept. 11.

Cobourg Ghosts Take Win From Oshawa

OSHAWA (CP)—Cobourg Galloping Ghosts last night defeated Oshawa Red Raiders 17-3 for their fourth Ontario Rugby Football Union intermediate victory.

Cobourg went ahead in the first quarter with an unconverted touchdown by Jack Reeves. Boyd Hendry got another major which Art Jones converted. With the score 11-3 in the second quarter, Moe Schanck kicked a field goal for Oshawa.

Cobourg added a Hendry touchdown and a deadline single by Donald Hatt in the second half of the game.

HAL WAGGONER—Whizbang back of the Hamilton Tiger-Cats. He'll run on Sunday when the Ti-Cats go to meet the Montreal Alouettes in Montreal. This Waggoner and the Al's Virgil Wagner are two of the better skedaddlers in the Big Four. Hal played for Tulane University.

Pep Takes 10-Round Decision

CHICAGO (AP)—Former featherweight champion Willie Pep, unleashing feeble flashes of his old time form, hammered out a unanimous 10-round decision over Armand Savoie of Montreal at the Chicago stadium last night.

Pep at 129¼ spotted almost five pounds to the 134-pound Savoie, Canada's lightweight champion.

It was an important step in Pep's comeback try for the title he lost to Sandy Saddler in 1950 in one of ringdom's most vicious feuds. Willie now has won six straight bouts since his last loss to Tommy Collins last June 30.

It was Pep's fight all the way, although he suffered a gash over his right eye in the fourth round and at times was buffeted about by his heavier opponent.

Referee Bill Doty voted in Willie's favor, 53-47, under the Illinois point scoring system. Judge George Kenny saw it for Pep, 54-46, and the other judge, Ed Hintz, called it 51-49 for Willie.

SENATORS DOWN MOHAWKS

OTTAWA (CP)—Ottawa Senators won their first victory last night in three pre-season exhibition hockey games when they defeated Cincinnati Mohawks of the International Hockey League 6-2. Ottawa goals were spread among Don Johnston, up from last year's Winnipeg Monarch juniors, Dusty Blair, Jack Giesebrecht, Bill Robinson, Bob Paul and Leo Gravelle. Russ Kowalchuk scored both Mohawk goals.

Players So Polite, It's Almost Painful

By WILL GRIMSLEY

BROOKLYN (AP) — Even the Russians could find little to criticize in the brand of "beizbol" played in the 1952 World Series.

Commissioner Ford Frick's "no rhubarb" order has made perfect gentlemen of the antagonists. No profanity. No beefs. No tantrums.

You could almost hear Mickey Mantle say "excuse me" when he lashed into the Dodgers' Peewee Reese at second in the fourth inning of yesterday's opening game. Reese, severely bruised, didn't emit a gripe.

Brooklyn catcher Roy Campanella thought he was safe when called out stealing second in the second inning. He started to protest, then turned sharply and went back to the bench.

Gil McDougald of the Yankees, thrown out at third on a great throw by Andy Pafko, started to erupt. Red-necked, he started toward the umpire, then retired meekly. Pafko himself thought there was fan interference on McDougald's third-inning home run just inside the stands. Not a gripe.

The boys have been told to watch their step and mind their business," said Brooklyn manager Charlie Dressen. "No flareups."

Dressen is feeling pretty good these days, and he's not trying to hide it.

"They second-guessed me on my magazine article saying we wouldn't blow again and they second-guessed me on picking Joe Black to open. I guess this will fix 'em for a while."

The Brooklyn Eagle's late afternoon edition carried the bold front page headline: "EXPERTS, DROP DEAD!" Then below: "Dodgers win Series opener, 4-2." The Yankees were 6-5 favorites in the first game.

Connie Mack, Philadelphia's grand old octogenarian, watched the first game from the third base box seats, and he said he still likes the Yankees.

"Casey Stengel will go down in history as one of the great all-time managers of the game," the diamond master said. "The way he juggles his line-ups and plays hunches is phenomenal."

Mack says he's missed only one World Series since they began in 1903, but he forgets which one.

Before the game, Dressen scanned the grand stand for Leo Durocher, manager of the rival New York Giants.

Someone said: "Leo's on his way to California."

"I stuck around and watched his World Series last year," the Brooklyn manager said. "Why couldn't he have done the same?"

Incidentally, the Dodgers' series buttons let nobody forget Brooklyn's comeback from the 1951 disaster. The buttons say: "Dodgers —World Series press" then adds: "This IS next year."

The Yankees' opening game lineup was the 100th different combination used by Stengel this year.

20 U.S. Players Out Of Jobs

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

More than 20 muscular Americans, many of whom make football their livelihood, are out of jobs today. The wholesale firing saved big-league clubs in Eastern and Western Canada untold thousands of dollars in salaries and expenses.

The list reached 26 when Frank Clair, coach of Toronto Argonauts in the Big Four, announced last night his decision to cut Neil Schmidt, defensive halfback with Green Bay Packers last season. The decision came four hours before the midnight deadline set by the Canadian Rugby Union.

That's the deadline when the Western Interprovincial Football Union and the Big Four, only importers of football talent on a big scale, must name the eight Americans classed as imports each team is allowed to keep. It's an annual procedure and, if nothing else, means headaches for the coaches and the big boys who get the ax.

The Eastern clubs, wealthy in comparison to their Western cousins, had only eight extras on their line-ups against 18 amongst the W.I.F.U. clubs. The cellar-dwelling Saskatchewan Roughriders in the West lopped off five imports and the second-place Edmonton Eskimos topped the list with seven.

Ross Rates His Bruins Team Strongest Since 1940 Title

HERSHEY, Pa. (CP)—With what he considers a perfect blend of experience and youth, General Manager Art Ross rates his current Boston Bruins as the strongest since their 1940-41 Stanley Cup championship team.

Coach Lynn Patrick, drilling the squad here since Sept. 20, and Ross have seen 50 amateur prospects in practice.

AMATEURS AMONG VETS

"I've been having the amateurs skate with the veterans because I think it will hasten their development," Patrick explained.

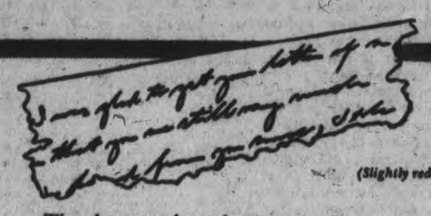
Outstanding among prospects is Frank Martin, a 19-year-old defenceman up from St. Catharines Peewees in the junior Ontario Hockey Association.

Bruins executives are certain they have what is needed to restore the club's oldtime glory in such tested youngsters as Real Chevrefils, Dave Creighton, Leo Labine, Bob Armstrong, Red Sullivan, Flem Mackell and Jack McIntyre. All came up fast for Bruins as they battled into the National Hockey League playoffs last season.

Also available are veterans Milt Schmidt, ready for his 14th N.H.L. campaign, Woody Dumart, Dunc Fisher, Johnny Peirson, Ed Sandford, Lorne Ferguson, Hal Laycoe, Bill Quackenbush and goalie Jim Henry.

Since last season, Bruins have disposed of Ed Kryzanowski, penalty-killing specialist, and taken on Joe Klukay from Toronto Maple Leafs. Big Moe Henderson retired to coach the Hershey American Hockey League team.

One of Patrick's first training camp experiments was switching Mackell from right wing to pivot for Klukay and Sandford. Other lines included Creighton centring for Chevrefils and Labine and Schmidt for McIntyre and Peirson.



Veteran defencemen, Quackenbush and Laycoe, have been broken up. Quackenbush now teams with Warren Godfrey, a rookie up from Tacoma, and Laycoe with Armstrong, a recent Hershey star.

Bruins will open at home against Montreal Canadiens at the Boston Garden Oct. 12.

EQUALS RECORD—Native Dancer, with Eric Guerin aboard, is led on the winner's circle by his owner, Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt (second from right), after capturing the $107,545 Futurity Stakes at Belmont Park, L.I., Saturday. The victory for the prized two-year-old puts him in the running for "Horse-of-the-Year" honors. Native Dancer equalled the world's record for the six and one half furlongs, running the Futurity in 1:14 2-5.

Bitterness Growing In Eisenhower-Truman Feud Over Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — The political machine today rolled down the home stretch hitting on all six of its big cylinders — Eisenhower, Stevenson, Nixon, Sparkman, Truman and Taft — but the cylinders marked Eisenhower and Truman seemed to be knocking.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Republican presidential candidate, invaded the home state of his Democratic opponent, Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois. The General was reported to be simmering over the bitter criticisms President Truman has hurled his way.

Associated Press reporter Don Whitehead, aboard the Eisenhower special train, wrote that the long-time friendship between the General and the President appeared to be at a breaking point as they exchanged verbal blows aimed at each other's prestige.

Stevenson, the only one of the top six not actually on the move, was at his Springfield, Ill., headquarters working on final plans for a new campaign swing beginning tomorrow.

SIGN OF VICTORY

Senator Robert A. Taft, campaigning in his own state of Ohio for the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket, said in Cleveland last night he thinks it a sign of a Republican Victory Nov. 4 that "people are more interested in politics than they ever have been in the past."

Senator Richard Nixon, Republi- touched off his latest tour last night with a speech at Alexandria, Va., in which he said: "There is only one month left to save America."

Senator John J. Sparkman, Democratic vice-presidential nominee, campaigned in New York State. In Utica last night he blamed Taft and other Republican leaders for high prices and inflation.

The spotlight, however, centred on the verbal battle between the President and the General once reported to be his choice for the Democratic presidential nomination.

CALLS IKE "FRONT MAN"

Truman, who today whistle-stops through Washington State with major appearances at Seattle and Tacoma, has called Eisenhower a "front man" for lobbyists and has accused him of misleading the American people about the peril of World War.

Truman told a Spokane audience last night that he believes Eisenhower is a good general but a poor man to lead a civil government.

Eisenhower, in turn, has called Truman's administration a corrupt, extravagant, bumbling leadership weak in morals and in the pursuit of peace. He has dubbed it a "scandal-a-day" administration.

More Than $9,000 Paid To Mrs. Tong Mayor Says

TORONTO — In answer to representations by Robert Macaulay, M.P.P. that the city was tardy in its duty to Mrs. Tong, widow of the late Sgt. of Detectives Edmund Tong, Mayor Lamport Wednesday disclosed the amounts paid and scheduled to be paid to Mrs. Tong. Since her husband's death, she has received more than $9,000 cash, the Mayor reported.

Mr. Macaulay repeated representations made a week ago in a letter to the board of control on Wednesday. He suggested a resolution of gratitude be sent Mrs. Tong; that the Tong fund be paid forthwith; that monthly payments from the city be started; and that the city pension be extended beyond 1962.

All these things, with the exception of the Tong fund, had been done before Mr. Macaulay made his protests, declared Mayor Lamport. Disposition of the Tong fund — whether it is to be paid in a lump sum or over a period of years, is under study.

Since Tong's death on March 23 his widow has received: From Workmen's Compensation Board $200 funeral expenses, $200 in a lump sum, $12 per month for one son (now 13) until he attains the age of 16, $12 per month for one daughter, so long as she is entirely dependent upon her mother, $50 per month for Mrs. Tong as long as she remains a widow; from the Canadian Bankers' Association, payment of a $958 mortgage, $25 per month annuity for life, with a 20-year guarantee to her estate; from the police department, cumulative sick pay $1,748, widows' and orphans' fund $500, burial fund $1,998, police benefit fund $3,500.

In order to protect Mrs. Tong and her family, the Tong fund will likely be paid her by the city treasurer over a period of two years.

Payments on the civic pension of $2,750 a year until January 1 1962, were authorized after council approved the by-law two weeks ago, Mayor Lamport said. Payments dated back to the time of his death. After January 1, 1962, Mrs. Tong will receive $1,700 annually. The by-law makes provision for the Tong children in the event of Mrs. Tong's remarriage or death.

A long resolution expressing the city condolences and praising Sgt. of Detectives Tong's heroism, was sent by special delivery letter to Mrs. Tong immediately after it was passed by council March 31, Mayor Lamport said.

The Mayor told the board of control Wednesday that Mr. Macaulay had been aware of these facts at the time he made his representations.

Youth Dragged Across Fields; Horse Bolted

LINDSAY — Dragged across two fields by a horse, a 16-year-old Toronto boy lies in Ross Memorial Hospital here, critically injured. He is Robert Brent, who spent his summer at Thurstonia.

Authorities have as yet been unable to reach the boy's parents. His father is known to be in a Toronto hospital with a broken leg.

Reports tell that Brent was leading a horse belonging to Irwin Thurston of Dunsford at the time of the accident, about 7 p.m. Tuesday. The boy's foot became entangled in a loop at the end of the rope.

The horse bolted and dragged Brent across two fields before his foot slipped from the loop.

Brent's injuries were: a badly broken arm, broken ribs on both sides, and multiple brush burns on his back. He was unconscious all night, but regained consciousness Wednesday morning.

Pallbearers were Archie Atkison, Sidney Bennett, William Tully, Alexander Huston, Scott Huston, and Robert Hotrum. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

KEEPING TABS—In Korea, U.S. Marines model the stages of development of the new tabs added to bullet-proof vests to protect the lower abdomen. Cpl. Joe Sanchez, left, of San Antonio, Tex., wears one design, a square, four-plate "apron"; Cpl. Robert Welch, of New Haven, Conn., wears a straight, two-plate protector and Cpl. E. L. Norris, of Seminola, Tex., wears the final design which evolved from the other two.

Prevention Thinking Key To Keeping Accidents Low

Prevention thinking is the key to preventing accidents and injuries in industry, Emmons W. Crawford told a dinner meeting of representatives of 17 Peterborough, Lindsay and Havelock industries Wednesday night.

Mr. Crawford, who is manager of the Engineering Division of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., of Canada Ltd., in Bowmanville, was guest speaker at the first fall meeting of the Peterborough-Lindsay section of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association.

The dinner, held at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club marked the beginning of a "No Accident Month," campaign in industry being sponsored by I.A.P.A. throughout the province during October.

"Prevention thinking and intelligent action can reduce industrial accidents to the irreducible zero," said Mr. Crawford who was associated with three leading industries in Peterborough before going to Bowmanville several years ago.

DUTY OF FOREMEN

He told the gathering of managers, foremen and supervisors it was their duty to look after the well being of the workers in their departments. An accident he said is an event that happens because someone didn't think.

"There is a responsibility for each accident," Mr. Crawford continued. "We say it is more often than not the man's own fault or thoughtlessness. But by good coaching he would not have acted thoughtlessly . . . an employee's foreman can see his pending accident position and warn him.

In the giving of every order, in instructions to every employee there should be prevention thinking. Every hazard must be pointed out to the employee and the correct working practice and use of accident preventing equipment properly explained."

Foremen and supervisors who are not doing this are not doing their job, declared Mr. Crawford. An accident is proof that there is lack of proper job training in the industry. If an employee is doing the job in a way that is liable to result in an accident it is the foreman's duty to think of a way to do the job more safely and take action to prevent accidents before they happen. "There is a right way to do every job and a way to do it that does not invite harm," he said.

The worker's attitude toward accident prevention is a reflection of the foreman's, Mr. Crawford added. Workers who receive intelligent instructions on now to prevent accidents will soon adopt the same attitude toward preventing accident injuries as their foremen. Then an industry can achieve a perfect record of no lost time accidents or injuries.

Mr. Crawford emphasized that in order to chalk up an accident-free record, ways and means of preventing accidents must be kept constantly in mind.

In conclusion, he cited three steps toward accident prevention: Prevention thinking, prevention action and the result—a record without an injury.

Clarence Corbett, chairman of the Peterborough-Lindsay section of I.A.P.A. was in charge of the meeting.

Strict Father Shoots Daughter

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A father whom neighbors described as "terribly strict" shot and killed his 16-year-old daughter when she returned home late last night, then fatally wounded himself, police reported.

Detective E. F. Lasseter said Betty Moore was shot down in the hallway of her home. Lasseter identified the father as John R. Moore, about 50, who shot himself in the head and died an hour later at a hospital.

On Moore's dresser, Lasseter said, was a note:

"My darling baby. I love you too much to have you go through the hardship of life on this old earth. Your Dad, the dog."

Fate Steps In

LOUTH, England (CP)—Arthur and Jimmy Watson, 78-year-old brothers, recently met for the first time in seven years and Arthur decided to join Jimmy in an old folks' home. Arthur was killed by a truck as he went to mail his application form.

Union Leaders Warn Bevan To Behave

MORECAMBE, England (Reuters)—An irate trade union leader today warned Aneurin Bevan and his supporters they face powerful opposition in any bid to grab control of the Labor party.

Arthur Deakin, leader of the 1,200,000-strong Transport and General Workers Union, did not name the burly rebel who calls for a pepped-up brand of socialism, but there was no doubt his remarks to the party's annual convention were aimed at Bevan.

Deakin was invited to the platform as a fraternal delegate from the trade unions, from which the Labor movement draws most of its strength. He emphasized that Bevan can look for nothing but a fight from that quarter, whatever support he has elsewhere.

Against a noisy background of cheers and catcalls, he said nobody was fooled by the suggestion that the real issue in the party was more or less rearmament.

COULD WRECK PARTY

Dissident elements could wreck the Labor party, he said—"let them cease the vicious attacks they have launched upon those with whom they disagree, and abandon their vituperation."

He told the convention the unions were prepared to set up an organization to counteract the rebels.

Deakin's speech will give the Bevanites plenty to think about and encourage the moderates who back Clement Attlee. The unions are responsible for about 5,000,000 of Labor's 6,000,000 registered members. They have 12 members on the executive.

Dosco Wage Offer Rejected By Sydney Steelworkers

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP)—A Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation offer worth nearly $15,000,000 was officially rejected by Sydney's 5,000 steelworkers last night.

Members of Local 1064, United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) endorsed their executive's action in turning down the proposal, which included a five-year contract, and asked that negotiations continue for a two-year contract.

The steel workers, seeking wage parity with Ontario plants, want an 11-cent increase over the present $1.32½ hourly rate.

A conciliation board trying to settle the long contract dispute yesterday adjourned open sessions in favor of private talks. Judge V.J. Pottier, Chairman, said he still saw some possibility of a settlement at the big steel plant.

The DOSCO offer called for a five-year contract and a total hourly increase of 44 cents with a formula providing protection against cost of living increases. The union said it didn't want to tie workers down to a long-term contract.

Six-Legged Insect Invading Houses

KITCHENER (CP)—A six-legged red and black insect which won't succumb to DDT is worrying housewives and entomologists at nearby Ayr.

Called the box elder bug, it is gathering in clusters of thousands on box elder trees and Manitoba maples but authorities say the trees are not being damaged.

Dr. H. W. Goble, provincial entomologist at the Ontario Agricultural College, said the bugs entered homes "by the thousands," seeking a place to stay for the winter.

Germany Wants Atomic Lab

BERLIN (Reuters)—Dr. Werner Heisenberg, one of Germany's top atomic scientists, yesterday called for establishment of a "national atom laboratory" when the Bonn conventions ending the allied occupation are ratified.

Heisenberg, Nobel Prize-winner and Hitler's top physicist, told a scientists' convention here that German atom scientists welcome the confirmed allied ban on research into atomic weapons "on moral grounds."

But, by establishing a central national laboratory, best use could be made of the opportunities that have been afforded Germany by the western powers, he said.

The Bonn conventions allow Germany to build her own atomic pile and mine a limited amount of uranium, but forbid development, production and possession of atomic weapons.

Produce Alloy For A-Plane

TORONTO (CP)—A city newspaper said yesterday combined efforts of Canadian and British scientists have produced an aloly suitable for use in an atomic-powered bombing plane.

Canadian and British atomic scientists have revived their wartime partnership to meet a new threat—an all-out Russian effort to develop an atomic-powered bomber "before we do," the paper's newspage story says.

"Their first big break is the reported discovery of a new metal alloy which makes possible a compact atomic reactor. Built into existing delta-wing designs, such a reactor gives fantastic endurance at the expense of a few pounds of uranium fuel.

"The new alloy replaced lead as a screen against the deadly radiation from an airborne reactor."

Huge Float

VANCOUVER (CP)—A $60,000 seaplane float has been built at Vancouver International Airport to accommodate British Columbia's growing seaplane traffic. The float can berth 45 planes at one time.

Have Price Changes On Imported Liquors

TORONTO (CP)—Price changes for 112 brands of imported liquors were announced yesterday by the Liquor Control Board of Ontario.

Decreases ranging from five cents to $1.20 a bottle were set for 72 brands and increases ranging from five cents to $1 for 40 brands. No Canadian brands were affected.

Forty-four of the lower-priced brands will be discontinued. The remaining price changes were caused by changes in selling price to the board and the rise in value of the Canadian dollar.

3-Line Defence Wall Faces Reds In Korea

VANCOUVER (CP)—A three-line defence wall faces the Chinese Communists in Korea.

Maj.-Gen. A.J.H. Cassels, former commander of the Commonwealth brigade in Korea, said here yesterday the forces of Red China would find the third impassable.

"There are three lines of defence . . . In my view if we don't stop them at the first, we'll probably stop them at the second and indubitably at the third."

Gen. Cassels, who left Korea last month, also told a press conference that the Canadians are in the front lines in Korea at present. He said he had nothing but praise for the "Canadian chaps" and their commanders in Korea.

U.S. Industrial Leaders To Support Seaway

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Blair Moody (Dem.-Mich.) said Wednesday leaders in the automotive industry have agreed to join forces in seeking congressional approval for the St. Lawrence seaway.

He said such industry leaders as Ford, General Motors and Chrysler have pledged upward of $100,000 to the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Association to aid in the fight for congressional authorization "of this great project."

Moody, talking to reporters, said he had no doubt Canada would 'gladly welcome' American participation in the international development.

The Senate this year refused to approve legislation that would have authorized American participation in the estimated $818,000,000 project.

Tea Expert Touches Off Hot Wrangle

LONDON (CP)—A newspaper published a story by a tea expert to effect that the English have lost their traditional knack of making tea. He also gave a recipe for making tea which, he inferred, was the best known and most successful.

Mail bags brought prompt replies from readers.

Said a Salisbury resident: "Warm the pot. Fill with required boiling water. Gently place tea on top of the water. Leave stand for three minutes, gently stir, wait two minutes and pour. Tea like people responds to tender treatment."

Another reader asked: "Does he really believe that we can make tea of ground-up stalks and dust (as at present sold) equal to the tea made by our forerunners?"

And this from an American visitor: "The English make terrific tea, but they ought to incur capital punishment on people who make bad coffee."

"COOL CONTROL"

HINTS ON TABLE TENNIS

1 Control is essential for good results in this game. Ball must be watched every instant, otherwise shots will be missed or returns will not be effective. Concentrate keeping your eye on the ball.

2 Footwork must be right. Keep on your toes, changing position of feet with every stroke. Always "choke" your racket by keeping grip as close to hitting blade as is possible. This gives control and leverage.

3 Keep the ball low. Avoid tilting the hitting blade back or jabbing at ball. Follow-through on every shot keeps ball controlled. Return to position in centre of table after every shot — do not edge over to side.

Yes, it's control that counts in table tennis as in every sport — control which brings the extraordinary quality that sets one performer above the other. In the ability to approach things coolly, to control every move and moment, lies the answer to better results.

This is one of a series designed to increase the pleasure of Canadians who participate in sports.

Airmen Have Own Paper In England

NORTH LUFFENHAM, England (CP)—Canadian airmen of No. 1 Fighter Wing, numbering with their families about 2,000 all told, have their own weekly newspaper now. It's called The Talepipe.

"Capable of more hot air than any publication in Britain," commented one of the editorial staff.

The paper carries station news, cartoons, advice on driving and columns of gossip about Nos. 410, 439 and 441 jet fighter squadrons.

The Sept. 1 issue contains "a short guide to the American language," a possible primer for the R.A.F.

Some of the terms mentioned: Carp—A character with a fish face and not an awful lot of brains. Cornball—A guy who doesn't know the score; a peasant; a square. Cube—A guy who is even more square than a cornball. Coffo—For free or for nothing. "He got it for coffo." Keep in touch with the office—Means the reverse. Don't bother us. A variation of the casting director's "Don't call us, we'll call you." Meat Ball—An unpleasant guy—A good guy not to have around. Modulate—To change one's status or condition. "He got modulated out of the mess hall into ground defence."

The Panama Canal between Atlantic and Pacific is 50½ miles long.

COMBAT VETERAN—Veteran of 23 combat missions in Korea—as an R.C.A.F. exchange pilot with the United States Army Air Force—Group-Capt. E. B. Hale, 33, of Hamilton, is commanding officer of Canada's No. 1 Fighter Wing in Britain, at North Luffenham. Speeds and altitudes in Korea's Yalu River district air fighting "are terrific," he said, with jets screaming towards each other at 600-plus miles an hour.

Korean Veteran Returns To Head RCAF Fighter Wing

By JACK GOLDING
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NORTH LUFFENHAM, England (CP)—Just back from Korea, one of Canada's top airmen believes that if the Russians regard that war theatre as a school "they must be sending a lot of teachers too."

He is Group Capt. E. B. Hale of Hamilton, commanding officer of Canada's No. 1 fighter wing in Britain. In Korea he flew 23 combat missions in 23 flying days with the United States Army Air Force. Before he left the Americans asked him to lead their formation into a few scraps.

The handsome leader of 1,000 Canadian airmen and their families in Rutland county speaks cagily and with wry humor about jet warfare in the Yalu River area.

SPLIT-SECOND JOB

"When a Russian MiG and a Sabre jet come whistling head-on over the Yalu River, don't forget their combined speed is at least 1,200 miles an hour—and you don't have time to think twice," he said. "There's darn good traffic there. Speeds and altitudes are terrific."

The 38-year-old Canadian is full of praise for the Americns who, he said, "really have that air show taped."

Hale side-slipped when asked whether he had any "kills."

"Pretty difficult to tell," he said. "You've really got to follow them to the ground and often that isn't too healthy—especially if they're on your tail."

While declining to talk about flak at high altitudes, Hale said the Communists have trained ground troops to hold their rifles upright and so create a solid wall of small arms fire. "Our boys should learn that one," he said.

Movie Column

Preston Foster Carving Out New Career

By BOB THOMAS

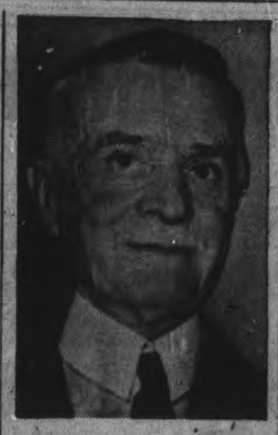
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Preston Foster is carving out a new career in middle age, "all because my wife gave me a guitar for Christmas."

Foster, who has been playing heroes and heavies in movies for two decades, now is doing great as a live performer.

"Four years ago, my wife gave me a guitar for Christmas" he said. "I had fun learning to play it and would sing along to accompany myself. I always thought my wife (actress Sheila Darcy) had a good voice. . .so I got her to sing with me.

"Then I made a picture called 'I Shot Jesse James' and was going to San Francisco for the premiere."

Instead of the usual premiere spiel, "my wife and I sang some folk songs. An agent happened to catch our act and offered to book us around the country."



LUCRATIVE LARK

It all started as a lark, but has turned into a highly profitable enterprise for the Fosters. They have just returned from playing such dates as the Wisconsin State Fair and the Portland, Ore., auto show.

Even though he now makes more money as a singer, Foster will interrupt his tours to return to Hollywood for movie roles. He's back here to play a bad man in "Law and Order."

CAPSULE REVIEW

"The Turning Point" is another attempt to cash in on the revelations of the Kefauver crime investigating committee. This one arrives a little late, so some of its timeliness has worn thin. But it's still a pretty cops-and-corrupters picture, and it's aided by some lively action and believable performers. The latter include William Holden, Alexis Smith and Edmond O'Brien as the crime-seekers.

VISCOUNT ASTOR—prominent British publisher and sportsman and husband of Lady Nancy Astor, died Sept. 30. He was 73. Lord Astor, who was born in New York City, long had been a leader in British social and political life. His death followed a long illness. Unable because of his title to hold a seat in the House of Commons, Lord Astor sponsored his wife's political career and helped her to become the first woman ever elected to the lower parliamentary chamber.

COUGHING VOLCANO—Clouds of black smoke erupt from the cone of the world's newest volcano on San Benedicto Island, 780 miles south of San Diego. The cone of the volcano has built 1,050 feet above the sea in the last six weeks and has changed the shape of the uninhabited island. Robert S. Dietz, geologist at the Navy Electroncis Labratory at San Diego, said that with other new information about the ocean floor, it may point to one of the major features of changes in the earth's crust.

Steel Shortage Curtails UK Shipbuilding

LONDON (CP)—British shipyards at the end of June had a record 7,000,000 gross tons on order valued at £670,000,000, but a shortage of steel has seriously curtailed the program.

A survey by Lloyd's Register shows that Britain still retains first place among the world's shipbuilding countries with 343 vessels under construction, aggregating 2,076,241 tons. This represents 37 per cent of the world's tonnage being build, but is the lowest figure since March, 1951.

After the materials supply situation was made public, J. P. L. Thomas, First Lord of the Admiralty, announced that steel allocation for merchant shipbuilding will be increased not less than five per cent starting in October.

At the close of the second quarter of 1952 plans were approved or material ordered for 321 ships totalling 2,510,620 tons. This was an increase of 690,000 tons compared with the corresponding period in 1951.

Oil tankers represent 61.5 per cent of this tonnage.

Booklet Tells Soldiers How To Behave In Europe

OTTAWA (CP) — How a Canadian service man can enjoy his visit to Britain, France and Germany without offending his hosts is told in a 65-page booklet issued by the Defence Department's bureau of current affairs.

The booklet, fifth in a series called "Off to Europe," goes beyond tips about strange currencies and customs to tell about the post-war situation in those three countries.

In a preface, Defence Minister Claxton says the pamphlets tell something of the history, geography and culture of the people and at the same time "contain some practical hints on how to cement further the bonds of friendship that link Canada with those countries from which our civilization is in large part derived."

In France, the pamphlet says, Canadian soldiers will be made to feel welcome because Canada has long appeared as a country ready to fight unselfishly for democracy.

"The trouble about having a reputation like that is that you have to live up to it," it says. "It would be a disaster if Canada as a whole lost international goodwill of that sort through the bad behavior of a few."

PEOPLE IMPORTANT

The most important thing about France is its people. And, the writer goes on confusingly, "what makes France France is the French."

The booklet takes two pages to outline France's complex political system and strongly urges the visitor to "lay off" politics in conversation. The next page tells of the "psychological scars" remaining from wartime occupation and closes with: "So don't talk about the German occupation either."

Divided Germany is dealt with more seriously. The German people are described as being polite and expecting politeness, and the Canadian soldier is reminded: "They are now your friends and allies and by your conduct you can win their respect."

Russia Warns Denmark

LONDON (AP)—Russia has formally charged Denmark with dickering with the United States regarding the use of foreign troops on Danish bases, Moscow radio said today. Denmark is a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Far East Less Dangerous

LONDON (Reuters) — The Institute of London Underwriters yesterday decided the Far East is less dangerous than it used to be and cut freight insurance rates for war and strike, riot and civil commotion risks.

General's Hunch Armistice In Six Months

VANCOUVER (CP) —Maj.-Gen. A.J.H. Cassels has a hunch an armistice is just a few months away in Korea but, if his hunch is wrong, he has great confidence in the United Nations' defence wall there.

The former commander of the Commonwealth brigade in Korea brought these views with him when he arrived here yesterday en route to Germany to become corps commander of British troops.

Gen. Cassels says he thinks there will be an armistice in six to nine months but he stressed that his feeling is nothing more than a feeling.

THREE DEFENE LINES

On holding back any all-out Communist assault, he was more definite, saying:

"There are three lines of defence . . . In my view if we don't stop them at the first, we'll probably stop them at the second and indubitably at the third."

Gen. Cassels, who arrived here after briefing visits to Australia and New Zealand, also made the following points:

"The Canadian troops now in Korea are "just as good" as comrades who have returned to their country under rotation arrangements;

The Chinese Communist fighting man must not be underrated. He's a "staunch fighter," just as good, for instance, as the Japanese soldier of the Second World War;

The Korea war is still a fighting war; "enemy artillery is extremely heavy and round the clock. Casualties by Korean standards are extremely high."

Textile Workers Take 25-Cent Increase

GUELPH (CP)—A wage agreement, estimated to give workers an over-all 25-cent hourly increase has been signed by the Textile Workers Union of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) and the Fibre Glass Limited.

The agreement calls for a general wage increase of 13 cents an hour, plus shift differentials of five and seven cents.

Other benefits include a company-paid health and insurance plan providing for $1,000 life insurance; sick benefits ranging from $15 to $30 weekly; daily hospital allowance of $5; surgical allowance of up to $200 and medical allowance of $150. Workers' dependents are covered by the plan.

Drowns In River

STURGEON FALLS (CP)—Guy Larocque, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Larocque, was drowned yesterday in the Sturgeon River behind his home at Field, 11 miles north of here. When the youngster failed to return home from school for lunch a search was started. His body was found two hours later.

Injuries Fatal

STRATFORD (CP) — Eric Schmidt, 25, of Milverton, who was pinned under a three-ton truck for about 10 minutes last night, died of his injuries in Stratford General Hospital. Schmidt was thrown out of a door when the truck overturned after skidding on slippery pavement on No. 8 highway near Mitchell.

Power Go-Ahead Near

SARNIA (CP)—The go-ahead signal for an all-Canadian $300,000,000 power project on the St. Lawrence River may come "within the next month or so," Robert Saunders, chairman of the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario said in a speech here last night.

FOUR-LEGGED MINE DETECTOR — "Teddy", 16-year-old British army dog, knows that Communist non-metallic mines planted in Korea really smell. He is one of 12 dogs attached to the 1st Commonwealth Division in Korea, that are used to detect mines which cannot be located with a regulation detector. His master, Sgt. Stanley Barker, of Melton, England, above, is congratulating him on his latest find.

ATTENDED FUNERAL

With few exceptions Otonabee people were conspicuously absent from the county plowing match Wednesday. They were attending the funeral of Mrs. W. W. Dawson which was one of the largest in the township in years.

CRANBERRIES HERE

When cranberries arrive in the fruit stores, Thanksgiving Day is near at hand. Late peaches and grapes, and pears are filling the space in which the strawberry crop was the first reward of the season. Stores are finding more room for the apple harvest of autumn.

NOT CUSTOMARY

A communication from the city firemen about a larger hot water boiler touched upon a matter and practice which should come from the chief of the department. That was the opinion of the property committee of the council, instructing City Clerk Outram to write the Fire Fighters Union to that effect.

MONAGHAN HEIGHTS

The Brealey School corner in North Monaghan, with the farms of Henry Batten and Fred Campbell adjacent, is the highest level of land in the township. Among those at the plowing match Wednesday was Wm. H. Lytle who attended the school before his family moved into the city, and is now living again in Monaghan.

FINDS PIGEON

A pigeon with a green band on one leg and a steel band on the other bearing the number of CU 52-17828 was found today by Mary Hughey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Hughey, Jackson Park. Mrs. Hughey reported that the bird does not seem to want to leave the place and she believes that it might be considered valuable.

2 City Churches Lack Ministers

Two city churches are without pastors, and likely to remain so for unspecified periods. They are Trinity United and Park St. Baptist.

Last Sunday, the Rev. Dr. D. Bruce Gordon preached his final sermon as minister at Trinity. Members of the pastoral relations committee of the church say there is no one in view for the job as minister of Trinity.

Dr. Gordon has accepted a call to Sarnia, and the Rev. E. J. Whan, of Park St. Baptist, is preaching on a two-church charge in the St. Thomas district.

The need at Park St. for a minister may be filled in the near future, members of the church feel.

City Stores Stay Shut Friday Nights

Half Day Wednesday Throughout Year Except One Week

City retail merchants Tuesday night rejected overwhelmingly a proposal to have stores open Friday nights and closed on Mondays.

Almost all of the more than 60 present in the Y.M.C.A. dining room voted against it in a show of hands ballot. The meeting was called by the retail section of the Chamber of Commerce.

Instead, the group voted to close every Wednesday afternoon but one in the year, in spite of holidays occurring on other weekdays. The single exception will be the Wednesday afternoon immediately before Christmas.

HONOR SYSTEM

Until the bylaw regulating store hours is amended to include this proposal, merchants will go ahead on the honor system, starting Thanksgiving week.

The feeling of the merchants on the question of Wednesday afternoon closing was that they were giving the employees a statutory holiday, and taking half of it away by making them work the Wednesday afternoon of a week when there was another holiday.

Arguing for the Friday night opening, one merchant—and the only one to speak for night opening—said he was going by what he had heard from other Canadian cities.

"I spoke to my women customers and five out of six liked the idea. They said that way they could shop with their husbands."

He suggested all day Monday off, thus giving employees a full weekend. "It would be better for the staffs."

A hardware merchant, speaking against Friday night opening, quoted the results of a survey taken among other hardware dealers. Thirteen of 16 favored no evening work.

PROBLEM OF LABOR

The theme of the large anti-opening faction was that labor is the biggest problem retail merchants face.

"We've got to compete with industry for labor. And if we can't give them the kind of money they could make in a factory, we certainly don't want to make their hours any longer.

"Don't forget, it is the employees who make the money for us managers," said the hardware merchant.

A spokesman for independent grocers said they wanted a five-day week without night work, and added that he believed chain grocery store managers in the city agreed with him.

Speaking for the paint and wallpaper stores, one man said that merchants were unable to get the best possible sales staff in their stores because of the hours retail stores have. He felt that 'opening' Friday night or any night would do nothing to attract the better type of personnel to work in stores.

WOMAN'S PROPOSAL

It was a woman who first gave words to the thought of having the Wednesday half holiday despite other holidays in the week. She was supported strongly by a men's wear merchant, one of the founders of the retail business men's association.

Originally the motion from the meeting was that stores close 50 Wednesday afternoons in the year. The two exceptions would be the two Wednesday afternoons immediately preceding Christmas.

An amendment to this changed it to 51 Wednesday afternoons closed.

James Fraser, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, quoted from a survey of other cities which had stores open Friday nights. In most cases these were cities where there was competition nearby.

In the cities that had Friday night opening, the majority of the merchants were happy and felt the system created new shopping money. As well, most of these cities are ones that had had another night—usually Saturday—open.

Gordon McGavin, president of the Chamber of Commerce, was chairman, assisted by Mr. Fraser and Don Kingdon, also of the Chamber.

Board Rules Short Time Is Not Layoff

Short time at a factory does not constitute a layoff, and seniority rules do not apply in cases of short time work.

This was the principle established by an arbitration board sitting on a grievance from Jack Benstead, an employee of the Western Clock Co. Ltd. Mr. Benstead had submitted his grievance as a steward of Local 570, I.U.E.

SOUGHT SENIORITY

As a steward, Mr. Benstead argued that he was entitled to preferential seniority during the period the Westclox was working short time this year. The plant was at that time on a four-day week, and shipping that had to be done on the fifth day was handled by one employee of the shipping department, where Mr. Benstead worked.

Mr. Benstead did not work for eight Fridays (the fifth day) from May 9 to August 1 this year.

Argument of the union was that when a plant is not working a full work-week, then a layoff exists.

The company contended that by its work-sharing system it was offering a rotation of available works, and that a layoff did not exist.

POSTPONE LAYOFFS

The arrangement was one intended to postpone layoffs, and actually was an alternative "or a prelude" to layoffs.

The union and company had week and had agreed to work-week and had agreed to work sharing in lieu of further layoffs, after employment in the Westclox plant dropped from 750 to about 550 from May, 1951, to May, 1952.

These meetings took place under the provisions of the contract the I.U.E. has with the firm. These provisions say that the union and company "will determine the degree to which worksharing may be practical for the purpose of minimizing as much as possible the effect of unemployment."

The arbitration board found the company adhered as closely as possible to the use of the seniority rule in determining who should work in the shipping department.

Members of the arbitration board were Judge J. C. Anderson, chairman, company representative D. G. Pyle, and union representative Joseph MacKenzie. Their decision was unanimous.

2 Motorcyclists Hurt In Crash

Two motorcyclists were injured, one seriously in a collision with a light truck on Albert St., near the C.G.E. gate shortly before 5 p.m. Wednesday.

Robert Hobart, 18, 118 Aylmer St., received a puncture wound in his right leg severely torn thigh muscles and cuts and abrasions to his face and head. He is also suffering from shock and loss of blood. He is being attended by Dr. M. J. O'Brien and an operation is being performed on his leg today.

Hobart was the driver of the motorcycle. His passenger, Harvey Duck, 21, 647 Gilchrist St., was shaken up and held overnight in hospital for observation.

Both Hobart and Duck were taken by ambulance to St. Joseph's Hospital.

The accident occurred as Bruce A. Wright, R.R. 3 Peterborough, was pulling out of a driveway on the south side of Albert St.

The motorcycle was travelling west, and the impact threw both Hobart and Duck to the pavement. Hobart was pinned between the motorcycle and the rear of a car owned by Henry Doleman, 338 McGill St., which was parked along the north curb of Albert St.

Wright told Constable Wilfred Perry who investigated, he was driving his half ton truck east along Albert St., when he saw a parking place on the north side of the street.

He said he stopped after driving past the parking space and backed into a laneway on the south side. He said he looked east before pulling out into the street but did not see anything coming.

The motorcycle was in collision with the right door of the truck but only slight damage resulted to both vehicles.

A RURAL SCHOOL with facilities as modern as any in the city. Speakers at the official opening of S.S. No. 6, Smith township, emphasized this feature Wednesday afternoon as they looked over the new $54,000 building, southwest of Lakefield. Top Photo shows Inspector E. C. Anderson as he declared the school open. On the platform, left to right, are Inspector K. O. Birkin, Chairman R. F. Downey, Inspector Anderson, and the Rev. L. J. Delaney. Lower Photo, three-year-old Douglas Kidd, a prospective pupil, is getting his first glimpse of the inside of a classroom while being carried in his mother's arms. His father, Gordon Kidd of Lakefield, is a trustee. Inspector Anderson and Principal Gregory Knox (extreme right) are getting acquainted with their future charge.—(Examiner Staff Photos)

County Inspector Opens New School In Smith Twp.

More than 90 people on Wednesday afternoon attended the opening of the new S.S. No. 6 school, located in Smith township on the Buckhorn Road west of Lakefield. Cost of the two-classroom building was about $54,000. The new school was built alongside the 50-year-old, one-classroom building. Together they accommodate 115 pupils, 88 in the new and the rest in the old.

E. C. Anderson, inspector of schools for Peterborough West, officially opened the school on behalf of the Minister of Education. He complimented the ratepayers on their achievement but pointed out that, even as they were celebrating the opening, the need for further classroom accommodation was making itself felt.

CAN HAVE ADDITIONS

Already the two new classrooms are occupied. The school is designed so two rooms can be added to the north end.

R. F. Downey, former school inspector and chairman for the opening ceremony, contrasted the bright, cheerful interior of the school with what he had known as a boy.

The walls are painted in yellow or a light lime shade. The ceilings are acoustic tile and the floors are multi-colored rubber tile in the rooms and terrazo in the hall and foyer.

A bank of clear-pane windows along one side of each classroom gives ample natural light and this can be supplemented by indirect artificial lighting.

The building is of the most modern design—one storey high and of brick and tile construction. East and west walls are an almost solid bank of windows.

Heating is by oil.

THREE CLASSROOMS

The two schools have a total of three classrooms. The 50-year-old schoolhouse is for juniors (Grades 1 and 2); one of the new school's two classrooms is for intermediates (Grades 2 to 4), and the other is for seniors (Grades 5 to 8). Gregory Knox of Lakefield is the principal and the two teachers are Mrs. Hazel Hill and Miss Fern Chesney, both of Buckhorn.

The Rev. L. J. Delaney of Lakefield gave the blessing and said it was the function of educationalists to teach moral truths of our civilization to the boys and girls in their charge.

Inspector Anderson also spoke of the importance of the "moral aspect." He said that the pioneers who settled the district had two things in mind when they built their first scholhouses.

One was that the children should be instructed in the "religion and beliefs of their forefathers." The other was that the children should have an opportunity to receive the best possible education.

"The church, the family, and the school went along together," said Inspector Anderson.

Other speakers were the Hon. Harold R. Scott, K. O. Birkin, inspector of schools for Peterborough East, and Reeve Gordon Fitzgerald of Smith township.

A social gathering followed the opening ceremony and refreshments were served by the women.

Minden Woman Gives Birth To Baby In Car

A Minden woman visiting her sister-in-law at Hastings gave birth to a son Wednesday about noon on her way to St. Joseph's Hospital here.

Mrs. Norman Lee, who was visiting Mrs. A. W. Lee, R.R. 2, Hastings, was on her way to Peterborough when the child was born. Mrs. Florence Mace of Hastings was driving her to hospital.

Seeing that the birth of the child was imminent, Mrs. Mace stopped the car outside Norwood and got the aid of J. H. Thirnbeck of Indian River. Mr. Thirnbeck and Mrs. Mace acted as midwives until the arrival of Dr. A. R. Atkinson of Norwood.

Both mother and son are doing well.

EXPECT 50 ENTRIES

Dr. R. W. Ford said today that the Shorthorn Breeders of the district expect to have some 50 entries at the Lakefield Fair on Saturday.

Lacrosse Fever Makes Fans Immune To Rain

New York and Brooklyn baseball fans during the current world series are suffering from bad nerves; football fans in Canadian and American cities and towns have football-itis; but in Peterborough lacrosse enthusiasts have contracted some unknown disease. It was first noticed during the rained-out game at Miller Bowl Wednesday night in the final game of the Eastern Canada series.

The disease seems to be more mental than physical, although there seems to be some slight physical paralysis involved.

Here are the facts.

An hour and a half before game time Wednesday several small thunderstorms lit the sky with lightning flashes and rocked the air with thunder claps. Finally drops of rain began to fall, at first slowly and then in a heavy downpour.

Throughout the lightning, thunder and rain, lacrosse fans, talking and laughing, began to pour, as fast as the rain fell, into Miller Bowl. By 7.45 the crowd was estimated at 1,200 and more were still lining up at ticket booths.

Then the rain stopped. From out of nowhere fans by the hundreds passed by ticket takers and within the hour more than 4,000 fans were sitting on the wet, muddy stands, still yelling and laughing.

A few brought blankets and newspapers to sit on. Others were delegating one of their party to search the Bowl for cardboard, magazines or newspapers to sit on. But the majority hardly noticed the wet planks, sat down and excitedly waited for the game to begin.

The officials, Lou Vipond and Piper Bain, with Chuck Brown, secretary of the O.L.A., and several members of the Toronto Yorks, inspected the slippery field and were roundly joshed by fans for thinking that the playing field might be unfit for the game.

Just before the game started and the teams were taking practice shots, Toronto's Les Digby slipped in front of the Toronto net and went down into the mud. This drew laughter from the crowd which could be heard at Lansdowne street, not one person realized that where he was sitting was probably as wet and muddy as they were sitting.

The game began. The Timbermen went ahead, cheers, cheers and cheers. No one felt the few drops of rain that fell during the first quarter while the Timbermen went ahead 6-3.

The second quarter began. The Toronto Yorks surged back, edging up one goal at a time. The crowd was tense; the rain began to fall faster; the Yorks tied the score; the rain was heavier; the fans yelled louder; the Yorks went ahead; then further ahead; the rain was steady; the period ended.

The crowd was deadly quiet, except for a a few Toronto fans.

Then suddenly they realized it was raining. Umbrellas went up, probably about 300. Others with extra bits of newspaper covered their heads while people, with blankets underneath, quickly reversed the position for an overhead shelter.

At this stage the first signs of the paralysis was noticed. Hardly anyone moved from under blankets, newspapers and umbrellas. Usually at half time fans stand up or move down to the booth, but they stayed rooted to their seats even though it rained heavier.

Not until the loud speaker roared out that the game was called off was there much movement. Dazed that the Timbermen were behind and annoyed with officials for calling the game, the spectators staggered out, most of them unable to wait for tonight's continuation.

Lightning Bolt Strikes Home Starts Fire In Roof House Saved From Flames

Millbrook Fire Dept., Bucket Brigade Quench Fire In Roof With Big Assist From Fireproof Insulation

MILLBROOK (ENS)—A bolt of lightning during Wednesday night's storm struck Robert Ridge's home on Bank St. Before the fire was put out by firemen and volunteers heavy damage was caused to the roof and the upstairs. The house will have to be re-roofed; an upstairs bedroom where the fire was centred will have to be repaired; and the whole house will have to be redecorated. Most of the damage was caused by water and smoke.

Both the house and contents are insured.

It was a stroke of bad luck for the Ridges. He and his wife, Jo, had recently finished decorating their home which they have occupied a little longer than a year.

DUTCH WAR BRIDE

Mrs. Ridge was a Dutch war bride. She met her future husband while he was serving overseas with the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Regiment. They have two children, both girls—Beatrix, 5, and one-year-old Peggy.

Volunteers who helped stem the blaze said that the insulation slowed the progress of the flames and probably saved the house from destruction. Nearly all the furnishings were saved.

The electrical storm struck Millbrook with great force. At least one section of the village had a power failure.

A bolt of lightning hit the roof of the Ridge home in the northern part of the village at 7.30 p.m. and knocked a hole through the shingles into an upper bedroom. Fire started immediately.

The Millbrook fire brigade answered the call and used the 300 gallon pumper to try and put out the flames. When this failed to do the job Fire Chief Douglas Sheppard laid 1,000 feet of two-and-a-half-inch hose to the creek for more water.

BUCKET BRIGADE

In the meanwhile volunteers had formed a bucket brigade, sloshing buckets of water through holes chopped in the roof.

Ridge's well was emptied and so was that of their neighbor, Mrs. Jessie Byam.

A large crowd gathered from the village and outskirts and they carried out the furniture, including a heavy chesterfield. Most of the damage was caused by water and smoke.

Ridge works in Peterborough, an employee of Canadian Raybestos.

The thunderstorm Wednesday night also caused a number of power failures in the Peterborough district.

Most of the trouble was in Otonabee Township where a couple of transformers were burned out. Lightning also blew a number of line switches. In part of Keene village, and in the immediate vicinity, there was a power blackout for about two hours.

There was a failure for a couple of hours in a section of Millbrook.

A tree that fell on Highway 7, partly blocking it, slowed traffic for an hour, a half-mile northeast of Fowler's Corners.

GOES TO BOWMANVILLE

The Rev. Alex G. Scott concluded as pastorate of 10 years at Knox Presbyterian Church Monkton on Sunday and will assume his new charge in Bowmanville in mid-October.

Mortlock Firm Lowest Bid On New School

Tenders for the new public school on Cameron St. were opened on Wednesday night by the accommodation committee of the Board of Education. Seven firms entered prices on the four room job and the lowest was that of Walter H. Mortlock.

Following instructions from the committee early in July the architect John B. Parkin had sought to get construction costs of schools at a much lower figure. The committee had set a figure of $83,000 for price for the general contract and $100,000 for building, furnishings and payment of fees. Mr. Mortlock's price of $62,250 permitted the committee to revise its estimate and will now be asking the city council for $80,000.

THREE TORONTO FIRMS BID

Separate prices were also called on three barcol wardrobe doors and a dome light in the corridor. In these Mr. Mortlock's price was also the lowest and the committee decided to place them in the contract for a total price of $65,250. Of the seven firms tendering two were from Peterborough the other being the Eastwood Construction Co. which was $1,117 above Mr. Mortlock. Of the other firms three were from Toronto, one from Oshawa and one from Bailieboro. Top bid was $74,113 and only $6,716 separated the last five.

Members of the committee felt they had achieved something in getting costs of construction down to a more reasonable figure and expressed appreciation of the work the architect had done in planning the school. While recent school buildings have been costing around $13.50 a square foot the cost of this new school will be $11.15 and the bid was $10.65 with the doors and dome omitted.

In arriving at $80,000 to be asked in debentures the committee placed $3,915 for architect's fees; $7,500 for equipment and furnishings; $750 for landscaping; $1,000 for fencing and $1,585 for incidentals and a possible discount on the sale of the debenture.

The committee also decided to recommend that the new school on McFarlane Ave be called the Armour Heights school after the late Rev. Samuel Armour the first Anglican minister in Peterborough and principal of the first school.

Deny $100,000 Pledged To Aid Seaway

DETROIT (AP)—A group of Detroit backers of the St Lawrence Seaway took issue last night with Senator Blair Moody's statement that big auto companies had pledged upward of $100,000 to carry on the fight for congressional authorization of the project.

Moody, a Michigan Democrat, made the statement yesterday in Washington.

Said the Detroit group assigned by the Great Lakes-St. Lawerence Association to raise seaway promotion funds in Michigan:

NO SUCH TOTAL

"We unfortunately must refute the senator's statement because we are now only starting the drive to raise funds in Michigan. . .We still need money and haven't raised anything that looks like $100,000 yet."

The group added:

"We must also point out that Senator Moody, although a firm supporter of the seaway project, is in no way an official or spokesman of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Seaway association and has had no direct part in the matter of fund raising in Michigan, though we welcome his support and efforts."

34 Lower Court Decisions To Canada's Supreme Court

OTTAWA (CP)—The fall session of the Supreme Court of Canada—now the court of last resort for most cases—will open Oct. 7.

There are 34 appeals against decisions of lower courts. They include nine from Ontario; 13 from the Western provinces; 11 from Quebec; and one from the Maritime provinces.

Five Ontario appeals carried over from the summer session will be heard first. The court expects to reach the western cases about Oct. 20; the Maritime case about Nov. 13; the Quebec cases Nov. 17, and five new Ontario cases about Dec. 15.

Heading the Quebec list is the appeal of Mrs. Arthur Pitre against a death sentence for her part in the time-bombing of a commercial airliner in Quebec. The crash took the lives of 23 passengers.

J. Albert Guay, Quebec jeweler who hatched the plot to kill his wife and collect her insurance, was hanged Jan. 12, 1951. Genereux Ruest, crippled watchmaker who made the time bomb that blew up the plane, was hanged last July 25. Mrs. Pitre is awaiting execution for delivering to the airport the parcel containing the bomb.

Another Quebec case involves the Witnesses of Jehovah. They contest the validity of a Quebec City by-law prohibiting distribution of pamphlets without a permit. The Witnesses will argue that the by-law prevents the free exercise of relgion.

The five Ontario cases at the top of the list include two damage suits arising out of motor-car accidents, a patents suit, and suit arising out of cancellation of sales contract. The fifth case involves a claim against an Ottawa dentist—Dr. P.L. Nesbitt—by dependents of M.K. Holt who died in the dentist's chair.

Ontario cases to be heard in December include a dispute over the distribution of the estate of the late John Ross Robertson, former owner of the Toronto Telegram.

The Toronto Newspaper Guild is appealing from a decision of Mr. Justice G. A. Gale of the Ontario Supreme Court. Mr. Justice Gale quashed the Ontario Labor Relations Board's certification of the guild as bargaining agent for circulation department employees of the Toronto Globe and Mail.

The western cases arise out of income tax collections, motor car accidents, and cancellation of sales contracts.

Revolt Quelled

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—A new insurrection broke out at dawn yesterday at Maturin, capital of Monagas state, but was suppressed with a death toll of three and 13 wounded, the government announced last night. Thirteen people have been killed and 25 wounded in scattered uprisings during the last three days. The first outbreaks were in Portuguesa state Monday.

Unique Operation Places Third Artery In Heart

MONTREAL (CP) — Three Alberta heart sufferers, who owe their lives to a unique heart operation developed and performed at the Royal Victoria Hospital here, now are writing to their doctors telling of their wonderful improvement.

The three, all middle-aged men who suffered from coronary thrombosis, were the first successful cases in the placing of a third artery into the heart. The operation was performed by Dr. Arthur Vineberg of the Royal Victoria Hospital.

The operation made headlines recently when it was described by Dr. D. W. Gordon Murray of Toronto at a meeting of the International College of Surgeons in Chicago.

It is the result of several years of research carried out from 1946 at McGill University's department of experimental surgery and later at the department of surgery at Royal Victoria Hospital under the direction of Dr. Gavin Miller.

This is what it has done for Douglas Machon, 54-year-old Calgary oilman, who "came to Montreal to die."

"At that time I could only eat liquids," says Machon. "I couldn't walk more than half a block without pain. I could not work. I came to Montreal against everyone's advice."

Although he was warned that the operation had only been performed once before and that the patient, a desperate case, had died, he was eager for the risky honor of being the first man to survive the "third artery" graft.

Machon was out of bed four weeks after the operation. He flew home to Calgary a week later. Today he reports he has gained 20 pounds, can walk five miles through the bush, eats anything he likes, and is working on the production of 11 new oil wells.

ALL IMPROVING

Machon was operated on by Dr. Vineberg in November, 1950. Two other Alberta men, Arthur Manes, 55, and S. A. Emerson, 57, flew here in June, 1951, and March, 1952, for the operation. Today both are showing similar good progress.

Seven persons have undergone the operation. Of these, four are working again and feel no pain. One still suffers pain and two cases—both at death's door when accepted—died. Now the hospital will not accept cases for operation if the patient cannot walk.

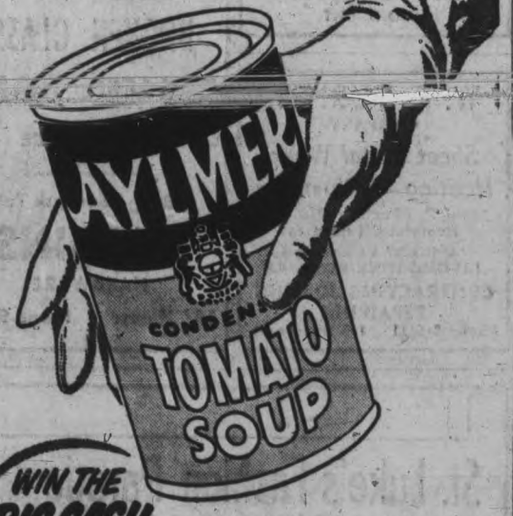
The operation, first tried out on dogs here, has been successfully performed on humans in Montreal and more recently in Toronto and in the United States.

Hear Testimony About Bullet

HAMILTON (CP)—Sgt. W.W. Sullivan, an R.C.M.P. ballistics expert, said yesterday that fragments of a .22 calibre bullet taken from the body of Mrs. Mary Rosenblatt could "possibly" have come from a rifle found in the back seat of Henry Lee's car.

Lee, 37, is charged with the murder of Mrs. Rosenblatt, whose body was found June 2 in the car's front seat, next to Lee, who was wounded.

The crown case is expected to end today.



Sgt. E.R. Eves, R.C.M.P. handwriting expert, testified that a love note found in the accused's pocket was written by Mrs. Rosenblatt.

Apsley Couple Mr. And Mrs. R. Harvey 25 Yrs. Wed

APSLEY (ENS) —A very happy event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Harvey on Saturday when they observed the 25th anniversary of their marriage. Gladys McCauley and Ray Harvey of Toronto were married on September 27, 1927 at the home of the bride's parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Dillmen McCauley. They resided in Toronto for five years before buying their present home on the shore of Mink lake. Here they have a beautifully kept lawn and flowers, which Mrs. Harvey is very generous with, giving to friends. They also do a thriving tourist trade, situated as they are between Mink and Chandos lake.

During the afternoon and in evening, friends called to extend congratulations and at 6 o'clock a family dinner was served. Among the guests at the dinner were: the Rev. and Mrs. Wicks and Mr. A. Godson. It was Mr. Wicks who performed the marriage ceremony and Mr. Godson was best man. Miss Ada Bailey of Toronto, who had been bridesmaid, was unable to attend. Many other friends and relatives who were present had also been at the wedding.

The many beautiful gifts received testified to the high esteem in which the couple are held. Among them was a silver slipper filled with silver dollars from friends and neighbors, a tree hung with silver dollars and a silver rose bowl from fellow members of Apsley Women's Institute.

Among the guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Harold Meyrick, Birmingham, Michigan; Mr. and Mrs. Don Dever, Detroit, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. A. Godson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Griffin, Mr. and Mrs. Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Hadgraft, and daughter, Marjorie, Miss Black, all of Toronto; and Rev. and Mrs. Wicks of Coe Hill.

The community extends to Mr. and Mrs. Harvey wishes for many more years of happy wedded bliss.

BEACONSFIELD, England (CP) —Charged with speeding, a truck driver told the magistrate here he had no excuse. He said: "It was very hot, and as I was on a good stretch of road I put on speed to get a breeze in the cab."

BUTTER BEAN—Mrs. Andrew Ferguson, of Providence, R.I., displays a 49 inch, 12 pound butter bean which was grown from seed she purchased last spring. Described in a catalogue as 'gigantic butter beans', the seeds were as big as a lima bean. A farmer friend agreed to grow them for her. The giant above was the largest of the crop.

Believes India May Be Neutral

OTTAWA (CP)—Sir Archibald Nye, former United Kingdom high commissioner to India, said yesterday that India might remain neutral in another war.

Sir Archibald, recently appointed high commissioner to Canada, made the statement in an address to the Canadian Club. He spoke on "Some Aspects of the Commonwealth."

"Today we have no common defence policy in the Commonwealth" said Sir Archibald. "For example, India has decided on her own foreign policy in which she wishes to preserve an independence from both the East and West ideologies in the hope of influencing both sides towards peace.

"There is the possibility in the event of war that India may remain neutral."

Shipment Of Milk Going To Koreans

OTTAWA (CP)—The first shipment of 70,000 pounds of powdered Canadian sweetened milk for war-ravaged Korean children will leave Vancouver Nov. 29 aboard the S.S. Mapledell, the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada announced yesterday.

The shipment is the first of an anticipated 200,000 pounds that will be shipped to Seoul, capital of South Korea, to provide one glass of milk a day for Seoul's primary school children during the three coldest months of the year, January, February and March.

Officer Can't Give Proof About Bullets

HAMILTON (CP) — An R.C.M.P. officer today testified at the murder trial of 37-year-old Harry Lee that there was "no evidence" to prove fragments of a bullet said to have killed Mrs. Mary Rosenblatt June 2 came from a rifle found in the back seat of Lee's automobile.

Mrs. Rosenblatt's body with two bullet wounds about the heart was found in a car at nearby Sheffield. Lee was behind the wheel, badly wounded.

As the trial entered its third day Lee, a synagogue caretaker, continued to make notes on the proceedings.

Staff Sergeant W. W. Sutherland of the R. C. M. P. said pieces of lead in his possession "could have been fired by the rifle found in Lee's car but there is no evidence to prove they were fired from it."

He also said bullets fired from the rifle had marks corresponding to those on a bullet given him by Provincial Police.

Harvey McCulloch, Crown attorney, said the prosecution may complete its case late today.

End of Trip

CANORA, Sask. (CP)—Two Winnipeg boys, Robert Ellison, 18, and Glen Fisher, 16, had to abandon their hope of paddling from Winnipeg to the junction of the Assiniboine and Qu'Appelle Rivers in Saskatchewan. Their canoe was stolen while they were making a portage.

Many Political Also-Rans After Portion Of U.S. Vote

By JOHN TRACY

NEW YORK (CP)—The 1952 presidential contest is a clear-cut race between the Democrats and Republicans but a host of political also-rans are out after a portion of the vote.

Third-party candidates pop up at every U.S. election and then disappear. They rarely make much of a dent in the popular vote. This year at least a dozen are claiming a share of the voters' attention but few will get on the ballots of all 48 states because most cannot meet state election requirements.

In the 1948 presidential election, chief of the third parties was the States Righters led by Governor Strom Thurmond of South Carolina. Thurmond, whose party was formed by southern Democrats rebelling against President Truman's policy of equal treatment for Negroes, got about 1,169,000 of the nearly 49,000,000 votes cast.

Henry Wallace, a former Democratic vice-president, won 1,157,000 votes as head of the Progressive Party which was accused of domination by Communists and fellow travellers.

NO STATES RIGHTERS

This year, although there has been some indication of revolt among Democrats in the so-called solid south, no States Righters party has appeared. The Progressive Party is running candidates but Henry Wallace has repudiated the party as a Communist front.

The Communists, with no presidential candidate, urge a vote for the Progressives.

The Progressives are expected to be foremost among the so-called radical parties in the Nov. 4 election. Vincent Hallinan, wealthy San Francisco lawyer and a cousin of Prime Minister Eamon de Valera of the Republic of Ireland, is running for president. His running mate is Mrs. Charlotte Bass, California Negro publisher.

The radical parties were originally formed to back social and economic reforms but the social legislation of Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal and later President Truman's Fair Deal has pulled the rug from under them. Now they chiefly play up the issues of civil liberties, rights for minorities and foreign policy.

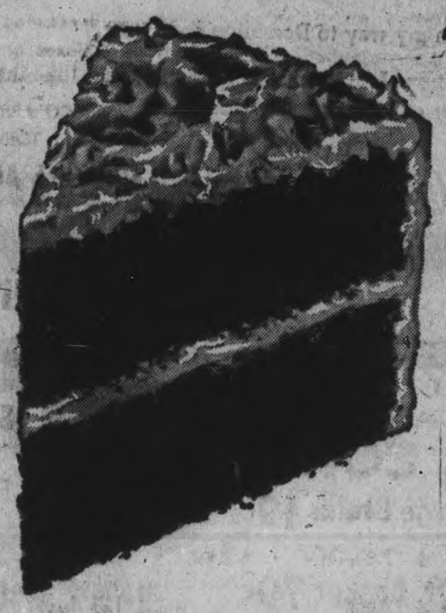
Largest of the older radical parties is the Socialist party for which Darlington Hoopes, former Pennsylvania legislator, is standard-bearer. Norman Thomas, standing aside from the election this year for the first time in more than 30 years, won 132,000 votes in 1948.

Thomas stopped down with the remark that present prosperity and two decades of reform have eased pressure on the people to go socialist.

BACK HOPELESS PROJECT

Most third parties are backing some serious, although hopeless, project. One is Brig.-Gen. Herbert C. Holdridge's American Vegeterian party which describes itself as firmly pacifist and opposed to slaughter of "any living thing." There is also evangelist Stuart Hamblen's Prohibition party which sees suppression of "the alcohol beverage traffic" as the top political issue.

Other groups on the political fringe arise from the average American's ability to indulge in a belly laugh in the midst of a serious campaign. One of these is Henry Krawjewski's Poor Man's party.



Krawjewski, a tavern owner and pig farmer in New Jersey's pork capital of Secaucus, has conducted some of his campaigning by standing rounds of drinks in New York bars. His campaign buttons are inscribed "For President, Krawjewski I Like."

Iran Threatens To Recall Envoys In U.K.

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Premier Mohammed Mossadegh said today that if Britain doesn't agree to his latest proposals for settling the oil dispute, Iran will withdraw her diplomats from London.

The statement came in an announcement that the Premier was polling Iranians at home and abroad to determine which country should handle Iran's interests in Britain if the envoys come home.

Mossadegh hinted last month that Iran might break relations unless British economic and other pressures arising out of the oil dispute were lifted.

But this was the first indication that Mossadegh was linking acceptance of his latest oil proposals with the threat of a break. It was also the first hint that he expected Britain's answer to his proposals to be unsatisfactory.

Mossadegh had given Britain 10 days to reply to his proposals. That period expires Saturday. Sources in London have indicated that Britain would not accept Mossadegh's proposals but would make every effort to keep the door open for further negotiations. The Iranian's proposals included a demand for payment of back oil royalties which have been frozen since his government nationalized the British-owned oil industry in Iran.

AIR FORCE PIPERS—On parade for their first public appearance is the R.C.A.F.'s newest pipe and drum band at No. 1 Fighter Wing, North Luffenham, England. Led by FO. Gordon McInnes of Toronto, the 25-piece band of 14 pipers and 11 drummers was formed at the fighter base six months ago. Official R.C.A.F. tartan, worn by the bandsmen, and the pipes were made to order by London and Glasgow firms. Pipe major is J. MacDonald (right foreground) of Ketton, near the station, who volunteered to instruct the airmen.

Stevenson Overhauls Radio Plans

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Governor Adlai E. Stevenson, with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower raiding his home campaign base, today began a complete overhaul of radio-television speaking plans to work in at least four more "fireside chats."

The Democratic presidential nominee went on about political and official business as his Republican rival whistle-stopped toward town for an afternoon rally and speech.

Stevenson didn't plan to go down to court house square to case the opposition campaign. But he did let state employees have an extra hour off at lunch time so they could attend the rally. Eisenhower had politely turned down Stevenson's invitation to lunch at the executive mansion.

REVAMP PROGRAM

Stevenson and his aides were busy with what Porter McKeever, publicity director for Volunteers for Stevenson, said was a major reformation of the whole radio-TV program for the last month of the campaign.

There will be at least four more fireside chats during the campaign, McKeever said. At least one, and perhaps two speeches on the issue of Communism at home and abroad, he said, will be in the form of chats. The governor, McKeever said, wants to discuss the issues quietly, dispassionately and without any rabble-rousing.

Leaders of Stevenson volunteers from 30 states today were closing out a rally aimed at swinging the independent vote behind the Stevenson banner.

The Stevenson high command said the increasing emphasis on straight-to-the-people television and radio talks is a direct out growth of the response to Stevenson's first fireside chat from Chicago Monday night.

Previously mail had travelled from the town to these points by rail; now it will travel by highway. Receiving the service will be: Cameron, Fenelon Falls, Minden, Haliburton, Wilberforce, Irondale, Furnace Falls, Gooderham and other points.

For many years, people living north of Kinmount have had irregular mail service. Some sections received daily delivery, others had deliveries three times weekly.

500 Hungry Convicts End Sit-Down Strike

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—Five hundred hungry inmates of the Utah state prison ended a three day sit-down strike last night.

They had been without food, except for snacks they had stored in their cells, since 4 p.m. Sunday—74 hours. Electricity and heat also had been cut off from their cells.

The sit-down apparently started as a protest against an interpretation of regulations concerning time off for good behavior.

The prisoners have agreed to await a reply from the board of pardons on a request for clarification of the regulations.

Fraser Resigns Rec. Commission

LAKEFIELD (ENS). — The resignation of J. L. Fraser as chairman of the Lakefield Recreation Committee was accepted with regret at a meeting held Tuesday evening and Kenneth Jakins was appointed to replace Mr. Fraser, who will leave shortly for Lindsay.

Mrs. Donald Hendren and Mrs. L. McDermott were a delegation to the meeting regarding the formation of a figure skating club in the village. Their request was received with enthusiasm by the group and it was suggested that they should organize and if financial help was needed, to appeal to the council. Mrs. McDermott offered to act as instructress, and anyone interested could contact her.

Teen Town representative Miss Joyce Hutt was also present, and questions relating to their problems were discussed. It was planned to have movies, instructions in square dancing, minstrel show and discussion groups during the fall and winter months.

The swimming program was gone into briefly and will be reconsidered at a future meeting. Ron Kingdon was granted a bonus of $20 for his work at the bathing beach this summer.

Present at the meeting besides the members of the committee and the deputations were Principals J. E. Stephens and E. G. Sloan of the Lakefield District High School and the Public School. Mr. Fraser presided.

Lakefield Club Hears Address On "Sight"

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—Speaking on the subject "Thank God for Sight," Mrs. Arnold Mathews of Peterborough, spoke to members of the Missionary and Service Club of the United Church at their September meeting held on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. J. O. Huddart.

Introduced by Mrs. A. W. Newson, Mrs. Mathews began her talk by referring to a story by Helen Keller, "Three Days to See," which said in part, "Use your eyes today as if tomorrow you would be blind forever."

"We have two kinds of sight," said Mrs. Mathews. "The sight that belongs to the eyes and the sight that belongs to the soul. In advanced years, as we often lose, to some extent, the sight of our eyes, the sight of our soul may become more acute.

"As Christians, we should be far-sighted and learn to make allowances for people we don't like too well. We should be color blind when it comes to people's skin and we should be near-sighted and look with new eyes at people we know and groups to which we belong. Friendship is such a rare and wonderful thing, we miss so much by not taking our friends as we find them. We should look too, at ourselves. We must learn to conquer fear and trust God, or the sight of our souls has failed us very badly," said Mrs. Mathews, in conclusion.

Mrs. Clarence Coons presided for the business period, in the absence of the president. The secretary's report was given by Mrs. Robert McCracken and the treasurer's report, showing a balance on hand of $302 by Mrs. Thomas Payton.

Plans were made for the annual Christmas bazaar, which will be held the last Friday in November. Mrs. George Tanner also reported on the handicraft being done for this event. The recently held salad supper was quite successful, general convener, Mrs. Newson reported.

Mrs. Coons was appointed a delegate to the sectional rally of the W.M.S. to be held Oct. 9 at Warsaw, and Mrs. Theo Down, Mrs. J. Keller and Mrs. George Graham were appointed a committee in charge of the turkey dinner to be held the Monday following the anniversary service.

Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. G. Staples and Mrs. E. Foster.

Blind Workers Set Record In Production

EDINBURGH (CP)—A printing plant run by blind employees has set a production record unequalled in 50 years.

It is the Braille Publications Department of the Royal Blind Asylum and School, only one in Britain operated by sightless people. It produces magazines and books for the blind of the United Kingdom.

The only sighted staff employed read slowly from magazines. Blind women, with incredible quickness of touch, transcribe the words in Braille with stylus-type instruments. Braille is based on endless variations of six dots.

Next a blind operator reads the transcription with his left hand and operates a six-key board with his right. It registers on zinc plates which in turn go to presses—actually punching machines especially adapted. The press men print 1,000 sheets an hour from these plates.

Blind girls assemble the sheets in appropriate volumes, sew and bind them.

A novel normally costing 10s 6d would amount to about £8 in Braille. It creates a problem of a heavy subsidizing because of increased costs of production.

As a result the Royal Blind Asylum together with other organizations for blind welfare are making a "Braille centenary appeal" to raise £120,000. The appeal is directed mainly to the press and all employees connected with the industry.

PIPELINE HARVEST—Grain harvesting and the laying of oil pipe line go hand in hand in the Edmonton area as a section of the $82,000,000 Trans-Mountain line to the Pacific coast is sunk across stooked fields. Above, an oil drilling rig and a storage tank can be seen in the background. In the foreground are sections of pipe ready to be rolled into place as the ditching machines come along. About 350 of the 715-mile pipeline between Vancouver and Edmonton will be completed this fall and the line is expected to be completed by August, 1953.

Open Public School On Indian Reserve

VIRGINIA (CP) — Indian Affairs Director Maj. D. M. McKay Tuesday opened a new $20,000 public school of Georginia Island in Georgian Bay. It is one of four schools opened this week on Ontario Indian reservations.

The Georgina school seats 30 pupils, is hot-air heated with a three-room apartment for the teacher. The first school on the island, built in 1870, had 17 pupils, one of whom was present yesterday. McKay said the department was interested in seeing Indian children go on into the high school and university fields of education.

Report U.S. Orders Planes In Canada

MONTREAL (CP)—The Gazette says today in a front-page story from Ottawa it was learned last night that an order for production of T-36 trainers has been placed by the United States Air Force with Canadair Ltd., of Montreal.

The story says the amount of the contract has not been disclosed for security reasons, but one figure mentioned is about $70,000,000.

Canadian government sources familiar with the transaction would say no more than the amount involved was "very substantial."

The T-36—a large twin-engine aircraft, with tricycle under-carriage—is used to train pilots and carries 14 passengers.

Stalin To Publish Important Statement

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda announced today that the magazine Bolshevik soon will publish an "important statement" on economic questions by Premier Stalin.

The Stalin declaration was awaited with great interest here. It was expected that it would have an important bearing on the new five-year plan to be considered by the 19th Communist Party Congress, which opens Sunday.

Stalin's last statement on any question of ideology or philosophy was a pronouncement on linguistics more than two years ago.

QUEBEC (CP)—Forty five young Ontario farmers arrived here yesterday for a visit to the city and to pick up data on farming in Quebec province. The 25 boys and 20 girls from Ontario farm schools visited Quebec Agriculture Minister Barre and went sightseeing.

HELP PROLONG your husband's life span by insisting that he have a physical check-up at least one a year. Only care, peace and interest will keep him healthy and happy.

Happy Men Live Longer Well-Known Doctor Says

Whether or not your husband has a long, full life is, to a large measure, up to you.

Although such medical advances as penicillin, streptomycin and other "wonder" drugs have helped to lengthen the average life span by 20 years, Dr. Charles E. Dutchess, an authority on geriatrics (the science of age and the aging process), maintains that a wife still plays a key role in guarding her mate's health, particularly during the all-important years after 40.

Make sure that he has a thorough physical check-up at least once a year to clear up current health problems and forestall new ones that may be in the process of materializing.

Since you are the planner of the daily menu, you must see to it that your husband eats sensibly and in moderation. Remember, overweight shortens life expectancy.

Don't expect him always to be in the mood to step out to a party or show. Often a strenuous day at the office will leave him little energy for social activities. All he will probably want to do is read the newspaper and go to sleep. And it is absolutely essential that he get at least eight hours of rest every night.

If your husband has shown signs lately of taking an active part in exercise, tactfully remind him that he must act his age. Too many men have suffered heart attacks caused by over exertion on the golf course. Moderation should again be the keynote.

Another way to keep the man of the house healthy and happy is to get him interested in a hobby. Help him prepare for his retirement by encouraging an avocation, even if it's in the "just puttering" category.

And, of course, one of the prime essentials in any man's life is emotional stability. Some pressures—especially in the business world—are unavoidable. But a peaceful home will help your husband forget these irritations and give him an opportunity to relax and enjoy himself.

Do everything within your power to minimize emotional upsets. It's only natural that there will be periods in your life when you will disagree with your husband and he with you. Then, again, you may be feeling moody, without any apparent reason. When these unpleasant moments arise, try to busy yourself with outside activities. Avoid discussions. They will only end disastrously.

Try not to plan your husband's hours while he is home on weekends and in the evenings. The wife who is always after her husband to hang the curtains, fix the basin or clean the stove, may find that she has forced him to a point of complete exhaustion.

Make every effort to eliminate the possibility of your being left a widow in your later years. With care and understanding on your part, you and your husband will have a better chance of celebrating your golden wedding anniversary together.

ROBOT PLANE—A miniature flying robot plane, pilotless and controlled by radio, has final throttle adjustments made before taking off at the R.C.A.F.'s base at Deseronto, near Belleville. The plane, capable of 300 miles an hour, has a wingspan of 11 feet and is powered with a 72 horsepower gasoline engine. It takes off from a circular runway and at the end of its flight returns to earth by parachute. The parachute opening is controlled by radio from the ground. Adjusting the throttle is Cpl. C. Workman, while LAC. Johnny Linden steadies the tail.

Water Tower Explodes

NEW YORK (AP) — A water tower atop a 10-storey Manhattan building exploded yesterday, sending a barrage of bricks, mortar and tons of water tumbling into busy West 34th Street. At least two persons—a newsstand operator and a taxi driver—were injured by flying missiles. Scores of women shoppers were drenched by the release of 15,000 gallons of water.

Appeal To Gamblers

GENEVA (AP)—The office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees appealed to U. N. Staff members yesterday to contribute their gambling winnings to the commissioner's emergency fund. The last U.N. Assembly authorized the High Commissioner to raise $3,000,000 for the most urgent needs of refugees. So far only about $600,000 has been collected.

Train Derailed

REGGIO EMILIA, Italy (Reuters)—Four persons were killed and 19 injured when the Bologna-Milan express jumped the rails near here yesterday.

Few Calories In Fruit Excellent For Desserts

A foolproof method for me to shed a few extra pounds is to walk to the office every morning (1½ miles) and to eat one-half grapefruit for dessert for dinner instead of the fruit-butter-flour-sugar dessert I would serve ordinarily to my family.

I tell you this because one of our readers asked me to print some low calorie desserts. Low calorie desserts are raw fruits and do not need printing—they just need eating. That is my answer. A made dessert inevitably contains sugar,—and usually butter.

If you are serious enough about this reducing regime to serve yourself one-half grapefruit, or a sliced orange, or a ripe banana, or a lovely fresh pear, or apple, or a dish of ripe strawberries without sugar, or some unsweetened shredded fresh pineapple, then you will reduce your weight.

I find breakfasts and lunches can be controlled with comparative ease for I am too occupied with other matters at those times to give them much attention.

But by dinner time at night I can throw all of my careful resolutions to the wind and snap at a hard crust on sight—or snarl my way through that hour before dinner. But each day, if I manage to keep the crust used up and all cake hidden, I can just skin by with a couple of cups of tea at four o'clock,—no sugar though, dash it.

I am giving you a fresh fruit salad plate arrangement that is dependable both for popularity and to base other fruit combinations on:

FRUIT SALAD PLATE

On a plate about the size of a breakfast plate (larger than a tea plate) arrange 4 or 5 small cups of lettuce. In centre of plate place a mould of cottage cheese mixed with chopped chives.

In the first cup place 3 or 4 oranges or grapefruit sections or half slices; in second cup arrange little wedges of fresh or canned pineapple; in third cup arrange 3 or 4 large slices strawberries (or when in season sweet cheeries with stems on); in fourth cup place quarters of canned or fresh pears or lengthwise quarters of bananas, spread with mayonnaise and stuck or sprikled with nuts, preferably shredded almonds; in a fifth cup, when in season, watermelon or cantaloupe balls are attractive and delicious. If you use any fruit that is likely to discolor (like bananas or apples or pears) it should be dipped in lemon juice or spread with mayonnaise.

With this salad pass cream mayonnaise for the members of the family who are not reducing and make it as follows:

RHUBARB and PINEAPPLE CUP

(This is a compromise, for it is sweet enough to satisfy the family but nourishing enough to displease hungry reducers. I like it—but I'm queer I'm told.)

Three-quarters to 1 lb. rhubarb cut in ½ inch pieces, but unpeeled, 1-3 cup sugar, 1 cup boiling water, 1 cup canned or fresh pineapple shredded or cubbed. Bring the rhubarb, water and sugar to simmering point and turn off heat, if electric, as this will finish the cooking; if gas, cook just long enough to make rhubarb tender but not broken. Add the pineapple, just before serving and give it one stir. This amount will serve 6.

The above dish may be varied by adding, besides the pineapple sliced strawberries, when dish is cold. This is especially attractive and not too overly nourishing if served with unfrosted angel food cake.

New Crepes More Versatile

Crepe has made its big comeback this year. Out of circulation for some time, it has firmly reestablished itself for fall and winter.

The new crepes differ somewhat from the "good little black crepe" that you once knew so fondly. They have more body, are less prone to wrinkle, take beautifully to tucking or pleating, drape wonderfully and therefore lend themselves to distinctive design.

Crepe was once a fabric strongly identified with the term "afternoon dress." The new crepes are more versatile. They got to luncheons and teas, it's true, but they also go to dinner and the theatre, to small evening parties. They can be dressed up or down; they take to furs or slip under a winter coat.

For luncheon in town, one girl (left) wears a tucked rayon crepe. Horizontal tucks form a wide, handsome cummerbund from bust to hipline. Deep dolman sleeves draw attention to a tiny bodice. Loose panels, front and back, lend the skirt a fluid feeling.

Her companion (right) wears a rayon crepe with two-tone treatment by this same designer. Tucks are used here, too, from neck to hemline. Neck is high and round; sleevs are loose and flowing.

VEIL CARE

To wash a soiled veil, shake it in a small jar of warm soapsuds. Rinse well by the same method and blot in a towel. To restore a crisp finish, press flat with a warm iron between two layers of waxed paper.

Y.P.M.S. Learn Of Skid Row Need

The Olive Branch Mission which has been rescuing the down and outs of Chicago's skid row for more than 50 years was presented on slides at the Free Methodist Church Y.P.M.S. service Tuesday night.

Mrs. Reta Reynolds was commentator.

Mrs. Hilda James also depicted the great need for home missions in an interesting talk on the work of introducing the gospel and Sunday school to the hill people of Virginia. She explained that on countless occasions the keeping and guiding power of God had been proved there.

Mr. Glen Reynolds, president, conducted the devotional service. Mr. Ray Hiscox sang two solos and Mr. Jules Ball read a poem, "The World is Sick".

The offering was taken up by Mr. Weldon Johnston. The Rev. K. B. Bauder led in prayer and Mrs. J. W. Johnston pronounced the benediction.

See Eye-Catching Variety In IODE Fall Fashion Show

All that is new and eye-catching, sophisticated and provocative in fall fashions was shown before a capacity audience in P.C.V.S. auditorium Wednesday night.

The occasion was the first fall show of the Edith Carleton Chapter I.O.D.E.

Truly a fashion parade, with its introduction of the musts of lines, color and fabrics for autumn, ensembles, the event was enhanced by the charming stage deportment of the models and the appropriate simplicity of the background setting.

This Symphony of Styles, in its range from simplicity to sophistication, had something to offer in what's new and right for any occasion. Sportswear and wools, suits, coats, furs and gowns illustrated the innovations as well as the variations of the conventional themes that are being introduced in the Canadian style world.

Emphasis of the evening was on ease of style and function with special designing for ample arm freedom and walking comfort whether in pencil slimness or pyramid fullness.

In the sportswear and suit department of this stage showing, it was found that tartans, jersey, velvet and corduroy are filling September and October fashions. The usual casual appearnce of a plaid suit is offset by classic lines which give these outfits an air of dignity not present in former years' styles. The ever practical gray wool dress or suit was dressed up with a touch of color or an original neckline styling that denied dullness and spelled chic.

Particularly stunning in this section was a grey and lime tweed wrap-around jersey and gold dickey front. Another striking outfit was a black gabardine suit with the new tucked yokem rolled high collar, fitted waist and classic cut skirt.

For sports loving gals, plaid slack suits and the ever-popular jeans, lined in colorful checks for showing at the cuffs were modelled.

The pyramid coat is still in and Wednesday evening it was shown in velvacune cloth and style with tailored full sleeve and cuff and sweeping tucks. Princess lines and tuxedo fronts were also in the fore, but the biggest news here was in materials, with rainproof blue velveteen the highlight.

The hit of the fur section was a natural color sheared raccoon coat —fashioned from raccoons with brush cuts. This new treatment of a light fur results in a coat of soft silvery grey brown down. Wednesday's exhibit was attractive in line as well with a petal collar, straight front and flared back, and cocktail cuffs.

Sophistication and femininity combined in the afternoon and evening gowns for delightful effects in both lines and color. Buttons, drapes and bows, new styles in necklines, pearls and rhinestones were all a part of these dresses designed to suit all occasions.

For formal wear, there was a particularly stunning two-piece black nylon and velvet creation with a strapless Chantilly lace over flesh colored taffeta bodice, unusually long jacket and corset style waist fitting into a finger-tip peplum. But the frothy nylon net over taffeta ballet length evening gowns in pastel shades, provided still popular with both models and audience.

Hats and accessories played an important part in this fashion drama with velvet and feathers being given star billing. In some cases these items in the ensembles were obviously chosen with care to portray striking color contrasts. In others they were used to blend into a general unity of effect in both line and color.

Even the hair was partially tinted in colors blending with milady's dancing gown.

The bride of the evening came forth in lace Chantilly over nylon marquisette fashioned with a tailored bodice, full knife pleated skirt and gathered overdrape. Her simple headdress with fingertip veil was an ideal complement for her gown. The bridesmaids in mauve and apple green identically fashioned two-piece ballet length gowns provided a perfect finishing touch to the bridal picture.

A unique feature of the evening was a flashback in fashions to 1870. Four models, wearing costumes loaned by Miss Linden Hall, gave the audience a glance of the latest in ladies' stylings just 82 years ago.

The evening's success was in no small way due to the excellent commentary of Dr. Agnes K. Moffat. And just the right atmosphere was present with the background music provided by Mr. Charles Allen at the organ.

The convener of the fashion show was Mrs. Graham Donaldson. Madame Lenart was in charge of makeup and Jo Donoghue did the hair styling. Mrs. J. Campbell was in charge of stage properties.

At intermission, Miss Mary McRae, regent of the Edith Carleton Chapter drew the names for the door prizes.

The models were: Misses Eleanor Jobbitt, Bunny Hutchison, Marg Ingram, Jackie Ross, Marjorie Wood, Joyce Campbell, Wilma Watson, Joan Lynch, Marcel Coulos, Beverley Martyn, Mrs. W. Durant, Mrs. G. Donaldson, Mrs. W. Ferguson, Mrs. R. Cole.

FIRST WOMAN M.P.

The 38 Club met at the Y.W.C.A. for an evening of card playing Wednesday night. Refreshments were served by Miss Winnie Hunter and Miss Helen Edmison.

Kindergarten Tea Held For Mothers

Kindergarten mothers were entertained at a tea Wednesday afternoon given by the executive of the King Edward Home and School Association in the school kindergarten room.

Centrepiece on the lace-covered tea table was a lovely arrangement of white and blue 'mums and two srystal candelabra held matching blue tapers. Silver tea services completed the setting arranged by Mrs. E. Wellman.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. J. Dunkerly, president of the association, assisted by Mrs. R. Kingdon and Mrs. L. Ross.

Tiny tots were entertained during the tea by several of the Grade 8 students.

Mrs. Dunkerly welcomed all those present and extended an invitation to them to attend the regular Home and School meetings. Principal John Telford extended a further welcome on behalf of the school, and introduced Miss C. Brickman, new kindergarten teacher, who spoke briefly to the mothers.

The tea was convened by Mrs. N. Gilders and Mrs. A. Clarke, Mrs. V. Reynolds and Mrs. G. MacMillan poured tea, and the tea assistants were Mrs. O. Rosborough, Mrs. F. Willison, Mrs. K. Wessenberg, Mrs. K. Wyatt, Mrs. R. Pearson, Mrs. W. Standbury, Mrs. C. Blackbourn, Mrs. E. Boyler, Mrs. H. Stanbick, and Mrs. V. Fee.

4 Basic Crafts Outlined To Guild Members

A general meeting of the Peterborough Handcraft Guild was held at the Peterborough Public Library.

After a short business session counducted by Mrs. Elmer Frost, president, Mrs. James Wharry introduced the speaker, Mrs. A. C. Mackie, of Young's Point, a potter and past president of the Lyceum Club and Women's Art Association of Canada.

Mrs. Mackie spoke on the four basic crafts, pottery, weaving, metalcraft and leatherwork. In simplifying our way of living we can find a use for many of our own craft articles. In making any article we should bear in mind its use as we have left behind the day of ornaments. In pottery we should have a picture in our mind of what we want to make before starting an article.

In weaving we should keep to simple materials and simple articles. Dog hair and angora rabbit hair can be used for yarn. It has to be spun and any serious weaver would get a lot of fun out of spinning her own yarn.

Mrs. Mackie said many practical things can be made of aluminum as it is light and showed the audience a lovely cigarette case made by a prisoner of war while in hospital in Malaya. She also had on display a pottery vase and bowl, beautiful leather bags, a handwoven rug from Africa, a skirt and scarf woven by her husband who is an excellent weaver, and woven place mats by Mrs. McKerchar.

Handbags are the most popular work in leather and she mentioned that beautiful gloves are made of deerskin at the Curve Lake Indian Reserve. If you know how to make gloves and how to handle leather and work with it you can mend small rips in your fur coat.

Mrs. Mackie told the group not to make a drudgery of work and to work with pleasure at your handcraft.

Mrs. O. C. Kallay thanked the speaker after which refreshments were served by Miss Alma Dobbin assisted by Mrs. James Wharry, Mrs. O. C. Kallay, Mrs. Nisbett, Miss June Fraser and Miss Lily Taylor.

Omemee Church Setting For Reynolds-Graham Vows

OMEMEE (ENS). — Trinity United Church, Omemee, banked with autumn flowers, provided an attractive setting for the wedding last Saturday afternoon of Gwendolyn Josephine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Graham of Omemee, to Mr. Stephen Garnet Reynolds of Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Reynolds of Lindsay.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt, minister of Trinity church. Wedding music was played by Mrs. Irvine Connell, and Mr. Harold Brooks of Ottawa was soloist. Before the ceremony he sang "Because," and during the signing of the register he sang "I'll Walk Beside You."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was beautifully gowned in white Chantilly lace over nylon net. The strapless floor length dress had a fitted bodice and flared skirt. It was topped by a lace jacket fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and high pleated collar in the back, petal pointed sleeves, self-covered buttons down the front from neckline to waist. The attached overskirt was open in front and fell into a slight train in the back. Her veil of embroidered nylon tulle, was caught in a halo headdress and fell into a long train in the back. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and white 'mums.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Henry Mark (Lorna), of Little Britain, as matron of honor, was becomingly gowned in ballerina length daffodil yellow lace over taffeta, with matching cap headdress and matching slippers. She carried a nosegay of small yellow 'mums. The two bridesmaids, Miss Margaret Graham of Omemee, sister of the bride, and Miss Elizabeth Downie of Toronto, were similarly frocked in London tan lace over taffeta with matching cap headdresses and matching slippers. They carried nosegays of bronze 'mums.

The groom was attended by his cousin, Mr. Edward Grozelle of Toronto. Ushers were Mr. Jack Smith of Toronto and Mr. George Atkinson of Hamilton.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents near Omemee. Mrs. Graham received in a navy gabardine suit with white blouse, and navy accessories. She wore a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother assisted wearing a two piece dress of hunter green velvet with black accessories and a corsage of sweetheart roses.

The bride and groom left for a motor trip to New York, the bride travelling in a navy gabardine suit with a cardinal red plush velvet shortie coat and matching hat with navy plume, white blouse and navy accessories.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds will reside at 399 Kennedy Ave., Toronto.

Guests attending the wedding were from Ottawa, Hamilton, Toronto, Weston, Peterborough, Lindsay, Omemee, Little Britain and Detroit, Michigan.

Detachable Cowl Collar Something Easy To Copy

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—As the first taste of winter came to London, fashion writers got down to the annual job of telling the public how to inject the Paris touch into existing wardrobes.

And this year, it seems, London and Paris couture designers are combining to make things easier than ever for the home dressmaker Many of the latest, most sumptuous details for winter clothes are easy to copy.

Take, for instance, the detachable cowl collar known as the "wide loop," used by both Jacque Fath and Jean Desses of Paris. This is just a deep loop of material that can be made in any fabric and twisted as you please round the shoulders of a strapless evening gown, a high-necked woollen suit or a tweed dress.

POPULAR TRIMMING

It is especially useful in an up-to-date fur fabric with the 'sheeny' look of a real fur. The key-note of winter styles is fur trimming of all kinds on everything from ground-length evening gowns to tent-like, poodle cloth coats that could go over more than one suit.

You don't have to be clever with your hands to bring a touch of Mayfair to that office suit. Imagine the magic that can be given a plain black suit by an egg-shaped hat in ocelot fur fabric matched to a triangular shoulder tie.

Egg-shaped hats have been a No. 1 favorite since Princess Margaret chose one, in white Grosgrain, to wear this summer. They can be purchased in all types of fur fabrics, in felt and velvet, for as little as £1.-

Crokinole Party Opens Club Year

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS). — A crokinole party in the United Church basement re-opened the season for the St. John's Young Adults Club this week after meetings were resumed following the summer recess.

Seven tables of progressive crokinole were arranged. High score winners were: Ladies, Enid Oliver; men, Mel McKeown.

Hot dogs and tea were served after the party.

What's Right?

When you have guests at home you suggest playing cards—and no one seems particularly enthusiastic about the suggestion.

WRONG: Get out the card table and get a game going anyhow, since you are hostess.

RIGHT: let the matter drop.

New Gains In Half-Size Fashions

FOR THE WOMAN who wears half-sizes, fashion is just so much twaddle unless she can find clothes that really fit. Not only should they fit, they should do things for her: make her eyes sparkle, her skin glow, her figure look young and firm.

She's not just looking for something with which to cover herself; this she could accomplish by using a barrel or a tarpaulin.

In these days of the shrunken dollar, no woman relishes paying out money for alterations. She feels she has the right to clothes that fit at the outset. And it still isn't easy for her to find what she wants—handsome clothes that are right for her figure.

Half-size dresses too often look as if they'd been planned for a figure not only mature but dumpy.

Each season, however, the half-size dress, suit and coat make new gains. As an example, we show here a winter suit (left) for a half-size figure.

Designed in a nubby tweed, it has a double-breasted jacket over a six-gore skirt. Jacket is collared and lined with soft, warm alpaca.

Modified fullness is used (right) for figure flattery in a coat by this same designer. In small-curl poodle fabric, it has a snug, young beaver collar. Sleeves are widely cuffed in beaver.

DOROTHY DIX

Useless To Try To Win Over In-laws Who Steadily Refuse

DEAR MISS DIX: My parents died a number of years ago and I have no brothers or sisters. Hence, when I married five years ago, I looked forward to having a family of my own, and being accepted by my husband's large family. Instead of taking me to their hearts, his people treated me like an interloper. No efforts of mine to please them or win their affections succeeded. I have honestly and sincerely tried to be nice to them, but they refuse to regard me as anything but a stranger.

The tension created by the situation has made me physically ill. All week I look forward, with dread, to the coming week-end visits. When I visit with my husband, they ignore me. I am not brought into their conversations and, if I do say something, I am immediately interrupted. Also, there are many quarrels among the family, which go on whether I'm there or not. As you can see, visiting their home is not a pleasant experience. They have managed to talk my husband out of every worthwhile plan we have made. I want him to leave me at home when he goes to visit, but he refuses to do this.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: My general contention on the subject of in-laws is that a little forbearance, tolerance, patience and consideration on both sides would eliminate almost all trouble in this connection. It is regrettably true, however, that sometimes even an abundance of these qualities on one side fails to win the opposition. The only course to follow then is one of equally stubborn resistance.

ASSERT YOURSELF

There is no reason why a daughter-in-law should be subjected to the rude and inhospitable treatment you describe. Straighten the backbone, girl; tell your husband flatly that you will not continue weekend visiting unless you are at least acorded the consideration to which even a casual visitor is entitled. He'll object strenuously, of course, and the in-laws will criticize a-plenty, but both will give you grudging respect for ceasing to act as a doormat.

Since the family is a quarrelsome one, even among its closest members, you have no cause to feel that you particularly are singled out for ill treatment. They are not a harmonious group; even if you were accepted as one of the family, you would still not find happiness or contentment among them. Such people should be the objects of your pity—but stay as far away from them as possible. They can also be very dangerous.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: For the past few months I have been very much interested in a man with whom I have come in contact through business. He is always pleasant to me, often pays me compliments, etc. However, he has never asked me for a date. I am in my early 20's and I think he is, too.

DELIA O.

ANSWER: Without knowing more of the young man's personal life, you are setting yourself up for trouble by becoming seriously interested in him. Perhaps he is married, engaged, or going steady. If he is free, and likes you, he'll get around to asking for a date, never fear.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband's mother has never liked me, and she has promised him a car and a new home if he will divorce me. He can't make up his mind what to do. I am 24.

MARY F.

ANSWER: You certainly have a poor specimen of manhood if he actually considers his mother's offer. Fortunately for you, you live in a state where divorce is not so easily obtained. He'll need better grounds than a desire for a car before the law will grant his freedom. If he goes ahead with his mother's plan, make sure your own legal rights are well guarded. Have a lawyer or, if you can't afford one, see the Legal Aid Society for proper counsel.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Fruit Desserts In Land Of Plenty

It's safe to say I COULD SCREAM, because you won't believe me anyway.

Out in my kitchen at the present moment are five baskets of fruits and vegetables. It always happens when we are going out for dinner two nights in succession or some member of the family is leaving to go to school or something.

Barb, arrived with tomatoes and potatoes (bless her); Peady arrived with hearts of gold melons; Olive, my neighbor, brought plums from her mother's farm, and Pete has just walked in with a basket of pears "that looked so wonderful, Mum, I couldn't pass them."

Up until this moment I have never thought of this column as being an escapist occupation, but today it is. For instead of panicking over all of that fruit and stuff I acted as if a staff of slaves would arrive any moment to look after it somehow, and I elegantly started to make

POACHED PLUMS WITH CREME BRULEE

The poached plums part is for ordinary people like you and me, but the creme brulee demands guests. I want you to have these lovely dishes in your files for entertaining occasions. The poached plums are good with heavy cream or nothing added, but must be COLD. A good accompaniment on week-day nights for dinner is crackers and cheese.

Poached Plums or Plum Compote:

Mix together 2 cups water and 1 cup sugar and bring to boiling. Drop into this boiling syrup enough washed whole plums to cover bottom of pan — just one layer. Simmer very gently, turning after first 3 minutes. Turn only once, for as these cook they easily break. Simmer about 10 minutes. Skim out plums into bowl and add more until you have enough to serve your family. Pour remaining syrup over plums and chill.

Use this same method for pear compote, but pare and core pears and add lemon rind and cinnamon stick to the syrup.

CREME BRULEE
(Clip This Recipe)

Heat until it almost reaches boiling point—it will shiver and shimmer on top—3 cups whipping cream (!). Have ready 6 egg yolks beaten with rotary or electric beater for at least 10 minutes. Stir these into the hot cream over very low heat until it thickens. Pour into glass baking dish about 12 x 7 inches that is shallow. Cool at room temperature. One hour before serving time sprinkle over the top 1/3 cup sifted brown sugar. Pass under very hot broiler to melt sugar and make a dark glaze—this takes about 1 minute. CHILL. When serving, ladle the chilled plums into stemmed glasses and spoon the creme brulee over them.

MARIGOLD PEAR SALAD

Wash, pare and core ripe Bartlett pears. Mash cream cheese and to it add a little cream and some chopped nuts and blend until it is of stiff but creamy consistency.

Fill the cavities of the pear halves with this and put them together again, and place, small end up, on crisp lettuce cups. To some more white cream cheese add just enough cream or maraschino cherry juice to make it of right consistency to pour thickly. Spoon it over the [illegible] pear, and [illegible] chopped [illegible] of other nuts. To make the salad larger if to be used as main course at a luncheon, apricot halves or frost grapes may be added as a border, or candied ginger.

WESTERN APPLE PIE
(Sour Cream)

My reducing readers will be pained with all this talk of cream—but they must remember there are plenty of skinny readers too.

Line a 9-inch pie plate with rich pastry. Chill. Sift together ¾ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon flour, and ¼ teaspoon salt. Mix together 1 beaten egg, 1¼ cups sour cream and ½ teaspoon vanilla and beat them into the sugar mixture until smooth. Add 2 cups finely chopped tart apples. Pour into pastry-lined pie plate. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for 15 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 deg. Fahr. for 30 minutes.

Stalin Says War Inevitable Between Capitalist States

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Marshal Stalin today revived the theory that "war is inevitable" between capitalistic states.

He reiterated earlier statements that the only way to abolish war is to destory "imperialism."

He made the statements in an article in the Bolshevik Magazine.

Stalin forecast a deepening crisis for the western powers as a result of a world decline in markets.

STRONG RIVALRY

He said rivalry between capitalistic states was stronger in practice than rivalry between systems. England first and then France would be obliged to tear loose from the embrace of the United States. The magazine is the authoritative publication of the Communist party.

In the 50-page article Stalin says his own thesis that markets could be stabilized for a period during the general crisis of capitalism is no longer valid.

Stalin's article "The Economic Problems of Socialism in the U.S.S.R.," gave a detailed analysis of the economic problems facing the Soviet Union.

The most important economic result of the Second World War, Stalin wrote, was the collapse of a unified all-embracing world market.

DEEPENED CRISIS

This had further deepened the general crisis of the world capitalist system, he contended.

Two parallel markets had developed opposing each other. Stalin forecast the expansion of the new parallel world market constituted by the Soviet Union, China and Eastern Europe which the western "blockade" had helped to form. He predicted a further narrowing of the markets for capitalist states with heightened inter-capitalist antagonisms.

Stalin said a war between capitalistic countries is more probable than a war between capitalistic and Communist countries.

COMRADES MISTAKEN

In expressing his views, Stalin said he was correcting the mistakes of other Communists who believed there was little likelihood of conflicts between capitalistic countries because the United States as they stated it, had subjected them to satellite positions.

Stalin said:

"Certain comrades contend that because of new international conditions following the Second World War, wars between capitalistic countries ceased to be inevitable."

These comrades, the Soviet leader said, are mistaken. He explained they felt that contradictions between socialism and capitalism were stronger than the contradictions between capitalistic countries themselves — that they take the view the United States has so subjected other capitalistic countries that there is little possibility of future wars between them.

Not so, said Stalin.

Buffalo Man Goes On Trial

WELLAND (CP) — A Buffalo man, Theodore William Honik, 39, went on trial here today on a manslaughter charge arising out of an accident on the Queen Elizabeth Way in Stamford Township on Mar. 1, 952, which claimed the life of Mrs. Alice Graves, 68, of Port Robinson.

Mr. Justice G.A. Gale is presiding, replacing Mr. Justice J.L. McLennan, who was stricken with a heart attack on Tuesday and is now resting at the Welland hospital. His condition is described as being good, but he has been ordered to rest at least a week.

At the opening of court this morning, Mr. Justice Gale indicated he would consult with Mr. Justice McLennan regarding disposition of the rape charge against Samuel Perry and Dominic Paulo, both of Niagara Falls, whose trial was interrupted by the heart attack.

A decision will also be made regarding sentence to be imposed on Carl Alexander Bell, 17, of Niagara Falls, who was found guilty of manslaughter in connection with the stabbing of his stepmother Mrs. Dorothy Bell, last August 28. Bell had been remanded till today for sentence.

Saunders Expects Favorable Decision

SARNIA (CP) — Robert Saunders, Ontario Hydro chairman, said last night he expects a favorable decision soon from the International Joint Commission on an application for joint development of St. Lawrence River power by Ontario and New York State.

This, in turn, might pave the way for all-Canadian development of th seaway, he said in an address at a ladies' night banquet of the Sarnia Rotary Club.

The International Joint Commission will meet in Washington Oct. 20.

Sentenced To 12 Years In Manslaughter Case

TORONTO (CP)—Hugh F Gillis, 28, of Cape Breton today was sentenced to 12 years in penitentiary for manslaughter in the Easter morning strangling last April of Mrs. Violet Smith, a 45-year-old widow.

"This crime was committed due to your over-consumption of liquor" said Chief Justice J.C. McRuer on passing sentence. "It was only on this assumption that the jury could find you guilty of manslaughter. Otherwise you would have been found guilty of murder. The jury has taken the merciful and proper view of the evidence."

Imperials To Play Without 9 Regulars

SARNIA (CP) — Coach Red Douglas of the league leading Sarnia Imperials will be without nine regulars when his senior Ontario Rugby Football Union team meets Windsor Royals Saturday night in Windsor.

Five Imperials were put out of action in two games last week-end. They were outside Jack Hunt, inside Glen Murray, middles Dutch Davey and Don Mattinly and defensive halfback Don Knowles. Out with injuries before last week-end's game were Johnny Chorostecki, Al Farris and George Curtis of the backfield and outside Bob Sokol.

To date the Imps have won eight straight games, six in league play, and now have an average of 30 points a game for and five against.

Shooting Charges Remanded Week

Two men charged in connection with a shooting fracas near Apsley last Saturday were remanded until October 9 when they appeared in police court today.

Donald Hall, 29, of Scarborough Junction was brought from hospital where he is recovering from a shotgun wound in his right shoulder.

Melvin Tripp, 30, Burleigh township, is charged with shooting a loaded shotgun at Hall with intent to do grievous bodily harm.

The same charge has been laid against Hall, who is charged with shooting a loaded shotgun at Tripp with intent to do grievous bodily harm.

Tripp is being defended by W. J. Arthur Fair. Robert Carley appeared for Hall.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said it was likely that both would be further remanded as it is not expected that Hall will be out of the hospital in a week. Both Hall and Tripp are on $2,000 bail.

Two Doors Pushed In

An estimated $95 damage resulted Wednesday noon, when two cars collided at King and George Streets.

Patrol Sgt. Claire McGillen reported all the damage was to the car driven by Clifford Guthrie of Rockcroft. Guthrie was travelling north on George Street, and both doors on the left side of his car were pushed in.

The other car, driven by Vernon Tarkington, 425 Sheridan Street, was going east on King Street. He said he stopped for the stop sign and began pulling to the right, to make a right hand turn when he did not see any northbound traffic approaching.

Assault Charge As Boy Hurt

BARRIE (CP) — Police said today that an assault charge will be laid against a woman whom they claim broke the arm of a three-year-old boy when she knocked him off a fence.

The boy, Ronnie Shaw, received hospital treatment and then was permitted to go home.

Police said the woman pushed the youngster as he clambered over her fence. He fell to the ground breaking his arm.

Police said the woman told them she "hit him a clip."

She told of trouble with children running through her yard. She said she had her clothes out to dry and one youngster tore a dress when he caught a toy gun in it.

Miss Nicholls said she didn't believe she hit the boy. She said he fell in front of her car and she stopped in time. Police Chief Leslie Foster said the child might have brushed against the fender of the car as he ran across the road from in front of a parked auto.

Chief Foster said: "Miss Nicholls' car was fully under control and she was . . . in no way to blame." No charges would be laid, the chief added.

Miss Nicholls said she took the boy to a doctor's office and gave her telephone number to the youngster's mother.

The boy hit is Peter Perley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Perley.

Peace Returns To POW Camp After Outbreak

CHEJU ISLAND, Korea (AP)—Peace returned to bloody Cheju Island today in the wake of yesterday's rioting in which 56 Chinese Communist prisoners of war were killed.

United States troops searched every compound on the island. The army said there were no incidents and the situation was stable.

Eighty American infantrymen stormed into a 500-man compound yesterday to restore order. The prisoners, celebrating the third anniversary of the founding of the Red China regime, attacked them.

Forty-five Chinese were killed on the spot, 11 others died later and 109 were wounded. Two U.S. soldiers were slightly injured.

PROTEST 'MASSACRE'

At Panmunjom, site of the Korean truce talks, the Communist armistice delegation protested "this major incident of massacre" in a note to Maj.-Gen. William K. Harrison, chief United Nations negotiator.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il, top Red negotiator, told the Allies: "Your side will have to bear full responsibility for all the consequences arising from this grave incident."

Tractors, Young Farmers Increase In Plowing Matches

Tractors dominated more than ever the field of competition at the county plowing match Wednesday on the farm of Fred Campbell, near Brealey's School, North Monaghan.

Four teams of horses were entered in the only class left on the program for their natural power. That was two more than a year ago, but the impression of the day's performance was a feeling that draft horses in that work are being steadily crowded out of the active picture. Two of the plowmen with teams were William Hooton and Ernie Kelk, both of long experience in district contests.

Mr. Kelk was a competitor at the match 36 years ago, when Fred Campbell was secretary of the county association.

Salient also in sense of change was the increasing element of youth from graduate junior farmers down to youngsters just entering their teens. Recognition of the extensive use of tractors and the expanse of their acreage of work was seen in the utility class that was allotted an 18-acre field of Henry Batten's farm across the way.

SPECIAL CLASS

Then there was the special class for boys of the farm machinery club, adding more emphasis to the mechanical aspects of farm work. Boys are not just learning to drive the tractors; they have to become expert almost to the extent of taking them apart and putting them together again.

The results were as follows:

Open class in sod for horses, jointer plows: 1 Wm. Hooton, Ida; 2 Stan Smith, Ennismore; 3 Ed. Ballantyne, R.R. 1; 4 E. Kelk, North Monaghan.

Tractors, open-mounted plows, one to three furrows not less than ten inches: 1 Irvine McIntosh; 2 Wellie Pearson, Lakefield.

Tractors, open, two - furrow plows: 1 John Batten; 2 John Hooton; 3 Reg. Ferguson.

Tractors, open, three - furrow plows: 1 Robert Jackson, Otonabee; 2 Walter Orde.

Tractors, boys and girls under 20 years: 1 Sandy Carlow, Indian River; 2 Roger Northey, Smith; 3 Glen Jones, Smith; 4 Fred Harrison, Smith.

General purpose class, time factor included, 1 hour 15 minutes to plow 1½ acres with two-furrow plows or three-quarters of an acre for three-furrow plows, land to be judged according to usual standards: 1 Gordon Bradfield; 2 Keith McIntyre; 3 Robert Jackson; 4 Sandy Carlow; 5 Reg. Ferguson; 6 John Edmison.

Special class, open to teams of two young men of the farm machinery club, plow to be reassembled and adjusted, and ¼ to ½ acre of land plowed in limited time, R. G. Gregg of the Ontario Department of Agriculture in charge of this class; 1 Earl Windrem, Cavan, and Andrew Pugh; 2 John Edmison and Alan Drummond; 3 Allan and Gerald Bolton, Douro; 4 Don McFarlane and Percy Adamson; 5 William Chamberlain and Carl Howson, Otonabee; 6 Everett McFarlane and Keith McIntyre.

TROPHIES

Trophies and special: The J. H. Burnham Cup for the highest scoring land in any class, won by Stanley Smith of Ennismore.

Royal Bank Cup, for boys under 21, highest scoring land, won by Stanley Smith.

Team special, best going plow team, won by William Hooton.

Team and equipment prize, won by Ernie Hughie, Wolsley St.

Esso special, best plowed land in tractor sod classes, won by John Batten.

Esso special for best land in sod classes for horses, won by John Batten.

The judge was Winnfred Timbers of Stouffville.

Open To Conviction On Seaway—Senator

MALONE, N.Y. (AP) — Senator Irving M. Ives said last night he still is opposed to the St. Lawrence seaway proposal but will always be "open to reason, to new argument and to new evidence."

In a talk to the Franklin county Republican committee, the Norwich Republican revoiced his support of proposals to develop the river's hydro-electric resources.

But as for the seaway, Ives told residents of this area near the St. Lawrence:

"I must tell you in all honesty that my conviction remains unchanged. . .I was not convinced of the wisdom of the case in the seaway's behalf."

Magistrate Says Regrets Must Dismiss Case

"If this man ever comes before me again I will cancel his driver's licence for as long as the law allows," Magistrate W. R. Philp said today after dismissing a charge of leaving the scene of an accident against George Whitehead, of 29 Charlotte St.

The magistrate said he was dismissing the charge "through the weakness of the crown's case," and not on the basis of Whitehead's testimony that he was not driving the car when the accident occurred.

Magistrate Philp said he regretted having to dismiss the charge, "because this man shouldn't be driving a car."

Whitehead was charged with being the driver of a car which collided with two cars and a light truck on George St., near Princess St., the night of September 13.

BELIEVED GUILTY

Magistrate Philp made it quite clear in stating that he was dismissing the charge because of "weakness in the crown's case" and the warning he gave Whitehead, that he had no doubt that Whitehead was guilty and should have been punished.

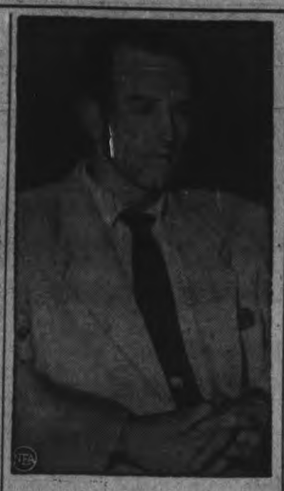
However, as Whitehead argued, the crown failed to prove he was drdiving his car when the accident occurred.

Constables William G. Scott and Dennis Traynor said Whitehead did not tell them who was driving his car when the accident occurred. Whitehead said he told the officers de didn't know who was driving it and that one of his friends must have taken it. He told this story in the witness box, but was vague about details of his whereabouts that evening, and gave his testimony while either looking out the window or at the floor.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw asked Magistrate Philp to draw the inference that Whitehead was driving the car because from the way he gave his evidence and the story he told, it was evident he was not telling the truth.

"I don't think I can go that far," Magistrate Philp replied.

"I don't believe what he has told me, both from what he said and the manner in which he said it and his general manner. That being so, I don't think I can go the next step and say therefore he must have been driving the car."



BADLY DAMAGED

Whitehead's car was found badly damaged on the parking lot of a King St. hotel, the afternoon following the accident. Damage would be approximately $400 Constable William G. Scott said. He said he found parts of two front fenders at the scene of the accident. One had a licence plate attached. The parts produced in court were missing from the car, Constable Scott said and the licence plate corresponded with the rear licence plate on the damaged car which is registered in Whitehead's name.

Damage to the other vehicles was estimated by police to be more than $400.

Whitehead claimed he had been drinking at a hotel on Simcoe St. at the time of the accident was said to have occurred. A beverage room waiter was in court to back this up Whitehead said. When he finished giving his testimony and was about to call the waiter, he told Magistrate Philp that the man had left.

When he left the hotel Whitehead said he could not find his car which he had left parked in a laneway near the hotel and later located it in the parking lot of a King St. hotel. He said he intended reporting the damage to his car the night he was picked up and arrested.

BALLPLAYER HELD — Jim Rivera, Chicago White Sox outfielder, awaits questioning in Chicago police headquarters. The rookie fielder was arrested on a charge of raping a young housewife. Rivera, who served a prison sentence on a similar charge while in the Army, admitted having been with the woman, but denied having attacked her.

Ramming Planes May Be Needed For Defence

WASHINGTON (AP) The United States Air Force disclosed today it has considered, as a last-ditch defence against any atomic attack, the use of planes that would ram enemy aircraft and survive.

But, a spokesman said, there is "no active project" under way to develop such a rammer plane. He said it was considered "along with all possible methods, no matter how fantastic."

The question of using specially-designed piloted planes for crashing into enemy craft—similar to the Japanese kamikaze of the Second World War except that the pilot theoretically would live—was raised this week by the Air Force Association.

MIGHT BE NECESSARY

The A.F.A., composed largely of air force veterans, suggested in its magazine "Air Force" that ramming might be necessary as a last-ditch defence.

The article said that this is especially true because of the likelihood that "the Soviets, who have been amazingly successful in jamming the Voice of America, could jam our electronically-guided missiles. . ."

The air force spokesman commenting on the proposal, said that, generally speaking, if a fighter gets close enough to a bomber for ramming, it ought to be able to destroy the invader by more conventional means—rockets or other arms.

Contract Dispute Has Been Settled

OTTAWA (CP) — A contract dispute between the Northern Telephone Company of New Liskeard, and The Communications Workers of America has been settled, the Labor Department announced today.

The settlement provides for a general wage increase of $2 a week for traffic and clerical employees and of five cents an hour for plant employees. The increase will be retroactive to May 1.

About 450 employees are covered by the contract. The agreement was signed before a conciliation board set up by the Labor Department was fully constituted.

Three passengers and three members of the train crew were taken to Pennsylvania station medical offices for inhalator treatment.

Board Inquiry Into Price Of Anti-Freeze

OTTAWA CP) — The Tariff Board has been asked to make a full investigation into prices of anti-freeze, a board spokesman said today.

The investigation, opening Nov. 17, will study the price spread between the amount paid by producers for ethylene glycol and the amount paid by the consumer for anti-freeze. It will also determine whether there should be a tariff on imports of ethylene glycol.

The probe was initiated after Dow Chemical of Canada, which claims to be the first large producer of anti-freeze in this country, urged the government to place a tariff on ethylene glycol imports, which now enter duty-free. The company said that heavy imports in the last year or two had cut its production seriously.

Finance Minister Abbott turned the matter over to the board, adding a reference that the board, which under section 4 of the tariff board act has power to investigate various industries, study the price spread question.

Believe Canadian Crude Oil Will Find Market In US

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Crude oil from Alberta wells may be finding its way to U. S. markets as far south as California next year.

Officials of the Trans-Mountain Oil Fipe Line Co., in Edmonton say they are convinced there will be a market for Canadian oil in the Pacific northwest and California when the 711-mile line from Edmonton to the west coast is completed next August.

One official said California is experiencing an increasing shortage of oil. Already refinery capacity totalling 100,000 barrels daily is idle in the state.

A report issued by the pipeline company showed the 1949 consumption of refined products in the Vancouver, Seattle, Portland and Spokane area was 243,742 barrels a day.

By 1955 this will have increased to 299,773 barrels and by 1960 the requirements will be 333,423 barrels.

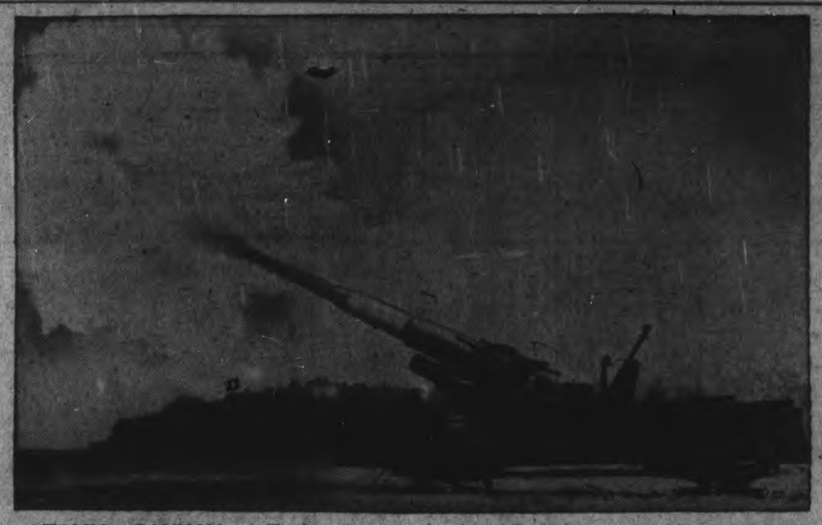
The Trans mountain pipeline, with an ultimate capacity of 200,000 barrels daily, will go a long way toward meeting the demands of west coast consumers on both sides of the border, pipeline officials say.

A new trade regulation recently passed in the U. S. has knocked down the import duty on Canadian crude oil from 21 cents a barrel to 10½ cents. Under the new duty, it is held likely that Alberta oil can compete directly with California and other crudes in the Pacific northwest markets.

It is estimated that 198,000 barrels daily will be available for the Trans-Mountain line by 1955. This is just 2,000 barrels short of the daily capacity of the line.

Wants Higher Tariff Wall

OTTAWA (CP) — A prominent Canadian chemicals industrialist last night appealed to the federal government to build a higher tariff wall for the fast-growing chemical industry and save it from falling prey to foreign competition.



Dr. R. S. Jane of Montreal, president of the Chemical Institute of Canada, said that higher tariffs need not mean that the consumer would be "penalized" with higher prices.

An agreement could be worked out between the government and any chemical company which would guarantee that the company would supply the tariff-protected item to Canadian consumers at equivalent world prices. If the company failed to live up to the agreement, then the tariff would be removed "and the foreign product allowed to enter free of duty."

Dr. Jane addressed the Chemical Institute's Ottawa section.

Killed In Crash

SIMCOE (CP)—Mrs. Nellie Bell, about 40, of Simcoe, was killed last night when a car in which she was riding crashed into the rear of a parked transport truck on No. 3 highway, four miles east of here.

ATOMIC CANNON — First official photographs were released recently of a huge cannon which the Army says can fire atomic shells accurately—day or night and in any kind of weather—a distance of at least 20 miles. The gun, a 75-ton self-propelled monster capable of speeds of 35 miles an hour, was developed and perfected by Army Ordnance at the Aberdeen (Md.) proving ground where it has undergone firing tests. The Army never has hinted that the big gun actually has fired an atomic shell, but it says flatly it can and will. The Atomic Energy Commission, in tests last year and this year in Nevada, has explored nuclear devices of a calibre small enough to be fired by the new cannon.

Deportation Hearings Nearing End

WINDSOR (CP) — Deportation hearings for Canadians who have entered the U.S. illegally are nearing an end, with 87 of an estimated 120 illegal entrants already tracked down by the U.S. immigration service.

Since the hearings began in August, 65 Canadians have been indicted by a Detroit grand jury on charges of using false documents to obtain visas. Of these, 59 have been arraigned and 40 have pleaded guilty and been deported. Nineteen others are awaiting trial.

Of the approximately 120 cases investigated by the Immigration Department, action has been taken in 85 and the balance will shortly be picked up. About half of these have moved away from the Detroit area since receiving their visas.

The U.S. holds warrants for the arrest of three Windsorites who failed to appear to answer charges of aiding and abetting Canadians to obtain false visas. They are Roy H. McBride, former Windsor bank manager; Mrs. M.M. Prest and Mrs. Nicholas Steigerald, both visa agents.

The Progressive Conservative leader is on a fact-finding tour of Europe. He returned to London by air from Paris last night after a visit to France, Switzerland and Germany.

In Germany he visited Berlin, Bonn and the Canadian 27th Infantry Brigade at Hannover. He is accompanied by his wife.

Feels Like Different Person Since Syntona Built Him Up

Suffered With So Much Gas, Heartburn, Sour Stomach, Got Bad Headaches, Dizzy Spells, Slept Poorly, Felt Fatigued.

MR. GEORGE WALTERS

"I was feeling completely rundown and you will readily understand how pleased I am with the good results I got by taking Syntona," said Mr. George Walters, well-known resident of Strathroy, Ont., in a recent report.

"My stomach was acting up very badly. Food just soured in my stomach causing gas, heartburn and bloating and everything I ate disagreed with me. I slept poorly, had rheumatic aches and pains in my legs and joints and I felt tired out all the time. To make matters worse, almost every day I would get a throbbing headache and sick, dizzy feelings.

"Once before when I wasn't feeling well Syntona had given me very satisfactory results, so I decided to try it again. I took it regularly, as I always do with medicine, and the results I got are really remarkable. The trouble with my digestion is cleared up so I can eat anything once more, I have gained in strength, get a good night's sleep and don't get tired as I did before. Also, the rheumatic pain, headaches and dizziness are not troubling me now and I'm actually feeling like a different person."

Thousands of men and women when taking Syntona tell of the same relief from their suffering as that experienced by Mr. Walters. Why not give this pure Herbal Medicine a chance to help you, too?

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store. (Advt.)

Give Butcher 10 Years Suspended Sentence

KITCHENER (CP)—Pharaes Koch, Kitchener butcher, was placed on 10 years suspended sentence when he appeared in court yesterday for sentence on theft charges arising from sales of stock in 1949. Evidence in the case was heard one year ago and the accused remanded until yesterday for sentence.

At the original hearing, testimony indicated the charges arose from sales of stock in Pharick gold mines limited of which Koch was then an official. Basis of the charges was that in selling the stock Koch did not account to the company for all the proceeds.

Says Germans Good Associates

NORTH LUFFENHAM, England (CP)—George Drew, opposition leader in the Canadian House of Commons, said yesterday he feels that Germans will prove "valuable associates" in the tasks that lie ahead of the western world. He did not elaborate.

In an informal address to Canadian officers at the R.C.A.F.'s No. 1 Fighter Wing, the Progressive Conservative leader said he noticed a "sense of revival" in West Germany on his recent visit there.

"The Germans are working—in fact, they are working like beavers," Drew said.

Drew managed to visit East Berlin briefly and found things vastly different—as though a "grey cloud" had descended.

The opposition leader's speech came during a six-hour visit to Canada's biggest air base abroad.

CHARGES OF UNHEALTHY working conditions were hurled by union leaders today as 400 workers at the Deloro Smelting and Refining Co. plant, near Marmora, went on strike at 8 a.m. The above photo shows peaceful picketing early today outside the main gate of the plant which is now completely shut down.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

400 Men Strike Top Cobalt Smelter On Continent Shut

By DAVE WHITE

MARMORA.—Four hundred workers at the Deloro Smelting and Refining Co., four miles northeast of here, went on strike today to back up their contract demands. As the workers on the graveyard shift filed out of the gate at 8 a.m. production at the largest cobalt smelting and refining plant in North America came to a standstill. Until the strike is settled there will be no more of the valuable stellite alloy manufactured. It is needed in defence production for gun barrels, jet blades, machine tools and other equipment in the precision tool field.

Pickets from Local 889, of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, were immediately placed at five entrances to the plant—including a dozen at the main gate. The picketing went along without incident. Office workers were allowed in as well as foremen and maintenance men.

40-HOUR WEEK

The workers want a substantial wage increase, a 40-hour week, and fringe benefits—including a greater company share of the cost of sick-pay insurance.

For their part management have offered to accept the majority report of a conciliation board set up by the Ontario Labor Relations Board.

Both sides appeared today to be preparing for a showdown fight. Local 889 claim the strike is "100 per cent effective" and that they have lined up the support of Marmora merchants. Tents are being set up so the pickets can keep a 24-hour watch and the ladies' auxiliary of the local are planning meals for the men.

The wealthy Sudbury union, Local 598 of Mine-Mill, has promised financial support.

George Herman, Mine-Mill international representative, said today that the men will receive their last paycheck on Oct. 10. After that—if the strike continues—they will get strike pay "as it is needed."

"HEALTH AFFECTED"

One of the main issues is the union charge that because of the fumes and dust the health of the workers is being harmed. They indignantly point to the fact that in July the Continental Casualty Company cancelled their sick-pay insurance.

They say the arsenic fumes cause skin diseases, irritate the mucous membranes in the nose and throat, and that cobalt and its compounds have caused deadly lung cancer.

"It's no wonder the insurance company had high claims," said Bill Burke who has been an employee for 20 years. "The situation at Deloro is getting worse. My father, William Burke, worked here before me. The doctor warned him that if he went back to Deloro he would be dead in 10 years. Well, the doctor was right; my father died 10 years later of lung cancer."

Robert Reid, a welder, who gets $1.06 an hour, said that while working at the plant he had received arsenic burns "from the

U.K. A-Blast Goes Off Successfully

See Ragged Cloud Mile Wide; Follows Shattering Crack

ONSLOW, Australia (Reuters) — Britain's first atomic explosion today ripped a tiny slit in the veil of secrecy surrounding her atomic weapons program. A British newspaper said it gives Prime Minister Churchill the "trump" he needs to reopen exchange of atomic secrets with the United States.

The blast blazed chiefly like a rising sun over the barren Monte Bello Islands 85 miles off Australia's northwest coast.

A ragged cloud soared swiftly to 6,000 feet, spread out until it was a mile wide in the centre, then rose to 12,000 feet and began dissipating.

A screened handful of newspaper men watched the explosion at 8 a.m. (5:30 a.m. EST Thursday) that made Britain the third power known to have a working atomic weapon. They watched the historic detonation from a hilltop vantage point at Rough Range, 65 miles almost due south of the centre of the target area.

NO OUTSIDERS

No United States observers were among those present. Britain barred newspaper men from outside the Commonwealth as part of a tit-for-tat security program started when the U.S. banned the exchange of atomic-research information after the war.

The weapon was the 37th of its type ever exploded. The U.S., beginning with the test blast in 1945 that preceded the two U.S. wartime atomic bombs dropped on Japan, has exploded 33. Three atomic explosions have been reported detonated in Russia since the war.

Use Torn Blankets To Reach Yard, Take Janitor's Car

WHITBY (CP)—Two convicted car thieves cut their way through the roof of a century-old section of the Ontario county jail early today and escaped—by stealing the courthouse caretaker's car. Gordon Albert Reid, 17, of Toronto, given a year March 6 for car theft and two years Sept. 12 for manslaughter, and Nicholas Marchuk, 36, of Brantford, sentenced yesterday to two years in penitentiary for car theft, fled as a shot was fired at them. They had been awaiting transfer to other prisons.

The getaway car was described in a police broadcast as a blue 1947-model coach, licence number 46Z41 owned by Allan Lavis.

Reid was convicted of manslaughter in the traffic death of Mrs. Carl Shortt of Oshawa. He received a reformatory term.

DESCRIBE ESCAPEES

Reid is described as five feet six inches tall, heavy-set, with dark hair and wearing blue denims. Marchuk, five feet eight, had a gray sport coat.

Officials said the men escaped through a hole in the slate roof of the west cell block and used torn blankets to lower themselves to the jail yard. They climbed the outer jail wall and dropped 20 feet to the ground at the south side of the jail, entered the courthouse garage and took the caretaker's car.

The jail is across the street from the office of the district detachment of the Provincial Police.

Dr. Horace Bascom, sheriff, told a reporter this morning:

"Those men should have been out of here before this. We have been trying to get rid of them."

It was reported both prisoners had previous records.

FIND BAR CUT

TORONTO (CP).—Don Jail guards today found one jail bar sawn through and another partially cut. Both were carefully camouflaged.

C. F. Neelands, acting deputy-minister of reform institutions said the bars were cut some time ago. He said even if the second bar had been cut the window screens would have prevented escape.

Damage Heavy As Storm Lashes U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — The cool tang of deepening autumn moved in over the northeastern United States today on the heels of a damaging lashing burst of wind and rain.

The storm lifted rooftops, felled trees, shattered windows, started fires and tore loose power lines last night in a brief, wild prelude to the swiftly-falling temperatures.

Darkly overcast skies and cool air in the 60s today covered New England, where the wind-driven thunderstorms had left a path of uprooted trees, tangled television aerials and electric failures.

Two automobiles, their drivers blinded by rain, plunged off an embankment last night in Beverly, Mass., killing Robert E. Mansfield, 61, and his wife, Grace, 60.

In New York City, gusts ranging up to 75 miles an hour ripped up part of a wooden ramp near Manhattan's Staten Island ferry station, and sent a shower of broken glass into a crowd of rush-hour commuters.

At least 15 were injured. Nine were sent to hospital.

Across the city, the wind tore awnings and knocked down signs.

Water, Tear Gas Subdue Prisoners

VANCOUVER (CP)—Rioters were subdued by water and tear gas yesterday after three hours of mob rule in the south wing of crowded Oakalla prison. The biggest jail riot in British Columbia's history came to a soggy finish when armed prison officers sliced through a barricaded door with an acetylene torch to free two guards seized as hostages. A few hours later Warden Hugh Christie announced that "immediate and decisive" disciplinary action—including use of the paddle — had been taken against prisoners actively involved in the pillage.

SLEPT ON FLOOR

Some prisoners spent the night tossing on the damp floors of cells where they had smashed beds and windows and uprooted plumbing fixtures.

That was what Warden Christie meant when he said some of the punishment was meted out by the prisoners themselves. They must live in the disorder until repairs can be carried out.

No one was injured. But damage ranged into the thousands of dollars.

Eighty-five of some 800 prisoners held in the provincial jail were brought before a "warden's court" after order was restored.

Of this number, about 45 were found to be actively involved in the destruction. An undisclosed number got the paddle—whippings across the bare backside with a long leather strap—while others lost good-behavior time or were reprimanded.

PROTEST CROWDING

The prisoners rioted to protest overcrowding in the cell block—a second bunk was placed in all cells this week—and demanded a one-man-to-a-cell program.

Actress Gives $35,000 Party

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Marion Davies tossed the gayest Hollywood party in years last night and early today — so gay that even crying Johnny Ray, the guest of honor, spent most of the night laughing.

More than 1,000 of Hollywood's elite flexed their social biceps and drank champagne in the famed film queen's spacious Beverly Hills mansion.

The Cadillacs were stacked up bumper to bumper for a mile getting into the Davies estate. Three bands furnished dance music. Miss Davies and her sea-faring husband Capt. Horace Brown, received the guests side by side. The party cost more than $35,000, according to an estimate made by one of Miss Davies' aides. The party honored Ray's opening tomorrow night at Ciro's nightclub.

Judge Sentences Seneca To Life Term

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Archie Seneca today was sentenced to life imprisonment for manslaughter in the death of Mrs. Lydia Riley, one of three Muncey reserve residents found shot to death May 11.

Seneca, 33-year-old father of six children had nothing to say before sentence and remained stolid and outwardly impassive as he heard his fate. His wife was in court.

Mr. Justice Ferguson who presided through the six day trial called the jury's manslaughter verdict "a very lenient and merciful view of the evidence."

"Their verdict however carried with it the finding that you killed Lydia Riley."

"SHOCKING" CASE

The judge said the case was "one of the most shocking that has ever occurred in this county."

"It's clear to me from your previous conviction that it will never be safe to allow you at large or give you an opportunity to renew a display of savagery which your crime disclosed," the judge told Seneca.

Moving for sentence Crown Attorney C. C. Savage, Q.C., drew attention to one previous conviction against Seneca for assault occasioning bodily harm for which he was sentenced to three months in St. Thomas January 9 last year.

In a plea for leniency defence counsel, E. H. Unger said Seneca was "used to living in the open continuously" and to be confined "is a very severe punishment."

Indictments charging Seneca with the murder of Herman and Beatrice Henry the same day Mrs. Riley was killed were laid over to the next assize court at request of the Crown.

Mr. Savage said he would recommend they not be proceeded with. Decision will rest with the director of public prosecutions or the Ontario attorney general.

Famed Driver Sep Palin Dies

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Sep Palin, famed harness horse driver and trainer, died at a hospital today.

The 74-year-old veteran reinsman had been in critical condition since Monday when he suffered a cerebral haemorrhage and skull fracture while watching a timing trial at the Lexington grand circuit meeting.

Twice the winner of the Hambletonian, the trotting world's biggest event, Palin was sitting on the track rail when he slumped.

Palin piloted Greyhound to a world's trotting record of 1:55¼ on the famed red mile at Lexington in 1938. He previously had won the Hambletonian with Greyhound in 1935 and later with Hoot Mon in 1947.

The body was being returned today to Palin's Indianapolis, Ind., home where Mrs. Palin was reported critically ill.

Physicist Believes Bomb More Powerful

PERTH, Australia (Reuters)—An Australian physicist who watched today's British atom test from the mainland, W.J. Mangini, said tonight the weapon "could have been a hydrogen bomb of the dimensions of a plutonium bomb."

Mangini said he believed British scientists had concentrated on producing "a more effective atomic weapon than the world has seen before."

Reinforcements Up 50 Per Cent

TOKYO (AP) — The United States Far East Air Forces is being boosted by 50 per cent for its unrelenting air war on Red Korean targets.

This was announced today by the United States air secretary, Thomas K. Finletter. He said some reinforcements already are on hand and air attacks could be stepped up considerably "on very short notice."

For security reasons, he declined to say how many planes are being added to the F. E. A. F.

He also said over-all production in the U. S. has caught up with Russian output.

He was "confident the air force can handle any threat that might develop from the Communist air force now deployed. . . in Manchuria."

Poor Singing Traces Convict

MONTREAL (CP)—A 34-year-old man who escaped from Montreal's Bordeau jail Wednesday night by walking out with a group of visitors, is back in police cells today—because he can't sing.

The story of how Jean-Paul Bureau, awaiting trial on charges of theft and receiving, was arrested in an east-end hotel was told by Detective Roland Lapelle of Quebec Provincial Police.

Labelle said Bureau had been visiting small cabarets one after another, singing horribly out of key in each place and trying to get free drinks.

"All we had to do was to go from bar to bar in the district, show his picture and ask if he had been around. No one forgot his face—or his voice."

Top U.S. Ace Bails Out, Later Rescued

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Maj. Frederick C. Blesse, the top United States jet ace in Korea, bailed out of his F-86 Sabre jet today after shooting down a Russian-built MiG-15 over North Korea. He was rescued from the Yellow Sea a few minutes later.

Blesse bagged one of three MiGs downed today and ran his total to 10 kills, one probable and three damaged. His plane ran out of fuel en route to his home base.

In addition to the three MiGs destroyed today, the U.S. Air Force reported four Red planes damaged. Allied losses, if any, will be reported in the week-end summary.

On the ground, Chinese Reds stormed through the searing heat of Allied flame-throwers and seized four hills in hand-to-hand fighting last night and today. But United Nations infantry recaptured one of the positions this afternoon.

FIGHTING HEAVY

The entire western front erupted in fierce fighting last night as the Communists hurled more than 1,000 troops against Allied positions.

U. S. Eighth Army headquarters said the Reds captured two advance positions south of the truce-conference town of Panmunjom and a third hill north of Korangpo. A front-line officer said the Chinese seized another hill in the Panmunjom sector.

The recaptured hill was one of those near Panmunjom.

On the central front, South Korean infantry recaptured Wire Hill after days of bitter fighting.

Two Chinese assaults on Bunker Hill on the western front were repulsed last night, the Eighth Army said.

Norway Intends To Keep Ships

OSLO (AP)—Norway declared today she intends to keep three ships that Britain and the United States announced would be return to Western Germany.

They are among 53 former German merchant vessels totalling 40,000 tons taken over by the Allies after the war and set aside for disposal as reparations.

A Foreign Ministry statement said the three ships were built during the German occupation of Norway under German military or [illegible] and were paid for out of funds drawn by the occupation authorities from the Bank of Norway.

Britain and the U.S. announced yesterday that the 53 ships, including tankers, cargo vessels, whale catcher and ferries, would be returned to the West German government. Their ultimate disposal will be decided upon by the Bonn regime.

Sober Gets Drunk

ST. Louis (AP) — John Sober appeared in court yesterday for the first time in his life. He was charged with being drunk.

"I was watching the World Series game on television in a tavern," he told the judge. "I guess I wasn't paying too much attention to how many beers I was drinking."

The judge placed him on probation.

Jailed 20 Years In Boat Death

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP)—Francois Peter Dennis yesterday was sentenced to 20 years in prison for killing a man in a fight in which a motorboat was the death weapon.

In sentencing Dennis for manslaughter, Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson said the case was "as little short of murder as any in my experience."

Dennis, 39, was originally charged with murder in the slaying of William Austin, 59, but an assize jury convicted him on the reduced charge.

Austin's widow and son testified that after a quarrel Aug. 2 Dennis rammed Austin's boat with his craft on Stuart Lake, then tossed Austin into the water and ran over him.

Believe Britain Freeing 2 Nazi Field Marshals

LONDON (AP) — An informed source said today Britain soon will free German Field Marshals Albert von Kesselring and Erich von Manstein, sentenced to life in prison as war criminals.

Both Kesselring, 67, and Manstein, 64, are out on parole from Werl, the British-zone prison in Westphalia, undergoing medical treatment.

Only yesterday British authorities announced the release of Gen. Eberhard von Mackensen, 63, after he had served the equivalent of a 10-year term. Von Mackenson was sentenced first to death, then to life imprisonment, for his part in the 1944 caves massacres in Rome. Kesselring was sentenced for the same crime. He was released on parole July 15, to undergo a throat operation and is said to be in a serious condition.

Manstein was released on parole Aug. 20 and went to a Kiel hospital to undergo an operation for cataract.

Fire Destroys Barn

BRANTFORD (CP)—Damage of $25,000 was caused by a storm Wednesday night when Gordon Dickson's barn, five miles northeast of Port Dover, was destroyed by fire.

September Record

Canada's Dollar Reserves Reach All-Time High

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's official reserves of United States dollars and gold reached an all-time high of $1,856,000,000 on Sept. 30, Finance Minister Abbott announced today.

The reserves, used as a cushion to block any sharp fluctuations in the exchange value of the Canadian dollar, had continued to swell all through the first nine months of 1952.

On Sept. 30 they were more than $200,000,000 greater than the $1,610,000,000 on the corresponding date a year ago, Mr. Abbott reported.

The peak of $1,856,000,000 on Sept. 30 compared with the critical low of less than $500,000,000 at the end of 1947 when Canada was forced to impose temporary import curbs to rebuild her reserves.

Now the big movement of capital from the United States and other countries for investment in Canadian development plus monthly surpluses in foreign trade has resulted in Canada obtaining huge supplies of U.S. funds.

The reserves, expressed in terms of U.S. dollars, had climbed to $1,828,000,000 on June 30, jumped again to $1,845,000,000 on July 31 and continued the upward stride to $1,848,000,000 on Aug. 31.

The Dodgers' Turn?

BROOKS TAKE THIRD 5-3

YANKEE STADIUM, N.Y. — Brooklyn Dodgers, making use of a two-run ninth inning, trimmed the New York Yankees 5-3 today to go ahead two-one in games in the 1952 World Series.

A double steal, a passed ball, and a daring run from second to home by Jackie Robinson gave the Dodgers their two-run inning. Johnny Mize came in to hit for Tom Gorman, who replaced Ed Lopat, and blasted a pinch-hit homer into the right field seats.

Preacher Roe, in a steady performance on the mound, allowed the Yankees only six hits. The Yankees erred twice, and their two pitchers, Lopat and Gorman, gave up 11 hits.

It was southpaws Preacher Roe (11-2) for Brooklyn and Ed Lopat (10-5) for New York.

Both pitchers, who count on soft stuff and a maximum of control, are 34. Each has had a good rest. Roe hasn't pitched since Sept. 19. Lopat hasn't worked since Sept. 26.

Neither has ever lost a World Series game. The Brooklyn veteran has pitched only one game in the classic, a beautiful 1-0 victory over Vic Raschi and the Yankees in 1949. Lopat, who won his last five games this season after having shoulder miseries, is 3-0 in series games. He defeated the Dodgers but needed help in 1949, and twice beat the Giants in 1951.

Each manager, Chuck Dressen of the Dodgers and Casey Stengel of the Yankees, revamped his batting order to meet the southpaw situation. Carl Furillo was moved up from eighth to the lead-off spot in the Dodger line-up and Duke Snider and Billy Cox were dropped to sixth and eighth places in the order.

Phil Rizzuto took over the lead-off spot for the Yankees, Joe Collins moved up to second and Hank Bauer dropped to sixth.

A capacity crowd of close to 70,000 was on hand in the cool and partly cloudy weather. The temperature was in the 60s.

FIRST INNING

DODGERS: Martin fielded Furillo's sharp grounder and threw him out. Rizzuto gathered in Reese's pop fly inside the foul line. Robinson walked. Campanella lined to Bauer in short right. No runs, no

Flash Matches Sun

Deafened By Big Crash As Atom Bomb Explodes

By LIONEL HUDSON

ONSLOW, Australia (Reuters)—With a flash matching the sun rising over the Monte Bello Islands, Britain today became the third country in the world to have mastered the atom for war or peace.

At 8 a.m. from a mountain observation post on this desolate coast, I saw the fiery glow which marked the explosion of Britain's first atomic weapon.

Then, across some 65 miles of water from the island test site, came the air shock wave smacking into the mainland at the speed of sound. At the same instant I was deafened by a thunder crash as the noise of the blast arrived.

The weapon appeared to have been set off from a tower on Hermite island, southernmost atoll in the Monte Bellos. A dummy "target city" is believed to have been set up in the centre of the sand-and-shale test range.

From my lookout point I saw the cloud forming after the blast—a ragged thunderhead unlike the familiar mushroom shape of the United States tests.

The top of the cloud rocketed skyward, reaching more than a mile in a minute and continuing upward to 12,000 feet. Around the base a dust-like mass eddied and drifted upward for some minutes.

Reports To Queen

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill flew back to London today after giving the Queen a report on Britain's first atomic explosion.

Smiling broadly, Churchill was obviously pleased with the success of the test.

The Prime Minister was with the Queen, vacationing in Balmoral Castle, Scotland, when the explosion took place.

Suchan's Father Collapses While In Box At Trial

TORONTO (CP)—Joseph Lesso, father of convicted murderer Steve Suchan, collapsed in court yesterday while under cross-examination by Crown Counsel Arthur Klein. Lesso and his wife, Elizabeth, are jointly charged with harboring Edwin Alonzo Boyd and William Russell Jackson after first escape from the Don Jail here last November. Jackson and Boyd were convicted this week of bank robbery.

Yesterday's session ended abruptly with Lesso's collapse and marked the close of the Crown's case in the trial. A native of Czechoslovakia with a limited knowledge of English, Lesso was being questioned about his statement that he did not know the two men were escaped prisoners during the time they stayed in his Toronto home.

Several women in the court cried out: "Look out, look out, he's going to faint."

Lesso swayed back then righted himself, his eyes staring and his body rigid. Assisted from the witness box, Lesso collapsed again.

HELD FOUR HOURS

Earlier in the day, Lou Herman, counsel for Lesso, drew admission from two Toronto detectives that Lesso had been arrested at his home on March 19 and held for four hours before being cautioned and then charged.

One officer, Detective Charles Cook, read into evidence over defence protests an unsigned statement attributed to Lesso. In it Lesso claimed his son Val Lesso, alias Steve Suchan, brought Boyd and Jackson to his home without his knowing who they were.

Lesso claimed it was after the two had left the rooming house that his son, later convicted of killing a Toronto detective, told him they were escaped prisoners.

Carl Herman, acting for Mrs. Lesso, moved for a dismissal of the charge against her. But Judge Robert Forsyth ruled that the case must go to the jury.

Find Red Rebel In Disgrace

CHEJU ISLAND, Korea (AP)—The North Korean colonel who masterminded the bloody Koje Island prisoner-of-war riots last June has been sentenced to death by his own government, a United States officer said today.

Capt. Joseph M. Brooks said he got his information from anti-Communist prisoners. They told him the fanatical Col. Lee Hak Koo was sentenced to death by the Red Korean government shortly after he surrendered to U. S. troops.

Brooks said Lee, resentful, masterminded the Koje riots in the hope of regaining face at home.

Lee was sentenced to death because he surrendered with many of his troops early in the war—apparently because he misjudged the tactical situation.

Lee has been held under maximum security on Koje since he was dragged out of rebellious compound 76 where Brig.-Gen. (now Colonel) Francis T. Dodd was held captive.

It was Lee who defied Brig.-Gen. Haydon Boatner's command to empty compound 76 in an orderly fashion last June.

Chuck Dressen Gets Threatening Letter

NEW YORK (AP) — Manager Chuck Dressen of Brooklyn Dodgers turned a threatening letter from a "super-rabid" fan from Youngstown, O., over to the Federal Bureau of Investigation before today's third World Series game.

The letter writer threatened to "stop or eliminate for life" Dressen if he tried "some funny stuff."

"I might even go so far as shoot some of your players," it concluded. "Robinson will be the first one."

Warden Christie said the riot couldn't have been more futile with the disorder put down by force and the rioters winning no concessions.

The 35-year-old warden said he spoke to the rioters twice during the three-hour holdout—once on the telephone and once through a window—but refused to bargain with them.

"The minute I started to make any concessions I would no longer be in charge of the prison," he said.

"Actually I have some sympathy with the prisoners, but certainly not with their method of attempting to gain their ends.

"It was a futile riot that probably set back the prisoners' cause a long time. We have been attempting for several months to better their conditions and that is probably part of the reason for the riot."

GUARDS UNHARMED

One of the two guards held by the prisoners, Bob Burns of Burnaby, said they were not harmed although several "punks" hurled threats at them.

Burns, chief guard in the south wing, said:

"I was returning the prisoners to their cells after their recreation period in the yard when suddenly all hell broke loose.

"We had about half of the prisoners back in their cells when a group of them rushed down and barricaded a door to the wing.

"They piled beds, mattresses and everything available against the door."

Special Session Oct. 20

TORONTO—Premier Frost yesterday set 3 p.m. Oct. 20 as time and date for the opening of the special session of the legislature. While the session was called primarily to ratify the recent tax rental agreement with Ottawa, it will also deal with legislation on reparations for damage which may be caused by construction of the St. Lawrence seaway and power project.

U.S. Price Drop Spoils Canada's Hopes Of Profit

OTTAWA (CP)—A drop in U.S. meat prices has shattered hopes of any immediate profit on a big stockpile of frozen New Zealand beef acquired by Canada for sale in the U. S., officials said yesterday.

Canada has decided to stop further sales and keep the beef in American lockers hopeful of a change in U.S. prices.

Officials were commenting on a Wellington dispatch in which J.J. Evans, general manager of the N.Z. Meat Producers' Board, said that production costs and the current New York market indicate that New Zealand will break even on the deal.

SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT

"Under an arrangement among Canada, New Zealand and the United Kingdom, Canada was to ship some 65,000,000 pounds of surplus fresh beef to the U.K. in return for an equal amount of New Zealand frozen beef which was to be sold in the U.S.

The lower the U. S. price for the New Zealand beef, the higher Canada's over-all loss will be. Experts have estimated the over-all loss may reach $15,000,000.

Holdup Man Gets 18 Years

MONTREAL (CP)—Aurele Gregoire, captured Tuesday by a bank messenger, was given a total of 18 years in penitentiary yesterday on seven separate convictions.

He pleaded guilty to four charges of robbing Montreal Banks of more than $10,000 by threats of violence and to three charges of attempted theft in three other banks.

Police said Gregoire never used a revolver but always pretended to bank employees that he had one.

He was arrested Tuesday when he attempted to rob for a second time a branch of the Imperial Bank of Canada. Messenger Jimmie Edison whipped out a gun and Gregoire surrendered without a struggle.

U.K. Blast

The bomb itself appeared somewhat different from those exploded in U.S. tests. The shape of its cloud, instead of the familiar mushroom formation, was a rugged thunderhead that leaped a mile in a minute and then rose more slowly to 12,000 feet. A brisk wind bloated its belly to a one-mile width and at the top hung a gigantic Z-shaped formation.

A heavy air shock struck the Rough Range observation point 4½ minutes after the flash, accompanied by a thunderous crack and a prolonged rumble. There was no ground shock.

The explosion seemed to bear out reports that the bomb was primarily a tactical weapon rather than a super-bomb. One possible explanation for the reduced brilliance of the cloud was suggested in reports that British experts have worked out new techniques for triggering atomic blasts. These reports say British scientists have reduced the size of the fissionable material used to make the blast come off.

USE TOWER

The weapon appeared to have been set off from a tower on Hermite Island, southernmost of the Monte Bellos. Engineers had erected a "target city" on the islands designed to test the effect of an explosion on buildings, shelters and underground communications.

The 23,500 square mile area around the site has been a restricted zone since last May. Ships patrolling the area pulled back for safety before the blast.

The Royal Navy aircraft carrier Campania, standing just off the target area, tracked the formation and progress of the radio-active cloud on special radar equipment. Television screens brought technicians a close-up picture.

Official announcement of the explosion was made in Melbourne and London. Supply Minister Duncan Sandys said:

"The atomic weapon having been successfully exploded, the immediate task of the expedition . . . is to assemble all the technical results and data with a view to analyzing the results of the test."

He said the expedition's heads—Rear-Admiral David Torlesse and Dr. William George Penney, the scientific director—a expected to make their report in London in about two weeks. No further details would be released until the government considered the report.

tips of my toes to the roots of my hair." As he talked to the Examiner he showed red, puffed eyes—the effect he said of working Thursday near a "cyclone" (a vent that collects gases and dust, separates the solids, and blows the residue off into the air).

"That's not the true picture, though the union is making a great effort to present it to the public that way," said Alan Scott, managing director of Deloro. "Working conditions here are better than they ever were and will get better.

"The insurance company cancelled its policy in July after working amicably with us for 12 years." Last September the company kept its share of the cost of benefits to the same amount as before. But to get $30 a week benefits instead of the previous $20 for sick workers the union paid the difference in premium.

ABUSED CLAUSE

"What was the result? The union didn't supervise the thing correctly. The men abused the clause because it offered so much money, and the claims went up. A man off on a drunk could collect $30 a week.

In the first six months of 1952 the insurance company paid out $12,045 in claims and took in only $5,434. In 1951—even with four months under the $30 benefits—the figures were $17,982 collected and $17,778 paid out in claims.

"Cancellation of the policy was not caused because health conditions were deteriorating at Deloro," said R. G. Walsh, general manager, "but because the men abused the scheme for increased sick benefits."

Company officials pointed out that the chairman of the conciliation board had written to the department of health regarding working conditions at Deloro.

An extensive survey has been going on for years on the subject, but J. G. Cunningham of the Department of Health, offered an interim report.

"There is no evidence to indicate that cobalt or its compounds produce cancer of the lung," the report said. . . "It is fairly well established that arsenic is associated with cancer of the skin, but there is no evidence as yet that inhalation of arsenic is capable of causing lung cancer."

Since 1950 there have been a number of irritations of the skin among workmen engaged in the demolition of old buildings at Deloro, the report continued. This was caused by contact with the contaminated buildings.

The other contract issues also leave the parties wide apart.

ACCEPT REPORT

The company is willing to accept the majority report of the conciliation board which recommends a general wage increase of 10 cents an hour or "the increase of 10 cents an hour might be proportional between wage rates, additional statutory holidays, vacations with pay, overtime, employees welfare" and other fringe benefits.

Steel Industry Expansion Now Predicted

MONTREAL (CP) — Expansion of Canada's steel industry is possible as an outgrowth of the building of the St. Lawrence seaway, Transport Minister Chevrier said today.

The minister, in an address prepared for delivery to the Notre Dame de Grace women's club, said the waterway will permit exploitation of the iron ore deposits in the Quebec-Labrador Ungava region.

LISTS BENEFITS

"It is also possible to envisage enlargement of our domestic steel industry," he said, though it was still too early to make a definite prediction.

LISTS BENEFITS

Of the direct benefits which would accrue to Quebec in development of the seaway project, the minister listed vastly increased markets for iron ore as being of primary importance. He also listed lumbering, the pulpwood and the paper making industries as benefitting from the improved transportation facilities which would be provided. He anticipated greatly increased traffic for the port of Montreal and other ports bordering on the St. Lawrence River

Mr. Chevrier said that within a circle of 75 miles radiating from the Long Sault Rapids, there was at least 6,000,000 horsepower of electric energy which was mostly unharnessed. The seaway project would make possible the harnessing of 1,200,000 hydro horsepower at Lachine, Que., alone. This development could be undertaken either in association with the seaway construction, or as a supplementary development at a later date.

Seventy-two pens of cattle were consigned and sold for prices ranging from 16 to 24 cents a pound. One lot of calves sold for 30 cents and another for 29 cents.

Highest number of cattle in one group was 35. Their total weight was 22,150 pounds, an average of 643 pounds.

Lightning Sets Fire To Ice House Roof

HARWOOD (ENS) — The ice house on the summer property of er on the Lake Shore Road, Harwood, was struck by lightning about 7 p.m. Wednesday evening, and further along the Lake Shore Road, Mrs. Rhena Stephens' iron was blown up. The ice house roof was burned, but the Harwood bucket brigade had the fire under control, before the Cobourg Fire Brigade arrived on the scene. Mr. and Mrs. Reimenschneider are at their home in Cleveland, only using the residence in the summer months.

Mrs. Frank Johnson, of Portland, Oregon, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Johnson, Ivan and Kenneth.

Miss Anne Callahan is visiting her sister in Cobourg, following the recent fire at her home east of Harwood.

Prices Still Weak On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO (CP)—Prices continued weak today in early afternoon stock market trading.

Golds and base metals slipped steadily while industrials improved slowly from a weak opening. Western oils fluctuated between small gains and losses.

Trading continued slow and volume for the first three hours totalled 1,107,000 shares, mostly restricted to a narrow list of selected issues.

Base metals recorded a majority of losses as Quemont, Chromium and Steep Rock slipped.

A few good gains spotted the uncertain western oils but an exception was Selburn, Britalta and Pacific Pete added about 25 cents. Little heavy trading in oils occurred. Canada Southern slipped.

Japanese Voters Hand Reds Worst Setback In Asia

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese voters in their first free election since regaining sovereignty handed world communism its worst Asian setback of the post-war era.

Japan's Communist party, which won 35 House seats in the 1949 election, failed to place a single one of its 107 candidates in Wednesday's balloting.

Only two Communists remain in the Japanese Parliament. Both are in the virtually-powerless Senate.

Voters gave the pro-United States Prime Minister, Shigeru Yoshida, and his Liberal party a majority of 240 seats in the 466-member house.

Japanese commentators predicted that Japan will follow an even stronger policy of co-operation with the west, particularly with the U.S.

VICTORY FOR WEST

The severe drubbing which the Japanese gave the Communists at the polls amazed observers. It was a smashing cold-war victory for the west.

The Red defeat reflected Japanese revulsion for the Red campaign of violence and hate which reached a high point in May Day riots. It mirrored, too, Japanese irritation with Russia's reluctance to hand back or even discuss the thousands of Nipponese war prisoners missing behind the iron curtain.

The Soviet Union's 1950 agreement with Communist China on a mutual-defence pact aimed directly at Japan was a blow to hopes that this country might be able to get on a friendly footing with the Communists. The Red refusal last year to accept the San Francisco peace treaty with Japan heightened suspicions.

The renewed Sino-Soviet agreement last month permitting Russian troops to remain in Port Arthur, just across the Yellow Sea from Japan, and the Soviet veto of Japan's application for entry into the United Nations further crushed Japan's hopes for amicable relations with her Red Asian neighbors.

Rizzuto took Snider's pop fly at the edge of the outfield grass.

Gil Hodges was given an intentional pass, putting two men on.

Lopat loaded the bases, giving Cox a base on balls to get at Preacher Roe. Roe hit a slow roller to third and was out, Martin to Collins.

One run, two hits, one error, three left.

Yankees: Woodling struck out unintentionally, and walked to the dugout after a brief conversation with plate umpire Larry Goetz. Berra drove a home run over the right field fence for his third straight hit of the day off Preacher Roe, making the score 3-2, still in favor of the Dodgers.

Bauer was the second out on a grounder scooped up by Martin and thrown to Hodges.

Duke Snider took McDougald's lofty to centre to retire the side.

One run, one hit, no errors, none left.

NINTH INNING

Dodgers: Furillo was thrown out on a grounder, Rizzuto to Collins.

Reese singled sharply into right field for his sixth hit of the series.

Robinson's single advanced Reese to second.

Robinson and Reese pulled a double steal.

Rizzuto stook Campanella's high pop-up in the infield. Reese scored when the pitch got away from Berra, and Robinson came in all the way from second to make the score 5-2.

Pafko's fly dropped into short right centre for a safe hit. Snider, the sixth man up for the Dodgers, hit a high foul fly that Berra caught.

Two runs, three hits, no errors, one left.

Yankees: Martin flied out. Johnny Mize came in to bat for Gorman.

Mize drove a pinch hit home run into the low seats in right field.

Rizzuto flied to short centre.

Johnny Sain, a pitcher, was sent in to bat for Collins, who has gone hitless in this series. Snider took Sain's high fly to centre to end the game.

Hundreds Attend Funeral Mrs. W. Dawson

The funeral of Mrs. W. W. Dawson from her late residence in Otonabee Wednesday afternoon was a deeply impressive tribute to the life and work of a daughter of one of the township's oldest families.

A wealth of floral beauty and the sympathetic presence of hundreds of friends was the final testimony of the respect of the Peterborough community, county and city, to the memory of Alice Maude Stewart, who was born in the Stewart Hall neighborhood of western Otonabee, locality and landmark long identified with the old township and its pioneers.

Mrs. Dawson was a member of Stewart Hall United Church from girlhood, and an ardent supporter of its Women's Missionary Society of which she was a past president and life member. During most of her active years she had been a teacher in the Sunday school, and had contributed her woman's share in the religious activities of her section of the township.

Of modest and retiring disposition, Mrs. Dawson had participated in public affairs, chiefly in co-operation with her husband during his presidency of the Peterborough Federation of Agriculture, and as a help in his municipal service as councillor and reeve of Otonabee.

HELPED YOUNG PEOPLE

Junior Farmers will remember her association with them as chaperone on some of their trips. She was always a willing assistant in community endeavour, including the development of the Farm Forums. She was looked upon as an authority on past history of the community of Stewart Hall and its church.

The home service was conducted by the Rev. I. G. Pollock, of Grace United Church, in the new south ward of the city, and of Stewart Hall Church. He said Mrs. Dawson had endeared herself to the church and community by her fine qualities of mind and heart.

"It is her most fitting memorial, that many of the people gathered here for these last offices of affection and farewell are men and women of mature years and more youthful age who can look back upon their own lives and acknowledge with gratitude and gladness the influence Mrs. Dawson exercised among them in her gracious ministry of service and neighborliness. Special reference is due to her teaching in the Sunday school, for her teaching and her life were always at one.

"As we sorrow now, as indeed we must, having lost from home and community one so beloved, at the same time we rejoice that we have been privileged to share in such a life. We know that where she is she is sharing an even more abundant life."

Pallbearers, cousins and neighbors, were: Harold Tate, Ross Moncrief, Richard Stewart, Gordon Savigny, Harold Bennett, Elmer Oliver.

Flower bearers were: Kenneth Savigny, Ernest Thompson, Ferd Deyell, Stewart Armstrong, Walter Bristow, William Stewart, Harry Crocker, John Matchett.

Mr. Pollock was assisted by the Rev. B. S. Morwood, of Mark St. United Church, and the Rev. E. W. Rowland. Burial was at Little Lake cemetery.

Soil Conditions Perfect For Plow Meet

COBOURG (ENS)—Ideal soil texture contributed to the highly successful Northumberland and Durham Counties plowing match held Thursday on the farm of Harold Mallory, a few miles east of here. There were 22 entrants, most of them from the counties, and competition was very keen.

Rain, which softened the ground to the right degree on Wednesday night, threatened to fall on Thursday but held off and in the afternoon the sun came out and made conditions pleasant for both competitors and spectators. Although no raffle tickets or sales were allowed, there was an impressive array of farm and home equipment on display.

Most of the competitors used tractors but there were several old-timers using horses and this fast-disappearing art drew a large gallery of spectators. Plowing side by side and doing a job that gave the judges plenty of hard work to pick a winner were veteran plowman Bill Hooton of Ida, who is 71, but very wiry and active, and Jim McGowan of Fraserville. Jim used to do quite a bit of plowing but in more recent years has been working in Peterborough. He still likes to keep a hand in his old job and turns to plowing for recreation. The fine team he was using belonged to Leo Drumm of Haldimand township.

There were no girls competing in the Junior Farmers plowing classes although there were a few of the feminine sex watching the boys perform with the tractors. Youngest lad aboard a tractor-plow was Carlos Cryderman, 13, of Bowmanville.

Following were the results of the various classes:

Open class, horses and plows—William Hootan of Ida; Jim McGowan, Fraserville.

Tractors, 2 furrow—Stan Allin, Orono; Earl Linton, Plainville; John Hootan, Ida, and Fred Smith of Cobourg.

Tractor, 3 furrow—John Morton of Bowmanville.

Northumberland and Durham plowmen only, horses—Howard Allin of Orono; horses, Harold Hootan of Ida; tractor (those who have not won a prize in any match prior to 1952—Don Carruthers, Borden Campbell, Dartford; tractor, 3-furrow, boys or girls under 21 — Newton Selby, Newcastle; Harold Moffat, Orono; tractor, 2-furrow, boys or girls under 21—Bob Tinney, Cobourg; Arnold Winters, Cobourg, and David Prentice, Grafton; tractor, 2-furrow, boys or girls under 17—Carlos Cryderman, Bowmanville; Lynn Hoskin, Cobourg, and Carol Mallory, Cobourg.

Specials — T. Eaton Co., best land, tractor or horses by one who has not plowed in a match before 1952—Bob Tinney, Cobourg. Robert Simpson Cup, for the youngest girl or boy winning a regular class—Carlos Cryderman, Bowmanville; Labatt Cup, best tractor land—Stanley Allin of Orono (also 1951 winner of same cup); Esso tractor champion, for best land—Stanley Allin; Esso horse champion—William Hootan, Ida; Warden Campbell prize for best team—Leo Drumm, Grafton; calf club prize, donated by Curry Ralls of Cobourg—Arnold Winters, Cobourg; Bank of Toronto (Millbrook branch)—won by Bob Tinney.

Britain Trail-Blazed Atomic Research

LONDON (AP)—Britain's first atomic explosion, successfully detonated today off the northwest coast of Australia, was the culmination of a history of trail-blazing in nuclear research which started in Britain at the beginning of the century.

One of the first men to begin active research in this field was John Dalton, the British father of modern chemistry who investigated basic atom theories. The famed Ernest Rutherford expanded the work in the field of physics And two of his men, Sir John Cockroft, now director of Britain's atomic research, and E. S. T. Walton, went on to split the atom in 1932.

It was Cockcroft who told Britain in 1940 that the atom bomb was possible. But Britain then was virtually alone in the war against Nazi Germany and could not spare the men, money and resources needed for the project.

JOINT PROJECT

After the United States entered the war in 1941, Britain proposed a joint Anglo-American project which resulted in the building of the first atom bomb by mid-1945.

But the passage of the McMahon act of 1946 to guard the U.S atomic program ended the British-American partnership. This brought complaints from Prime Minister Churchill, then Conservative opposition leader in the House of Commons, that Britain had not built up her own research fast enough and had been left out in the cold in an age of atomic diplomacy.

The expanding program soon afterward received at least a moral blow, with the conviction of two top British-employed scientists — German-born Klaus Fuchs and British physicist Allan Nunn May — on charges of handing over atomic secrets to Russia. Another scientist working on British research projects, Italian-born Prof Bruno Pontecorvo, disappeared two years ago and is generally believed to have gone behind the Iron Curtain.

Britain pushed ahead, however, and today's explosion was a major result.

Eisenhower Wants Asiatics To Do Fighting In Asia

ABOARD THE EISENHOWER TRAIN (CP)—Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, campaigning through isolationist-minded Illinois, told audiences yesterday that the time has come for South Korean troops to take over the main burden of fighting in Korea.

At several points the Republican presidential candidate said it makes "no sense" for United States soldiers to be doing most of the fighting in Korea.

"That is a job for the Koreans," he said. "We do not want Asia to feel that the white man of the west is his enemy.

"If there must be a war there, let it be Asians against Asians, with our support on the side of freedom."

He did not further elaborate on this reference to the U.S. relationship to the Asiatic countries in event of war.

FALSE PROSPERITY

Later, in a speech at Peoria he asserted that a "false prosperity" exists in the U.S. and that "whatever economic gains have been made since 1932 have been due, not to administration ingenuity, but to war or threat of war."

"War, not the fair deal, brought about the end of unemployment," he said. "The legacy of war, not the fair deal, helped to sustain a high level of economic activity."

"There is no future for America in economic policies that depend upon the stimulus of war and threat of war to create and maintain prosperity."

The Korean War had bolstered U.S. economy just as it was beginning to weaken.

"If it had not been for the post-Korea rearmament program," he said, "fair deal policies might well have headed us right into the middle of a serious business recession."

Hollywood Radio Group Identified With Red Cell

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A score of Hollywood radio employees have been identified as fellow-members of a Communist party cell six years ago.

The identifications were made yesterday by two friendly witnesses before a House of Representatives un-American activities committee investigating suspected subversive influences among doctors, lawyers, and film, radio and television employees.

The first witness, Owen Vinson, 49, of Santa Monica, said he was a radio actor, writer, singer, director and producer from 1931 to 1947.

Vinson named an Abe Burrows but did not identify him as the well-known comedian. Abe Burrows the comedian, two years ago was subpoenaed by the committee for a Washington hearing but was not called upon to testify.

LAWYER EJECTED

The hearing was enlivened by the forcible ejection of lawyer William B. Esterman who sought to cross-examine Vinson. Esterman, counsel for a number of lawyers and doctors summoned before the committee, asked permission to cross-examine Vinson. Esterman was told to make his motion in writing. When Esterman again attempted to obtain permission orally he was ordered ejected.

Yesterday's second friendly witness was Paul Marion, 37, who said he was a Hollywood movie, radio and TV actor for 11 years. Marion named substantially the same persons as Vinson had listed as fellow-Communists between 1945 and 1948.

Defiant witnesses yesterday included six Los Angeles doctors and two optometrists. They all declined to answer questions concerning existence of a Communist party professional cell.

Train Crash Kills 2 Youths

ST. JOHNS, Que. (CP)—A level crossing accident near here early today took the lives of two Montreal youths and left another in serious condition in hospital in this centre 25 miles southeast of Montreal.

Dead are Richard Driscoll, 17, and a youth tentatively identified as Frank Prieur. Injured is Cyril Richardson, 21.

Quebec Provincial Police report the automobile in which the three were riding crashed into the rear of a Canadian National Railways freight train at nearby Lacolle.

A brakeman, George Nicoriuk, Montreal, was knocked off the car he was riding on the train and suffered a broken leg.

Another Peterborough School

Between 1947 and today — little more than five years — the Board of Education has spent more than a million and a half dollars building new schools and additions to old ones. The process began with the issuing of debentures for the Queen Mary and Confederation schools' additions in 1947. It continues today with the mandatory request the Board is making of the City Council for $80,000 for a new public school on Cameron street. We can praise the accommodation provided but not the tremendous cost.

* * *

The schools put up or added to from 1947 onward, together with their cost in round figures are as follows:

Queen Mary, annex, 6 rooms	$230,000
Confederation, addition, 6 rooms	120,000
Parkhill, addition, 2 rooms	27,000
Prince of Wales, annex, 6 rooms	135,000
Grove School, 2nd storey, 4 rooms	65,000
Kenner Collegiate, new	650,000
Armour Heights, new, 8 rooms	250,000
Cameron St., new, 4 rooms	80,000

In no twenty-year period has this big five-year building program been matched, in number or cost.

* * *

Has the Board of Education no check to its building spree? The question is out of order; it is the parents who have been forcing the Board to build. In 1941 the total enrolment in the Public schools was 2,687. By 1947 it had swollen to 3,550 and schools were overcrowded. The Board had to get busy catching up to the wartime birthrate and school admittances. It had to undertake building deferred during the war. The birth rate continued to rise, the city to expand and the number of pupils coming of school age grew. Last year the 4,586 pupils enrolled in the public schools proved the need for the two latest buildings: Armour Heights and the Cameron street school.

Since the war, on a yearly average, 350 more pupils have been admitted to the schools than the schools pass out. Allow 35 pupils to a class, and ten new rooms a year are required on the average.

* * *

The board will have built in new schools or additions 36 additional public school rooms since 1947. Through annexations of suburban areas by the city fifteen room in three existing schools have come under the Board in the last decade, and two from the small government wartime-housing school. So, all told, the Board has 53 public school rooms additional to what it had in 1947, to take care of the 1,899 pupils added to the public school rolls since 1941.

The rise in the birth rate since 1941 and the rise in public school enrolment made the new collegiate essential. The 1944 crop of public school entrants is now entering the collegiate.

* * *

So, the new schools and additions were necessary. Was it necessary to spend a million and a half dollars on them? Could something less elaborate than the Queen Mary annex not have sufficed? Perhaps it would have sufficed, but not for as long as the building will be required to stand and serve. Two rooms of wooden construction were added at low cost to the Park Hill school, but that is a wooden wartime building. And the six rooms of the Queen Mary annex, together with its fine auditorium cost less than the Armour Heights school in east city. Instead of a costly annex to the Prince of Wales school ($135,000) could another storey not have been added more cheaply to the original building? Montreal has lately had some experience of this. Four sixteen-room, one-storey schools and one sixteen-room two-storey school of similar specifications were to be built. The tenders on the two-storey building were all higher than the prices bid on the one-storey schools.

* * *

The Board had to build at peak building costs. We are relieved to note that these costs seem to be lessening. All the tenders for the new south end school were lower than the Board was prepared to expect, and it will be built for $80,000 —$11.15 a square foot, compared with previously common costs of about $13.50 a square foot. Lower building costs are not the full reason for the decrease, and we say so believing that generally throughout the Province school boards and their architects have been shocked into insisting on less expensive, though as serviceable designs and construction, because of the public outcry against high school costs.

* * *

The architects have cut corners and specified in their plans for the new $80,000 school different materials from those which went into school buildings of 1947 and later years. New materials and methods are being used. This school may show, therefore, that not only have general construction costs declined from their peaks, but also that as good but different and cheaper ways of building may be used, if the architect's plans provide for them and the materials are available. Let us have no mights and ifs about past building; the schools are up and on the way to being paid for, and they are good schools and necessary. The Board is to be complimented on them, as on the new, less expensive school. We may pleasantly expect that in the next several years school building will not be as burdensome as it has been, since building costs are down and the Board is catching up with the birth rate.

A Devoted Public Servant

The late Peter Thomas Coolican served the Canadian Post Office Department for forty years, and rose to the position of Assistant Deputy Postmaster-General. He was a devoted public servant; the most important thing in the world to him was that the Canadian mails should work well, and he gave his life to seeing that it was so.

He had the characteristic, not found in all public servants, of being on the side of the public. If a complaint was made about the mail service, P. T. Coolican was even more anxious than the complainant to find out why a mistake had been made, and to put it right. His letters to complainants were not in the usual formal mould; they carried with them some of Mr. Coolican's deep concern for the reputation of the Department which was so much under his direction.

No monuments are set up to such men, and the greater part of the public does not hear of them. But the people who know most about postal service will long remember P. T. Coolican.

It Couldn't Be Jealousy, Of Course

We all laugh when the Russians claim that they invented something which historical evidence clearly shows to have been invented in the western world. But we do not all laugh when Britain and the U.S.A. are at loggerheads as to which country may claim the invention of the moving picture.

The British claim has been eloquently and persuasively set forth in a film called The Magic Box, which deals with the career of William Friese-Green, an Englishman who invented a type of camera-projector before Thomas Alva Edison got around to doing so. This film has just reached the U.S.A., and New York critics are busily explaining that it is quite a good film but not, of course, true. This preoccupation with the truth of films purporting to be historical is something new for them.

We do not know anything about the matter, but the history of invention shows numberless cases in which several men in different parts of the world have been occupied with the same problem; one of them at last finds a better solution than the others, and most of the credit goes to him. Now and then he or his countrymen are ready to admit that other workers in the same field have had good ideas, too, and might have brought them to greater perfection in time. The dispute as to the real inventor of wireless telegraphy still rages, to name but one instance.

Our neighbours to the south, however, have made a national fetish of Thomas Alva Edison, and they do not like to have any corners knocked off his monument. They are determined that he, and he alone, invented the moving-picture. And we must not smile when we speak of this subject, although we are permitted to smile when Russia claims the invention of the umbrella and the streetcar.

NOTES AND COMMENT

"Admit Ottawa Man To Ontario Bar" says a headline in a Toronto paper. That's Toronto—always the big, broad outlook!

New Hampshire, one arrived 48 hours after the others. Does this make him the baby of the family?

A government edict rules that in future only white pigs may be raised in Ireland. Sounds like some kind of discrimination.

In Sutton, West Virginia, several people have seen "a monster 17 feet tall, with a blood red face and B.O." At this season of the year it's probably a football player.

The latest in atom bombs is said to be many times stronger than that silly old thing they dropped on Hiroshima. The old ones, we presume, will be wrapped in red tissue paper, and sold off next 24th of May.

Something called the Food and Agriculture Organization has coined the word "efru," which means "emergency food reserve unit." Now why not call it "emergency rations," and avoid coining a word which sounds like a mingling of belch and sneeze?

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

SIR: Are there any ravens in this part of the country?

ANSWER: People mistake ravens for crows, since both are glossy black. We have plenty of both crows and ravens hereabouts. Ravens have twice the bulk of crows, but field comparison of the two is not always possible, so it is best to depend on other points of recognition:

Ravens have heavy beaks.

Ravens' flight is much different from crows' flight. Ravens alternate flapping with soaring. They soar like a hawk on horizontal wings. Crows soar with wings bent upward.

The tail of the raven is distinctive. Seen from below it is wedge-shaped.

If you see a crow perched, and its throat feathers are shaggy, you are looking at a raven.

Ravens croak—sounding like 'cruck' or 'pruck'; crows caw. A raven measures 21½ to 26½ inches; a crow 17 to 21. Ravens are found from the far Canadian north south to Maine and Minnesota. Crows go from Newfoundland and Maine and southern Ontario to Florida and Texas, and are migratory.

Incidentally, blackbirds are birds of another feather; they belong to the grackle family.

A friend of mine passing through Northern Ontario on the transcontinental line last year saw an odd sight. Ravens in those parts hunger for the garbage dumped from the dining car. So do the big northern dogs. Four ravens and a couple of dogs were greedy for the same garbage being dumped at a train stop; the four ravens drove the dogs off.

Anything more you want to know about ravens? Oh, yes—there are none that say "Nevermore".

DEAR ALPHA: Recently I read a copy of an English newspaper called "West Somerset Free Press", the front page of which consisted of columns of advertisements. They were of sales of land or homes, sometimes in the country near streams or on the edge of lakes that led ones imagination wandering to lovely things, and I thought what an asset to any newspaper to have an attractive front page. Most of them in this country deal with the unpleasant things—the crime and the horrors—no matter how remote, with the result that the reader quickly turns to the page with the Ads, or throws the newspaper in digust on the floor. What about reversing the order of things?

RESPONSE: I am afraid that you are asking water to run uphill. The only important British paper now to use the front page for classified advertisements is the London Times. The London Telegraph abandoned them for news before the war. Nowadays, and certainly on this continent, editors fight to keep every kind of advertisement off their front pages, and even the business heads of newspapers, interested in circulation and advertising, like to see good big newsy headlines and vivid news stories on the front page, because they take the eye and encourage sales and readers. And the first business of a newspaper is to present the news.

Some of the classified advertisements in The Times are pleasant, others piquant, especially the Personals, but even these are losing flavour as the Personals column is being used more and more to advertise balls, articles for sale, flats for rent, houses wanted and charities ("Have you thought of the Many Poor and Lonely Gentlepeople . . . Send Holiday Fund donations to Distressed Gentlefolk Aid Association".) Commercial advertisers pay more than double the rate for classified advertisements in other columns on the page in order to get their notice in the personal columns; 40 shillings for each two lines; the private rate is fifteen shillings a line.

PENGELLEY AND BROCK: Last week I read an article on the Examiner's Feature page about Rice Lake estates and their connection with Sir Isaac Brock; the Pengelley property was referred to and pictured, and also the stone over the grave of Joseph Scriven, writer of the hymn "What a Friend We Have In Jesus", about whom and which I wrote several years ago.

Mr. Frederick Hardy Pengelley of Pilgrim Cottage, which is above the lake from the Pengelley farm, writes that his grandfather Captain Robert Lamport Pengelley was a nephew by marriage of Sir Isaac Brock. Captain R. L. was born at Fowey, Cornwall, in 1798, the son of Captain John Pengelley and Catherine Lamport. He retired from the Royal Navy and settled in the Rice Lake area in 1832. He had been wounded at the Battle of Lissa. For his long period of service he was rewarded by being appointed agent for the Brock estate in South Monaghan. He was given a piece of the land, which is the Pengelley farm, also known as "Brocklands".

Captain Pengelley cleared the land on his holding with the assistance of men whom he had brought out from England. He built the quaint stump fence which still exists, and created a chapel where he read the Church of England Service, and to his neighbours gathered to worship with him before regular churches were established.

The farm was productive and well husbanded by three generations of Pengelleys. Captain Pengelley had also had a land grant in Victoria county, but he abandoned this because the soil was unsuitable for cultivation.

SIR: What happened to Adam Scott's mill, the first one built in Peterborough?

ANSWER: As far as I know, it just disintegrated. Adam Scott, first white settler in this area, was a handy man with his hands but lacked tools and did not build a very good mill in 1821. It was always breaking down and was insufficient to meet the needs of even the few settlers in the district.

Many people in Smith township went for weeks without bread. Jacob Bromwell of Smith (his descendents still live here) told Sir Peregrine Maitland, the Lieutenant-Governor of Upper Canada paying a visit to Peterborough in 1826, that he had to be his own grist mill, and had actually chewed corn until it became soft enough to bake into bread for his children. The Governor was impressed with the need for a proper mill and in 1827 provided a good one to replace Scott's.

Perhaps Scott's mill was too busy making booze to make flour, for like many other early mills, Scott had a distillery operating with his grist mill. The York Windmill, put up in 1831-32 at the mouth of the Don River by William Gooderham and James Worts was also first a grist mill, and later enlarged to include a distilling plant. Gooderham and Worts did not flourish on grist brought to the mill for flour.

A WINDSOR READER of this column writes that in my notes last week I erred in saying that the drive-in bank opened in Montreal a fortnight ago was the first in Canada. Admonishing that accuracy is to a newspaper what virginity is to a woman, he assures me that the Guaranty Trust Company's branch in Windsor has operated a drive-in wicket since 1949—and it has never been robbed. . . . Apropos his admonition: a newspaper can print a retraction.

FOR THE RECORD: Boardings have gone up around the block on which the new Federal Building will soon rise (Charlotte, King and Louis Streets). The site of the old City Buildings south-west corner of Simcoe and Water, has been levelled, and machines are busy preparing it for parking meters. One of the wreckers at work tearing down the old brick structure told me that some wings of the building had three roofs, one under the other. A real fire-trap I understand that a souvenir-hunter (having inspected in daylight the mass of material and equipment, including bricks, so methodically and neatly taken down and out) pilfered at night a toilet seat, used, it is said, by every Governor-General who has come to Peterborough since 1875. Truly a seat of the mighty.

TRAFFIC CO-ORDINATOR

How To Live In B.C.

JEAN HOWARTH IN THE VANCOUVER PROVINCE

HAD a splendid time at lunch yesterday. Had it with a character who just arrived two weeks ago from Calgary, had never lived at the coast before, and left her fur coat on the prairies because she didn't think she would need it out here.

"A-a-a-h" said I, with deep and heartfelt pleasure as we reached this point. "My dear, you must send for it at once. You'll FREEZE out here. Everybody does. After a while you get used to it. Also, get a pair of fur-lined rubber boots."

"But I just sold a pair of fur-lined boots," protested she.

"Then get another pair," said I, and settled into my lecture on How To Get Along In Vancouver. (I have been eight years preparing this lecture, or ever since I arrived in Vancouver myself; but this is the first 24-carat opportunity I have had to deliver it.)

✧ ✧ ✧

"DURING the first year you are out here," I explained impressively, "you will probably not be really warm more than once or twice for not more than half an hour at a time. You better get a hot water bottle too. We don't like to be warm out here. We don't believe in insulation or storm windows, and we have never really been converted to central heating. Always take a sweater with you when you go out in the evenings. No; take two. But don't ever admit you're cold because that would prove you're an Easterner. We hate Easterners."

"But I'm a Westerner," said she, "I come from Calgary."

"Anything east of the Rockies," I pointed out patiently, "is East. Do not dwell upon it. Or if you must mention it, mention it disparagingly. It is quite all right to say, Calgary is hot and dusty. Being hot and dusty is Calgary's fault. Being wet and foggy is not, of course, Vancouver's fault."

"But I don't like Vancouver weather," said she.

"There!" cried I with horror, "that's just what I mean. You MUST NOT make remarks like that! It doesn't rain here more than 325 bad days a year. Hardly any rain at all.

"All bad weather in Vancouver is unusual. It is quite all right to talk ABOUT the weather—in fact, 90 per cent of all Vancouver conversations concern the weather—but you must NEVER disapprove of the weather."

✧ ✧ ✧

"I DON'T THINK Vancouver people are very friendly, either," said she—a stubborn type.

"That's a libel," said I. "After you have been here six months somebody is almost certain to ask you out for coffee. They start saying good morning even earlier than that. Sometimes they even say goodnight. Vancouver people are not unfriendly, they are merely reserved."

"Well, in Calgary —"

"Do not speak to us of Calgary! Calgary is a cow town on the baldheaded prairie with bad roads. Repeat that to yourself every morning. Of course people speak to each other in Calgary; they haven't anything better to do. In Vancouver they can always look at the mountains."

"And their dirty buildings, and slummy back lanes! Calgary—"

"Be still!" said I, "I am only," I said, "endeavouring to ease your path. If you must make unpleasant remarks about Vancouver, confine yourself to the B. C. Electric and the telephone service. That is permissible, and after a fare increase or the tenth phone call, even commendable. But no comparisons!"

"I think I'll go back to Calgary," she said. But she won't.

None of the rest of us did.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Hear ye the word which the Lord speaketh unto you, O house of Israel: thus saith the Lord, Learn not the way of the heathen, and be not dismayed at the signs of heaven; for the heathen are dismayed at them . . .

Thus shall ye say unto them, The gods that have not made the heavens and the earth, even they shall perish from the earth, and from under these heavens . . . Every man is brutish in his knowledge: every founder is confounded by the graven image: for his molten image is falsehood, and there is no breath in them.

They are vanity, and the work of errors: in the time of their visitation they shall perish. The portion of Jacob is not like them: for he is the former of all things; and Israel is the rod of his inheritance: The Lord of hosts is his name . . .

O Lord, I know that the way of man is not in himself: it is not in man that walketh to direct his steps. (Jer. 10: 1, 2, 11, 14-16, 23.)

Letters To The Editor

CLUB OWNS CAMP

Sir: We wish to ask you to make a correction in your newspaper regarding the ownership of a deer hunting camp. In your article regarding a hunter's accident in which Don Hall, Melville Trip and William Clinton are concerned you stated the camp in which the accident occurred belonged to William Clinton. This is incorrect. This camp belongs to eight hunters in and around Toronto and William Clinton neither owns any part or has anything to do with said camp.

This correction will be appreciated very much by all concerned.

Yours truly,
THE WAGON ROAD HUNT CLUB
J. GUIRY.

HAWK NABS SPARROW

Sir: A busdriver friend told me this story. He noticed a flock of sparrows seed feeding on a lawn on the east side of Lake Street, about five p.m. Saturday noon. All was peace, then tragedy struck in the form of a swooping hawk that carried off one of the feeding members. His only objection to the affair was that he was not grounded and able to give the little assistance with a well placed rock. He told that this was the first time that he had ever seen such a thing within the city limits. I at once thought of sparrow hawks; but on checking up, found that they lived mostly on mice and grasshoppers and so now I am left wondering what kind of a bird of prey that was.

I would like to thank The Examiner for publishing those splendid bird articles by Miller Stewart and hope that he will write often for The Examiner.

A cruel hawk sat in A tree!
And blinked his filmed eye.
His cruel talons they were Sharp!
And many victims died.

The dun birds fed upon the seed
They failed to see—or took
No heed; and thus from life the Sparrow went—for hawk had struck
With lightning speed.

FRED HORN.

View Mysteries Of Alta. Lake From Boat Deck

OTTAWA (CP)—In an experiment never before tried in North America, Canadian fisheries experts are viewing the underwater mysteries of an Alberta lake from the deck comfort of a specially-fitted motor launch.

Their equipment: A newly-developed underwater television camera, camera.

The Resources Department said yesterday scientists of its wildlife services are testing the new camera for underwater fisheries investigation in Lake Minnewanka in Banff National Park.

The camera, encased in a watertight steel compartment, reflects what it sees on a "scope" on the boat deck and has been successfully used to depths of 100 feet.

FIRST TESTED IN ONTARIO

Developed under the direction of W.T. Torrington of the national research council after three years of intensive work, it was first tested in Lake Ontario last year.

Research scientists said it could be useful in salvage and other underwater operations as well as for fisheries research.

The investigations are being carried out from a 30-foot converted R.C.A.F. motor launch. The camera, its casing mounted with a bank of four spotlights to illuminate the gloom of the lake bottom, is connected to a "scope" or viewer on the boat deck by a thick electrical cable. It sends back its visual impulses through this cable.

Believe Ancient Tribes Buried In Crevices In Haliburton Rocks

HALIBURTON—The crevices in the rocks along the westerly shore of Farquhar Lake may yield more information concerning the ancient people who camped there an estimated 5,000 years ago. That is the opinion of Reeve Jack Mangan, Monmouth township, on whose property evidence of the early visitors to Haliburton was found.

Mr. Mangan is convinced it is possible the remains of some members of this tribe would be found buried in the crevices of the rocks which form Farquhar Lake's shoreline.

He claims it was the practice of these early people to bury their dead in the crevices of rocks and cover them with loose earth for the simple reason that they had no tools for digging.

FLINT AND COPPER

Before Mr. Mangan informed authorities of his find, he had accumulated about 38 pieces of flint and copper ware which included beads, fish spears, awls, and needles. Following his disclosure, a party headed by Prof. Emerson, of Toronto, moved in and systematically unearthed an estimated additional 50 pieces of equipment belonging to the early race. More recent searches have uncovered a number of copper beads but the going seems a bit tougher.

OPERATE RESORT

Mr. and Mrs. Mangan operate Wolf's Head Inn a few yards away from where the find was made and when guests arrive next spring, they hope to have a surprise in store for them. The Mangans have been assured that the relics found on their land will be available to them for public display by that time.

According to Mr. Mangan, the items found at Farquhar Lake are the second of their kind to be discovered on the North American continent and the first evidence of this ancient tribe unearthed in Canada. At the moment, there does not seem to be any way of telling what these people were like and their characteristics are pretty much a matter of guesswork.

Whatever the other chracteristics of these people, they probably shared one thing in common with modern man—an eye for beauy. This lake at the mouth of the Burnt River is one of Haliburton County's most beautiful and it is not hard to imagine that these early Canadians found it very much to their liking for a campsite.

Loses Fingers Gets New Ones

NEW YORK (CP)—Marion Cody, 42, three years ago lost his gloves while snowbound on a hunting trip in Alaska. All 10 frozen digits on both hands were amputated.

Today the Milwaukee man has six new fingers and two thumbs, created by surgery. He has a job, can write, smoke a cigaret and dress and feed himself.

The Cody story of Surgery plus rehabilitation was described yesterday to the American Society of Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery by Dr. William H. Frackelton of Marquette University, Milwaukee.

Clefts about 1½ inches deep were cut into the palm between the fingers, freeing the bones in the palm to make them the beginning of longer fingers and thumbs The ring finger of each hand was removed. Some tendons were transplanted from one part of the hand to another to give more to the new fingers, each now about three inches long.

Miss Holm recently won a separation from Rose. He later entered the house while she was away, charged that many valuable art objects were missing and changed the lock so she could not gain entrance again.

Plane Production Hits Stride In 1953

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada will get into full swing in her production of T-36 trainer planes for the United States by mid-1953, defence production officials said yesterday.

Tooling up and initial production at the Canadair Ltd., Montreal plant has started on the contract, announced several months ago.

Canadair is expected to produce the airframes of the twin-engine aircraft, with the engines to come from United States manufacturers. Cost of production in Canada is expected to run to about $50,000,000.

Daoust Rejected As Negotiator

HAMILTON (CP)—A mass meeting of striking textile workers at Hamilton Cottons and Cosmos Imperial plants last night rejected J. Harold Daoust, Canadian director of the Textile Workers Union of America (C.C.L.) as negotiator for the union.

The meeting, called by Mr. Daoust, was attended by more than 400 employees of the two plants. About 700 employees are affected.

Employees of the two plants went on strike Wednesday, when the company failed to meet the union committee on negotiations for higher wages.

Mr. Daoust told the rowdy meeting the T.W.U.A. was the legal bargaining agent for the employees and would continue to be. He charged the employers had not taken a proper strike vote.

EDGEWATER, B.C. (CP)—Premier W.A.C. Bennett says he has a plan to cut British Columbia government spending by millions of dollars.

He disclosed that after the Social Credit government took office early [illegible] following the June 12 provincial election, a chartered bank had offered his administration a loan of $30,000,000.

He gave no details of the loan proposal and did not name the bank.

Canadian Scientists Try To Solve Problem

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian scientists are working to solve one of the major engineering problems of the jet age—the excessive formation of carbon which some fuels cause in jet engines.

National Research Council spokesmen said yesterday its mechanical engineers have developed a new type small-scale burner to test the carbon-forming properties of certain fuels.

Carbonization does to a jet engine what it does to an automobile engine—chokes it up in time so that it has to be cleaned of carbon blockage.

The scientists also seek to improve existing methods of storing aviation fuels and to find ways to reduce the noise created when jet engines are being given high-sped tests in laboratories.

PETES WIN EASTERN CANADA LACROSSE TITLE

Down Toronto Yorks, 12-8 With Rally In Fourth To Enter Mann Cup Finals

By CEC. PERDUE

Catching fire in the fourth quarter at Miller Bowl last night, the timber-structured Petes came from behind to grab a 12-8 victory over Toronto West Yorks and capture the Eastern Canada senior "A" lacrosse finals. A crowd of nearly 4,000 roared approval as the Thorpe team flashed their old championship form with the chips down in the final 15 minutes of play. The Timbermen now meet Vancouver Combines in the Mann Cup play-offs, opening Sunday in Toronto. A costly penalty to the Yorks early in the fourth period started the Petes rolling, and they scored twice before Jim McNulty returned from serving a penalty for slashing Dootch Vitarelli. They got the habit then and kept slapping the ball into the Yorkers' cage as the noise reached deafening proportions. It was 2-2 in the first heat, but Yorks led 6-3 at the half and 8-5 going into the fourth.

Toronto Yorks, gallant in defeat—after fighting bitterly to the last bell—congratulated the happy local warriors at the finish. The Petes whooped it up later in their dressing-room as pictures were taken and congratulations showered upon them. They were tired but happy after the gruelling series which actually lasted seven and a half games—one tilt being rained out halfway through the previous night.

A CLEAN GAME

Though the checking was stiff in this windup tilt, play was quite clean with but three minor penalties apiece handed out. Ross Powless and Les Digby swung sticks late in the fray but were only given minors for "roughing." The referees handled the game well, though Lou Vipond was in wrong with the fans for calling back a fine goal by Don Ashbee in the second, calling it a crease goal. One fan took a punch at him when the period ended, and another threw an empty bottle his way in the next stanza.

The rival squads played a remarkably fast game, especially in the first half, it being more open than most playoff struggles. The goaltending was good, and the checking generally effective, despite the fast-stepping of the forwards. The first and third quarters were quite even, Yorks looked better in the second, but the Petes wrapped it up with a brilliant drive in the fourth.

ALL WENT GOOD

Showing fine teamplay, the Petes' scoring was well spread around. Two goals each were tallied by Bob Thorpe and Russ Slater, with singles going to Nip O'Hearn, Lou Nickle, Dootch Vitarelli, Harry Wipper, Al Garbutt, Don Ashbee, Roger Smith and Curly Mason. Two of the local stars of the whole contest led in assists, O'Hearn helping on no less than five in a grand display, and Mason aiding on four with valuable teamwork. Ashbee and Wipper each had two assists. Ike Hildebrand was an absentee from the local lineup.

Don McPhail and Stu Scott led the losers with two goals each, as Johnny Hewitt, Bill Timpson, Jack Kapasky and Nick Ferri flashed the light once each. An assist apiece went to Tommy Banks, Leo Teatro, Jim McNulty, Timpson, Ferri and Les Digby. Ferri hurt his ankle late in the first period but played the rest of the game. Both goalies pulled repeated brilliant saves.

SCORED FIRST

Drawing first blood, the Timbermen tallied at 4.12 of the initial inning, Mason taking O'Hearn's passout and whistling a low one by Johnston. Slater made it 2-0 from O'Hearn with a bullet shot from an angle on the run as both sides tore up and down fast. McPhail wound up and sallied right through to sink one and Ferri tied it for Yorks on smart finish in close with Digby's pass. He limped off shortly after with a sore ankle, but returned later. There were no penalties in this speedy first stanza.

Scott put Toronto up 3-2 to open the second as he shook his check and gave Moon Wootton no chance. Smith tied it on nice inside combination with Mason and O'Hearn, but Yorks put Yorks up again on a pass from Ferri as he waltzed right in. Ashbee pulled a lovely long solo to score but referee Vipond ruled he had a foot in the crease. Ashby later was gated for slashing, and Timpson scored at point-blank range from Teatro and Jim McNulty before Don got back. Mason was waved over next for slashing as the chukker finished.

CAREFUL LACROSSE

Early in the third, Croft was chased for slashing and Ashbee scored at the crease edge with Mason's pass to make it 6-4 for Yorks. Scott got that right back in seconds with Banks' pass and a flip shot on the tear. It slowed down then with the rivals playing careful lacrosse till late in the period when Hewitt sashayed rapidly around defence to bulge the twine. Garbutt took Mason's passout and hit the mark with a slap shot, the period ending with Toronto Yorks leading 8-5 and looking better, though they were stalling a bit at the gong.

THEN IT HAPPENED

Slightly more than a minute had passed in the fourth frame when Jim McNulty cut down Dootch Vitarelli and he was waved away. Wipper struck fast on a hot shot with Ashbee's passout to score. Vitarelli barged in quickly right after to take a short pass from O'Hearn and pick a net corner as the crowd roared. McNulty returned but the Petes were afire then and kept boring in. Nickle slipped in on a side rush to blast a blazer by Johnston to tie the score at 8-all and the fans nearly went crazy. It was redhot and noisy, with the Timbermen tearing in repeatedly and the desperate Yorks trying to slow it down. O'Hearn broke the draw with a quick shot on Johnston's doorstep after a passout from Mason, who had fought hard around the net to get the ball. Thorpe clinched it with two smart goals, aided once by O'Hearn, and again by Ashbee and Wipper, when Slater slapped home Wipper's pass. Teams:

Toronto—Goal, Johnston; defence, Webster and Banks; centre, Teatro; wings Jim McNulty and Timpson; rover, Ferri; alternates, Scott, Digby, Croft, Kapasky, McPhail, Hewitt and Joe McNulty.

THE HAPPY WARRIORS — The top scene shows the happy Petes' Timbermen relaxing in a large way in their crowded dressing-room immediately after capturing the Eastern Canada senior lacrosse championship here last night. They had just downed Toronto West Yorks 12-8 before close to 4,000 fans to advance once more into the Mann Cup finals. The defending champs had to roar from behind in the fourth quarter of the deciding game to do it, and they whooped it up plenty after the last gong. Centre photo shows Curly Mason, left, and Nip O'Hearn receiving congratulatory kisses from their wives shortly after the big game. Underneath is a more tense study as Referees Piper Bain and Lou Vipond (behind Bain) are escorted by police to their room as angry fans mill around, following a Petes' goal called back by Vipond in the second quarter. — (Examiner Staff Photos).

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

With the O.H.A. senior "B" schedule opening four weeks from tonight, the Belleville Glens have started ice workouts. Among the veterans on deck at the first drill were: Vern Goyer, Keith MacDonald, Peter Jones, Red Doran, Huck Reeves, Doug Bastedo, Jackie Wardhaugh, Jerry Desjardins, Nobber Day, Brian Mulvihill, Trumble and Semark. Newcomers included ex-juniors Ted Degray, Duke Doran, the Grahams and Billy Straham. Trying for goal was Red Wasson, formerly with the Peterborough junior Oddfellows. No coach has been named yet, and officials of the Quinte centre hope to add a few good imports, preferably defencemen. They know they're in a strong group this year.

No less than three high school football frays listed for here tomorrow. Afternoon at 2:30 in Morrow Park see St. Mike's of Toronto and St. Peter's clash in a Catholic Conference game to open playoffs. It should be a swell scrap as Johnny Lynch's husky Saints promise to go places this semester. At 6.30 p.m. over in Riverside, Oshawa Central has a group fixture with Al MacQuarrie's junior P.C.V.S. pack. It is followed at 8.30 by Jarvis Collegiate vs. Bev Goulding's senior P.C.I.-ers. Re the Jarvis system of using two quarterbacks at once, Bev remarks: "With an extra man in the Canadian game, the only way an offence can be perfectly balanced and therefore more difficult to defend is to use either a double flanker or a double quarterback when using a 'T' attack".

Raiders Tackle Orfuns

Oshawa Raiders lost to Cobourg Ghosts the other night in O.R.F.U. intermediate grid play, and the Raiders will be battling bitterly to keep up near the leaders when they clash with our Orfuns here tonight. It's under the arcs in Morrow Park and should be a sweet scrap to view. Tony Kotowski's classy Orfuns have to hustle, too, or the Ghosts will pull away from them in this hot race. Coach Frank Stukus may quarterback Oshawa in this one, as they'll give is all they have. However, we look for a local win as Orfuns were plenty sharp against Cobourg and Kingston in their last starts, taking both tussles. Not many grid g ames left, fans, so don't pass any of the home fixtures up.

Proving real champs when the chips were down—and coming from behind with a terrific fourth-period drive—the Petes' Timbermen erased Toronto Yorks here last eve to take the eastern crown and move into Mann Cup finals once more. Pardon us for bursting into song:

Toronto folk will weep and wail
For the ex-lacrossers of Don McPhail;
Like champs the Petes roll on and on,
While like the Yorks our voice is gone!

Their Operation Leapfrog proved a great success after seven and a half gruelling games 'gainst the scrappy Yorkers. Latter fought hard to the finish and then congratulated the winners. A big whoop-de-do after by the jubilant Timbermen. And a huge crowd went home happy.

Congrats To Champions

Lot of money changed hands, we hear, as a flock of Toronto and Mimico chaps came here confident and toting a roll. The Toronto press will sound depressed tonight, we expect. It was a hard, close fray with Yorkers having an edge in the second frame to take a lead and they carried an 8-5 margin into the fourth when the Petes suddenly hit their old titular form. Bang, bang, bang—and that was it! Fans were peeved earlier when Lou Vipond called back Ashbee's goal, some guy taking a poke at Lou. Latter threatened later to forfeit the fray when someone threw a bottle his way. However, police were on hand and kept things under control. O'Hearn, Thorpe, Mason and Wootton starred for the locals, but the whole team went great.

Local executive was huddling today for 11th hour arrangements for the Mann Cup sawoffs. Vancouver Combines are believed to be much the same squad as the Timbermen defeated in B. C. last autumn. Petes will decide today on what replacements they will ask the C.L.A. for in the finals. Meanwhile, they have announced that tickets for the series will be available here from three to nine p.m. today and up till 3.30 p.m. tomorrow at Clapper's Store for motoring fans. No special train for the opener, but specials will be run for the rest of the games, and all-expense tickets sold at Clapper's and the C. P. R. ticket office. A raft of Peterborough lacrosse followers are expected to follow the local club through the Mann Cup best-of-seven set. Games next week are Sunday, Tuesday and Friday.

HESSON KO'S HUBBA

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Bob Hesson of Stratford knocked out Walter Hubba of Toronto last night at 1.56 of the third round in the main event of the Chick Coop A.C. card at the Arena. It was a hard fought scrap until Hubba caught Hesson with a s[illegible] right uppercut and finished wit[illegible] snappy, but hard left uppercut.

World Series Notes

By WILL GRIMSLEY

BROOKLYN (AP)—You don't see their names in headlines any more but there are a couple of Yankees who have 25 World Series' between them.

They are coaches Frank Crosetti and Bill Dickey, who have shared the New York team's two great periods of prosperity.

For Crosetti this is World Series No. 13, seven as a player and six as a coach. For Dickey, an all-time great catcher, it is No. 12, eight of the years as a player and the rest as a manager's aide.

Of all these series, only one was a losing one. That was 1942, when both were players and St. Louis Cardinals spotted the Yanks the first game and then won four straight.

"We don't look for another one like that," said Dickey.

For obvious reasons we're not going to mention the name of the frankest, if not the smartest, Dodger of them all.

Asked what he thought about the World Series now, the not-so-artful Dodger replied: "The Yankees in six."

Billy Loes, who threw the ball which Billy Martin poked out of sight to climax the Yankees' five-run sixth inning, had a novel explanation.

"I threw it waist high—I wanted him to hit it," Billy said.

To some it might have looked as if little Phil Rizzuto was unburdening himself of some choice expletives after Brooklyn's Duke Snider whanged into him in the third inning.

"Phil knew it wasn't intentional" Snider said later. "The only thing he said to me was that he's getting too old to be stepped on like that."

Rizzuto received three spike wounds in the thigh.

Mann Tickets Available For Local Fans

Mann Cup tickets for Peterborough lacrosse fans wanting to take in the Canadian senior finals in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens this coming week are available now, President Bob Peirson of the Petes' Timbermen announced this morning. There will be no special train for the opening game in Toronto on Sunday between Petes and Vancouver Combines, but special trains will be run from here for the other games of the series.

Motorists wanting blue tickets ($2.25) for the Sunday game can get them at Clapper's Sports Store from 3 p.m. today—with the store open till nine tonight—until 3.30 Saturday. Tickets for future games may be had there, too, as well as the combined all-expense tickets ($5.00) when special trains are run. These latter include train return transportation, as well as street-car transportation to and from the Gardens, and admission at the Gardens. Such combined tickets may also be had at the uptown C.P.R. ticket office. Their phone number is 2-3813, while Clapper's is 2-5331. Some reds and greens in tickets will be available, too.

Betty Castle Leads

Commandos took all games over Corvettes and Lucky Strikes blanked Bombers to open the Y.M.C.A. girls' bowling activity for the season. Glens and Aces got four points each and Hurricanes and Tigers two apiece.

Some good singles were seen for so early, including B. Castle 231, N. Hepburn 224, D. McArthur 223, B. Pogue 216, Min Arnold 216, Nan Moffat 209 and Jean Ward 206. D. McKinstry had a triple of 576 as did Betty Pogue, while B. Castle rolled 569, N. Moffat 559 and Jean Ward 552.

HERO'S WELCOME

BROCKTON, Mass. (AP)—Rocky Marciano, world's heavyweight boxing champion, came home to a hero's welcome yesterday while a police estimated crowd of 60,000 to 100,000 persons roared their approval. The conqueror of Jersey Joe Walcott was buried under an avalanche of confetti and torn paper during an open-car ride of three miles through the city's business centre.

Brooks Outclassed As Yanks Sweep Second Game 7-1

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Anyway, it was a beautiful dream the Dodgers had while it lasted, and the feeling remains strong that they would give the Yankees a fit if Joe Black could pitch every day.

As it is, Manager Chuck Dressen's shocked athletes probably will do well to carry the Series to six games. You do not recover easily from such a belaboring as Mickey Mantle, Billy Martin, Vic Raschi and their mates dealt out in the second game.

The score—7-1—was one-sided enough, but it was more the manner in which the American Leaguers went about the execution, cold and merciless as ever when the big money is on the line. Raschi was humiliating in his mastery through the final six innings.

OVERMATCHED

Down in their hearts, when it was over, the Dodgers must have realized that they were overmatched, that they had no such breath-taking young star on their side as Mantle, and that they were certain in the end to be betrayed by their shortage of really fine pitching.

The picture could change again today, of course. Preacher Roe, the Arkansas thin man, still is capable on occasion of pitching a whale of a game, and the deep expanses of Yankee Stadium are ideal for an oldtimer who leans heavily upon his outfielders.

But he will need some serious help at the plate, and the Brooklyn batters appeared to be mesmerized the last time we saw them. Easy Ed Lopat, the greatest of the dipsy-doodlers, will do nothing calculated to bring them to.

Mostly last night the talk was about Mantle. It was agreed that Martin, the young second baseman, acquitted himself well with the three-run homer which broke the game wide open in the Yankees' five-run sixth, but the feeling seemed to be that Mantle was the one who broke the Dodgers' backs.

MANTLE STANDS OUT

The word which exactly describes the quality which Mantle exudes has not been coined. The closest one probably is "class," though that leaves something to be desired. It is the same thing Joe DiMaggio, the youngster's predecessor, possessed, and a few others.

Going into the third game, Mantle had hit five for nine. Two of his blows yesterday touched off Yankee rallies. One of them, the one which opened the five-run sixth, was a swinging bunt he had beaten out from the time it left his bat.

The kid probably could hit .400 if he wished to employ the strategy regularly. He is so fast that there's almost no chance of throwing him out. Afield, he now is getting just about as good a start on the ball as DiMaggio ever did, and he is going fully as far as the Clipper did.

Martin is another prime example of how the Yankees always come up with the players they need. DiMaggio retired—and there was Mantle. Gerry Coleman was recalled to fly a fighter plane, and Martin was sitting on the bench, ready to go.

It was Martin who drove Gil McDougald across with what proved to be the winning run in the fifth inning and it was his line-drive home run off Bill Loes, the second Dodger pitcher, which put the game beyond recall in the sixth. His fielding, too, was crisp and incisive.

ERSKINE IN TROUBLE

It was obvious early in the going that the Dodgers hadn't a Joe Black pitching for them. Carl Erskine was in difficulties continually and though he extricated himself for several innings, it was plain that Old Man Trouble would get him in time. The Yanks got their lead-off hitter on base in each of the first six innings.

When the roof finally caved in on the Dodgers in the sixth, their defence went bad, too, under the pressure. Their first baseman, Gil Hodges, dropped an easy toss. Jackie Robinson failed to throw to the plate when he could have nailed Mantle by 10 feet. The Yankees seem to do that to a ball team and you can't explain it.

Raschi's pitching was superb. He now is one of the three active pitchers who has won four World Series games, the other two being Allie Reynolds, his Yankee teammate who was beaten in the opener, and Harry Brecheen, the great St. Louis Cardinal.

Raschi struck out Andy Pafko to close the third inning and from there on, as they say, the Dodgers "never seen which way he went."

Rochester Clips Kansas In 10-5 Victory

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Four innings of no-hit, no-run relief pitching by righthander Jack Crimlan last night carried Rochester Red Wings to a 10-5 victory over Kansas City Blues in the fifth game of their Little World Series. Kansas City leads 3-2 in the best-of-seven affair.

The American Association champions committed five errors, but managed to score five times on a mere three-hit total, thanks to three miscues and home run shots by Bill Skowron and starting pitcher Jim Russell.

Kansas City reliefer Rex Jones and his mates fell apart in the fifth, as Rochester scored three unearned runs and went on to take the decision.

Small Rhubarb Develops In All-Start Tilt

TORONTO (CP)—A small rhubarb has developed over the National Hockey League All-Star game at Detroit next Sunday with the principal roles going to Toronto Maple Leafs' Conn Smythe and Montreal Canadiens' Dick Irvin. In the middle is Leaf centre Ted Kennedy.

Max Bentley, Leaf centre chosen for the second All-Star team, pulled a groin muscle while skating at his home town of Delisle, Sask. Irvin, coach of the second All-Star team, picked Kennedy to fill the spot and that's how Smythe got into the act.

CAN'T KEEP HIM WAITING

"They can't keep the captain of our club waiting around to substitute at the last minute," Smythe said last night. "They asked if Kennedy would be available, now that Maxie is out, and I told them Kennedy was unavailable."

The hassle started when Irvin, asked to choose the alternates for the second All-Star team, put the finger on Bentley and chose Billy Reay of Canadiens over Kennedy. It will be the first All-Star game Kennedy has missed since the annual affair started in 1947.

In Montreal, Irvin said he will use Floyd Curry from his own team at right wing with Tod Sloan of the Leafs at centre.

Sharp Note Wins Captures Heat

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Sharp Note, with a great burst of speed at the finish, came on to win the deciding heat of the $61,231 Kentucky Futurity by a neck yesterday and take the three-year-old trotting championship.

The victory brought his earnings for the year to $111,175.70, the first time any standard-bred horse has topped the $100,000 mark in a year.

The third heat was made necessary when Duke of Lullwater captured the second heat in an upset victory. Sharp Note won the initial heat.

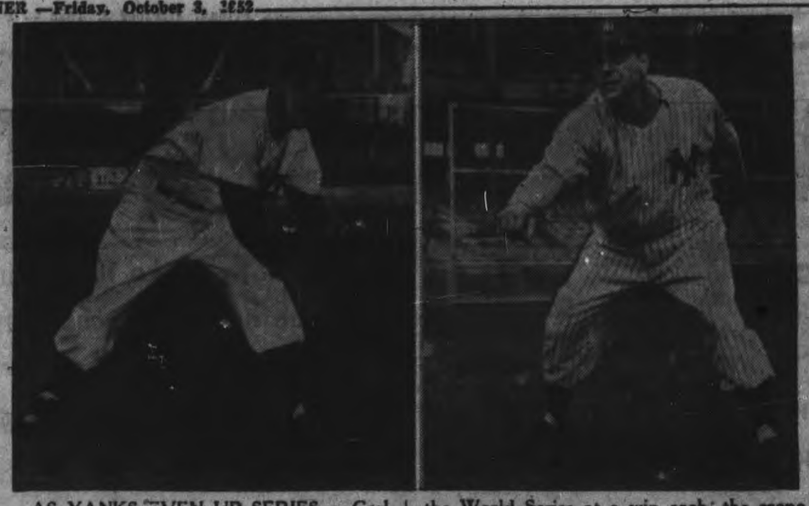
Lu Peck, only filly in the race and winner of 22 of 29 starts, finished second in all three heats.

Duke of Lullwater was third the first trip, Sharp Note third the second and Diplomat Hanover was the show horse the last time.

Sharp Note, a bay son of Phonograph and owned by C. W. Clark of Dearborn, Mich., picked up $28,299.55 of the futurity jackpot.

BRUINS SIGN MARTIN

HERSHEY, Pa. (CP) — Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League yesterday signed Frank Martin, 19-year-old St. Catharines amateur. Martin, a promising defenceman, probably will be turned over to Hershey Bears of the American Hockey League for seasoning.



Frank Mario, veteran centre of the Bears and captain in the last two campaigns, has been sent to Quebec with the right of recall, it was announced.

AS YANKS EVEN UP SERIES — Carl Erskine, left, of the Dodgers' pitching staff, ran into rough weather in Brooklyn's Ebbett's Field yesterday when the Yankee bats boomed him off the mound with the New Yorkers going on to win 7-1. It squared the World Series at a win each, the scene shifting to Yankee Stadium today for the third game. Vic Raschi, right, turned in a brilliant twirling performance for the Stengel squad as he threw three-hit ball and struck out nine.

Baseball Club Committed For Trial

OTTAWA (CP) — Magistrate Glenn Strike yesterday committed the Ottawa Athletics Baseball Club, Inc., for trial in a higher court on a charge of operating a lottery.

The charge was laid against the A's for a stunt Aug. 12. Myrna Lumsden, 18, holder of a winning ticket in a draw, was allowed to keep all the nickels she could carry from a pile at the pitcher's mound.

Detective Sergeant Borben Conley testified he watched Miss Lumsden count off the 75-pound load of nickels. Miss Lumsden said she counted up $384.95 in nickels.

Magistrate Strike set trial date at Oct. 23.

CHICOUTIMI WINS

CHICOUTIMI, Que. (CP)—Chicoutimi Saguenéens of the Quebec Senior Hockey League last night handed Providence Reds of the American League a 7-1 defeat in an exhibition game here.

American Hockey League Gives Tentative Approval To Schedule

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The American Hockey League governors yesterday gave tentative approval to a 68-game schedule for the 1952-53 season.

But they made it known that the schedule hinged on whether the league's no-recall rule or a compromise rejected by the National Hockey League Wednesday would force any A.H.L. teams from the league.

The governors decided to recess the meeting to give teams dependent on national league support a chance to consider whether they could ice teams this season without the backing of senior league clubs.

AFFECTS THREE TEAMS

Notably the teams affected—and possibly forced from he league by the no-recall rule—are Pittsburgh, Hershey and Indianapolis. All have tieups with N.H.L. clubs.

The business manager of Pittsburgh Hornets indicated last night, however, that Pittsburgh plans to stay in the league.

Jim Balmer told a newspaper man the Hornets intended to honor their recall contract with Toronto of the N.H.L., and allow players to return to the Maple Leafs, even if it meant the Hornets would be fined for violation of the A.H.L. no-recall rule.

Two weeks ago, the A.H.L. decided not to permit any recall of players belonging to N.H.L. clubs during the season except in the event an N.H.L. club was weakened by illness or injury.

The N.H.L. governors rejected this proposed arrangement and the A.H.L. then stood pat on its original decision not to permit recall under any circumstances.

With the no-recall rule in effect, the N.H.L. clubs probably would refuse to send players to A.H.L. affiliates, leaving clubs dependent on N.H.L. support unable to make up full teams.

P. Of W. Boys Win

Prince of Wales blanked King George 4-0 in junior school soccer yesterday at Riverside. Gary Billingsley, Terry Downer, David Drummond and Elwood White did the scoring for the Princes in a neat display. Teams:

King George: Pomeroy, Fowler, Walker, Ebbs, Davis, Eakins, Sanderson, D. Barker and C. Barker, Fairs, Miller, Jamieson, Morrison.

Prince of Wales: Burns, Curvin, Currie, Donaldson, Heath, Downer, White, Frost, Billingsley, Drummond, Andrews, Daynes, Johnston, Trotter, Buckton, Owen.

Referee—L. Bird.

POLIO STOPS FOOTBALL

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—The University of North Carolina football fullback stricken with polio and three other students abed with the disease, cancelled its next two games yesterday. Wiped off the schedule were Saturday's game with Georgia and next week's game against North Carolina State. Fullback Harold Davidson was found Wednesday night to have infantile paralysis.

Two Ball 'Youngsters' Stealing Series Show

NEW YORK (AP)—This figured to be the old men's World Series but Mickey Mantle and Billy Martin, a couple of New York Yankee baby-faced youngsters, are making gestures toward stealing the show.

Mantle, who'll not be 21 until Oct. 20, has lashed out five hits, including a double, in nine trips to the plate in the two games.

Martin, whose looks belie his 24 years, singled in the first game and yesterday drove home four runs with a single and a three-run homer as the Yankees evened the series with a 7-1 victory. The second baseman is the youngest of the Yankee regulars except for Mickey.

CARDS SELL THREE PLAYERS

NEW YORK (AP)—Three St. Louis Cardinals have been sold to American League clubs for the $10,000 waiver price, it was announced yesterday. Pitcher Bob Habenicht and first baseman Ed Mickelson were sold to St. Louis Browns and pitcher Bill Werle to Boston Red Sox.

Dodgers Busy Praising Raschi

BROOKLYN (AP) — Brooklyn Dodgers had nothing but praise for Vic Raschi and rebuke for themselves yesterday after losing the second game of the World Series to New York Yankees.

"I was awfully wild," lamented young Carl Erskine, who was charged with the 7-1 defeat.

"I put the first man on base in each of the six innings I worked. I don't think I threw a single strike on a change-of-pace ball.

"On the one day I should have had control I couldn't hit a barn door. But we have days like that, and I hope I get another chance."

Manager Charley Dressen disclosed that Erskine had a locker room accident just before the game which may have contributed to his lack of effectiveness.

FELL OFF LADDER

The lean righthander fell off a small ladder while looking out of a window and reinjured an old football knee. He also banged his head.

The Dodgers' dressing room was quiet and melancholy yesterday in contrast to the bulb-flashing, question-asking bedlam that followed their 4-2 opening game victory.

"We probably couldn't have won no matter how well we played," said Jackie Robinson, the Dodgers' great Negro second baseman.

"I've seen Vic Raschi before in other series, but he was never as sharp as he was today. He had a wonderful change of pace and that's what killed us."

Toronto Fans Look Twice Recognize Leafs

By FRASER MacDOUGALL

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP)—Fans around the National Hockey League may have to take a second look to recognize Toronto Maple Leafs this season.

Coach Joe Primeau, in his third term with Leafs, has on his training camp roster only eight veterans from the team which finished third in the league race last season and then lost four straight games to Detroit Red Wings in the Stanley Cup playoffs.

VETS AND ROOKIES

Primeau's task is to mould a winning combination from the veterans and a collection of eager second-year men and rookies. He thinks he'll wind up with a contending and crowd-pleasing team. He's not guessing where they'll finish.

A key plank in the wholesale rebuilding is Harry Lumley, veteran goalie who came to Toronto in a trade three weeks ago that sent goalie Al Rollins, defenceman Gus Mortson and centre Cal Gardiner to Chicago.

Black Hawks also acquired left wing Ray Hannigan, last season with Pittsburgh Hornets, Toronto farm club in the American Hockey League.

Primeau, discussing his team's prospects, started with a reference to Lumley: "To begin with, we have a good goalie."

Veterans Jim Thomson and Fern Flaman head the defence. When the Leafs open their home season against Chicago Oct. 11 they will be joined by three others chosen from Hugh Bolton and Jim Morrison, who saw some N.H.L. action last season, and rookies Leo Boivin, Tim Horton and Frank Sullivan, up from Pittsburgh.

FORWARDS SWITCHED

The shakeup has extended to every forward line.

Right wing Tod Sloan, shifted from his old spot with Ted Kennedy and Sid Smith, centres Harry Watson and Howie Meeker. Ron Stewart, Calgary-born right winger in junior hockey last season, plays with Kennedy and Smith.

The Sloan switch, Primeau emphasized, is experimental. At opening night, he may be back with Kennedy and Smith.

One line in training is headed by blonde Bob Hassard, lanky native of Yorkminster, Sask., with Hornets last season. He has Gord Hannigan, brother of Ray, on left wing and Bob Sabourin, up from Toronto St. Michael's college juniors, on right.

Rudy Migay, Bob Solinger and Andy Barbe, all up from Hornets, form another potent forward combination. Migay and Solinger both had turns with the Leafs last season.

The other veteran is Max Bentley, who stayed on his farm near Delisle, Sask., to clean up the wheat harvest. He was expected to report this week.

Other regular members of the 1950-51 team gone are workhorse Joe Klukay, sold to Boston, defenceman Bill Juzda and left wing Ray Timgren, both assigned to Pittsburgh.

SIX HORSES SPILLED

DETROIT (AP) — Six horses spilled yesterday in one of the worst racing accidents in Hazel Park's history and four jockeys went to hospital.

Fred Redmon and Henry Manifold suffered broken collarbones. Also in hospital with injuries were Evans Anyon and Bobby Lillibridge.

The mass spill occurred in the first race when Gambling Lady crossed her legs going into the far turn and fell against Red Wood. The other horses spilled over them.

Weekend Football Games Can Jar Standing

By JACK SULLIVAN

When the grandstand quarterbacks gather to talk football in the east these days, they usually start the discussion with a big "if." In the west, it is "when."

Which is by way of saying that this is the time of year when the question of playoffs in the Big Four and Western Interprovincial Football Unions is in the air. The westerners have set a pattern and it is just a matter of time.

In the Big Four, things are a lot different. It seems that everything depends on the outcome of the big ones coming up.

For instance, if Toronto Argonauts get past Ottawa Rough Riders at Ottawa this weekend it will just about clinch a playoff spot for the first-place Double Blues. If the 1951 Grey Cup champions defeat Toronto for the first time in two seasons the situation would be a trifle tense.

ALS MAY BE OUT

And if runner-up Hamilton Tiger-Cats hand the luckless Montreal Alouettes their sixth straight loss of the season, you can just about count coach Doug Walker's boys out of it when the two-team post-season series starts.

There's another "if." If the Alouettes break loose—and they are overdue—and smack the Tiger-Cats on their black and yellow pants and Riders hand Argonauts their first loss of the season the standings will be in a real jam.

Consider the situation in the west.

The rampaging Winnipeg Blue Bombers have clinched a place in the playoffs and now they're looking for a softer touch—an end-of-the-season No. 1 spot that will allow them to sit back and watch the second- and third-place clubs clobber each other in the semi-finals. Then the Bombers could take over for the kill.

They hold a four-point lead over Edmonton Eskimos and the way they are operating they should hold it or lengthen it before the schedule winds up Oct. 18. At the other end of the standing are Saskatchewan Roughriders, the 1951 Grey Cup finalists who have lost nine of their 11 games to date.

The Roughriders, six points behind third-place Calgary Stampeders, have only a hope and a prayer of catching up in the remaining five games.

HEAVY WEEKEND

Its another doubleheader weekend in the west with games at Calgary and Edmonton tomorrow and Monday. Blue Bombers meet the Stampeders and Eskimos in that order and Regina plays first at Edmonton and then at Calgary.

Stampeder fans are given hope with announcement that Johnny Bright, Negro quarter who has be a ball of fire most of the season, was running fast and hard in drills Wednesday. The former Drake University star, counted on by coach Les Lear to give the Stamps a lift, was operated on for appendicitis only 13 days ago.

It isn't known if he'll be ready this weekend but the word is out he is believed to be ready if Lear gets too worried.

The senior Intercollegiate Union officially opens tomorrow with defending champion Toronto Blues playing at home against McGill Redmen. Western's Mustangs meet Queen's Golden Gaels at Kingston.

In the O.R.F.U. it is the league-leading Sarnia Imperials, minus nine regulars with injuries, at Windsor tomorrow and Brantford Redskins playing Balmy Beach at Toronto Sunday.

Told Raschi He'd Get Raise If He Won—Pitcher Did

By TED SMITS

BROOKLYN (AP)—"I just told him to be a good boy and get 'em out and I'd get him a raise."

That, said Yankee Skipper Casey Stengel with a mischievous grin, is what he told Vic Raschi when the big hurler got in a jam in the second inning yesterday.

The Brooks had loaded the bases — all on walks — when Stengel walked to the mound to talk with the veteran hurler.

"Just get 'em out, and I'll get you a raise," Casey told Raschi. And the Yankee ace retired pitcher Carl Erskine on the first pitch.

Raschi was dripping sweat when he reached his locker.

"Sure was hot out there," he said.

"What was the matter at the start when you were in trouble?" he was asked.

"Me in trouble? All I did was walk three men in one inning, but none of them scored. It's when they score that you're in trouble."

Raschi's 7-1 victory over the Dodgers is his second series victory in this ball park. He beat the Dodgers here in 1949, 10-6.

"Raschi was wonderful," said Stengel. "He doesn't look like a graceful pitcher but he has the stuff or he wouldn't have the record he has.

Billy Martin, whose three-run homer was the knockout blow of the game, was boyishly modest.

"I didn't feel nervous really," he said. "Heck, we played 12 straight series games in a row even before we met Brooklyn."

Martin was referring to the hot American League race in which the Yankees outlasted Cleveland Indians in the stretch with Martin driving in the winning runs of the game that clinched the pennant.

Employment Hits New Peak

OTTAWA (CP) — Employment and payrolls both reached new peaks in Canada at Aug. 1 this year in the index ratings of the Bureau of Statistics.

The bureau yesterday issued advance index figures showing the Aug. 1 employment index at 188.1, up 1.4 per cent from July 1 and 2.1 per cent above Aug. 1, 1951, and the payroll index at 431.5, up from 426.3 at July 1 and 9.5 per cent above the 394.0 figure at Aug. 1 last year.

The index figures are based on the year 1939 equalling the base figure of 100.

The bureau said the increase in the employment index was due in part to settlement of important labor disputes and from unusually marked expansion in road construction and maintenance work in Quebec.

The bureau found that weekly wages and salaries in Canada averaged $53.87 at Aug. 1 compared with $54.96 at July 1 and $50.16 at Aug. 1 last year.

LEAVING FOR KOREA—With the United Nations flag fluttering at her masthead, H.M.C.S. Haida, Canada's greatest sea fighter of World War II, steams out of Halifax harbor for the journey to Korea where she will relieve H.M.C.S. Nootka. More than 1,000 relatives, friends and well-wishers were on hand to bid the trim vessel farewell. With a complement of some 280 officers and men, the 2,800-ton Haida was recommissioned earlier this year and is one of Canada's most up-to-date destroyers. She is commanded by Commander J. Dunn Lantier, R.C.N., of Montreal.

Two Labor Organizations Deny Any Communist Link

MONTREAL (CP)—Spokesmen for two Canadian labor organizations yesterday denied any Communist link and rejected any suggestion of union politics in a strike of shipyard workers.

The statements on behalf of the Canadian Congress of Labor and the Canadian Catholic Confederation of labor followed earlier denials of claims made by Montreal leaders of American Federation of Labor unions.

The charges and counter-charges stem from an announcement in Toronto last week of an alliance between C.C.C.L. and C.C.L. shipyard unions to present a united front on wage and employment demands made upon the industry.

"RED STRONGHOLD"

This announcement brought claims from the A.F.L. leaders in Montreal that the C.C.L.'s Shipyard Workers' Union is "the last remaining Communist stronghold" within that organization and that the C.C.C.L. has a "clear-cut working alliance with the Communists."

About 1,200 C.C.C.L. members employed by Canadian Vickers Ltd. in Montreal have been on strike since mid-August. Another 800 workers, members of the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers (T.L.C.-A.F.L.), at first refused to cross picket lines, but several weeks later decided to return to work. Clashes followed outside the Vickers plant.

In Ottawa, Donald MacDonald, C.C.L. secretary-treasurer, said the "overwhelming majority" of shipyard workers in affiliated unions "are not in any way connected with the Communist Party. And we are sure that the same is true of the workers represented by the C.C.C.L."

DENIES CHARGES

Jean Marchand, secretary-general of the C.C.C.L., in a statement in Quebec, called Montreal leaders of the A.F.L. "irresponsible" for claiming the C.C.C.L. has "close co-operation with various Communist elements."

In Vancouver, William L. White, president of the British Columbia Shipyard Workers Union (C.I.O.-C.C.L.), said "no politics" are involved in the Vickers strike and "any attempt to defeat the legitimate strike of the Vickers employees by Red beating and scabbery is doomed to failure . . . Only economic principles are involved."

White was replying to charges of Sam Finlay, international vice-president of the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, who said in a statement a "political commissar" from a "Communist-riddled" British Columbia union has been sent to Montreal to assist striking members of a Catholic union. Finlay named White as the official helping the Catholic syndicate.

Ski Instructor Shows W.A. Films Of Austria

COLDSPRINGS (ENS)— Hans Faulkner, a ski instructor, presented movies at the Coldsprings hall Wednesday night on behalf of the W.A. of St. Paul's church. Mr. Faulkner came to Canada from Austria in 1938, and bought a farm at Coldsprings. Since that time he spent some of the summer here, and in the winter gave instructions on skiing in Quebec and Europe.

A capacity audience enjoyed Mr. Faulkner's colored films on his native land, in summer and winter which he had taken recently.

Mr. Faulkner was introduced by the W.A. president, Mrs. C. Brooks. During intermissions a reading was given by Mrs. L. McIntosh and a trio composed of Linda, Marlene and Ray Turk, sang, accompanied by Mrs. P. Harris.

Mrs. Brooks moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Faulkner.

Baby-Sitter Sentenced

VANCOUVER (CP)—A baby-sitter who let her charges watch her take narcotics was sentenced yesterday to two years in prison. Shirley Taylor, 18, was convicted of contributing to juvenile delinquency. Irvine Anderson, her 19-year-old boy friend, was given a similar sentence on the same charge.

Lay Off The Ants

HEIDELBERG, Germany (Reuters)—The United States Army issued an order to all troops in Germany yesterday to lay off the ants. Bothered by ants on forest exercises, troops have been rooting out the hills and pouring gasoline on them. The German forestry service is complaining. Foresters go to great pains to plant the ant hills as a means of controlling tree-destroying insects.

Fuel Tanks Drop

OXFORD, England (AP)—Two fuel tanks dropped from a United States Air Force superfort bomber yesterday and smashed a barn and cowshed at nearby Shipton-Ychford. The tanks, each weighing about two tons, burst and drenched the buildings with gasoline. One of the tanks narrowly missed a man milking a cow. There was no fire.

Hendren Heads Lakefield C. Of C.

LAKEFIELD (ENS).—Donald Hendren was elected president of the Lakefield Chamber of Commerce at a meeting held in Memorial Hall on Wednesday evening. He succeeds Harold Hamblin. Others elected as committee chairmen were: agriculture and health, Capt. J. Sloan; membership, Albert G. Buchanan; tourist, Milton Hillier; retail, A. W. Stewart; industries and civic improvement, Walter Killoran. Mrs. Wm. O'Brien was again elected secretary and Sam Henderson replaces Mrs. W. W. Leonard as treasurer.

Ballots to elect a provincial vice-president and two provincial directors for the Canadian Chamber of Commerce at Montreal were sent by the local organization.

Each chairman was asked to get three members for his committee from persons not on the board of directors. Kenneth Slater was appointed auditor for this year's books.

As a means of making meetings more interesting, Dr. R. H. Campbell suggested that a speaker should be engaged who was interested in the village and not put all the emphasis on the tourist business. He felt that the business men and farmers should be more interested in the Chamber of Commerce in view of the fact that they derive considerable benefit from it.

It was decided to issue a monthly bulletin, to be prepared by the secretary.

RCAF Returning Texans To U.S. Bases

TRENTON — Scores of Texan training aircraft borrowed from the U.S. Air Force early last year when the R.C.A.F. found that it was short of Harvards are arriving at Trenton's No. 6 Repair Depot Thursday for servicing prior to being returned to the United States.

It is estimated by R.C.A.F. officials that 20 Texans per month will be flown from Trenton to various bases in the U.S. as soon as the planes have been processed and overhauled. The first batch will leave early next week on a 1,500 mile flight to an unnamed air station in the U.S.

It was explained by an air force spokesman that it was now possible to release the Texans because sufficient Harvards to fulfill Canadian needs are being produced by the Canada Car and Foundry Company at Fort William. This firm is turning out Mark IV's.

WING TROUBLE

The Texans, which were based only at R.C.A.F. station Trenton and Centralia were grounded in Canada some months after their adoption by training command last year as a result of a number of unexplained crashes. Officials at Ottawa later said that it was discovered that in these crashes the wings fell off. They added that putting extra weight in the nose of the Texans had since saved countless lives.

Two Air Cadets stationed at Trenton this summer were killed when the Texans they were flying plowed into the ground from low altitudes.

Air Force officials at Trenton did not say that the return of the Texans to the U.S. had any connection with the crashes. The planes will be flown back to their bases in the United States by pilots of No. 6 Repair Depot Ferry Flight.

Player Uses Lie-Detector

CHICAGO (AP) — Fielder Jim Rivera of Chicago White Sox took a private lie-detector test yesterday, and his lawyer said the test proved the baseball star did not rape a 22-year-old married woman.

Rivera, 31-year-old major league rookie, has been charged with raping Mrs. Janet Gater, wife of a soldier.

Rivera's lawyer, Robert Romano, said a test showed Rivera was telling the truth when he said he did not rape the woman.

Mrs. Gater complained that Rivera raped her in her apartment last Saturday night. The White Sox outfielder told police he was intimate with the young woman but contended she submitted willingly after inviting him to her apartment.

Rivera is free on $5,000 bail.

Ottawa Will Hold Sunday Sports Vote

OTTAWA (CP) — City hall officials yesterday indicated that a plebiscite on Sunday sports will be held Dec. 1 in conjunction with the mayoralty elections.

The city clerk's office has been checking signatures on a petition for the plebiscite. The check resulted from charges by Mayor Charlotte Whitton that some women's signatures were placed on the petition without their consent.

An official at the city clerk's office said the check indicated that the signatures were added to the petition by the women's husbands tut in the presence and with the consent of their wives.

GHOST IN THE FLOCK

Wild bird lover, Mrs. Nora Cooper of 171 Clifton St., East City, feeds a flock of approximately 50 sparrows each day and on into the winter. Today she couldn't help but notice an albino sparrow feeding with the rest; he was also bolder than his fellows, she reports.

START STREET WORK

Excavation for the widening of Aylmer St. between McDonnel and Murray Sts. has started. Six feet will be added to the west side of the street eventually from McDonnel St. south to Brock St., to conform with the width of Aylmer from Brock St. south.

Pigeons Back

Pigeons have returned to the library, despite rumors that they had deserted the building for good. Librarian Bill Graff reported today that three of them were perched at the front on the library. He suggested that the pigeons were not particularly welcome.

Christmas Trees, Streets Singers Brighten Season

Carollers on street corners and gaily decorated Christmas trees on downtown streets will help create an atmosphere in keeping with the season for Christmas shoppers doing their gift buying in Peterborough this year.

These are only two of many features being planned by the Retail Section of the Chamber of Commerce in co-operation with The Examiner to make Christmas more colorful in Peterborough.

Retail merchants are all getting behind the scheme which was approved at a meeting of the chamber's retail section Wednesday night. A committee was set up with Ben Collis as chairman to handle details.

The committee hopes to get council approval to have a decorated Christmas tree at every street light standard. On the four Saturdays before Christmas, they hope to have a group of carol singers singing on street corners and also a clown band to lift the spirits of weary shoppers.

SANTA CLAUS VISITS

For the entertainment of the kiddies, the committee is trying to arrange with Santa Claus headquarters at the North Pole to have Santa visit downtown stores on Saturdays before Christmas.

A really new idea that the committe has come up with will be welcomed by mothers with little ones. If the committee can obtain a theatre or large hall, mothers will not have to worry about taking tiny tots along on tiring shopping expeditions if they can't find a baby sitter.

Every Saturday afternoon, special Christmas movies will be shown and kiddies will be admitted free. The shows will be fully supervised by competent ushers and there will be free candy and favors to keep them amused. Mothers will be able to go about their shopping while their children enjoy themselves, then pick them up on their way home.

The last week in November, special advertisements in the Examiner will announce that many valuable prizes will be offered by downtown merchants to shoppers making their Christmas purchases. Approximately 100 stores will be taking part in the scheme being planned by the committee in charge of the Christmas program.

Merchants taking part will be giving customers coupons when they make purchases. These coupons will be deposited in containers in the various stores, collected weekly and placed in a large drum. Then, prominent citizens in the community will be drawing tickets and the lucky winners will receive prizes of an average value of $10 each.

There will also be a number of major prizes offered during the last week before Christmas.

It is expected that the offering of weekly prizes and other features being planned to make Christmas shopping easier and more enjoyable for shoppers will begin November 27, and continue until December 24.

News and special advertisements, telling shoppers all about this new approach to Christmas shopping being planned by the retail merchants will be appearing in coming issues of the Examiner.

Hasty-Pees To Hold 7th Reunion

Old Regiment Has Long Record Of Many Battles

Veterans of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment will be coming to Peterborough Thanksgiving weekend for the unit's seventh annual reunion.

More than 700 attended the Hasty Pees' fifth post war reunion held here in 1949. It was the most successful reunion the regiment has had and officials of the Duffy Club who are sponsoring the three day affair are confident the 1952 reunion will be the largest and most successful one yet.

It will begin Saturday with registration, followed by a get-together and dance at night.

PARADE SUNDAY

Highlights of the reunion will be the parade, memorial service and banquet on Sunday. Led by the C.G.E. pipe band, the Peterborough Citizens' Band and the Hastings and Prince Edward Regimental Bugle Band from Belleville, the parade will form up at the Armouries.

From there, it will proceed down Aylmer to Charlotte, east on Charlotte to George, and up George to the war memorial in Confederation Park.

There will be a service at the war memorial where wreaths will be laid in remembrance of fallen comrades who died in famous battles where the unit won battle honors in two World Wars.

The service will be followed by a banquet in the Legion Hall at 2 p.m. The regiment's two padres, the Rev. Walter Gilling of St. Luke's Anglican Church and Father Chris McCarney of Assumption parish will be in attendance. Mayor Hugh Waddell has been invited to attend and extend a welcome on behalf of the city.

Guest speaker will be the Rev. Fred Goforth, of Ottawa, director of army chaplain services. Chaplain Goforth was padre of the regiment when it was mobilized in 1939 and he went overseas with the Hasty Pees in 1940.

The re-union will end Monday, Thanksgiving Day, and no formal events have been planned for the final day.

One of the oldest rural regiments in Canada, the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment was one of the first non-permanent active units called for active service when war broke out in 1939. It went overseas in 1940 and was the senior infantry rifle battalion in the First Brigade of the First Canadian Division.

BECAME GENERALS

Two commanding officers were promoted to generals during their service with the Hasty-Pees in the Second World War.

Lt.-Col. H. L. W. Salmon, commanding officer of the unit when it went overseas in 1940 was promoted to the rank of major-general. He was commander of the First Canadian Division when he was killed in a plane crash in 1943.

Lt.-Col. H. D. Graham of Trenton, who was second in command when the regiment went overseas, succeeded Gen. Salmon as C.O., and was later promoted to brigadier in command of the First Canadian Infantry Brigade.

The Hastings and Prince Edward, along with the 48th Highlanders and the Royal Canadian Regiment, were the only three Canadian units to reach France before it fell to the Germans in 1940. After being evacuated to England in the famed evacuation of Dunkirk, the unit was credited with being the first Canadian regiment to shoot down a Nazi aircraft.

One Third Of Labor Force Of 15,930 In City Women

How do Peterborough men and women earn their living? What are the most common occupations? What is the city's potential labor force? Answers to these questions are found in a recent bulletin published by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, based on 1951 census figures. The bulletin gives a breakdown by occupation and sex, of everyone included in the country's labor force in incorporated cities and towns of more than 10,000 population.

Everyone who was over 14, and either working, had a job but was not working due to illness or some other reason or was looking for work during the week ending June 2, 1951 was considered to be "in the labor force".

There were 15,930 in the city who came under this definition of labor force, made up of 11,290 males and 4,460 females.

The various occupations are listed under 17 group classifications.

LARGEST GROUP

As might be expected, a third of the male working force, 3,980, are included in the manufacturing and mechanical group. With women too, this is the largest group, 1,198 being listed as following some type of manufacturing or mechanical employment.

There were 1,181 men and 82 women at the time the census was taken who were either owners or managers, or employed in some official capacity in transportation, wholesale or retail trade, finance, government, community, business or recreation service.

In the professional group which includes accountants, doctors, nurses, engineers, lawyers and 31 similar types of occupations, there were 891 men and 641 women. Of these, there were 178 graduate nurses, 153 nurses-in-training, 81 men engaged as teachers or instructors, and 156 women school teachers and instructors.

STILL A MONOPOLY

There are women represented in practically every field except engineering and law, where in Peterborough at least, men still have a monopoly.

Construction and transportation are two other industries where few women are employed. Eleven are listed as being either painters, decorators or glaziers, the only women listed under the "construction" heading.

There is one woman ticket agent, two who informed the census taker they were truck drivers and one woman who is listed as being employed in some "other" branch of transportation work.

In Peterborough, more women are employed in factories as production workers in various industries than are employed in a clerical capacity. There are 1,316 employed in various types of clerical work as compared with 959 men engaged in similar jobs.

There are 882 more girls and women working in industrial jobs than there are engaged in clerical work such as bookkeepers, stenographers and typists, office machine operators and clerks.

There are 529 women and 722 men in the commercial group which includes foremen, brokers, agents, canvassers, collectors, commercial travellers, sales clerks, purchasing agents and buyers, newsboys and service station attendants. There are 400 female sales clerks as compared with 277 men who work behind store counters.

There are four men listed as being either actors, showmen or sportsmen and one woman, but which of these three occupations she follows is not stated.

SMOKE FIRE CALL

The fire department investigated a smouldering smoke fire in the showroom building of T. J. Cavanagh, Charlotte St., at 7:15 a.m. today. A newly-installed oil furnace resting on a concrete slab floor at street level overheated the flooring below it and ignited the top of a pine pillar in the basement. Damage was negligible, store officials say.

28 Permits For Houses Total Nearly $250,000 Big Increase Over Sept. '51

No New Schools, Industrial Buildings Started Last Month Leaves Total Far Below 1951 Autumn Splurge

Peterborough's building of houses continued through September in a volume that amounted to nearly one-quarter of a million dollars, as reported in City Engineer Chalmers' department this morning. Twenty-eight houses showed in the building permit values $219,800 for September, as against 16 dwellings in September last year for $169,000. The new houses average $7,850. Total permits for the month amounted to $419,799 as compared with $1,069,260 a year ago. Main item of new construction in September was the new monastery for the Sisters of the Precious Blood.

LARGE BUILDINGS

In September, 1951, Peterborough went on a building binge for a total of $892,310. Works included the second of the two new C.G.E. buildings, Collegiate Institute, Grove School enlargement on Erskine Ave., Borden's building and other commercial investment.

The total building for this year to the end of September was $3,093,400 as against $3,692,939.

September permits were: 23 garages, $5,907; 28 houses, $219,800; 99 miscellaneous permits, $194,092; 150 permits, $419,799.

And in September last year: 28 garages, $7,950; 16 houses, $169,000; 122 miscellaneous $892,310; total, 166 permits for $1,069,260.

This September Hottest Since '37

Last month wasn't the hottest September Peterborough has had by almost 10 degrees. Maximum temperature was on September 13, 90 degrees, nine degrees short of the all-time September high of 99, reached in 1937.

It was the hottest September day since 1937, however.

Minimum temperature came on September 8, 35 degrees, three degrees warmer than the coldest September day of 1951, September 30.

It was certainly a wet September—3.895 inches of rain compared to 1.6 inches for the same month of 1951. Average temperature was 60.3, higher than the 57.75 average for September 1951.

Accident Free For 22 Years

The green of the leaves is dissolving rapidly into all the pastel colors of autumn Ivan Fletcher reported this morning. The east bank of the Indian River looking across from Peter Gillespie's verandah is being touched by the magic of autumn and that nearer Peterborough the Mark Burnham woods on Highway 7, "have altered a lot in just a couple of days."

Mr. Fletcher has been driving the school bus from Keene for 22 years, "and accident-free."

"I feel rather proud of that record," he said. "I started in September 1930 with a covered truck, and put in a stove when the cold weather came."

Mr. Fletcher considers Keene one of the finest communities in Central Ontario. He says he is not "certain that I'd come into Peterborough if they gave it to me." Not that Peterborough doesn't rate in the Fletcher estimate, but Keene rates higher, and on top.

The members of Peterborough Lodge No. 111 and Otonabee Lodge No. 13 are asked to attend Monday, Oct. 6th. Installation of officers.

Charges Council Hoodwinked On Maple Trees

TORONTO (CP) — The not-so-Canadian maple trees of University Avenue bobbed back into city council deliberations yesterday with Alderman Roy Belyea charging that council has been hoodwinked.

He told the parks committee that council had bought the wrong trees to plant on the wide north-and-south avenue. The idea was to have University Avenue a blaze of brilliant colors in the autumn.

But, said Ald. Belyea, when he asked The Men of The Trees why the maples weren't producing as expected, he was told the trees weren't the right kind.

Parks Commissioner Walter J. Love said that all but 20 of the 150 maples were of the variety that turns red and orange in the fall. He said the city, unable to obtain them locally, had ordered red maples (acer rubrum) from Holland.

Said Ald. Belyea: ". . . I'm told that what has been planted are mostly acer platanoides, an unpleasant tree with a leaf that turns only a dirty brown, very unshapely in its design."

Canada To Train NATO Observers

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's aircrew training program for her North Atlantic Treaty Allies is being extended to include naval air observers.

The Defense Department announced today that the Royal Canadian Navy will assume a share in the training when 10 midshipmen of the Royal Navy begin training as naval observers in the observer school at Dartmouth, N.S., Oct. 6. Their course will last about nine months.

Canada now is trainnig about 1,400 air force men a year for various NATO countries, but up to now only air force men have been involved.

The announcement said the ultimate intention of the expansion is to train between 30 and 40 naval air observers a year. A second course, in which trainees of both the Royal Navy and the Royal Canadian Navy will be enrolled, will begin at Dartmouth next February.

Cook Pork Products Well Avoid Danger Of Disease

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

A correspondent asks whether it is possible to get the disease known as trichinosis from bacon and ham as well as from fresh pork. The answer to this is yes—the disease can be acquired from any infected pork products which have not been thoroughly cooked.

During 1944 nearly 100,000,000 hogs were slaughtered in the U.S. of which number approximately 1.5 per cent are believed to have ben infected with trichinae. It is calculated that the average person has 200 servings of pork each year, and out of that number three contain trichinae.

This disease, caused by a tiny animal parasite, is much more important than has been generally realized. For example, in Massachusetts between 1936 and 1945, 287 cases were reported, with seven deaths.

Surveys in various localities throughout the United States indicate that from about one person in three to one in five has been infected.

When live trichinae are swallowed they pass through the wall of the intestines and are carried to the muscles in various parts of the body. How severe the symptoms will be depends principally on the number of parasites present.

During the first week following the swallowing of infected meat, the worms develop in the intestines. There they may produce nausea and vomiting and watery diarrhea. Sometimes abdominal pain is present.

About the ninth and tenth day the trichinae begin to invade the muscles. Here, if there are enough of them, they produce muscular tenderness, especially in the arms and legs. Sometimes a reddish rash on the skin develops during this stage. There is often fever. Puffiness and swelling of the face, especially around the eyes, is common. In the severe cases the patient becomes anemic and loses weight.

LONG-TERM FREEZING HELPS

After the parasites have been in the muscles for a while they form sacs or cysts which represent a relatively quiet stage of the disease. These, too, however, can produce some muscular pain.

In mild cases the symptoms may last for only 10 and 12 days, while in severe ones, the symptoms may continue for six or eight weeks.

This serious danger to the health of the nation can and should be controlled. The most important preventive measures include cooking garbage before it is fed to hogs, the inspection of pork under the microscope, the proper processing of pork products which are eaten without cooking, and stamping out the disease in hogs.

The best safeguard against trichinosis is to cook all pork products thoroughly, though long-term freezing is also said to be effective.

Asks Son Sent From Jail To Hospital

TORONTO (CP)—The mother of a deranged university student who stabbed his father pleaded yesterday for an end to his "mediaeval" treatment in Toronto's Don Jail.

Mrs. R. Sylvester implored authorities to transfer her son James, 18, to a mental hospital.

Her son has been remanded five times to the jail because of "red tape and heartlessness" in Ontario's machinery for committing insane persons to mental institutions, Mrs. Sylvester said.

Since the youth was first charged with the attempted murder of his father he has been declared insane and the charge withdrawn.

To have Sylvester committed to a mental institution, however, the formal charge of mental illness must be laid. But the law provides that when a new charge is laid the old reports on the young man's mental condition are not acceptable. A new report must be made based upon a new examination.

Extension Method Of Financing Lauded

KITCHENER (CP)—Extension of the method of financing used by federal and provincial governments in construction of the Trans-Canada Highway to include other highways is essential to an adequate road system in Canada, P.G. Wilmut, president of the Canadian Construction Association, told the Kitchener-Waterloo Builders' Exchange last night.

"The draughtsmen of the British North America Act, who assigned the subject of roads to provincial and municipal authorities, did not forsee the introduction of the motor vehicle and the pressing problems of today's traffic," he said.

Federal aid was needed to meet these problems.

Reserve Judgment On Rail Application

OTTAWA (CP)—The Board of Transport Commissioners reserved judgment yesterday on a railway application for $3,000,000-a-year increases on western traffic in grain heading for domestic markets.

Four days of evidence and argument concluded with the railways asking for the full amount of the proposed hoists—between 55 and 58 per cent—and opposing western governments urging that the increases either be turned down or modified.

Eisenhower And McCarthy Ride Together On Same Train

ABOARD EISENHOWER SPECIAL (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Senator Joseph R. McCarthy rode into Wisconsin aboard the same train today to share at least for a day the political spotlight of the presidential campaign.

The burning question was: Would Eisenhower give his full endorsement to the candidacy of McCarthy the most controversial figure in American politics due to his Communists-in-government campaign?

That answer could come at the first whistle stop at Green Bay or at the next stop at Appleton, McCarthy's home town.

The Wisconsin senator climbed aboard the Eisenhower special in Peoria, Ill., last night after a surprise conference with the Republican presidential nominee.

MCCARTHY UNMENTIONED

"We had a pleasant talk," was all the comment McCarthy would give to reporters. A program of Eisenhower's activities for the day, issued aboard the train last night, made no mention of McCarthy's name in any of the ceremonies.

Eisenhower gave no indication after the meeting what his position would be.

Last August the General was asked in a press conference if he intended to support McCarthy, who in a speech linked Gen. George C. Marshall — Eisenhower's old friend and army comrade — to what he called "conspiracy" to weaken the U. S. and strengthen Russia.

"I will support him as a member of the Republican organization," Eisenhower replied. ". . .I am not going to campaign for or give blanket endorsement to any man who does anything that I believe to be un-American in its methods and procedures."

Since then McCarthy won a landslide primary election victory which he called an endorsement by the people of his tactics to root subversives from government. His enemies charge that in his methods he has "smeared" innocent people without turning up a single Communist.

Demonstration Given Court

HAMILTON (CP)—A demonstration of how a person could hold a rifle to create a wound similar to those suffered by Harry Lee highlighted his trial yesterday on a charge of murder.

Dr. Ward Smith, director of the criminal investigation department laboratories of the Attorney-General's Department, held exhibit 37, a .22 repeater rifle, to his chest to make the demonstration. The gun was found in back of Lee's car June 2.

Lee is charged with the murder of Mrs. Mary Rosenblatt of Hamilton. Early June 2, Lee, bleeding from two wounds in the chest, drove his car into the driveway of a repair shop at Sheffield Mrs. Rosenblatt, mother of two children, lay in the front seat, dead from two shots.

Crown Attorney Harvey McCulloch has entered 93 exhibits during the trial which began five days ago. He still has a number of witnesses to call.

Pair Escape

GUELPH (CP)—Two youths escaped yesterday from a work gang at the Ontario Reformatory here. Officials said the two were Robert Douglas Steele, 20, no home, and Bruno Ailenti, 20, of Toronto.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

Bus Trip to Carp Proposed . . . Quick Action Needed, Henry Batten Says . . . Douglas S. Dunton to Judge Holsteins Here Oct. 15 . . . Alberta Farmers Harvesting by Floodlights . . . Good Top on New Wheat.

If Peterborough farmers are interested in a bus trip to the International Plowing match at Carp next week, Oct. 7 to 10, Henry Batten, president of the county Plowmen's Association, is willing to arrange the details.

"Some men have already mentioned it to me, and possibly there might be enough to make up a bus load. If they will notify me, or Alex Huston or Frank Paterson, secretary of our Association, we should be able to engage a bus. But, we should know about it by the beginning of the week."

Thursday always offers an important program, and there are also the features of machinery demonstrations and other agricultural displays.

It would probably be a three to four hour trip, but Peterborough farmers have not journeyed far in groups this year, and as Mr. Batton volunteered: "We can probably get a bus if enough folks want to go."

The list could be complete by Monday. It doesn't take long to telephone, that is if 30 or 40 are interested.

✦ ✦ ✦

Holsteins Judge

Douglas S. Dunton of Brampton will be judge of the Central Ontario Holstein championships show at Morrow Park Wednesday, Oct. 15.

Fieldman Jerry Nelson is not yet in a position to estimate the number of entries. York county Black and White Day was Thursday this week, and Hastings champions will be selected Thursday, Oct. 9, at Madoc Fair.

Indications are that the show will be as big and attractive as last year, and probably with a larger entry list.

✦ ✦ ✦

Work By Floodlights

"Fingers of light are criss-crossing the prairie landscape at night this week as western grain growers press for completion of the biggest harvest ever."

That is the first paragraph of a news item in the Calgary Herald of Friday, Sept. 26. It mirrors the restless industry that is harvesting the grain of 1952.

"The crop is estimated at more than $1,500,000,000, and the farmer is working round the clock to get it in. Warm, dry weather is helping him. They keep going just as long as the fellow on the combine can stay awake,' said A. M. Wilson, Alberta's field crop commissioner. "They stop only for oil and grease."

Regina reported that day: "Just lovely harvesting weather all over."

Storage problem is acute. Many country elevators are plugged, and farmers have had to pile threshed grain in the fields. The railways have more than 50,000 cars moving the grain to the port. Some farmers are so busy combining they haven't time to protect the mounds of grain in the fields.

✦ ✦ ✦

Presbytery Speaker

The changing pattern of rural life was delineated by Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, to the members of Peterborough Presbytery of the United Church at the September meeting last week at Warsaw. His subject was: Soils and Men.

The last 25 years have brought about broad changes in the established modes and practices in agricultural communities, Mr. Paterson said. He sketched the approximate extent to which farmers have increased their acreage with less manual labor but with the help of new implements. He touched upon the trend of many young people of the farms toward the opportunities and attractions of the city.

Mr. Paterson touched upon wages, costs and production. He said Ontario last year imported more commodities than she exported, and suggested that changes in the industrial and social conditions demanded reassessment of rural life as it has become today. The problem was not merely rural, it was Canadian. Mr. Paterson suggested that the ministers, and not only those in rural charges, should try to broaden their awareness of it, because the changes were real and had created new problems.

Rev. A. E. Larke of Springville introduced Mr. Paterson and said he had invited him to address presbytery in a message to its rural life committee.

✦ ✦ ✦

Surplus Of Feed

Some Halton farmers are putting up temporary storage for the surplus corn after filling silos, according to the weekly report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Excellent growth of fall wheat and pasture is reported from Victoria, Lambton, Peel and elsewhere in the province. Everywhere the crop of corn is excellent.

Cattle prices were reduced in Wentworth; and Northumberland says "livestock interest is at the lowest level in years." In Welland some farmers were continuing to sow fall wheat early this week.

Renfrew has a record amount of roughage feeds, "and a good many farmers are planning to carry surplus cattle over the winter."

Huron says most farmers have a surplus of livestock feed on hand, and a large percentage of them are planning on buying stocker and feeder cattle this fall.

Middlesex quotes weanling pigs at $5 each, but Frontenac reports that at local sales some weanlings went for one dollar. Potatoes in Dufferin are holding around $2 a bag.

✦ ✦ ✦

Corn Day At Carp

Farmers thinking of going to the International Plowing Match at Carp, in the Ottawa district, may be interested in the Corn Land Day, Thursday, Oct. 9, on the Boyd farm.

The program for the International includes demonstrations designed for practical help to the farm industry. One of the publicity releases from the Ontario Plowmen's Association says:

"Corn is now being widely grown in Eastern Ontario and this demonstration will show the practicability of the crop in the East.

Land clearing will come in for treatment as well. There will be a demonstration of breaking, cultivation, and seeding of a pasture mixture on a field which is presently overgrown with scrub and small trees.

Another item which will undoubtedly come in for considerable attention is a demonstration plot which will show the effect of some of the new soil conditioners which have come on the market. Nearby will be plots of soy beans, forage crops, and a seed cleaning plant to round out the crop demonstrations.

Tree Planting, Drainage and Firefighting will form three other important demonstrations of wide interest.

As a contrast to the display of all that is new and modern in farm equipment, arrangements have been made to demonstrate the treadmill as a power unit for the operation of a thresher. Additional emphasis will be placed on old equipment with the display of early farm machines being put on by the Central Experimental Farm."

✦ ✦ ✦

Helping 4-H Clubs

Achievement Day of the 4-H Clubs gave fresh evidence of the value of the assistance of the club leaders. They are mentioned again gratefully on behalf of the club members.

Keith McIntyre was leader of the east dairy calf club; John Edmison, the west dairy calf club; Lorne Pimmett, the beef club, with Francis Walsh as aide; Irvine McIntosh was leader of the tractor maintenance club; Alan Drummond, the grain club; Gordon Hunt, the Lakehurst forestry club; and George Shoniker of Asphodel was leader of the swine club.

Ralph Gregg of Lindsay, district supervisor of tractor and farm machine clubs; John Bell of Lindsay assumed much of the training of the Lakehurst forestry club; and Stuart Bowman of the federal Department of Agriculture helped to promote the winter wheat club. Their co-operation with Frank Paterson and his assistant, Ken Best, representing the Ontario Department of Agriculture's extension branch, has been warmly acknowledged.

The leaders have no means of determining the effect of their guiding and advisory position other than the broad success reflected in Achievement Day. Progress of the boys and girls of the ... ties will provide the element of reward of leadership which must be indefinitely lacking.

Other Junior Farmers have helped, and altogether their general sponsorship of the Clubs is an incalculable asset in the rural community. Avoiding any note of comparison, it may be said the George Shoniker, leader of the swine club, and one of the new members of Junior Farmers, did a fine job with enthusiasm and personal interest in his 4-H group.

His boys who fed and took care of pairs of pigs all summer were attractive youngsters, particularly in their good manners. The ready and easy way in which they answered you with "Yes, sir" or "No, sir", may not be emphasized in the club rules. Possibly it was boyish politeness acquired in their homes; at any rate it had a pleasant sound and it sat well on these young teen-agers. It was not effusive, nor did it seem to be studied. As good manners it was ... because it was becoming, and manners maketh man'. It is a common observation that boys who respect others, will usually have respect for themselves. It is an element of the H for heart, and is a reflection of manliness that bids well for their future.

Roseneath 4-H Club

ROSENEATH (ENS).—Making final plans for every member to show their calves at Roseneath Fair, was the highlight of the September meeting of the Roseneath 4-H Calf Club.

The first part of the evening was spent at Mr. Jack Webb's farm, judging a class of mature Holstein cows, later returning to Roseneath township hall where Sidney MacDonald, assistant agricultural representative, Brighton, was in charge of a written quiz on "4-H dairy calf club work."

The president, Bruce Davidson, was in charge of the meeting with Miss Adele Varcoe, secretary-local leader of this club, that held a very interesting series of meetings during the season and had come to a very satisfactory conclusion.

Farm Forum Executives Discuss Meeting Methods

Thirteen of Peterborough County's fifteen Farm Radio Forums were represented at a meeting with provincial and national executives here Monday night.

It was a so-called workshop session, one of a current series in Central and Eastern Ontario counties preliminary to the opening of the 1952-1953 Forum season this fall. Thirty-three chairmen and secretaries assisted in the discussion of methods of conducting Forum meetings based on general experience of Forums throughout the province.

Chairman was Wellington Sutton of Otonabee, president of the Ontario Forums. With him were Floyd Griesbach, Toronto, national secretary; Clifford Waite, Toronto, Ontario secretary; Mr. G. Simmins, who is engaged as a sociologist in making a study of the Farm Forum enterprise for Unesco, and Harold Lewis, Peterborough Federation fieldman.

The fact that the new Ontario president is a resident of this county should stimulate Peterborough interest in the Forum program for the coming winter. Mr. Sutton was delegated by the county Federation of Agriculture to promote Forum activity in this district. By his modest and thorough acceptance of such responsibilities, assisted by the field work of Harold Lewis, Peterborough Forums have made a notable advance during the last two years. Appointment to Ontario Forum company brought him to the notice of the county representatives comprising the provincial organization, resulting early in the year in his election as president.

Forum support came largely in the beginning from the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, and has continued to be one of its major projects. At the January conventions the location of the Forums were indicated by pins on a large map of the province displayed at the convention headquarters in the King Edward Hotel.

PETERBOROUGH PROGRESS

Not so long ago, Peterborough pins were comparatively and discouragingly few. Some of the counties, especially in Western Ontario, such as Huron, Bruce, Oxford, Middlesex and others were darkly studded by these marks of Forum establishment and progress.

At that time, it would hardly have been credible as a prediction that Peterborough would be able to claim the Ontario Forum presidency. Mr. Sutton's prominence in this great rural educational enterprise is a measure of what Peterborough farmers can accomplish, together with the fifteen pins in the last count.

Mr. Sutton introduced the visitors to the Forum group officers Monday night.

Mr. Waite, Ontario secretary, is taking up the work carried on with enthusiasm and energy by Clare Burt, who resigned last spring to take a post with Hydro-Electric Commission. He complimented the Peterborough groups on their representation at the meeting, and also in having Mr. Sutton as Ontario president. The presence of Mr. Simmins, he said, was a reminder of the interest of Unesco (United National Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization) in the scope of Forum service to the farmers of Canada.

FINANCIAL SUPPORT

Mr. Waite extended his compliments to Peterborough for the increase in its number of Forum groups, and also in their financial support. Their contributions to Ontario Forum association last season averaged $22.53, and there were 15 Forums. The provincial average was $20.38. It was manifest, Mr. Waite said, that Peterborough farmers had been loyal to the organization.

Discussion of the practice in appointing group leaders was a principal subject. Some Forums appoint their host as chairman. With some Forums the chairman is also secretary. Others make appointments for each series of subjects, and some are elected annually.

Mr. Waite said the provincial executive recommended that the chairmen be changed for each series. Simple folk games should receive more attention from many Forums. Too often euchre provided the recreation period entertainment, and when repeated it tended to cool the interest of members.

Forum members will hear more about the proposals for the new season and other details of the series at a county rally at the Normal School, Monday, October 20.

Craig Nelson Top Exhibitor

Northumberland Black and White Day at Warkworth Fair brought out a strong show of 116 Holsteins exhibited by 16 breeders. Entries of N. Craig Nelson, Campbellford, accounted for six first prizes and he was the Premier Exhibitor of the show for the fourth consecutive year.

Bertram Hoskin, Cobourg, shower the senior and grand champion female, while the reserve grand awards went to D. C. Hoskin, Cobourg. Judge R. F. Howden, Edgeley, chose Lindenlea Texal Pabst, the winning Aged Cow in milk as his grand champion, with the reserve going to Stoneybrook Deanna Pabst who headed the dry aged cows. This was a close decision with the preference going to the milk cow on the basis of her capacious good handling and firmly attached udder.

The Junior Female classes were particularly strong, that for junior yearling heifers being exceptionally outstanding. This class supplied the reserve junior champion who was R. A. Glady's Pride, owned by John W. Rannie, Campbellford, while the Junior Champion shown by N. Craig Nelson was the winning senior yearling, Nelcrest Supreme Topsy.

Only one senior bull was out and he took the Senior and Reserve Grand Championship for W. A. Petherick & Son, Campbellford. This was Almerson Sovereign Supreme, a two-year-old. Rockwood Vegator Rocket, jointly owned by Bertram and D. C. Hoskin, took the Junior and Grand Championships on his general size, scale and smoothness. The Reserve Junior Championship went to the first prize junior bull calf Merleson Man-o-War Jim owned by Alec L. Merrill & Sons. He is a very tidy, smooth calf, well grown for his age.

Prizes were well distributed with no less than 12 breeders winning at least one first. Three new exhibitors, J. M. Goodfellow, Codrington; Chas. Nelson, Codrington, and Paul McKinley, Cobourg, gave good accounts of themselves. First prize winners other than those mentioned above were as follows: Douglas Tourney, Morganston; Eric L. Merrill, Dartford; Alec L. Merril & Sons, Campbellford; Lorne Evans & Son, Warkworth.

Some of the 70 or more calves shown by 4-H Club members on their Achievement Day, Sat. Sept 27, at Morrow Park indicate the practical values in the background of this extension work of the Department of Agriculture. Some day the juniors will know that they occupied the foreground. The calves are important, with their management and care, and the counting of cost, and so on, but the primary concern of the clubs is the development of the boys and girls who comprise their membership. And, so the significance of "4-H" will be increasingly impressed on these rural young folks, the cultivation of character around the framework of: head, heart, hand, health, including loyalties to home and club, the community and the nation. Peterborough farm parents have been congratulated for their support of this youth activity. If they ever have any doubt about benefits, they can see at first hand the enterprise of the leaders, volunteers from the Junior Farms, who devote time and effort to helping and guiding the 4-H clubs.

329,391 Rural Customers Of Hydro In July On 39,233 Miles Of Line

"Five cents worth of electric power will do the mechanical work equivalent to an average hired man's work in an eight-hour day."

"To operate one milking machine by electric power costs only four cents per cow per month. An electric feed mixer four cents per ton; an electric milk cooler two cents for ten gallons per day. These are only a few of the low-cost uses of electricity eliminating many farm chores formerly so wasteful and time-consuming."

These items of cost are mentioned in an article issued by the Hydro-Electric Power Commission discussing the progress of electric installation on the Ontario farm.

It would be interesting to know the number of farmers who can verify the facts of cost from their own accounting.

This review of the use of electricity in farm work says: "The average monthly consumption of electric energy on farms has more than doubled since 1938. In that year, the average monthly consumption was 141 kilowatt-hours per customer; in 1951, it was 287 kilowatt-hours. Notwithstanding this increase in consumption, the farmer in 1938 paid an average of 2.52 per kwh., while in 1951 he paid only 1.97c, a decrease of more than 20%."

On the other hand, the Hydro recently announced an increase of 15% in power rates beginning Jan. 1, 1953. Even then, the cost of power should compare favorably with the rural charges fifteen years ago.

"Today in Ontario, there are more than 200 farm uses of electricity which result in large labor saving, increased production and improved quality through prevention of waste and spoilage. . ."

Farm homes have the conveniences that are common in urban residences, modern lighting, heating, refrigerating and deep-freeze storage, are some of them.

"Life has indeed been made pleasanter by electricity, and its energy has increased production to a point undreamed of some 30 years ago. In 1911, the only power supplied to farms was by municipalities who extended their lines beyond town limits to farms within easy reach. From that early start, lines were extended to rural areas.

DRURY ACT OF 1921

"Rural electrification really received its major impetus in 1921 when the Rural Hydro-Electrification Distribution Act was passed by the Provincial government. (Ernest C. Drury was Premier of the Farm-Labor administration). Under this Act the province paid up to 50 per cent of initial cost of constructing rural power lines.

It was at this time that the acknowledged "Father of Hydro," Sir Adam Beck, became a well-known figure as he toured the towns, fairs and hamlets of Ontario with his "circus." Through the 1920's and 1930's, Hydro continued to extend rural lines."

The postwar backlog prevented the full accomplishment of the five-year rural electrification program of 1946. However, these are some statistics on development of the system which are of interest.

"By October 31, 1945, only 21,569 miles of rural transmission lines were in service; by July 31, 1952, the total was approximately 39,233 miles, a net increase of nearly 82 per cent.

329,391 RURAL USERS

During that period, the number of customers increased from 156,560 to 329,391, or 100 per cent. Total expenditure during the seven-year period from 1945 to July, 1952, in the rural extension program, was about $138,000,000, of which $68,500,000 is payable from the provincial government as "grant in aid" under the Rural Hydro Distribution Act.

The result of this concentrated effort is that today more than three of every four farms in Ontario have the benefits of electric power at their finger tips."

In the early days of persuading farmers that Hydro power was for them as well as for city consumers, Sir Adam Beck and his engineers set up the "circus" in a rather remote area. Farmers were invited to see a demonstration of an electric milker.

The story is related in the Hydro reminiscence of its own pioneering, that "as the crowd gathered Sir Adam asked to have a cow brought to the grounds. He was going to milk her by machine. Farmers looked dubiously at one another, but finally one volunteered to bring a cow.

He came back, and amid sly winks and chuckles, led a fine animal up to the machine. Sir Adam thanked him, and proceeded with the demonstration. Unfortunately for him, the farmers that day were in a pixie mood. The electric milker was attached, the motor started. Lo and behold—it didn't produce a drop. The farmer had brought a dry cow."

Revised Bible Dedicated At Coldsprings

COLDSPRINGS (ENS).—Service of thanksgiving and dedication of the new revised version of the Holy Bible, was held in St. Paul's church on Tuesday evening.

A large attendance was present from Baltimore, Plainville, Camborne, Bethesda South and Coldsprings.

The Rev. V. M. Gilbert took the part of leader. The Rev. A. Y. Robertson, Gore's Landing, led in prayer. Mrs. Albert Willis gave the scripture readings. Mrs. Grey of Cobourg sang a solo.

Gerald Mann of Baltimore, introduced the guest speaker, the Rev. H. Mellow of Oshawa, formerly of Gore's Landing. Mr. Mellow spoke on the "Word of Life in Living Language." In part he said: "The Bible is a book to help us understand the words of our Lord. The revised edition hopes to make a good book more easily understood. It is the product of 18 years' work of Bible scholars, and presents a challenge to us."

The Rev. A. C. Luffman of Baltimore, presented five copies to those who had contributed outstanding service in Hamilton township, Eldred Lean, Camborne; M. J. McDonald, Gore's Landing; Miss Annie Moffat, Coldsprings; Mrs. Tapscott, Creighton Heights and Herbert Davey, Baltimore.

MESSENGER HERO—Jimmie Edison of Montreal celebrated his 35th birthday anniversary as a bank messenger by single-handedly capturing a long-wanted bank robber. When Edison shoved a gun in the robber's back the man surrendered without a struggle. Bank personnel and police said the captured robber is the man who held up the same bank—the Victoria Square branch of the Imperial Bank of Canada, Montreal—three weeks ago.

Ask Revamping Of Staff, Curb Bottleneck

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representative Herbert C. Bonner, North Carolina democrat, called today for a revamping of the Joint Chiefs of Staff to eliminate what he termed a bottleneck in military planning.

The top United States military officials, he said, are unable to function adequqately because they are both partisans and judges in inter-service rivalries.

Bonner suggested in a statement that the chairman of the Joint Chiefs be given authority to decide controversial issues and that other members be made military advisers rather than policy representatives of their services.

The Joint Chiefs are the top army, air force and navy officers who, under Gen. Omar Bradley as chairman, advise the President on major military problems.

CHAIRMAN VOTELESS

The chairman now is "voteless and is armed only with the power of persuasion" to guide the "old pros who run the Department of Defence," Bonner said.

Bonner's statement accompanied the last of several reports on military supply problems released today by his House of Representatives expenditures sub-committee. The group is investigating waste in the armed forces.

The sub-committee reported last May that the Joint Chiefs represented a "drag of resistance" to streamlining the military supply system because each member felt obliged to fight for his own service.

New Isolationism Blasted By Stevenson

CINCINNATI (AP) — Governor Adlai E. Stevenson chose Robert A. Taft's home town today to accuse the Ohio Senator and the Republican "Old Guard" of fostering a new isolationism that could lead to "national tragedy."

The Democractic presidential nominee said Republican candidate Dwight D. Eisenhower "is supporting all the isolationists n the party and asking for their support."

In an address to a Democratic luncheon rally, Stevenson said the results could parallel those of the 1920 campaign when the League of Nations was an issue, Warren G. Harding was elected and there were "terrible consequences in blood and disaster."

USE NEW WORDS

"The new isolationism," Stevenson said, "has put on some new clothes and uses some new words. But it is just as dangerous in 1952 as the old isolationism was in 1920. The new isolationists have stopped at nothing in their drive to control the party. . .

"Maybe this is all very agreeable to the General and maybe this is a personal tragedy. I don't know; but I do know that it could also be a national tragedy — as it was in 1920."

Over and over, too, Stevenson took back-handed slaps at Taft through use of the "Old Guard" device.

Stevenson was making his first campaign appearance in Taft's own Ohio — a state with 25 key electoral votes that turned up in the Democratic column in 1948 by a slim margin.

Omemee Woman Was Sister Of Lady Eaton

OMEMEE (ENS) — Anne Rebecca McCrea, of Toronto, who was drowned at a Lake Huron summer resort on October 1, was brought to Omemee today for burial in Emily cemetery.

Miss McCrea was born and educated in Omemee, a daughter of the late John McCrea and Jane McNeely. She attended Normal School in Toronto and taught in that city for many years. She leaves one sister, Flora (Lady Eaton), of King, Ont., and one brother, John, of Toronto. Two sisters, Ella and Amy (Mrs. R. J. Mulligan), and two brothers, William and Arthur, predeceased her.

Following a funeral service in Toronto at 2 p.m., many friends accompanied the bier to the cemetery where the Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt, of Omemee Trinity United Church, conducted the committal service.

Before making the return trip, they were served tea at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Morrisey, formerly the McCrea home, where they were joined by some Omemee people who were friends of the McCrea family.

Plans were made for a chicken pie supper to be held in the Sunday School rooms on Nov. 14. A bale will be packed at the church on Oct. 11. Donations may be left at the parsonage or at the home of Mrs. Crate.

Earl Alexander Surprised When Offered Governor-General's Job

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON

LONDON (CP)—Field Marshal Earl Alexander accepted the call to serve as Canada's 17th Governor-General during a stroll with Prime Minister Churchill in a German garden.

It was on his arrival at the Potsdam conference in the summer of 1945 that Alexander was greeted by Churchill.

"Come along and let us have a look at the flowers. I have something important to tell you," Churchill is reported to have said.

"Canada has asked you to be their next Governor-General. What do you think of that?"

ALEX SURPRISED

The proposal came as a surprise to Alexander, but Churchill persuaded him to accept it.

The story is told by Norman Hillson in his book "Alexander of Tunis," an intimate biographical portrait of Britain's distinguished soldier-statesman, recalled earlier this year from Ottawa to become Minister of Defence.

Alexander had known Canadian soldiers on the Western Front in the First World War and Canadians had fought under him in the 1943-45 Italian campaign.

"There was something in their healthy, democratic way of life that found response in his own nature," the author writes. "He entered into his preparations to move across the Atlantic in a spirit of duty and high adventure, not for financial reward."

Hillson recalls that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower once referred to Alexander as "the ace card in the British Empire's hand," an observation which he says became suspect by a certain section of Canadian public opinion.

REFUSED McNAUGHTON

There were those that remembered it was Alexander who had refused permission to Gen. A.G.L. McNaughton, commander of the Canadian forces in England, to visit his own 1st Division during the invasion of Sicily.

Referring to objections from Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, Alexander had told Eisenhower: "McNaughton gets into Monty's hair. He has been so persistent that if he were a junior officer I would put him under arrest."

But as a true aristocrat in brains, courage, humanity and charm, the author adds, Alexander quickly won the hearts of the Canadian people.

Last man to leave the beaches in the 1940 evacuation from Dunkerque, genius of the Burma retreat, conqueror of Germany's "Desert Fox," Erwin Rommel, and Field Marshal Kesselring, Alexander is hailed as one of the most brilliant strategists in the Second World War.

Hillson says he is assured of a niche among the great British generals. But those who served under him, he maintains, will always remember him for his humanity and the fact that he never forgot what it meant to be a front-line soldier.

This characteristic, the book relates, had been underscored when Alexander in 1944 handed over his command in Italy to his American successor, Gen. Mark Clark, present Supreme Commander of the United Nations forces in Korea.

Reflecting sadly on the heavy casualties paid by the Allies in their determined drive to break through Kesselring's strongly-held Gothic Line, the British general told Clark:

"Always at the back of my mind, when I make plans, is the thought that I am playing with human lives. Good chaps get killed or wounded and it's a terrible thing. The proudest thing I can say is that I am a front-line soldier myself. . .So I do know what it means and I do not throw away lives unnecessarily."

Editor Shot To Death In N.Y. Tenement

NEW YORK (AP) — Andres Requena, 44-year-old co-publisher of a Spanish Language newspaper, was shot to death last night in the hallway of a lower east side tenement building.

Requena's newspaper, "De Patria," is editorially opposed to the government of Hector Trujillo of the Dominican Republic. But police said they knew of no political angle involved in the slaying.

Reports From China Optimistic, W.A. Told

HAVELOCK — (ENS). — Mrs. H. E. Peasgood, addressing the W.A. of St. John's Anglican Church, Havelock, at their first meeting of the season at the rectory at Norwood, on Tuesday, said in connection with the work of the church in China, that reports coming in revealed that much is being done by the Christian workers, especially by the women. Those who are carrying on are quite optimistic, she said, that Christianity is again on the march and that the "isms" will be greatly subdued. Mrs. Peasgood also gave a complete report on the proceedings at the W.A. Rural Deanery meeting held in All Saints' Church, Peterborough, recently. The president, Mrs. H. W. Roche, opened the meeting. Mrs. T. Cummins informed the meeting that two quilts had been completed this summer and that two more were in the making.

Mrs. W. Varty will again take charge of receiving and selling the church calendars and will also deliver the Living Message.

Mrs. Peasgood, assisted by Mrs. W. Campbell and Mrs. L. R. Sanderson served lunch.

Cars were furnished by Mrs. D. D. Kirk, Mrs. L. R. Sanderson and Mrs. H. W. Roche to convey the members, of which 15 were present including four visitors, to Norwood.

Arms Plan Vote Shows Strength Of Bevanites

MORECAMBE, Eng. (Reuters)—British Labor Party leaders Thursday scored a hollow convention victory over their rampaging left-wing rebels by defeating a resolution demanding a reduced arms program.

The success left them glum. The voting figures of the annual party conference proved in black and white that at least a third of the party is marching behind the rebel flag of Welsh politician Aneurin Bevan.

Moreover the count — 3,644,000 votes against the Bevanite motion and 2,288,000 in favor — showed hitherto concealed trade union backing for the left-wingers, who want to scale down rearmament and end what they call American domination.

The big trade union chiefs, who have sworn a union war against the Bevan group up and down the country, threw the weight of their membership figures into today's card system vote.

But other unions polled more than 1,000,000 votes in favor of an arms cut, demonstrating that the industrial side of the labor movement itself is split.

The trade union delegates supporting the Bevanite motion were among a group which advocates a more radical line in socialism. This was their first opportunity to range behind Bevan in a full conference of the Labor Party.

DEFEAT MOTION

The arms motion was defeated after an appeal by Party Leader Clement Attlee who said: "I have not much respect for people who clamor for reduction of armaments by the defenders of freedom, and who entirely ignore the fact of this armed, dangerous state (Russia) which has shown no readiness to discuss disarmament."

He insisted that peace cannot be won through weakness and "the greatest possible measure of rearmament must be carried out within the limits of our power to find the means."

In an interview, Bevan minimized the split in the party. He also insisted that he and his followers are not anti-American. He summed up his views thus:

"If Britain's share of the arms program can only be carried out by money gifts from American, then the arms program should be recast either by reducing the total or by America assuming a larger share.

"It cannot reasonably be said that Britain's share of the arms program is fair if she can only discharge it by accepting money gifts and therefore putting her independence in jeopardy.

Germany Offers Build A-Pile

FRANKFURT, Germany (Reuters)—West Germany can build her own atomic pile and feed it with uranium from her own soil if the western allies will allow it, Prof. Werner Heisenberg said today.

Heisenberg, one of the world's leading atom scientists and a Nobel Prize winner, pleaded for Germany to be allowed at least limited freedom of atomic research, including the construction of an atomic pile.

He was speaking at a ceremony commemorating the 75th anniversary of the West German Chemical Industry Federation.

Heisenberg said an atomic pile would allow Germany to produce for herself most of the radio-active materials vitally necessary for research in medicine, biology and chemistry.

Lillie Revue Big Hit In New York

By MARK BARRON

NEW YORK — (AP) — It was something like a coronation reception as Beatrice Lillie tripped off the Booth theatre last night after the opening of her revue, titled "An Evening with Beatrice Lillie."

Reginald Gardiner is here for male relief, but it is the Toronto-born Miss Lillie who dominates the evening. It is what might be called her personal history.

It is an enchanting show because Miss Lillie is an artist who needs neither script, performer nor director to be her enchanting self. What she did last night is an effervescent show, but it is all Miss Lillie.

When Miss Lillie was on stage, the show was diverting. In one sketch, "A Star's First Night," she bounced backstage of the first performance of a show to congratulate the star, a friend of hers.

The star, apparently had achieved a triumph. Miss Lillie's comments about the star's make-up, appearance and performance ended with the star about to murder the intruder. But, quite funny.

Bailey said he has received an invitation to compete in Canada from Jack Davies, an official of the Canadian Olympic team.

Socialists Take Last Crack At Churchill

By FRASER WIGHTON

MORECAMBE, England (Reuters)—British Socialists today ended a week of internal conflict and hit out against Prime Minister Churchill's Conservatives on the last day of their party conference.

For four days Labor party delegates have wrangled over left-wing rebel Aneurin Bevan and his demand that the rearmament program be cut. The Conservative government, which threw Labor out of power a year ago, has scarcely been mentioned.

One of Bevan's lieutenants, Ian Mikardo, today told the 1,200 delegates: "We might as well spend a couple of minutes having a go at our opponents instead of having a go at one another."

ATTACK CONSERVATIVES

The delegates, anxious to get home and assess the effects of the Bevan row in their own towns, today quickly agreed on resolutions attacking the conservatives.

They protested unanimously against government cuts in the education service. They condemned Churchill's housing program, and told the Labor executive to study proposals for public ownership of the building industry.

Equal pay for equal work done by men and women was urged in another unanimous resolution. The party leaders promised to include such a plank in their next election platform.

The leaders were beaten on a resolution from the agricultural workers urging legislation to stop a system under which many farm laborers are forced to live in houses provided by the farmers. Many Socialists claim these houses are in bad condition, but the party leaders opposed being tied down to a definite timetable for legislation.

watch Westinghouse TELEVISION

With Westinghouse synchro-sound you automatically get the best sound when the picture is best, and you'll find that the sound is just as important as the picture to television enjoyment. If you've seen much TV, you've probably noticed that the sound is too often shrill or blaring—far below the tone of a fine radio in quality. But ask a Westinghouse-owner about the sound of his set. He'll probably answer, "Why, I've never really stopped to think about it." And that's one of the greatest tributes that can be paid to any TV receiver, for it means that the high fidelity of the sound is such a perfect match for the quality of the picture that it can be taken for granted. Although the Westinghouse-owner seldom stops to think about it, the consistently fine FM sound of his set is contributing a lot to his TV enjoyment.

In building TV sets, Westinghouse never skimps on sound. Every Westinghouse TV receiver has a full tube complement and the finest in concert speakers to give you the same fidelity and tone you'd expect of a fine radio — the sort of sound that contributes more to your TV enjoyment.

A Model . . . A Price . . . For Everyone. Regardless of the price, or size of screen you want — 17", 21", or 24", there's a set to suit you in the wide Westinghouse selection of modern and period designs — prices from $319.50 to $1,000.00. Your Westinghouse dealer will be glad to show you the full line, and will arrange installation on terms to suit your requirements so that you won't miss any of the wonderful TV entertainment during the long winter evenings ahead.

MR. AND MRS. J. J. J. BURNS are pictured following their wedding in St. John's Anglican Church. The bride is the former Barbara Ann Gladys Adams.—(Choate Studio Photo)

Fall Wedding At St. John's

Gladioli and mums provided the setting in St. John's Anglican Church for the marriage of Barbara Ann Gladys Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Adams, and John Joseph James Burns, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Burns.

Archdeacon W. P. Robertson performed the ceremony and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Neal. Miss Marianne McKenzie sang, "O Perfect Love",

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white slipper satin, lace and nylon with a short train. Her embroidered silk net floor-length veil was caught with a pleated satin halo cap. She carried a bouquet of American beauty roses.

The bridal attendant were Miss Beverley Burns, Miss June Adams and Miss Beverley White. They were gowned alike in brocaded taffeta and nylon net in pink, green and orchid. Their headdresses were of lace and net and they carried bouquets of mums, carnations and roses.

Mr. Leslie Adams was groomsman and the ushers were Mr. Fred Russell and Mr. Jack Veenman.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the Empress Hotel. The bride's mother received in a shot silk blue taffeta dress, blue silk velvet hat and a corsage of tea roses. The groom's mother assisted. She wore a lady love sheer and lace dress, black silk velvet hat and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Later the bride and groom left for a wedding trip to Toronto, Niagara Falls and Kenmore, N.Y. For travelling, the bride chose a flamingo boucle suit with black accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Burns will live at 115 Parkhill Rd.

Claims Canadians Lack Real Sense Of Values

EDMONTON (CP)—A 25-year-old English girl thinks too few Canadians have a "real sincere sense of values" and some take their material gains pretty well for granted.

Aimee Chilton, an economist and lecturer at Birmingham, made the statement while here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Chilton.

She said it is the dream of hundreds of girls of her own age to come to Canada but the dollar situation makes travel abroad prohibitive.

"We have all been very impressed with your great country with the vast distances, the industries and most particularly with the food," she said in giving impressions of her tour.

"It is true that British people have been forced to curb their appetites considerably after six years of rationing but our health has not been affected.

"Therefore one of our first impressions of Canadian people is that they eat too much."

One of the other aspects of Canadian life that impressed Miss Chilton is clothing.

"Once again rationing has taught British women a sense of value and style in purchasing that is lacking here," she went on.

British women have learned to get the most for their money and buy clothes of lasting quality and smart style, Miss Chilton said.

ROSENEATH — (ENS).—The word "grandmother" only appears once in the Bible and not once in Webster's Dictionary, said Mrs. J. N. Mrs. A. Patterson Hostess To W.M.S.

WESTWOOD —(ENS) — Mrs. Alex Patterson entertained the members of St. Andrews' United W.M.S. on Wednesday afternoon.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Ernest Warner who announced the worship theme for the year "The Means of Grace".

Guest speakers were Mrs. Charles McConnell and Mrs. McConnell of Norwood. Mrs. Charles McConnell gave an interesting account of a day spent at the Whitby College Summer School for W.M.S. Workers. She also told of some of the villages of Angola, in Africa. A sharp contrast was pictured between the habits and methods of village life. Eighty per cent of Africa is rural and agriculture is thus the main industry. The missionaries' most important work is to train leaders.

Mrs. John McConnell told of the work of Dr. David Gallagher, author of the study book on Africa and secretary of the Board of Overseas Missions. She said that Africa has become the land of tomorrow.

The November meeting will be [illegible] Brackenridge.

A dainty lunch was served by the hostess.

Studied Plants In Arctic Region

CHURCHILL, Man. (CP)—The Arctic way of life appeals so much to Margaret Oldenburg of Grand Maris, Minn. that she has come back 10 times since her first visit in 1939.

Miss Oldenburg says she fell in love with the north on her first visit. On the trip she collected botany specimens and presented them to the University of Minnesota. On each succeeding trip she has been a one-woman botanical expedition.

One of her contributions to science was a plant she found with the long-winded name of chrysospleniumiowanian. This plant is found in Iowa and has a yellow blossom. That of the Arctic is green.

Much of Miss Oldenburg's collecting has been in uncharted areas, reached only by plane.

Frances Carpenter Weds Joseph Foley

The marriage of Miss Frances Carpenter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Carpenter, and Joseph Foley, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Foley, took place quietly at St. Alphonsus rectory Wednesday.

The bride wore a blue nylon eyelet street length dress with matching headdress of tulle orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of roses and yellow 'mums.

Mrs. Donald Carpenter of Orillia was the bride's attendant. She wore a yellow nylon eyelet street length dress with matching headdress and carried a bouquet of yellow 'mums.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, the bride's mother received in a blue dress and black velvet hat and a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother assisted. She wore a blue dress, maroon velvet hat and a corsage of red roses.

Later the bride and groom left for a short wedding trip. The bride chose a navy suit, pink coat and pink accessories for travelling.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Foley will live in Peterborough.

Ella Mae Trudeau Weds W. J. Demarsh

A lovely autumn wedding took place in St. Edmund's Church, Stoco, Ont., Monday when Miss Ella Mae Trudeau, daughter of Mrs. Julian Trudeau, Stoco, and the late Mr. Trudeau, was united in marriage with William Joseph DeMarsh, son of Mr. Theodore DeMarsh of Tweed, and the late Mrs. DeMarsh. The church was decorated with asters and gladioli.

Father Baker performed the double ring ceremony and the wedding music was played by Miss Clara Mulroney. Miss Jean Mulroney sang Ave Maria, during the signing of the register, and Mrs. Theresa Martin sang On This Day O Beautiful Mother.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Leo Trudeau. She wore a floor length brocaded taffeta gown fashioned with a Queen Anne neckline, fitted bodice, full skirt, short train and long fitted sleeves ending in points at the wrists. Her floor length silk illusion veil with embroidered edge was caught with a net over satin sweetheart-shaped headdress. She carried a cascade bouquet of happiness roses with white streamers and fern.

Mrs. Adrian Cassidy of Peterborough was her sister's attendant. She wore floor length gown of yellow taffeta styled on princess lines with matching hat and mitts. She carried a cascade bouquet of mauve and white 'mums tied with a mauve bow and streamers.

Mr. John DeMarsh of Tweed was groomsman and the ushers were Mr. Frank DeMarsh of Peterborough, brother of the groom, and Mr. Jerome Trudeau, brother of the bride.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home. The bride's mother received in a black crepe gown and a corsage of white shasta 'mums. The groom's sister, Mrs. Elmonte Yanche of Oshawa, assisted. She wore a grey dress and a corsage of white shasta 'mums.

Later the bride and groom left on a motor trip to Montreal and Quebec city. For travelling the bride chose a navy blue gabardine suit with white hat and accessories and a corsage of pink button 'mums.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. DeMarsh will live at 564 Howden Ave., Peterborough.

Knox WMS Meets In Church Parlors

The W.M.S. of Knox Church held their thankoffering meeting in the church parlors, with the president, Mrs. H. Clegg, in the chair.

Mrs. E. Mesley reported that 13 home and 11 hospital calls were made. A letter was read extending an invitation to the ladies to attend the sectional rally in Trinity United Church, Wednesday afternoon and evening, October 8.

Thank you notes were received from Mrs. F. Morrison, Mrs. A. Williams, and Mr. V. Grainger.

A bale of [illegible] weighing [illegible] by all [illegible] Overseas Relief. Mrs. Ross Williamson introduced a new hymn, "Song of the Emancipated: Thanks to Thee" by S. R. Collins, to be used with the Africa Study Book. Mrs. H. Lewis accompanied at the piano.

Mrs. J. Allen conducted the worship service with the theme: "The Courts of the Lord." Mrs. F. A. Kidd read the scripture from Ephesians and Romans. Miss Susan Summers had charge of the study period with the subject "The Villages of Angola."

Mrs. F. Milburn described the routine of life in an African village which stressed dirt, disease, illiteracy, and superstition, fear and hopelessness, which are based on animism, i.e., belief in spirits most of whom are thought to bring evil and need to be appeased. Mrs. R. Laing described a Christian African village which in contrast brings out cleanliness, sanitation, health, improved agriculture and diet, spread of literacy, superstition and fear replaced by hope and faith in God, a loving Father, higher status of woman, community life, centred in school and church. Mrs. Sedgwick described the work of Harold Steed at Chissambe and Allen Knight at Dondi, Angola.

Rev. Merrill Ferguson, M. A., of Chissamba was chosen as the missionary for prayer. Mrs. Allen closed the meeting with a benediction.

GLOBE-TROTTER—Stella Margaret O'Brien qualifies at the tender age of 27 as a veteran globetrotter. Born in New Guinea she moved to Sydney, Australia, during the war and for a time worked on the famed newspaper, The Sydney Sun. Three years ago she sailed from "down-under" to make a tour of the Continent, following which she signed on as a crew member on the new P. & O. liner Chusan on which she made trips to the East Indies and Antipodes and cruises through the Mediterranean. Now bent on seeing North America she hopes to reside for a while in Vancouver and possibly use some of her newspaper experience to good advantage there.

DOROTHY DIX

Man Should Take Children Away from Slovenly Mother

DEAR MISS DIX: My brother has the poorest excuse for a wife I've ever seen. She is slovenly and neglects the children. My brother travels and sometimes if it were not for the neighbors the children wouldn't even eat. The only time they or the house are clean is when my brother is expected home.

Don't you think he would be justified in taking the children away if they aren't given better care at home?

A. P.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your brother would not only be justified in taking his children away from a mother who neglects them so shamefully, he is in duty bound to do so. Since you are so concerned with their welfare, would you be willing to undertake their care while he straightens out his domestic difficulties? If you are, he should have no trouble in getting the youngsters into good hands.

✧ ✧ ✧

JEALOUS FIANCE

DEAR MISS DIX: My girl friend lives in an apartment house with her family. Two years ago I went with her brother for a few months. Now I am engaged to a boy I love deeply and sincerely. He is, however, insanely jealous. Whenever I go to see my girl friend, whose baby is my godchild, he insists I am going only to see the brother, who is now engaged and means absolutely nothing to me. We expect to be married soon, then he is going into service. He says he doesn't think he can trust me while he's gone.

S. C.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The jealousy you are experiencing now with you boy friend is nothing compared to what will be evidenced after you marry. An unreasonably jealous mate is a positive detriment to happy marriage. You will be under suspicion morning, noon and night, in every move you make, with every person you see. You'll be kept from family and friends, isolated from everyone you know now. You have to be very, very much in love to endure the constant accusations you must answer. Think it over well before taking the trip to the altar.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My mother died when I was two years old and my older sister and I were in three different homes before my father remarried. We never got along with our stepmother and I married very young. My first child was born seven months after our marriage. This is my trouble. I've been married 28 years but have never told the children when I was married. What should I tell them if they ask?

C. E. H.

ANSWER: Your problem isn't too serious. Lots of babies are born at seven months and, should the question arise, you could always let it be assumed that the birth was premature.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am very fond of an 18-year-old girl (I'm 19), and enjoy her company very much. The trouble is she likes to flirt with other boys, which makes me very angry. Sometimes we don't speak to each other for weeks. Then she phones me to make up and I go out with her again.

M. P.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You're very foolish to continue bothering with this girl at all. She calls you just when she wants to be taken out and you serve as an old reliable. Surprise her sometime and refuse to be so gullible. Exert a little independence. If you begin at 19 to let women accept you as an easy mark, you have a hard life ahead.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: For two months I have been going with a boy, of whom I am very fond. He likes me a great deal, too. I met his parents, and they liked me. However, he wanted to go fishing a couple of time and I told him not to go, which led to an argument. He went fishing, but did not come back to see me, though he called a few times. I never had an explanation as to why he stopped coming. I am 18.

T. R.

ANSWER: Your friend simply refused to be a Milquetoast and take orders from a girl to whom he was not even engaged. You had no right to tell him he couldn't go fishing; if you hadn't wanted him to go, your purpose could have been accomplished much more subtly. No boy likes to be ordered around and, by overstepping the bounds of good behavior so drastically, you lost a friend. Be more careful next time.

Readers' Friday Column By Mary Moore

QUESTION: Will you kindly tell a newlywed just how to prepare meat of all kinds for cooking. Some folks say just wipe the meat before you cook it; others say first scald it in boiling hot water, to close the juices in, then in cold water, before it is baked or fried or boiled. I am at a loss which is right and looking forward to your answer.—Newlywed Girl.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It is only on rare occasions that you scald meat before preparing it. If I told you how to prepare meat of all kinds I would have to write a book or two—so we'll start modestly. How would it be if I tell you how to roast beef, make a beef stew, and broil pork chops oday? Those are common meats that are popular and not too costly. Next week I'll go on to other roasted meats and stews and meats to be broiled—so watch for a second insatiment.

ROAST BEEF

Sanding Rib Roast: Place fat side up on rack in open pan in preheated oven of 325 deg. Fahr. Do not add water and do not cover or baste. Allow 25 minutes per pound of meat for meat done "rare"; 30 minutes per lb. for "medium done"; 35 minutes per lb. for "well done". Please remember it cooks a little after it is taken from oven because of retained internal heat so do not over do it. We do ours rare so that it is moist when it is sliced cold on the following day.

Meat should be wiped with damp cloth only, then sprinkled liberally on all surfaces with salt, sparsely with pepper and liberally with paprika.

BEEF STEW

One and one-half lbs. flank or stewing beef, 1 small onion, ½ cup turnip cut in cubes, 2/3 cup or 1 cup cubed carrots, 3 or 4 potatoes, cut in ½-inch slices, 1½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ½ cup flour, 1 quart water. Wipe the meat with damp cloth, cut into 1-inch pieces including the fat. Add the salt and pepper to the flour and roll the meat in it. Sear in 3 tablespoons bacon fat or butter or shortening until golden brown on all sides. Add onion during last half of searing time. If any seasoned flour is left, stir it in now, then add the water which may be quite warm. Simmer—do not boil—for 2¾ hours. Add turnip, carrot and potatoes (and some peeled, quartered tomatoes if desired) and simmer ½ hour longer or until vegetables are tender. You may further thicken the liquid with flour paste when this is ready to be served if desired. If you would like my recipe for dumplings write again—and please give me your name and address. I will not print your name if you do not want me to.

BROILED PORK CHOPS

Have the butcher cut the chops 1 inch thick—they usually cut them thinner than this—that is why they dry out. Wipe chops with cold damp cloth, and gash fat edges to prevent curling. Place on greased broiler rack. Have broiler burner very hot. Insert rack 3 inches from flame or element. Broil at high heat until one side is seared and flecked with brown, then turn over and do second side the same. Reduce heat a little or, if electric, lower rack down one slide in oven. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and broil 15 minutes in all, turning about 3 times in all. For variety, after last turning, place thin slice of orange or apple on each chop and let it broil about 4 or 5 minutes. Delicious.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: I am writing for two purposes—one to say how much I enjoy your pleasant chatty column—you are quite wonderful—your bairns are lucky and tell them I said so . . . in our native land of Scotland at Christmas, Easter and weddings, christenings we had what was called "Currant Loaf"—a real spicy bread with all kinds of fruit, chopped peels, spices. It was rich, moist, and when sliced and buttered nothing was nicer with a good cup of tea. (Do you have the recipe?) I am a real knockout at breadbaking but my pies leave much to be desired—my pastry would be good for corner stones to mansions my man says. Wishing you and your family the best—"Long may your LUM Reek".—W.W.P.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I know that is a tribute—but after dozens of enquiries don't know exactly what it means. Someone please enlighten me so I won't be so ignorant. See tomorrow for my stab at the Currant Loaf. Will someone send in their version of the Currant Loaf in case my guess is wrong? Please.

What's Right?

A man asks your son a question and he answers with a "Yes" or "No".

WRONG: Interrupt to tell him he should say "Yes Sir" or "No Sir".

RIGHT: Wait until you are alone with him and then remind him that he should say "Yes Sir" and "No Sir", instead of embarrassing him in front of others.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

THE EXPERTS SAY:

Cheese From Quebec, Price Lower

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Food surpluses aren't healthy when there's no place for them to go. Housewives can help with the cheese surplus.

J. D. Hunt of the Ontario Cheese Producers Association told a meeting in Stratford recently that he couldn't "paint any rosy picture of the future," not with the present surplus of cheese.

The Stratford group was told that Quebec-made cheese is coming into the Ontario market at a lower price than the home product.

There are all kinds of good cheese dishes, and here's one—cheese souffle.

Use two tablespoons butter; three tablespoons flour; one-half cup scalded milk; one-half teaspoon salt; few grains cayenne; one-half cup grated old cheese; yolks of three eggs; whites of three eggs.

Melt butter, add flour, mix well and add gradually scalded milk. Then add salt, cayenne and cheese. Add egg yolks which have been well beaten and cool mixture. Fold in egg whites beaten stiff. Pour into buttered baking-dish and bake 20 minutes in slow oven, about 300 degrees fahrenheit. Serve immediately.

CONSUMER COMMENTS

High and low ovens were discussed at the annual meeting of the Canadian Association of Consumers at Toronto. Delegates learned that a survey among United States housewives disclosed that women over 40, who have had more experience with the high oven favor it. On the other hand women under 40 favor the low-type oven.

Mrs. Christine White of Winnipeg would produce more good utility stoves—and ones minus the fancy gadgets.

Mrs. Jean Butterfield of Toronto, head of the association's consumer research committee, suggested to the group that manufacturers of rubber rings be requested to stamp the date of manufacture on each package. She recalled a C.A.C. investigation of the complaint that "rubber rings for sealers are often too thin."

Manufacturers had been asked for their views. They said that humidity is known to affect rubber and it is impossible to control this factor although it was considered negligible in the case of a rubber ring.

"As to the shelf-life of the rubber ring, it should be renewed each year," said Mrs. Butterfield. "Rubber oxidizes, especially at high temperatures, and changes in the rubber occur, resulting in hardness. If the housewife uses rings which have remained in the retail store or in her own cupboard for too long a time the rings might seem to be too thin."

IN MEDITERRANEAN

However, it was in the Mediterranean theatre that the regiment collected its greatest battle honors, in the Sicilian campaign and in the long and muddy fight up the Italian peninsula. The Hasty-Pees was the first unit to battle its way across the Ortona River, and pave the way for the eventual rout of the Germans, in the final months of the Second World War.

Re-organized in 1921 as the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, the history of the two United Empire Loyalist units which formed it dates back to the 1700's.

It was in the War of 1812-1814, when outnumbered British forces and Canadian militia under Gen. Skating Begins Saturday At Arena

Summer is a brief season at Civic Arena where ice is ready for skating Saturday night, and also for the first Petes hockey practice Monday at 7 p.m.

"We are trying to have things in shape for Saturday afternoon," Walter Smillie, manager, said today. "I'm not quite sure (at noon today) about the afternoon, but definitely there will be skating Saturday night."

The ice season of 1951-1952 ended on April 15 when the refrigerating plant was rested, and the ice was broken up and carted away. This is now October 3, with a skating floor for Saturday night — just 4½ months from freeze to freeze. Ah, palm trees! Ah, Madeira!

Collegiate Feeding 150 Schoolteachers

Kenner Collegiate's cafeteria, working under difficulties, is today feeding 150 school teachers from Lisle, in the Orangeville district.

Since a transformer blew on Wednesday during the power shut off, stoves have not been working and cafeteria workers cannot offer a full meal to the pupils or teachers.

Present menu consists of hot soup, sandwiches, milk, tea, tarts, and pie. A fairly large number of pupils have been using the cafeteria.

Committee Asks Books For County Prisoners

A request for books for prisoners at the county jail was received Thursday night by the Public Library board. The request came in a letter from County Judge John de Navarre Kennedy, on behalf of the newly-formed Citizens' Rehabilitation Committee.

The board named a committee, under Mrs. Ross Matthews, which will send a supply of suitable books to the jail each two months.

Kenner Furnace Out Students Get Holiday

Pupils at Kenner Collegiate today were given a holiday because the school was too cold. A transformer, said to be defective, blew during Wednesday's power shortage, and the furnace and cafeteria were affected.

A new transformer is being rushed from Toronto. There was none available in the city as all the spare transformers owned by the utilities commission are being used in the underground wiring project on George St.

Italian Gov't Has Lifted Ban On Church

ROME (AP) — The Italian government today lifted its ban against operations of the American-sponsored Church of Christ in Italy. The United States Embassy, announcing the decision, said it followed discussions between the embassy and the Italian government.

The denomination's 22 churches and one orphanage will be permitted to operate as usual during the period while their application for permanent permission is being acted upon by the government.

Elbridge Dubrow of Los Angeles, Calif., minister-counsellor of the Embassy, passed on formal notification of the decision to Cline R. Paden, head of the American-led church here.

Last Sunday Italian police permitted the Church of Christ to hold its first public services in three weeks.

TEMPORARY CONCESSION

Paden said at the time that it was only a "temporary concession."

The Church of Christ, the Assembly of God and Pentecostal Church have protested to the U.S. State Department against police interference with their services.

Activities of the Protestant Church of Christ has been banned in Roman Catholic Italy on grounds that the church did not have government permission to operate here. The church said it had applied for permission but that there had been no action on the request.

VINELAND (CP)—Trustees here said last night they can supply nearby Beamsville with the 100,000 gallons of water needed daily by that town.

In a meeting with Beamsville's water committee, trustees said supplying water could easily be done without any strain on Vineland facilities.

Vineland officials said an offer cannot be made to Beamsville until a recording meter and other equipment is installed at the Vineland plant. An investigation of sales practices in other communities will also be made.

Vineland is eight miles west of St. Catharines.

Nobel Peace Prize Won't Be Awarded

OSLO, Norway (Reuters) — No Nobel peace prize will be awarded this year, it was announced today.

Swedish scientist Alfred Nobel, the inventor of dynamite, who died in 1896, left a fortune to found a trust to award yearly prizes for those who have most contributed to the common good in the fields of chemistry, medicine, physics, literature, and peace.

First awards were made in 1901. Last year's winner of the Peace prize was Leon Jouhaux of France, trade union leader and head of the anti-Communist International Confederatioon of Free Trade unions.

Last year the prize was $33,000.

The Parliament-elected committee which awards the prize gave no reason for the decision not to make the award this year. The money which would have gone with the award this year will be added to next year's peace prize.

It was the 11th time the peace prize had not been awarded since the Nobel prizes were established in 1901.

$400 Awarded For Oil Burner Not Paid For

Judgment of $400 and costs was awarded Cherney Bros., in civil action over the installation of an oil burner by Judge John de N. Kennedy Thursday.

Judge Kennedy heard the evidence in the suit against Randolph Fitchett, R.R. 2 Peterborough, at a special sitting of the county court September 25 and reserved judgment.

Cherney Bros. installed an oil burner in Fitchett's new home in the fall of 1949, and the firm alleged that Fitchett agreed to pay the cost of $400, then refused to pay for it after it was installed.

Fitchett claimed the oil burner was installed without his approval when he was in hospital. He said that Meyer Cherney told him that if he decided not to buy it he would take it out. The burner was supposed to heat the house on 900 gallons of oil but used 2,000 gallons during the winter and did not heat his house satisfactorily Fitchette said. He claimed that Cherney Bros. refused to take the oil burner out when he asked them to.

Meyer Cherney, said his firm never installs burners on approval since a large part of the cost is in labor and materials involved.

PROMISED PAYMENT

He said he had frequently pressed for payment and Fitchett promised to pay. He said he did not give any understanding as to what the burner would do or what quantity of oil it would consume. He added that Fitchett had made no complaints about the burner until the action was started.

R. Oliver, credit manager of Cherneys said frequent statements had been sent to Fitchett and he recalled one or two telephone conversations with Fitchett and Fitchett promised to pay the $400. He said Fitchett never complained to him about the burner or claimed it had been installed on approval.

Fitchett denied receiving statements from the firm requesting payment and denied having telephone conversations with Mr. Oliver.

Mrs. Fitchett confirmed her husband's testimony.

In his judgment, Judge Kennedy said that there was a conflict of evidence as to the original agreement. "I am not prepared to accept the evidence of Fitchett and his wife that Cherney agreed to instal the burner on approval."

When the burner failed to give satisfaction, the defendant did not write Cherneys and ask them to remove it, Judge Kennedy continued but continued to use it for two heating seasons and permitted it to remain in his house to the present time.

Walter Howell represented Cherney Bros. A. M. Fulton was counsel for Fitchett.

Both players, property of Canadiens, will be subject to 24-hour recall. They have been working out with Canadiens during the training sessions.

Defenceman Ross Lowe has been turned over to Buffalo Bisons of the American Hockey League. Under the A.H.L.'s present no-recall rule, he will have to stay there the full season. Lowe requested the Buffalo move, instead of a more distant assignment, to be near his ailing mother in Oshawa.

French Red Party Attacks Secretary

PARIS (Reuters) — The French Communist party today launched a new attack against its expelled veteran leader, Andre Marty, saying that he created terror among his comrades whenever he visited provincial party federations.

Marty was recently fired as secretary and has not yet made the full admission of his "errors" demanded by the French Politburo.

The new accusations were published in the weekly party paper France Nouvelle along with extracts from the speeches made at the central committee meeting which removed Marty and also dismissed Charles Tillon from the Politburo.

Nine of the fishermen were feared drowned when their ships overturned. Fifteen others are believed adrift on the Pacific.

Eighty houses and 23 fishing vessels were damaged.

The tidal waves were about 12 feet high. The winds and waves were a result of a typhoon that passed between Honshu and Hokkaido islands.

Students Favor Visit By Soviet Group

TORONTO—Student representatives at the University of Toronto have voted overwhelmingly in favor of a proposed visit to Canada by 12 to 15 Russian students.

First meeitng of the Students' Administrative Council this year instructed Toronto delegates to support the proposal when they attend the National Federation of Canadian University 'Students' conference at Laval University next week.

A Russian student visit to Canada was suggested by Denis Lazure, an executive member of the federation, when he visited Warsaw two years ago.

Since then practically every university in Canada has taken a vote on whether the Russian students should be invited to Canada. The University of Toronto and McGill have backed the proposal.

Opposition within the University of Toronto has come from St. Michael's College. McMaster University has voted against the visit, with the vote following action by alleged Communists in handing pamphlets to McMaster students supporting the Russian visit.

Indian Scientist Fears British Atom Blast

CALCUTTA, India (Reuters)—Professor M.N. Saha, director of the Institute of Nuclear Physics here, said today the British Atomic weapon test in Australia appeared to have been with an atomic missile projected by rocket propulsion and piloted by radar wave.

"If such a weapon has been developed it is a terrible one," Saha said. He suggested that with such a weapon atomic warfare could be conducted from distant bases by pressing a button, and "nothing can save big cities from complete destruction."

Test 175 Hogs Find No Trichinosis

SUDBURY (CP)—Dr. J.B. Cook, medical officer of health, said yesterday that tests on some 175 hogs slaughtered in the Sudbury district showed no sign of trichinosis.

Trichinosis is a rare disease caused by a parasitic worm sometimes found in improperly cooked pork. Some Sudbury residents contracted the disease earlier this year.

Dr. Dorothy Webster, veterinarian from the school of hygiene of the University of Toronto, conducted the tests on rats and bats as well as hogs. About half the 150 rats tested were infected. Dr. Webster recommended a concentrated drive to rid the district of rats.

Pravda Hails Stalin Article

LONDON (Reuters)—Pravda, official organ of Russia's Communist party, today hailed Marshal Stalin's 50-page article on economics published yesterday as a "scientific work of enormous importance of the utmost international significance."

In an editorial, quoted here by the official Tass news agency, the daily newspaper claimed the article, published in the magazine Bolshevik, was "a great contribution to the theory of Marxism-Leninism, and a scientific work of enormous theoretical and practical importance."

"Comrade Stalin has treated from all sides the fundamental question of political economy of socialism and for the first time in Marxist literature he analyzed the character of its economic laws, formulated the basic economic law of Socialism and defined the funpassage from Socialism to Communism."

Damages Lock Gate

CORNWALL (CP) — The Norwegian freighter Oris today backed into a lock gate of the Williamsburg Canal damaging it slightly. Ship traffic was delayed for a few hours to enable workmen to repair the gate.

Doctors Believe People Do Die Of Fright

CHICAGO (AP)—Two physicians expressed belief today that some persons might be literally frightened to death.

They also explained how the same stresses of fear or terror might bring about the slower so-called "voodoo" or "hex" deaths among some superstitious natives.

Writing in the journal of the American Medical Association, Drs. W. Proctor Harvey of Washington and Samuel A. Levine of Boston told how sudden emotional upset started a series of abnormal heart beats in a healthy woman patient undergoing an electrocardiograph test.

These abnormal heart beats were not the ordinary heart "skipping" or palpitation that sometimes occur in normal hearts, but a prolonged and highly-irregular pattern that the doctors said could lead to ventricular fibrillation and death.

In ventricular fibrillation groups of heart muscle beat independently and without rhythm and the heart cannot pump blood.

Stratford Factory Has Been Sold

STRATFORD (CP) — The McLagan Furniture Company (Canada) plant here, idle for some weeks, has been sold to Canadian Fabricated Products Limited, it was announced today.

New Fire Gun

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—A new fire-fighting gun that throws 10,000 gallons of foam per minute half the length of a football field was demonstrated yesterday for 80 safety and fire prevention engineers. Still in the development stage the big gun is made by the Pyrene Manufacturing Co. here. The new apparatus, swivelled back and forth by an operator, shot fire-fighting foam for 150 feet and laid down a six-inch blanket in less than a minute.

"COOL CONTROL"

OVERHEAD BAIT CASTING

1 Control is all-important. Index finger of right hand grips trigger of rod firmly. Thumb rests lightly on spool. Other fingers press handle of rod into palm. Thumb should be relaxed, rest of grip firm but not rigid.

2 Control comes with experience. Practise moving rod back for cast, applying thumb pressure to allow weight of bait to carry tip of rod back, for extra casting power. Relax thumb pressure when rod begins forward movement; apply again just before bait hits water.

3 Keep arm close to body. Movement comes from wrist and forearm. Fingers of hand open as rod moves back, close as rod comes forward. Concentrate on wrist movement for accuracy. Aim; come back fast; forward twice as fast. Remember — only experience gives perfect control.

Yes, it's control that counts, in fishing as in every sport — control which brings the extraordinary quality that sets one performer above the other. In the ability to approach things coolly, to control every move and moment, lies the answer to better results.

This is one of a series designed to increase the pleasure of Canadians who participate in sports.

New Language Of 600 Words For Aviation Folk

MONTREAL (CP)—A new language with a vocabulary of 600 words, designed to be readily understandable in aviation circles throughout the world, got its first official test yesterday at International Civil Aviation Organization headquarters here.

Eighteen I.C.A.O. delegates, all from countries where different languages are spoken, clamped on earphones to listen in on the new language. The idea was to learn how easily understandable it might be.

The vocabulary is for the use of air and ground crews responsible for keeping in touch with aircraft.

A spokesman said yesterday's test does not mean the new language is completely ready for use. Bugs will be ironed out of the workaday phrases and the vocabulary may be cut to fewer than the present 600 words.

It is estimated that air and ground crews can pick up the new language in about six months.

Since English is most used by crews, that language was chosen and the vocabulary was first tried out with persons normally speaking other languages. Simplicity in pronunciation and articulation were aimed at, along with use of words with single meaning. Idiomatic expressions and use of words through personal choice and words of similar sounds were eliminated.

Such phrases as "go up" and "let down" were found preferable to "ascend" and "descend." "Remain was considered better, for instance, than "stay and wait where you are." Words will be chosen for "contact," which has different shades of meaning.

Something will be done about a routine report that a light on the ground is "turning but not flashing." This has been heard as "burning but not crashing."

Britain Backing South Africa

LONDON (AP)—Britain has decided to back South Africa in opposing a demand by 12 Asian-African countries for United Nations debate on Prime Minister Daniel Malan's race policies, commonwealth diplomats disclosed yesterday.

The Malan government's known desire to make South Africa a republic and to pull its air squadron out of Korea may have influenced Britain's decision.

Her stand will bring Britain up against two other Commonwealth countries—India and Pakistan—which helped to organize the demand for a U.N. spotlight on the explosive race situation in South Africa.

Britain also is concerned, however, that the U.N. should have no powers to investigate or pronounce upon the internal affairs of member states.

Producers Have Tough Time With Indian Films

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Producers in Hollywood who think they are throttled by censorship should listen to a film maker from India.

Visiting here is Mehboob Kahn, a top producer-director in India's huge film industry. He is the maker of "Aan," enjoying its 11th week in London. Kahn is talking a deal for a major company to release it in the United States.

NO KISSES

Kahn discussed movie-making in India.

"Ah, yes, we have censorship, too," he said. "But ours is even more strict. We cannot even show a man and woman kissing. Isn't that silly? Indians can see all the kissing they want in American pictures, but it isn't allowed in pictures made in India.

"Nor can we depict gangsters, even though American gangster pictures play Indian theatres."

STAR TROUBLES

Actors are a problem in India, he added.

"We have four or five big male stars and an equal number of female stars. All of them are freelance, and that makes a mess. Some are working in 10 pictures at the same time. They give one producer five days of work, another four days, and so forth. A picture can take a year or more to make because of that."

Kahn said the Indian film industry makes between 200 and 300 pictures a year.

People Growing Longer 2nd Toes

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (Reuters)—A New Zealand foot expert claimed yesterday that people are gradually growing longer second toes, a throw-back to the days when the foot worked like a hand for tree-climbing purposes.

Dr. Leslie Will said he had observed a clear tendency toward longer second toes. But he suggested modern shoes may have more to do with it than tree climbing.

He explained that primitive men had long second toes and big toes that worked in the opposite direction, like thumbs, so that the feet could grasp branches.

Omemee Farm House Destroyed By Flames

WITHOUT A SCRATCH two men crawled out from under the caved-in roof of their car which flipped over and landed on top of a stump beside Highway 28 a mile and a half south of Lakefield Friday evening. The roof can be seen through the open back door, jammed down against the back of the front seat.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Editor Admits Hiding Nazi Prisoner

Urges Germans Hide Other Escaped Man From Allied Courts

HAMBURG (CP)—The cases of two former German soldiers, one of whom was convicted of helping kill three captured Canadians during the Second World War, have stirred up the emotions of newspaper readers throughout northern Germany since they escaped three weeks ago. The Germans had been serving long terms in the British military prison at Werl.

While one is admittedly being hidden by the editor of a large German magazine weekly which prints articles calling on other Germans to do likewise, the other was once recaptured and has escaped a second time.

The two are Hans Kuehn and Wilhelm Kappe. A former German luftwaffe sergeant and fighter pilot, Kuehn was convicted of participating in the killing of three Canadian prisoners of war and sentenced to 21 years in jail by a British court. The German weekly Der Stern claims he is innocent.

Kappe was sentenced to life imprisonment for killing a Soviet prisoner of war he was guarding. He was acquitted by a German army court and later convicted by British authorities. Der Stern says Kappe killed the Russian in self defence.

ALDERMAN CASTIGATED

Monday Kappe was arrested by German police in Aurich after alderman Wilhelm Heidepeter told the police where Kappe was.

Immediately afterwards the alderman's council suspended Heidepeter from office and the local organization of his party, the Social Democrats, has filed a request to their superior body, demanding that Heidepeter be ousted from the party.

The policeman who arrested Kappe put him into a ground floor cell where there were no bars on the windows. Kappe slipped through the window.

Der Stern's editor-in-chief Henry Nannen, meanwhile found Kuehn's hiding place, brought him to his home in Hamburg, clothed and fed him and then took him to a "safe hiding place."

He is publishing Kuehn's life story through several editions.

To Choose Site

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands (Reuters) — Delegates to the 10-country European Council for Atomic Research met today to choose the site for Europe's $23,240,000 atomic laboratory. The laboratory will contain the world's biggest atom-smashing cyclotron, to be called a "cosmotron," capable of developing up to 10,000,000 electronic volts.

Suggest Special Labor Training In South Africa

OTTAWA (CP)—A Colombo Plan official proposed last night that a network of technical training institutions be erected in southern Asia to overcome a critical shortage of skilled labor in democracy's outpost.

Geoffrey Wilson, head of the Colombo Bureau for Technical Co-operation, said such a plan would require money, equipment and manpower. But it would be one of which the west could assist the poverty-stricken Asiatic states.

Poverty on a massive scale is steadily worsening in that area, the former United Kingdom civil servant said in a speech before the United Nations Association, Ottawa

Where there were nine mouths to feed 12 years ago there now are 10, but the volume of food crops has not kept pace. As a result, there is even less food to go around than in previous years.

The six-year, $5,000,000,000 Commonwealth Colombo Plan to aid the area's economy therefore served a dual purpose. It was helping to block the spread of poverty and to lay foundations for a more prosperous economy. Canada has contributed a total of $50,000,000 toward the plan so far.

Mr. Wilson is here to discuss use of Canada's allocations with Canadian government officials.

19 Operations, Can Eat Again

ROME (Reuters) — Domenico Ilario, 25, can eat again, thanks to 19 delicate operations in which skin taken from his legs was used to re-line his throat.

He arrived home from England yesterday as a free passenger in a British Comet jet airliner after two years in England under the care of Dr. Ronald Raven.

Domenico burned his throat as a baby when he swallowed caustic soda. The wound seemed to heal but an attack of diphtheria later caused his gullet to close.

In this condition, being fed artificially, he was seen in a Rome hospital in 1950 by the British surgeon.

Domenico was taken to London for the surgery.

"At least I can eat again," Domenico said at the airport on his return. "Yesterday I had chicken and a good plate of spaghetti. I must express my deepest thanks to God and to all who helped me. Now I can speak English too, and I will look for a job next week-end.

Owner Away Neighbor Sees Smoke

Volunteers Battle Blazing Building, Save Some Furniture

OMEMEE (ENS) — The red brick family farmhouse of Eugene Switzer was totally destroyed by fire on Friday evening. Mr. Switzer, a bachelor, was away in Peterborough at the time. The house was located five miles east of the village on Highway 7 and one-half mile north.

Smoke was noticed coming from the rear of the house by a young neighbor, Leonard Breault, who lives a field away from the Switzer place. He ran to the home of Lockhart Wright who turned in the alarm to the Omemee Fire Department. They responded immediately with volunteer crew and pumper, arriving about 8 p.m., one-half hour after the fire is thought to have started.

DO THEIR BEST

The fire fighters and volunteer neighbors were unable to control the blaze, though Chief Stevenson said today that they stayed on the scene until 4 a.m. He went out again this morning at 9 a.m. on a report that embers were still smouldering.

Furniture in the downstairs part of the house was saved but nothing else. Those who kept watch through the night were served hot refreshments at the nearby home of Isaac Guthrie. It is understood that the house was partly covered by insurance but no figure on the loss was given.

Mr. Switzer could not be reached today to give further details about the fire. He owns some cottages in the Fife Bay area of Chemong Lake and one neighbor said she thought he would be moving into one of them for the winter.

Second White Woman Slain By Terrorists

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters) — Police last night found Mrs. Margaret Wright, 39, stabbed to death on the porch of her home — the second white woman to be murdered since a violent crime wave hit the Nairobi area early last month.

Mrs. Wright, wife of a personnel officer in the posts and telegraphs department, was attacked at her farmhouse 12 miles from Nairobi. She had multiple knife wounds.

Mrs. Marie Chapman, 35, wife of an engineer and mother of two children, was found pierced with five dagger wounds Sept. 23 in the bedroom of her home near the Nairobi national game park.

Sir Evelyn Baring, new governor of Kenya, next Monday will begin a tour of African areas including the Nanyuki region, where raiders believed to be members of the anti-white secret sect Mau Mau killed a large number of cattle on European farmlands last week-end.

Order Prices Cut

CAIRO, Egypt (Reuters) — The government today ordered big cuts in food prices. Meat, poultry, vegetables, cereals and fruit prices were reduced by about one-third.

Attlee Remains In Firm Control Of Party Reins

MORECAMBE, England (Reuters)—The 6,000-member Labor party concluded its annual conference last night with former Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee still in firm control of the party reins. Insiders believed leftist Aneurin Bevan's bid for party leadership may boomerang into a powerful trade union drive bent on crushing his challenge. Many delegates felt that if, for any reason, Attlee were to retire, his deputy, Herbert Morrison, would almost automatically succeed him despite Bevan's isolated triumphs this week.

Bevan's greatest conference victory—wresting six of seven seats on the party executive allotted to local political party representatives—infuriated trade union leaders. These leaders, representing approximately 5,000,000 party members, were said to be determined to shackle the Bevanite forces in coming months.

On the other hand, the Bevanites will seek to extend their grip on local political parties and campaign privately for greater trade union support. A few unions, mostly Communist-led, such as the shopworkers, machinists and electricians, have lined up behind Bevan's policies for a reduced armaments program and greater independence from the United States.

The giant transport, general workers' and miners unions—hard core of the great industrial bloc—are still ranged solidly behind Attlee's moderate wing of the party.

Bank Clerk Gets 7-Year Term

HAMILTON (CP)—A seven-year penitentiary term was imposed yesterday on Reginald Sloman, convicted of manslaughter in the strangling last spring of his attractive wife.

Sloman, 28-year-old bank clerk, originally faced a charge of murder but this was reduced by a grand jury.

Evidence was that Sloman had returned home late after drinking at a beverage room the night before his wife's death. Mrs. Sloman, former model and the mother of a 16-months-old child, was asleep. Sloman testified she had taken to staying out late without explanation and drinking heavily.

In the morning when he awoke he was still "tight." He said that during an argument he had lost his head and strangled his wife with a neck tie from a bedside table.

Toronto-Barrie Road Starts New Series

TORONTO (CP)—The Toronto-Barrie highway now is officially known as Controlled Access Highway No. 400, starting a new 400 series of Ontario highways.

The trans-province highway from Windsor to the Quebec boundary will, when completed, become Controlled Access Highway No. 401. No. 402 will be the highway from Point Edward to Highway No. 7.

The Ontario [illegible] ment said yeste[illegible] no immediate change in the designation of the Queen Elizabeth Way. But it is possible that it may become one of the 400 series, the department said, as part of a thoroughfare from Niagara Falls to North Bay.

Elephant Stages Sitdown Strike After Tumble

CANTERBURY, England (Reuters)—An 86-year-old elephant named Salt, disconsolate since she tumbled into a muddy pond during a stroll last Sunday, remained immobile in an improvised tent today while the circus of which she is a member played in Cranbrook, 25 miles away.

The five-ton elephant has refused to budge since being hauled out of the muck by a giant crane. Salt apparently feels she has let down the elephant's reputation for surefootedness.

The crane dropped Salt in a field and there she has sat ever since. Straw was brought, a tent put up around her and, since she wouldn't eat, food was injected. The circus delayed its departure in a vain hope that Salt would get up.

Her playmate, Saucy, tried to tempt the heart-broken animal into a romp on the field.

Local circus fans who have paid to see Salt for the last 40 years crowd around the tent each day for the latest health bulletins. The local veterinary surgeon said Salt is suffering from shock.

Britain Tests Secret Devices

LONDON (Reuters)—Secret new devices will be tested for the first time in Britain's biggest air defensive exercises which started today, senior air force officers have hinted.

Pilots of six countries, some in planes capable of carrying atom bombs, were making attacks on the country today.

The Canberra, Britain's record-breaking jet bomber, spearheaded the attacks. Canadian and United States units are flying the F-86 Sabre jet fighter, fastest operational machine in the air forces of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Main object of the exercise, named "Ardent," is to find out whether the network of ground and air defences is adequate to keep the country safe from the threat of high-speed atom bombers.

More than 1,000 aircraft and 200,000 men and women are taking part in the manoeuvres, which will last until Oct. 13.

Embezzling Charge

FREEPORT, Me. (AP)—Samuel P. Foss, 61, last night was accused of embezzling $158,000 from the Lewiston Trust Co., where he has been manager since 1932. Police said Foss admitted taking the money but had not told investigators what happened to it.

Atomic Chairman Britain's New Envoy To U.S.

LONDON (Reuters)—Sir Roger Makins, chairman of Britain's top atomic energy committee, has been appointed to succeed Sir Oliver Franks as ambassador to the United States, it was announced last night.

Makins, 48, may seek in his new post to press the British campaign against a U.S. act which forbids the exchange of atomic secrets with Britain. His hand has been strengthened by yesterday's explosion off the Australian coast of Britain's first atomic weapon.

Makins, economic expert in the Foreign Office, has for three years headed an official committee established to guide the Cabinet on atomic policy. His role was kept secret until a Parliamentary document mentioned it three weeks ago.

Makins will take up his Washington post early in January, a Foreign Office announcement said.

Makins is married to an American, the daughter of the late Dwight F. Davis of St. Louis, Mo., who served as war secretary in Calvin Coolidge's administration and was donor of the famed Davis Cup for tennis.

BRILLIANT RECORD

Like Franks, Makins has a brilliant scholastic record, graduating with top honors from Oxford University in 1925. He was called to the Bar two years later.

The Foreign Office did not mention the fture plans of Franks, but it is understood he will leave the Foreign Office altogether. He gave up his career at Oxford University, where he taught moral philosophy, to take the Washington post.

Makins, father of two sons and four daughters, knows Washington and North America well. He has been economic adviser to several prime ministers and other Cabinet members on various international missions and accompanied Prime Minister Churchill to Washington and Ottawa early this year.

A lawyer, he entered the Foreign Office in 1928.

During the war he served as Foreign Office representative in West Africa and later as assistant to Harold MacMillan, then resident minister at Allied Force Headquarters in Algiers and in Italy.

Car Roof Crushed 2 Escape Unhurt

Though the roof of their 1952-model car was caved in to the level of the front seat, two men early Friday night crawled out of the wreckage without so much as having their hair mussed up. The freak accident occurred a mile and a half south of Lakefield on Highway 28. The car had gone out of control, flipped over on the west side of the highway, and landed upside down on a stump. "I don't see how they got out of the car alive, let alone without a scratch," was the comment of O.P.P. Constable John Cawood who investigated. "It's the worst looking wreck of its type that I've ever seen."

The two occupants, 25-year-old Frank Antonia of Orillia, and his companion Leo Lelonde of St. Polycarpe, Quebec, were driving north toward Lakefield shortly after 7 p.m. As Antonia started into the turn at Slater's Corners the front wheels on his brand new car seized up

TURNS UPSIDE DOWN

The car went across to the west side of the highway onto the shoulder, bounced over a four-foot ditch, and landed upside down on a hardwood stump. The stump drove the roof into the front seats. Its point of impact was between the two men.

On the driver's side, where Antonia was sitting, there was a couple of feet of space; but on the passenger's side, where Lelonde was sitting, the roof was driven down onto the seat. Both men are of average size.

Witnesses say the men were not thrown clear but crawled out by themselves, composed and not even slightly shaken up.

NARROW ESCAPE

It is believed that Lelonde escaped fatal injury by either knowingly throwing himself into a prone position or being knocked that way.

The car received about $1,200 damage.

Two ambulances and Dr. H. E. Gastle of Lakefield were called but when they arrived the two men were chatting amiably with some bystanders.

"That was one accident in a million," said a witness. "Those guys must have been born lucky."

To Answer Iran

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain will [illegible] premier for settling the Anglo-Iranian oil dispute, a Foreign Office spokesman announced.

Mossadegh has said that unless he receives a reply to his nine-day-old note tonight, his proposals to end the prolonged row over nationalization of British-owned oil fields in Iran will be invalid.

Railways Offer 7% Increase

OTTAWA (CP)—The railways have offered their non-operating unions a seven-per-cent wage increase in settlement of all union demands on behalf of 125 000 employees, it was learned yesterday.

The 17 unions seeking a 43-cents-an-hour general increase and other concessions have rejected the railways' proposal but have not yet made a specific counter-proposal.

Earlier, informants had said the railways offered up to 11 per cent, but it was made known authoritatively yesterday the smaller figure is as high as the railways have gone. They advanced it in negotiations directly with the unions and have maintained it before a federal conciliation board under Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock of the Supreme Court of Canada.

The board, in recess for a week, is due to reconvene at Montreal Monday for what is expected to be the final series of hearings on the $150,000,000-a-year issue.

Dudley Wins Geneva Medal

GENEVA, Switzerland (Reuters)—Ray Dudley, 21, of Bowmanville, Ont., won the medal for pianoforte in the 1952 Geneva international music competition, it was disclosed today. The judge's decision was unanimous.

Dudley, a student at the Royal Conservatory of Music in Toronto, played a prelude and fugue from Bach, a Haydyn sonata and a toccate by Schumann.

He said today he had decided last July to enter the competition.

"The trouble was that we could not find an application [illegible] Toronto," he said. "The Swiss consulate there advised me to write a letter to the competition authorities.

"I just got in under the gate in time — and it has been worth it."

Dudley plans to stay in Europe until about Christmas and then returns to Canada.

Eritrean Crowds Welcome Emperor

ASMARA, Eritrea (Reuters) — Huge crowds today welcomed Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia when he made a triumphal entry into the former Italian colony of Eritrea, newly federated with Ethiopia.

Haile Selassie cut a ribbon with gold scissors at Ponte Mareb, on the former frontier. Thousands of Eritreans cheered.

Bombers Wreck Red Coal Mine

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—The United States Fifth Air Force said United Nations jet pilots today blasted a North Korean coal mine into flaming ruin and downed two Red MiGs. On ground, Allied infantry men recaptured three western-front outpost hills, including blood-soaked "Big Nori."

Sabre pilots reported shooting down the MiGs and damaging five others as they protected Thunderjets bombing the coal mine, northwest of Kunu and near the Chongchon River.

The Far East Air Force reported today that the big Superfort raid on the Namsan chemical plant in North Korea Oct. 1 rendered it "unoperational."

Forty-eight B-29s hammered the plant — on the south bank of the Yalu River — with 425 tons of bombs in a 2½-hour attack.

Air force experts said the power plant and 10 transformers, a calcium cyanide plant and five administration-type buildings were reduced to rubble.

Models Ask Gov't For Tax Allowance

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of models asked the government yesterday to allow them, in figuring their income taxes, to write off "a reasonable allowance for obsolescence."

The appeal was sent to Commissioner John B. Dunlap of the Internal Revenue Bureau by Marjabelle Young, president of Shy, Inc., a corporation whose stockholders are models.

"We know that in time," she said, "we will lose the value of our appeal."

She called Dunlap's attention to tax laws which provide a write-off for "exhaustion and wear and tear, including a reasonable allowance for obsolescence."

There was no immediate comment from Dunlap.

Can Buy Gasoline

LONDON (Reuters)—Starting Feb. 1, British motorists for the first time in 13 years will be able to purchase ethyl gasoline. Since early in the Second World War, automobile owners have had to use unbranded "pool" gasoline, a mixture of several regular brands.

All the best gasoline has gone to the armed services.

4 Passengers Die On Bus

SOMERSET, Pa. (AP) — Four Greyhound bus passengers died and 13 other persons were injured today in western Pennsylvania's third disastrous bus crash in 18 days.

The bus, non-stop from New York to Chicago, collided with a steel-laden tractor-trailer on the Pennsylvania turnpike, eight miles west of Somerset. Both machines were going west.

Young Bandit Shoots, Robs Cabaret Manager

VANCOUVER (CP)—A young bandit last night entered the office of a downtown cabaret, shot the manager and fled with between $400 and $500 from a cash drawer.

A slug from a black automatic ripped through the right hip of Sandy De Santis, manager of the New Palomar cabaret, and lodged in the floor.

Timing his raid to coincide with the suppertime rush on downtown Burrard Street, the gunman fled on foot and vanished into the crowds.

The 42-year-old De Santis was reported in satisfactory condition in hospital.

Britain Keeps Secrecy Veil Over Her Atomic Blast

ADELAIDE, Australia (Reuters) —Britain, maintaining a thick veil of secrecy over her atomic blast off the Australian coast yesterday, has not yet informed Australia exactly what kind of weapon was tested, Defence Minister Philip McBride said today.

McBride said the general assumption was that it was a bomb, but no statement had been made to confirm this. He did not know whether the weapon was exploded on the ground, in the air or over the sea.

The minister said details would eventually be released by the British government.

"I don't expect that information for some time yet," he added.

Observers who watched the thunderous explosion at the barren Monte Bello islands, from an observation post, 55 miles away on the Australian coast, believed the explosion was from a tower on one of the islands.

HYDROGEN BOMB?

The shape and size of the great cloud created by the explosion indicates that its devastation was over an unusually wide radius. Some observers said it might have been a hydrogen bomb.

The Australian government fisheries research ship Warren was reported today to have left the mainland for the explosion area to check on the radio-activity of fishing waters around the Monte Bellos. It is estimated that fish several miles away from the detonation, which appears to have been on Flag Island in the centre of the atomic prohibited zone, could easily have absorbed sufficient quantities of radio-active material to make them dangerous to eat.

Fear Relations Worsen

Expect U.S. Will Hit Back At Russia

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is expected to hit back soon at Russia for ousting Ambassador George F. Kennan on grounds that he "slandered" the Soviets by comparing American life in Moscow to that in a Nazi prison camp.

State Secretary Dean Acheson and his aides started studying means of retaliation as soon as Moscow's demands for Kennan's recall yesterday plunged troubled American-Soviet relations into a new crisis.

Acheson, after a telephone conference with President Truman, forecast that there probably would be a sharp new protest note to the Kremlin shortly. Officials looked for the Moscow post to be left vacant for a long time as an expression of U.S. resentment.

NO U.S. EXPULSION

The U.S. could expel the new Soviet ambassador, Georgi N. Zarubin, but Acheson told reporters there was "no present indication" of doing this. He apparently ruled out any idea of breaking off diplomatic relations.

As far as officials could determine, it was the first time in history an American ambassador has been ousted on the ground that he was persona non grata, or personally unacceptable.

Should Kennan's post be left vacant indefinitely, some authorities said privately they believed it likely Moscow might voluntarily recall Zarubin, with the result that relations between Washington and Moscow could degenerate to a routine character handled by subordinate officials.

Several congressmen favored some sort of retaliatory action.

"If the Communists don't want to accept the ambassador we select, then I think we should serve clear notice on the Communists that we will have no ambassador at all," Senator Wayne Morse, Oregon Republican, commented.

BRITISH SURPRISED

British officials expressed surprise and concern at Russia's move, and speculated privately in London that it would bring retaliatory U.S. action against Zarubin. The result, they said, would be a worsening of U.S.-Russian relations.

The Soviet Foreign Minister, Andrei Vishinsky, served the demand for Kennan's recall almost on the eve of the Russian Communist congress opening tomorrow in Moscow. The demand was based on remarks made by Kennan Sept. 19 in West Germany. He compared the life of Americans in Moscow with the interment he underwent in Nazi Germany after Pearl Harbor.

Kennan, a former member of the State Department policy planning board who was widely credited with being the author of the western "containment" policy toward Communism, has served as ambassador less than five months.

Cost-Of-Living Index Drops During August

OTTAWA (CP)—Rents soared to a new high during August but were outweighed by lower food prices which led the cost-of-living to lower ground.

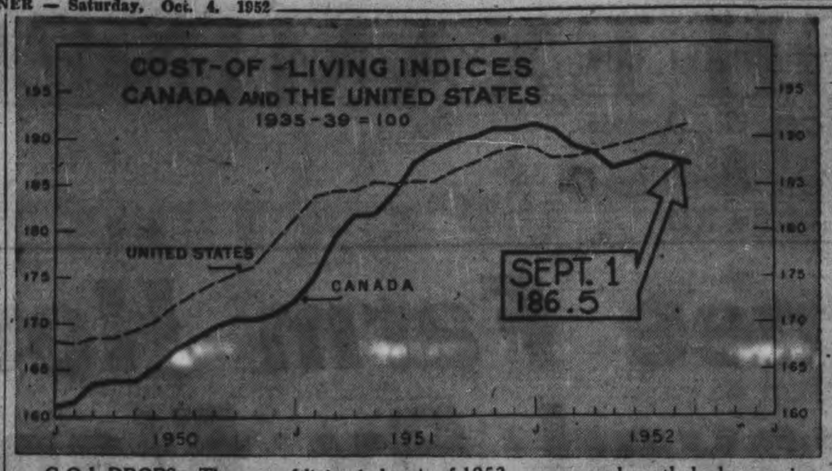
The cost-of-living index dipped for the second consecutive month by 1.1 points to 186.5 from 187.6 during the previous month, the Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday. That indicated living costs were back to where they were in June a year ago.

Lower prices for meat, fresh vegetables and a few other food items pushed down the index which is based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100. Meat prices dropped an average of two cents a pound and potatoes about one cent a pound during August. Oranges, lemons, sugar, woollen goods, cotton sheets and electrical goods also were down.

FOOD PRICES DROP

The food sub-index dropped to 234.2 from 238.0 in July. Its peak was 251.4 in June last year Rents, which are surveyed quarterly, climbed a point to 148.9 from 147.9, continuing the steady rise of recent years.

The fuel and light sub-index also moved upwards—to 150.3 from 150.1. That is just over two points below the record of 152.5 last February.



Men's woollen apparel and woollen piece goods dropped in price, pushing the clothing sub-index down to 207.7 from 208.8, well below the peak of 215.5 last December.

Lower prices for woollen rugs, cotton sheets and electrical goods pushed the homefurnishings sub-index down to 195.8 from 196.6. The peak came last December also at 201.1.

WHOLESALE PICTURE

A continued weakness in wholesale prices up to Sept. 26 was an indicator that further drops are a possibility in the cost-of-living index for September which will be issued early in November.

The Bureau's wholesale price index was down to 239.7 on Sept. 26 from 241.0 on Aug. 29. The farm products index receded to 219.9 The farm products index receded to 219.9 from 230.2.

C-O-L DROPS—The cost-of-living index declined by 1.1 points during August to 187.6, following a drop of four-tenths of a point during July. The index, based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100, reached its all-time high of 191.5 last December. The August decline—the sixth in eight months of 1952—was caused mostly by lower prices for foodstuffs and some clothing items. The dotted line shows the United States consumers' price index which August 15 hit a peak of 191.1. These indices measure percentage changes in prices in each country but should not be used to compare actual levels of prices between the two countries.

Physicist Feels Explosion Hydrogen Bomb

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—An Australian physicist said today the blast from Britain's first atomic explosion—as he saw it from the mainland 56 miles away—could have been made by a type of hydrogen bomb.

William J. Mangini, a physicist from Western Australia, watched from a press lookout yesterday morning when Britain set off the mighty blast at the deserted Monte Bello islands off the northwest coast of Australia.

"This could have been a hydrogen bomb of the dimensions of a plutonium bomb," Mangini said. "The color of the flash and its size differed materially from the usual descriptions and photographs of a plutonium bomb." He added that the blast appeared to be more destructive than those produced by U. S. atomic explosions.

DIFFERS FROM U.S. TEST

Reporters who watched the atom explosion—the world's 37th — said the burst of light and the subsequent atomic cloud did not resemble those produced by American tests. They described the explosion as orange-red in color, the shape and size of the setting sun, and said the cloud did not take the familiar mushroom form.

Mangini said, however, that differences in appearance could have resulted from differences in the terrain where the tests were made.

The Australian physicist said the blast from yesterday's explosion bounced 3,000 feet off the ground in three seconds—equivalent to about 680 miles an hour — indicating tremendous explosive power.

"The subsequent volume, turbulence, and persistence of the atomic cloud indicated that immense energy was unleashed in a manner which insured high destructive efficiency.

"For at least 30 minutes after the explosion an area a mile in diameter was still hot enough to be sending up a dense cloud of smoke," he said.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Prices generally showed a firm undertone Friday on the Winipeg Grain Exchange, aided by upturns on United States markets.

Commercial demand showed some improvement, with shippers and exporters buying both oats and barley. Exporters also bought flax on recessions. Rye trade was local. Offerings and hedging sales were well taken in all grains. Prices for Class 2 wheat and I.W.A. were up one-eighth cent.

Soviet Chess Stars Lead World

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY

MOSCOW (AP)—Chess is the most popular game in the Soviet Union. And Soviet chess stars have repeatedly proved their right in the post-war period to be considered the world's best.

The Soviet team won the world chess Olympics in Helsinki recently competing against the best players from almost all countries in the world in which the game is played on a large scale.

The world's chess champion is Mikhail Botvinnik. His last challenger whom he defeated was also a Soviet star, David Bronstein.

Soviet players have won every important international tournament in which they have taken part since the end of the war.

MASS PARTICIPATION

The strength of the U.S.S.R. in chess is not dependent on a few old and experienced individuals, but is the result of mass participation and interest in the game which continually results in the rise of new stars.

Coupled with mass participation and the presence of millions of enthusiastic fans, the playing and development of chess is strongly supported by the Soviet government and sports authorities.

Chess playing goes right down to the grass roots of Soviet society. The Pioneers, Soviet children's organization, has throughout the country a network of chess sections reaching into almost every school. A child who enters one of these sections gets systematic instruction in the principles of the game. Sometimes this instruction comes directly from top Soviet players who give group lectures and hold sessions of simultaneous play against the children.

INTEREST MAINTAINED

After school is completed, citizens continue to play chess. In almost every factory and good-sized organization there is a chess section—a sector of the over-all athletics and sports organization.

The chess section of the All-Union Committee on Affairs of physical Culture and Sport is the supreme national authority, made up for the most part of the country's most distinguished players. Local committees carry out tournaments and the central committee supervises national competitions.

There are a multitude of championship tournaments.

Take the Soviet army championship. Every unit of the armed forces has its chess player. The championship is organized annually on a regional basis for selection of top players from individual regions. Eliminations bring a group of players into the national finals. The Soviet army champion becomes famous throughout the army.

MANY COMPETITIONS

The same sort of competition takes place among trade union members, collective farmers and other groups.

Each year a national championship tournament is held.

All told, the interest and the Soviet union is unparalleled in the history of any large nation.

Large funds are provided by the government and in addition by the sport itself—tickets for admission to tournaments, dues from members of chess sections—for financing chess activities.

Students Given Free Tuition

TORONTO (CP)—In Yugoslavia, night club patrons cry over their wine. Policemen won't let you walk on the grass. University students get free tuition but only members of the Yugoslav Communist party can hope to get ahead after they leave school.

These were among the impressions of a 21-year-old University of Toronto student who visited Yugoslavia this summer with four other Canadian university students.

For 5½ weeks Yugoslav officials gave Joan Presant and her companions a supervised look at life in a Communist country.

"I know they only took us to the best things," Joan says. "The best collective farms, and the best factories.

"We'd get the same answers to our questions from all the people we met—the official party line."

People crying over the wine she found to be a national characteristic. "In most of the night clubs, part of the evening was always devoted to sad, gypsy-like songs. The weeping patrons fascinated us."

All five students were sent on scholarships by the World University Service as part of its fifth international seminar, the "European Study Tour."

Pre-Employment Survey By City Banks

All Peterborough banks have adopted the pre-employment X-ray survey program sponsored by the Peterborough County T.B. Association.

This announcement was made Thursday night at the association meeting by R. B. Arnold.

C. H. Elliott reported that three of the city's bottling works have also adopted the program.

Mrs. Richard Ward reported that several patients from sans had returned home from sans and some, who were able to work, had been found work under the association's rehabilitation program.

Mr. James Heffernan, president, explained that the mass survey in the county organized by the Women's Institute groups in conjunction with the federation of Agriculture had been completed. He also said that the mass survey in the city will be started the first week in November.

Mrs. M. J. Swanston reported that Mrs. G. H. Pammett had been appointed secretary of the 1952 Christmas Seal campaign.

12 Big States Can Elect U.S. President

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP)—The Electoral College system in United States elections makes it possible for a dozen big states to swing a president into office in opposition to the other 36.

The procedure giving this lopsided power is the fourth and final step in U.S. presidential elections. The first three steps are the state primaries where representatives are chosen to attend the national conventions, where the presidential nominees are picked, and the national election itself Nov 4.

The Electoral College, though outmoded and the subject of repeated attempts at abolition, in the final, constitutional sense chooses the President and Vice-President.

STARTED IN 1787

The system was set up in 1787 by the framers of the U.S. constitution who weren't sure that the people had enough education to make a good choice of men to fill the offices of government. So they provided that men known as "electors" be elected to do the choosing. That system worked in effect for only the first five presidential elections, after which the people began voting only for the "electors" who had already pledged themselves in advance to a specific presidential nominee.

The electoral system makes it possible for election of a president who has a minority of popular votes but a majority of electoral votes. But this has happened only twice—in 1876 and 1888. In 1940 Wendell Willkie was only 240,000 votes short of the total made by Franklin D. Roosevelt in New York State but Roosevelt got all New York's 47 electoral votes.

This is the way electoral votes are apportioned: Each state has as many electoral votes as it has members in the Senate and the House of Representatives. Each state has two senators but state representation in the House is proportionate to population. So Nevada, the least-populated state, has three electoral votes—one Representative and two Senators—while New York, the most populous state, has 45 electoral votes—43 representatives and two Senators. New York lost two electoral votes after the 1950 census.

NEED 266 MAJORITY

There are a total of 531 electors since there are 96 Senators and 435 members of the House of Representatives. Thus a simple majority of 266 electoral votes is all that is needed to choose a president.

That's where the 12 pivotal states come into the picture. They have a total of 267 members in Congress. The 12 are New York (45), Pennsylvania (32), California (32), New Jersey (16), Massachusetts (16), Illinois (27), Missouri 13, Kentucky (10), Indiana (13), Ohio (25), Texas (24), and North Carolina 14.

The House of Representatives chooses a winner if no candidate has a majority of electoral votes. That hasn't happened since 1825.

Record Wheat Movement At Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — A record movement of Prairie wheat is passing through the port of Vancouver bound for world markets.

Shipments since the start of the crop year, Aug. 1, are 66 per cent above those for the same period last year when an all-time record was set.

Shipments for the whole of the crop year may total more than 110,000,000 bushels. Last year they totalled slightly more than 100,000,000.

Grain from the 1951 crop is still arriving — 250 to 300 cars daily — and the new crop has started to roll in.

Vancouver terminals have a total capacity of 14,000,000 bushels, but the fire-damaged United Grain Growers Ltd. elevator, with a capacity of 2,700,000, will not be in use until spring.

STORAGE DIFFICULT

Storage may become a problem on the Prairies. The Prairie crop this year is so tremendous that growers don't know where to put it all. A large amount must stay on the farms.

Since the start of the crop year, ocean-going ships have carried 15,909,485 bushels of wheat from Vancouver. A year ago the total was only 9,279,509.

The United Kingdom and European buyers have taken 4,000,000 bushels since Aug. 1. Supplies have also been shipped to the Orient and East Africa.

Alderman Right No 'Red' Trees

TORONTO (CP)—Alderman Roy Belyea says his suspicions have been proved about those University avenue maple trees—they aren't going to turn red, after all.

The alderman complained to a parks committee meeting on Wednesday that he hadn't seen the glorious fall colors he expected down broad University avenue, the city's show street.

He said then that city council had been hoodwinked, that the 150 maple trees, bought in Holland, were the kind that turned only a muddy brown in the fall. The committee asked for an on-the-spot inspection of the trees.

Last night Alderman Belyea told the parks committee that nine trees picked at random have been identified as Norway maples, while the city had asked for red maples.

Two Demoted Leaders Spanked By Reds

PARIS (AP) — The French Communist hierarchy today publicly spanked two demoted leaders in an obvious effort to stamp out heresy in the party before the return from Moscow of ailing chief Maurice Thorez.

The party's statement, in the Communist newspaper L'Humanite was entitled "The political problems of the party and the factionalist activity of comrades Andre marty and Charles Tillon."

The two-page length of the statement, combined with the prominence with which it was played in the official Communist organ, pointed up the tensions created within the party by the abrupt demotion last month of Marty and Tillon.

Both were accused of "factionalism"—wandering from the party line.

Rita Moves Out To Paris Hotel

PARIS (AP)—Actress Rita Hayworth has left the home of her husband, Prince Aly Khan, and is living in a Paris hotel, her lawyer reported today. Apparently, she left two days ago.

When she came to Paris two weeks ago, she went straight to the Neuilly home of her husband, against whom she has filed divorce proceedings. They were seen together often afterward in restaurants and night clubs and allowed themselves to be photographed together.

Aly Khan, son and religious heir of the wealthy Aga Khan, leader of many millions of Moslems, minimized the idea of divorce in talks with reporters last Saturday and Rita said then she did not intend immediately to press through the divorce papers on file in Reno.

They were married on the Riviera May 27, 1949, and have a daughter, Yasmin, now going on three.

Miss Hayworth, in a written statement issued by her lawyer, said in part "I can only say what I have already stated and that is that my plans have not changed." She did not explain that remark.

Fake Television Aerials On Many U.K. Homes

LONDON (Reuters)—Thirteen of every 100 television aerials on roof tops outside London are fakes, a government checkup disclosed yesterday.

In many cases the homeowners erected the dummies to deceive neighbors into believing they could afford a TV set.

A government spokesman said the dummy aerials in many cases could only be explained as examples of "social snobbery."

The checkup was carried out by detection trucks which were investigating whether TV owners had paid up the annual fee.

Aviation Pioneer Dies At 81 In Peace River

PEACE RIVER, Alta. (CP)—A man who was one of the pioneers of aviation on the North American continent, and who later fled in discouragement to the "wilds of northern Canada," is dead.

He was Dr. William Greene who died recently at 81 after practising dentictry in this town, 250 miles northwest of Edmonton.

Born in San Francisco, he attended the University of California but he was more interested in aviation than dentistry.

After graduating, Dr. Greene opened an office in New York City but spent much of his time building balloons, and later flying machines.

WITH WRIGHT BROTHERS

In the early part of the century he established himself with the Wright brothers and Glenn Curtiss as a big name in the aviation industry.

But Dr. Greene was the least successful in obtaining financial backing. He established his first airplane factory at Rochester, N.Y.

Dr. Greene made his first airplane flight "somewhere around 1907." He never was sure of the exact date, but he was sure that he had never seen anyone else fly before he did it himself.

Seeing his rivals forging ahead, Dr. Greene became discouraged. He had spent his own fortune as well as the money of his friends. His once-flourishing dental practice had dissolved through lack of attention.

ARDUOUS TRIP

Deciding to move to the "wilds of northern Canada," he arrived in Edmonton in the winter of 1911-12. He took a train to Peace River, bought an ox team and travelled to Hudson Hope, B.C., trekking 300 miles over unbroken country with the temperature sometimes dipping to 72 degrees below zero.

Telling no one he was a flier or a dentist, he remained there four years when he received word that war had broken out. He enlisted in the Royal Air Force but was rejected because of his age.

Dr. Greene offered his services to Washington and was made receiving and testing officer at Kelly Field, then the largest in the United States.

After the war, he returned to the Peace River country and resumed the practice of dentistry.

Armed Gunman Robs Pair Of $240,000

FORT WORTH (AP) — A gunman armed with a sub-machine-gun held up two Cubans at a hotel early Friday and escaped with a bag full of money.

Police reported the bandit got about $240,000. Other reports were that the loot would run only $8,000.

Police said the robber had an accomplice who also was armed with a sub-machine-gun.

The gunmen appeared at the cottage occupied by Manuel Fernandez Madareaga, 38, and Candido Torre, who say they are Cuban Nationals living in exile in Mexico City.

Madareaga and Torre, who described themselves as politicians, said the money was their personal funds.

University Library Adds 10,000 Editions Each Year

EDMONTON (CP)—The Rutherford Library is playing its part in the University of Alberta's efforts to turn out well-rounded graduates.

One feature in the general reading room is a collection of 3,000 to 4,000 books of interest to students apart from their specialized curriculum reading.

"The aim," said Miss Marjorie Sherlock, chief librarian, "is to encourage students to read good books apart from their studies so that graduates are well-read, educated people, not just narrow specialists."

COST $2,000,000

The new library, installed at a cost of $2,000,000, has 150,000 books, a general reading room, four specialized reading rooms, a movie-projection room capable of seating 100 persons, 500 records and an art gallery housing a permanent collection in addition to numerous seminars—small reading or conference rooms for limited groups.

The main reference reading room has accommodation for 265 readers. In the 1951-52 term 181,000 readers made use of the library which was opened May 15, 1951.

"The increase was 75 to 100 per cent," said Miss Sherlock, "despite the fact there were nearly 2,000 fewer students than in the D.V.A.-rush days."

ANNUAL ADDITIONS

The library orders 10,000 new volumes each year.

The library's facilities are mainly for students and faculty at the University of Alberta but are open to the public for reference. In addition to reference volumes, the library last year recorded a circulation of 40,000 books for use by students at home.

The library is named in honor of Alexander Cameron Rutherford, Alberta's first premier who in 1906 sponsored the Education Act under which the university was established.

British Freighter Arrives Minus Cargo

HONG KONG (Reuters)—The 1,791-ton British freighter Inchislay arrived here Friday minus her 600-ton cargo after having been detained 12 days off the Communist port of Wenchow by a Chinese gunboat and two motor junks.

Members of the Inchislay's crew said their ship had been intercepted after the gunboat, manned by men wearing Chinese Nationalist uniforms, had fired a warning shot across their bows Sept. 18.

Triple Drowning Reported In Quebec

CHICOUTIMI, Que. (CP) — Word of a triple drowning in the remote Chibougamau region Wednesday night reached here today.

Drowned in Lake Chibougamau when their canoe capsized were Paul Bergeron of Metabetchouan, Wilfrid Arseneault of Perron, Abitibi county, and Marcel Roberge of Mattewa. A fourth man, Jules Dumas of St. Felicien, survived.

The bodies have been recovered. Further details of the accident were not available.

Fine Liberal M.P. $1 For Damage

VANCOUVER (CP) —Damages of $1 were awarded against Thomas H. Goode, Liberal Member of Parliament for Burnaby, for libel in a British Columbia Supreme Court suit here.

The plaintiff was Wilfred Starling, former president of the North Burnaby Liberal Association, who charged he had been libelled by Mr. Goode in a letter sent executive members of the Burnaby-Richmond Liberal association.

The letter, sent from Ottawa, Nov. 11, 1949, recommended that Mr. Starling should not continue as an official of the association. It also dealt with financial arrangements made, it charged, by Mr. Starling in an election campaign.

An eight-man jury found that Mr. Goode was "actuated by malice" and awarded nominal damages.

Track Renovation Plans Take Month

FORT ERIE, Ont. (CP)—Plans for the renovation of Fort Erie racetrack will not be completed for at least 30 days, E. P. Taylor of Toronto, largest stock-holder in the Ontario Jockey Club which bought the track, said yesterday.

Mr. Taylor's visit was the first to the track since its purchase from the Niagara Racing Association. Others in a party who inspected the layout: George C. Hendrie, Toronto, vice-president and managing director O.J.C.; Walter Richey, Toronto, O.J.C. superintendent; Harry Carmichael, St. Catharines, a director; Earl C. Morgan, Toronto architect.

Canadian Theme Being Used In New Ballet

OTTAWA (CP) — Long-distance collaboration between a Winnipeg choreographer and an Ottawa composer has produced a new ballet with a Canadian theme which will have its premiere in Winnipeg Oct. 30.

Gweneth Lloyd, director of the Winnipeg Ballet, and Robert Fleming of the National Film Board here matched their ideas through eight or nine letters, two telegrams and a few telephone calls, and a new ballet—still nameless—was born.

Last July Fleming read in a newspaper story that Miss Lloyd wanted an idea for a Canadian ballet. He wrote her he was interested.

SCOTS' FLAVOR

Not until Aug. 6 did Miss Lloyd decide on the theme—the vast emptiness of the prairies and its effect on a sensitive Scottish settler in the Selkirk migration a century ago.

In her first letter to Fleming she said the ballet should last about 25 minutes. Music for group scenes should have "a Scottish flavor, but not too obvious." Beyond saying she wanted a solo and a duet in the first scene, she left the rest pretty well up to him.

Along with his busy job as one of the Film Board's three composers, Fleming had to write much of the music by early September. Miss Lloyd could spend only 12 days with the Winnipeg Ballet, Sept. 3-14, before leaving on a trip to Toronto.

Sending tape recordings and sketches of the music as he completed it bit by bit, Fleming had 15 minutes of music by Labor Day. As more pages came in to Miss Lloyd in Winnipeg, she worked out the choreography and taught it piecemeal to the company.

On Sept. 12 Fleming sent off the last few bars of music and Miss Lloyd finished her work with the company only an hour before leaving for Toronto.

"I'm absolutely delighted with the music," Miss Lloyd said when it was all over. "Bob has caught exactly the mood I wanted."

British Merchant Banks See Chance In Canada

LONDON (CP)—British merchant banks are showing "belated but welcome" awareness of the opportunities for participation in Canadian economic development, says The Economist.

The independent weekly magazine cites as two examples the recent announcement by Baring Brothers and Morgan Grenfell and Company that they are taking an interest in a Canadian finance house, Harris and Partners, and the arrangements made by N.M. Rothschild and Sons regarding development in Newfoundland and Labrador.

"These two initiatives from London merchant banks," says The Economist "Suggest that the United Kingdom Exchange Control now may be looking with a more benevolent eye on applications for conversions of sterling into Canadian dollars for investment in that Dominion."

Unearth Irish Relics May Be 2600 Yrs. Old

DUBLIN (CP)—Relics of pre-Christian Ireland, believed to date back some 2,600 years, have been unearthed at Lough Daragh, near Boyle in Roscommon county.

Six months ago remnants of a primitive wooden canoe were found in the area and brought to the National Museum in Dublin. When the level of the lake was subsequently lowered during a reclamation project, several small man-made islands were discovered. Further investigation brought to light three more canoes, a sword, a bronze chisel, several bronze rings and a polished stone ax.

VANGUARD OF 150 TEACHER-VISITORS from South Simcoe County arrived in Peterborough Friday to sight-see industry, the Lift Lock, schools and the city in general. Late arrrival of three busloads cancelled out morning industrial trips but they ate box lunches at the Kenner Collegiate cafeteria, visited the C.C.E. in the afternoon and had dinner before returning to their homes. Pilots Go Deaf In Left Ear

BELFAST (CP)—Air pilots are always more deaf in the left ear than the right, says Dr. K. G. Bergin, medical superintendent of London Airport. Speaking on aviation deafness at a session of the British Association, Dr. Bergin said it is caused by constant bombardment of the pilot's ears by noise of the aircraft.

First noticeable symptom is the inability to distinguish consonants and sounds of high pitch. The left ear is more vulnerable than the right because normally the pilot sits on the left side of the craft.

The doctor said there is no immediate cure for this difficulty, but in time it will probably be remedied with improved insulation of fuselages and provision of suitable helmets and ear plugs.

MONTREAL (CP)—Mrs. Auguste Forget will celebrate her 103rd birthday Oct. 6. Despite her age, Mrs. Forget wears glasses only for reading and sewing.

She reads the newspapers and religious literature, but no novels. She has never seen a movie. Her doctor says her heart is good and her blood pressure normal. Two years ago she shook off an attack of double pneumonia.

System Of Paying Soldiers

OTTAWA (CP)—The system by which the army pays its soldiers may be streamlined shortly, incorporating some of the best British and American procedures.

The army said yesterday the changes may come as a result of an inspection now being carried out in Japan and Korea by the army's chief paymaster, Col. C.W. Ball.

The army said: "The trip may lead to the adoption of some of the systems now in use by British and U.S. pay personnel with regard to maintaining the soldier's pay ledger accounts."

The field policy of the Pay Corps is to take the pay to the man. Pay parades are often held in slit trenches, bunkers, squad tents and jeeps, sometimes under fire.

Commenting on pay problems in the theatres, Col. Ball said: "Never have institutes within the army handled the quantity or variety of merchandise that is now made available to the soldier.

"Thousands of dollars pass through these establishments each month as the men purchase gifts for home, cameras, typewriters and numerous other articles.

"But by constant supervision it is possible for these items to be purchased at a minimum price. To have this available to the man in the field is a great morale booster.

$50,000 Yearly For Peterborough Children

Once a year we like to say something about the boys and girls who act as carriers for The Examiner. You know your own carrier, but perhaps you do not know that he is one of 156 Peterborough boys and girls who do this work, and are in business for themselves. In the course of a year these Peterborough children handle a considerable amount of money, and the profit which they make on their work amounts, in the aggregate to $50,000. They have trust accounts which this newspaper takes care of on their behalf, and upon which they draw cheques, which also require the signature of their parents in order that proper supervision of their spending is guaranteed. Some carriers have over $1,000 in their trust accounts; some have $20 or $30, and we are equally interested in all; the carrier who saves his money is no wiser than the carrier who spend it on clothes, schoolbooks, a bicycle or anything else that he needs and which he can pay for out of his earnings.

* * *

We are proud of our carriers, of the way they do their work and look after their money. Carrying The Examiner must be a kind of work that appeals to Peterborough boys and girls of the better sort, for many of our routes have been carried by children of one family for a quarter of a century, being passed from father to son, from uncle to nephew. One route has been carried by members of the Courneyea family for 30 years, which we think is a record to be proud of, both for the Courneyeas and for us.

* * *

Our carriers are in business. No paper route has less than 70 customers, and that yields the carrier a profit of $4.00 every week; a carrier with a large route makes nine or ten dollars weekly. This is a good deal of money for a boy or girl, but because it has been earned, its value is known, and wastefulness among carriers is virtually unknown. We do not want to be pompous or high-flown about this matter, but we think that our carriers gain more than money from their association with this newspaper: they learn a businesslike way of conducting their affairs, and they learn the satisfaction of reasonable independence.

Our Genteel Ladies

In this city 4,640 women work, so the census-takers discovered last year. We have not yet reached the low, or high (depending on how you look at it) standard of living of Russia and the Baltic Red states, where all women work unless they are giving birth to more citizens of the Fatherland. But the pattern set in Britain, in less favoured countries like Russia, and even in the plutocratic United States is marking Canadian society.

More women are gainfully employed—which is how the census-takers distinguish between women at work keeping their own homes, and women working for money—here now than in 1941, when there was the excuse of wartime need to send them into shops, offices and factories. They form more than a quarter of the labour force of this city: 4,640 women, 11,290 men. (The figures are for 1951 and for employed persons aged fourteen and over.)

An interesting oblique comment on [illegible] with our grandmother's day when no lady worked, is that for the first time the census-takers have not listed women's occupations separately. The 1941 census dealt with working men by occupations; and then with women. Now they are in two parallel columns headed Male and Female, and the occupations are made common to both. Statistically, then, our women are at work in a man's world, or men in a woman's world.

What do the women do? In this city, 641 are listed as being engaged in professional work, including teaching, nursing, music, religious work, and 'authors, editors and journalists'. Doing clerical jobs are 1,316. In manufacturing and mechanical work are 1,198. In commerce are 529 and in "Service" 648. This category includes barbers, "housekeepers, matrons, stewards," undertakers, police, armed forces, cooks, waitresses, bootblacks and "actors, showmen and sportsmen." We have no female bootblacks, but one female who persuaded the census-takers that she was an actor, showman or sportsman.

With so many women at work for pay, the genteel tradition must die. But it dies slowly. It is difficult to believe that in this city only 25 are lodging or boarding-house keepers, yet that is what the census-takers were told. Are they too genteel to admit the occupation? Is keeping a boarding-house or taking in lodgers not every bit as gracious and necessary to the good of our city state as operating a machine in a factory? Perhaps it is not fear of social censure, but of the tax-collector that so many of our gentle ladies who feed and lodge guests for money do not confess to this gainful employment.

Shattered Legends

We hear very little from the Brantford Expositor these days. That is to say, we read the Expositor's editorials daily, but we find in them none of those barbed comments upon the iniquities of the Examiner to which we have grown accustomed over the years.

We know why this is, of course. The Expositor is bowed down under a weight of woe. Lover of old and corny legends that it is, its sufferings during the past six months must have been acute. Robin Hood, so dear to the Expositor, has been exposed by Mr. Pennethorne Hughes, an expert on witchcraft, as a leader of a witch coven—a position also occupied by William Rufus, who met such an unpleasant death. News also comes from Switzerland that Swiss historians have declared that there never was such a person as William Tell. And in the Toronto Telegram we read an article by the late Percy Ghent, in which he reveals that the good ship Hesperus, glorified by Longfellow in "The Wreck of the Hesperus" was not wrecked at all; Longfellow had his facts twisted. Even the little daughter of the skipper—so pathetic a figure in Longfellow's poem—proves to have been a married woman of 55. It is plain to us that the Expositor is reeling under these blows. So much that it holds dear is crumbling under the onslaughts of a cruel age.

We respect its sorrow. There is a nobility about its mourning which no frivolous word of ours shall sully. William Tell, Robin Hood, the Hesperus—all gone within a few short months! Next thing we know, some unhallowed hand will take a punch at the legend—nay, the dogma—that the telephone was invented in Brantford.

Along The Line Of Smoky Hills

We had a very nice September; in fact, an unusually warm one, the thermometer officially touching (in Peterborough) ninety degrees on the thirteenth. Now we are into October, and it smells and looks good already. Southern Ontarioans should be grateful for their Octobers which so wonderfully combine loveliness with splendour. Wilfred Campbell made some simple and touching remarks on characteristic Ontario weather and landscape, set down in verse more nimbly than prose can do:

Along the line of smoky hills,
The crimson forest stands,
And all the day the blue-jay calls
Throughout the autumn lands.

Now by the brook the maple leans
With all his glory spread,
And all the sumachs on the hills
Have turned their green to red.

Now by great marshes wrapt in mist,
Or past some river's mouth,
Throughout the long, still autumn day
Wild birds are flying south.

The poem does not have the sweet subtlety and mellowness of Keats's sublime and sensitive ode, but neither has the Canadian autumn.

Britain's Bomb

The bomb that Britain set off in Australia is—perhaps we should say was, now that it has disintegrated in an explosion—a closely guarded secret. Public reports of the explosion have been given by people only as close to it as eighty-five miles. Their descriptions are sufficiently vivid to make us wish never to be nearer one of the monsters than eighty-five miles, and preferably eighty-five hundred miles. Perhaps we should take some comfort from the fact that Britain now demonstrably has an A-bomb; it may help to balance American bomb[illegible] and international policy based ther[illegible] Britain is usually more adroit in throwing her weight around than the United States is; and we can hope for a similar just care in throwing the bomb around.

NOTES AND COMMENT

There is enough lead in an ordinary pencil to draw a line forty miles long, but with breakage, sucking and absent-minded sharpening few of us can make one last longer than a week.

The Ontario Legislature is expected to hold a Don Jail debate early in its session. Considering the quantity of debate that has already arisen from that source, it will be threshing old straw.

An English traveller in Canada in 1839 described Canadians as "possessed of elegance without ostentation, competency without extravagance, learning without pedantry, politeness without frivolity, hospitality without intemperance, and manly frankness and candour without undue familiarity." He wrote that in Toronto, and the pity is that he didn't get to Peterborough where, at that time, we could really have shown him a thing or two!

The Journal of Samuel Marchbanks

SUNDAY: Picked up a magazine this afternoon and read an article by a man who had appointed himself an expert upon what he called the "fog-density" of authors—meaning the difficulty which they presented to the average reader. He did not reveal all his secrets, but one way in which he measures this quality is to count the number of three-syllable words in every 100 words of a writer's prose. If they are frequent, fog-density is high. I suppose I present a considerable fog-density to some of my readers, and I don't care; who wants to be understood by everybody? I like long and unusual words, and anybody who does not share my taste is not compelled to read me. Policemen and politicians are under some obligation to make themselves comprehensible to the intellectually stunted, but not I. Let my prose be tenebrous and rebarbative; let my pennyworth of thought be muffled in gorgeous apparel; lovers of Basic English will look to me in vain.

✧ ✧ ✧

MONDAY: I can no longer deceive myself that Autumn is not here, so today I retrieved my hat from the bottom of the hall cupboard, where somebody had stood an umbrella on it, and put it on. This Assumption of the Hat is a symbolic act with me, marking the end of summer. As I trudged to work I saw many men wearing hats which bore unmistakeable signs of long imprisonment in hall cupboards; there is a crippled look about the brim of a long-disused hat which is unmistakeable. The wearers, too, have a self-conscious look, as though they expected people to laugh at them. In the 'twenties the enthusiasm for going without a hat in summer arose, simultaneously with the Decline of the Straw Boater. It was thought to be good for the hair to expose it to the sun, wind, soot, sand, and other elements. Even bald men allowed the sun to beat down upon their poor skulls, hoping that some sort of vegetation might be encouraged thereby. The delusion that going without a hat is good for the hair has long since been abandoned; ordinary common sense shows that it is bad for the hair, making it dirty, dry and frizzled. But the habit persists, and every year, come Michaelmas, we have to learn to wear hats all over again.

✧ ✧ ✧

TUESDAY: Last week I asked if there had ever been a writer called Oliver Goldsmith in Canada, and this morning the answer arrived. To my surprise there was such a person, who was born in Nova Scotia in 1787, a great-nephew of the celebrated Irish writer. And as his great-uncle wrote The Deserted Village, so our Canadian Oliver wrote The Rising Village, in which he celebrated the struggles of Canadian pioneers in opening a new settlement. He was conscious of his ancestry, and addresses the spirit of his great-uncle in these words:

Like thine, Oh, let my verse as gently flow
While truth and virtue in my numbers glow.

It cannot be said that his wish was granted. His poem is a laborious job, and the fact that he was a civil servant is perhaps accountable for the minute detail with which it is packed. Still, there is a special pleasure to be derived from reading third-rate poetry. We do not have to admire it, which is restful, and we are not uneasily conscious that the author may be saying something exceedingly beautiful or penetrating which we are too stupid to understand. The trouble with reading great poetry is that it gives us a sense of inferiority to the poet, which is distasteful.

✧ ✧ ✧

WEDNESDAY: I am as pleased to welcome Autumn as anybody, but this Autumn is altogether too impetuous. She does not gently caress me; she leaps upon me and knocks me down, like a big dog. Tonight Marchbanks Towers was so cold that even I had to admit it, and a fire had to be lit. As I am a niggard of my fuel at this time of year, I set to work upon the fireplace, which has a chimney about the size of a silo, and a down-draught which I had not reckoned with. When the heat begins, thought I, all this air which is rushing down the chimney will turn tail and rush up it, and all will be well. But in spite of the fact that I got First Class Honours in Physics at school, I had not understood the nature of this down-draught, and as soon as I lit my fire it shrieked Whooo! and blew smoke into the room. I did the manly thing, and held a piece of paper over the mouth of the grate, which at once caught fire and singed me. I then waved paper at the grate, attempting to create a counter-draught, but this simply angered the thing, and spread the smoke. By this time the fire was going merrily, but was shooting its flames far into the room and those who dwell with me had begun to remove their treasures to the street. After half an hour, looking like Old Black Joe, I was able to assure them that it was safe to return.

✧ ✧ ✧

THURSDAY: A lady writes to me, unreasonably angry because I said two weeks ago that I dwelt within myself and peeped out at the world. "I know the kind of man you are," she writes; "you are the kind who would agree with the line:

[illegible]
The mind is in its own place, and in itself
Can make a heaven of hell, a hell of heaven.

And do you know who said that"? Yes, my dear madam, I know who said that: it was Satan, in Paradise Lost. And a remarkably intelligent and able fellow he was, too, and quite the best character Milton ever created. . . . Seventeen school teachers and forty-five high school students have written that in my translation of "Ave Crux Spes Unica" I have confused "Spes" with "Res". Quite true, and it is exactly that kind of thing which caused my Latin teachers to die a Roman death by throwing themselves on the points of their fountain pens when I was a schoolboy. "Hail Cross, our Sole Hope" I shall think, appropriately, when next I visit my dentist. If Latin is the official language in Heaven, I'm a gone goose.

✧ ✧ ✧

FRIDAY: Had a nasty encounter with an interior decorator today. Showing me some rough cloth, he kept calling it "freezay", and it was not for a while that I realized, with stupefaction, that he was talking about good old frieze, pronounced as in the folk-saying concerning the ill-fated brass monkey. He also showed me some furniture, and said that some of it was "Louis", and the rest was "Ompeer". I quickly grasped the fact that the latter word was a fancy, frittered-French pronunciation of "Empire", but I wondered what he meant by "Louis"? The French people managed, in their dishevelled history, to have no less than eighteen kings called Louis, and he gave no clue as to which one he meant. I can be patient with many sorts of nonsense, but the nonsense of decorators unseats my reason; they want to use my money to create some sort of uninhabitable hell, filled with furniture upon which I dare not sit, and daubed with colours which scald my eyeballs. They have a way, too, of describing bits of junk as "amusing", and making electric lamps out of old chunks of tree and similar unlikely and essentially nasty materials. Better far the caprices of my own taste than the fashionable foolishness of theirs.

✧ ✧ ✧

SATURDAY: Business called me to Toronto, and this evening I seized the opportunity to see the musical comedy "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes." It was filled with nostalgia for the Twenties, which amazed me, for I never really believed that anyone could wish for a return to that era of the Charleston, the flagpole-sitter, bathtub gin, and women with no bosoms. But apparently there were people who liked the Twenties, probably because they were young then. Youth makes almost anything endurable. . . . Well do I recall the end of that noisy and graceless period; the stock market crashed, fashion decreed that women would wear Eugenie hats, and the skirts on evening dresses fell to the floor, almost overnight. It was the Stock Crash which really sobered people, for although comparatively few lost much money, everybody pretended to be a loser, so that other losers would not try to borrow from them. Poverty became the only admissable and safe financial state. And as always when people are poor, or pretending to be so, they became high-minded, and talked as though the Crash were a mystical visitation, and not simply the colic after ten years of eating green apples.

New Problems of Civil Airports

(WIARTON ECHO)

AIRCRAFT are increasing in more than speed. They are also increasing in size and number. All three factors mean new problems for airports, gigantic problems which cannot be solved by mere expansion of facilities.

Faster planes mean longer runways for decelerating. In the case of jets this is particularly important, for jets cannot reverse their propellors in braking action, as piston-engine craft are able to do.

A British suggestion is that an adaption of naval aircraft carrier technique be used, in which a heavy spring cable, stretched across the runway, hooks the undercarriage and slows the plane. An American suggestion is runways which will lead up an incline toward the central unloading area, with gravity doing the braking action.

The vast growth of airline travel is an increasing airport traffic dilemma. Jet airliners will also accentuate this. At present, piston-engine airliners are "stacked up" at various levels over the airport when landing traffic is heavy, as they wait their turn for landing clearance. Jet craft use such large quantities of fuel that when they arrive at their destination they seldom have enough left for cruising around waiting for clearance. The ear-tingling scream of jets and the blast of their fiery exhausts are separate problems being studied with relation to sound-proofing and fire-proofing airport installations.

There is the growing problem of assuring the safety of the airport community. The three tragedies in Elizabeth, New Jersey, last Winter underlined this paradoxical menace. If a busy airport is too near the centre of a community, the safety of its citizens is endangered. If the airport is too far away, then its usefulness is lessened.

The use of helicopter taxis from the city centres to airports built safely on the city outskirts may solve this final problem to everyone's satisfaction. But the others remain and upon their satisfactory solution depends the future of civil aviation.

Sleuth

(Bennett Cerf in 'Saturday Review')

The smartest bookseller of the year, anonymous by choice, has been discovered by Bill Steven, of The Minneapolis Tribune. This bookseller raises poultry as a sideline, having learned that hens lay eggs even faster than publishers. One of his prize Rhode Island reds, unfortunately, turned out to be a cannibal hen, which ate its own chicks and sometimes a few more beside. To single out a cannibal hen in a large brood is a very difficult task. Sometimes it takes a whole summer of sleuthing. This was not the case with our sagacious bookseller friend, however. He simply segregated the chicks from the hens and fed them all some radioactive corn. Then he let the hens back in. The next day he tested them with Geiger counter. The cannibal hen was revealed in jig-time.

INSULTING

An old sailor sat on his bunk, stripped to the waist. On his chest were tattooed three women. On his back were tattooed more women. On each arm were tattooed even more women. There entered a young fellow, only just called up. He glanced at the old tar and, to the latter's disgust, inquired "Hallo, old man! Been in the Navy long?"

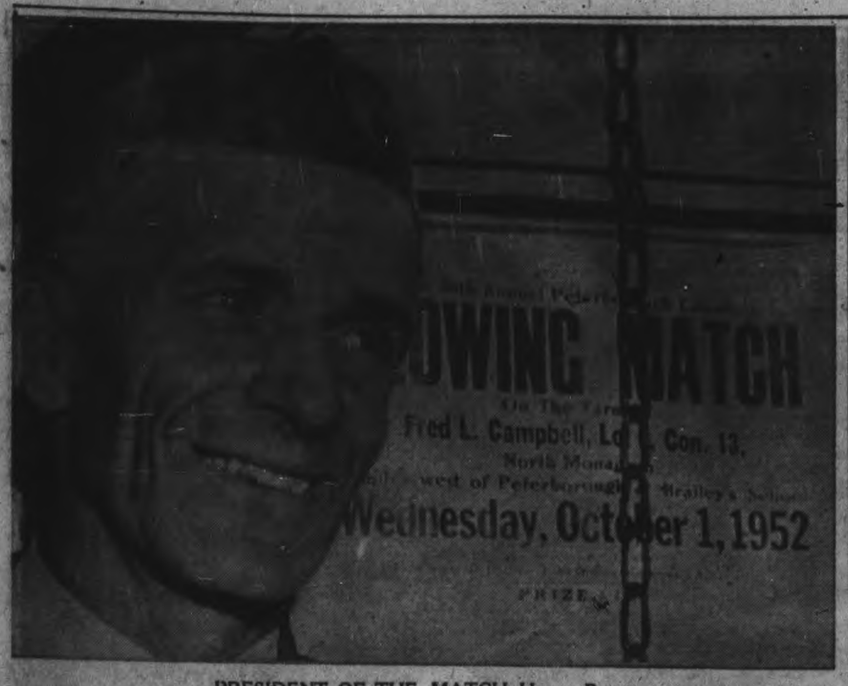
Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Look upon Zion, the city of our solemnities: thine eyes shall see Jerusalem a quiet habitation, a tabernacle that shall not be taken down; not one of the stakes thereof shall ever be removed, neither shall any of the cords thereof be broken. . . For the Lord is our judge, the Lord is our lawgiver, the Lord is our king; he will save us. . .

And the inhabitant shall not say, I am sick: the people that dwell therein shall be forgiven their iniquity. (Isa. 33:20, 22, 24.)

✧ ✧ ✧



After this I beheld, and, lo, a great multitude, which no man could number, of all nations, and kindreds, and people, and tongues, stood before the throne, and before the Lamb, clothed with white robes, and palms in their hands; and cried with a loud voice, saying, Salvation to our God which sitteth upon the throne, and unto the Lamb.

And all the angels stood round about the throne, and about the elders and the four beasts, and fell before the throne on their faces, and worshipped God, saying, Amen: Blessing, and glory, and wisdom, and thanksgiving, and honour, and power, and might, be unto our God for ever and ever. Amen. (Rev. 7:9-12.)

PRESIDENT OF THE MATCH Henry Batten.

Time Carves Straight Furrow

By NICK NICKELS

Ploughing matches are as much part of the Canadian fall scene as scarlet maples, yellow poplars and golden wild grape vines along snake fences. On Wednesday afternoon the 38th annual Peterborough County match took place at Fred Campbell's farm in North Monaghan Township. Twenty-one tractors and four teams of horses raised dust over the light soil.

A marquee tent, rented by ladies of Lily Lake, served homemade food, and a sprinkling of new farm machinery interested strolling groups of farmers. But it was the ploughing that held everyone's attention.

Southern Ontario has enjoyed fall ploughing matches for more than 125 years. East York County was the first area to organize and interest spread quickly. Durham-Northumberland held their first meet more than a century ago and in those days there were a few oxen, but they were on their way out. Today the cycle repeats itself as horse ploughing is rapidly giving way to inquiring youth at the wheels of powerful machines.

"He ploughs a straight furrow," no longer indicates a farmer who keeps his place and methods in order. Contour ploughing, the half-covering of field trash are only two of the new methods being drilled into modern farmers by governmental agricultural representatives. Well ploughed fields with straight furrows and even overlapping sods are not the scientific approach to creating productive land these days, they say. Canadian farmers are gradually being educated that they share the custodianship of the world's food supply and that the scant six inches of topsoil must help feed more than two billion people and that the tillage of the soil is a basic start in the right direction.

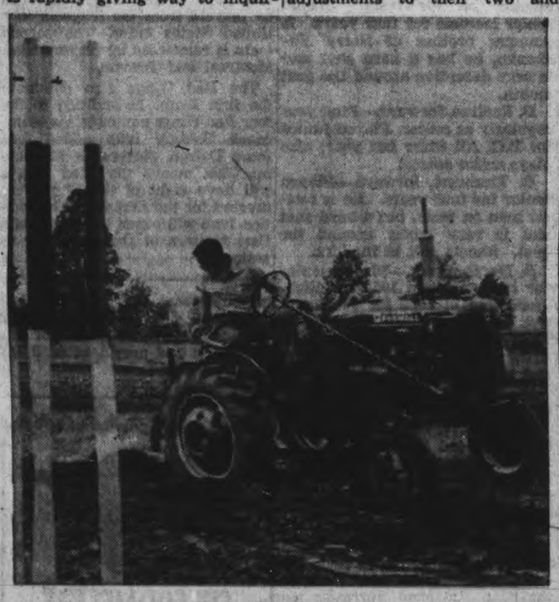
It is common at ploughing matches these days to watch boys and girls of ten and 12 years of age handling tractors and ploughs with ease. In an elementary way they have already learned of the necessary horizontal and vertical adjustments to their two and three-mouldboard ploughs. They have analyzed such expert terms as "torque, draw and side draft" in their own simple terms, but the machine has not immersed them. They are stamped with the competitive spirit which is the key to progressive farming especially alive in Southern Peterborough and bordering counties.

Our forefathers took as readily to the first ploughing matches as they did to logging and barn raising bees. Competition was keen and tinged with many amusing sidelights.

There is a story told of a crack Scottish immigrant ploughman who continually won at competitive matches in Ontario many years ago. He went to any length to maintain his lead, even to importing a special plough from the Old Land; it had characteristics that were new in Canada and which enabled him to keep far ahead of the field. The spirit of fun and inquisitiveness in two young farmers prompted them to make a moulding of his implement by candle light, take it 12 miles to a foundry accomplice and have a replica of the casting made. They used the new parts against the veteran in a match the following day with excellent results, so the story went.

County ploughing matches are but a stepping stone to the great International meets and some Peterborough district men in the past have attained this goal. The Big Affair is being held this year at Carp Airport, Carleton County, on Oct. 7 to 10 inclusive, where experts will compete in some of the 27 entry classes.

International matches have been held in Ontario almost continuously since 1913; the influenza epidemic in 1918 and the Second World War years from 1942 until 1945 were the only cancellations. It has been held in North Monaghan Township in 1931 and 1941. Peterburians are still strongly represented on the executive of the International match; Senator J. J. Duffus is an honorary president and Howard Quinn is 2nd vice-president.



Since this story has its setting in North Monaghan it would have been a perfect ending to say that both of these gentlemen were from that township. Unfortunately, no; they both originally farmed in Otonabee and Douro.

HORSES ARE FADING from the ploughing match scene. On Wednesday at the Peterborough County meet in North Monaghan township, only four teams were present.

Otonabee Needed Special Boat In 1825

When the Hon. Peter Robinson brought his Irish settlers to Peterborough (then Scott's Plains) in 1825, the route from the Lake Ontario front was very different from what it is today. Roads did not exist north of Rice Lake. Here is an excerpt from his account, given in his evidence before the Emigration Committee of the Imperial Parliament (3rd Report, London, 1827):

"On August 11th, 1825, I embarked five hundred on board of a steamboat (at Kingston) and landed them the next day at Cobourg, on Lake Ontario, a distance of one hundred miles; the remainder of the settlers were brought up in the same manner, the boat making a trip each week.

"Our route from Cobourg to Smith, at the head of the Otonabee River, lay through a country as yet thinly inhabited; the road leading from Lake Ontario to Rice Lake, twelve miles, barely passable, and the water much lower than it had been known for many years.

BOATS BY WHEEL

"The first thing I did was to repair the road so that loaded wagons might pass; and in this work I received every assistance from the magistrates of the district, who gave me fifty pounds from the district funds, and this sum, with the labour of our people, enabled me to improve the road so that in ten days our provisions and bagagge could be sent across with care, and three large boats were conveyed on wheel from Lake Ontario to Rice Lake.

"The Otonabee River is navigable for 25 miles, although in many places it is very rapid, and at this season there was not water enough to float a boat of the ordinary construction over some of the shoals.

"To remedy this difficulty, I had a boat built of such dimensions as I thought might best answer to ascend the rapids, and had her completed in eight days. So much depended upon the success of this experiment that I felt great anxiety until the trial was made; and I cannot express the happiness I felt at finding that

Your Garden:

Fall Rains Make Jobs Safe and Sure

By HENRY PREE (NEA)

Fall rains are a blessing to gardeners and nurserymen alike. Now they can move evergreens with a feeling that all is well. Transplant your evergreens now so that they will become well-established before cold weather.

Grapes do not ripen after being picked so be careful and store in a dry place where the temperature is low and constant.

Not all wisteria vines produce bloom. Root pruning at this time of the year is advisable. But do not blame me if no blooms appear next year. Root pruning has been known to work and I merely pass it on for what it is worth.

Lily-of-the-Valley clumps can be divided now and replanted. Only the strongest crowns should be used and set two or three inches apart each way, being buried just below the surface of the soil.

Replant clumps just below surface of the soil, setting them about two or three inches apart.

Grapes should be harvested. The riper they are the better they will keep. Store them in a fairly warm place. Do not forget to dig your potatoes when the vines begin to die down. This is proof that your tubers have matured.

If cabbage heads begin to crack, bend them over to break the root on one side. This checks the growth. Fresh pyrethrum powder applied to cabbage, cauliflower and kale will destroy worms eating into these vegetables.

The vegetable garden soil can be improved if Rosen Rye is sown as soon as crops are picked, and plowed under next spring.

Continue dusting and spraying roses against insects and diseases, suggests the old gardener. Use an all-purpose rose dust or spray containing Fermate. It will control most rose-damaging insects and diseases, including black spot, a fungus which has been troublesome this year. Also continue spraying gladiolus with a 5 per cent DDT dust to combat thrips.

The specialist recommends fertilizing hardy chrysanthemums for the last time. Use a complete fertilizer, scratching about two to three tablespoons of fertilizer into the top inch of soil.

Don't fertilize hybrid tea roses, he cautions. Fertilizer applied now will cause continued growth, which doesn't give the wood a chance to mature. Immature wood is more susceptible to winter injury and often results in setitng plants back.

The old gardener also recommends removing seed pods after all perennials have bloomed. Seed formation works against the plant and it sometimes causes poorer blooms next year.

Gardening Questions

Q.—Should watering of trees, shrubs and flowers be stopped at this time?

A.—Decidedly not; water generously if rains are absent. The trees and shrubs will welcome it, as will the annuals and perennials. Chrysanthemums and roses will give finer autumn blooms if the ground is kept moist.

✧ ✧ ✧

Q.—When should lilacs be transplanted?

A.—Lilacs can be transplanted at any time of the year. Be sure to take a good ball of earth with the roots to protect them from injury and drying out. Plant immediately and water thoroughly.

✧ ✧ ✧

Q.—Kindly let me know if there

A.—There is no spray or dust with lasting qualities to discourage rabbits. The real answer is a 24-inch-high wire fence fastened tightly to the ground.

✧ ✧ ✧

Q.—When should one move a grape vine that has been in one place for about 25 years?

A.—The vine is much too old to move. However, any young canes which may have bent down and rooted may be cut off and set out as a new vine.

Huge Colored Tapestry

When the Cathedral of the City of Coventry, in the English Midlands, which was destroyed by enemy bombing during World War II is replaced by a new structure, a huge colored tapestry designed by one of Britain's most famous artists, Graham Sutherland, will hang behind the High Altar. It will be the biggest ever made, some 62 feet high and 40 feet wide. Making a loom for it will be something of an engineering feat, and it may be necessary to knock two studios into one. The six artist-weavers will have to set up an intercommunications system if they wish to talk to each other while they are at work.

The first step will be the artist's straight painting of the design; this will then be enlarged to scale and the colors copied and sent to the dyers. When all the materials are ready the weavers will begin, working behind the tapestry to a reflection of the weaving in a standing mirror. They start at the foot of the tapestry and work upwards, winding the warps down from a roller as they weave. The warps are stiff woollen fibres knotting together the pattern which is already etched into the wool in Indian ink.

The finished tapestry will weigh about three-quarters of a ton and 1,400 lbs. of Cheviot wool will be used in it.

Ducks cause more darn trouble!

It wouldn't have happened if the Canada Cement Company had not mined for marl clay just east of Lakefield and carved a deep excavation in Douro Township. Its many acres flooded with stagnant water also flooded adjoining farms to the extent that some properties had to be drained. This was done by the Cement Company but taxpayers were charged back for the reclamation of land. Little was gained except to kill stands of tamarack and produce some acres of sour pasture land.

The remaining water acreage—now known as Buckley's Lake—was purchased by the Hon. Harold Scott and Charles Kingan and operated as a private game sanctuary for many years.

Another group of Peterborough sportsmen took over shooting privileges for the payment of taxes in 1951. It was sold again this year to a group called the Stark Syndicate without, the district boys say, getting a chance to bid on it.

The Toronto crowd have great plans for putting Buckley's into maximum wildfowl production, it is learned. They say there is immediate need for larger water acreage for their purposes and rumour has it that they are putting a dam across Sawyer's Creek which drains the lake, after a fashion, from the southeast corner.

Two factions are now up in arms: (1) Douro taxpayers who, having been taxed for land reclamation, can see their lands flooded again. (2) The Peterborough sports because they didn't have a chance to buy in.

If the Stark crowd are actually installing a dam do they not realize that they are violating the Municipal Drainage Act?

Ducks will be reasonably safe at Buckley's until after the fighting factions have fired their last shots, at each other.

Too Good To Miss

All good things come to he who waits, even a chance to visit Gil Watson's Gil-Mar Lodge on Sturgeon Lake. THAT is really a place to rave about and a target for all resort operators in the Kawartha to shoot at. I saw it for the first time the other day but nearly missed it because road direction signs were absolutely nil. At the rate you are filling your house with conventions, Gil, I'm sure strangers would appreciate some direction.

♠ ♠ ♠ ♠

After muddling along on surmises and tips of our own we Canadian newspaper outdoor writers have been hoping earnestly for some word from our Provincial Government to clarify what sort of deal American deer hunters may expect this year of the F-M Disease. Pete McGillen of the Telegram finally took the buck by the horns and wrote Washington direct for clarification. The answer: AMERICAN HUNTERS MAY BRING HOME MOUNTED TROPHY HEADS AND FIFTEEN POUNDS OF COOKED AND BONED MEAT.

Thanks, Pete.

Canadian National Exhibition stage show director Jack Arthur was in town the other day resting from his grand job of staging this year's bang-up production. Naturally, he found solace in fishing, for pickerel, at Buckhorn.

"I always manage to open and close the fishing season in these parts," said Jack. "You've really got something here."

♠ ♠ ♠ ♠

'Lunge fishing for '52 closed on Wednesday night and the usual flurry of big fellows broke into print. I especially warmed to the trophy of wheelchair fisherman Joe Cadigan of Ennismore who runs Frank Laurie's Camp Cleveland tuck shop. He landed a 23½-pounder in the Pigeon Lake marshes on Monday, all alone, too. Other Camp Cleveland windup trophies went to Stanley Bacon of North Tonawands, N.Y., a 21 and 10½; Russell Harp of Akron, a 17½ and a 20; Pennsylvanian Joe Fisher with a 14-pounder and also limit in ducks.

None of these as good as Mrs. Leslie Groombridge's 28½-pound beauty from Gifford's Bay on Chemong Lake, last Sunday; her fish-filled car trunk in front of the Examiner office stopped admirers for two blocks.

♠ ♠ ♠ ♠

Those who like a hardwood fire smouldering in their fireplaces these nippy fall days will have to pay a long price for the glow, the smell of wood smoke and gentle warmth. They will pay $20 for a cord with two cuts in it and though the price seems exhorbitant it works out this way:

If you can find men to cut it up in the bush in the first place they will charge $13 per cord in four-foot lengths. Then comes trucking charges to the dealer—add another $2.50. Sawing into lengths and delivery charges plus the dealer's very small margin of profit brings the wood to an even $20.

You now own the stuff. And anyone who has to split, pile, fetch and carry it will agree heartily with the old saw that "wood warms you twice."

♠ ♠ ♠ ♠

Duck and partridge shooting started in the Southern Zone—Rice Lake and so forth—today. We can expect some decent shooting reports from that section in a week or so, perhaps sooner if the weather turns wintery all of a sudden. Geese are already giving shooters in Trenton something to think about; Sam Curry reports a flock landed on North Victoria St., a week ago today.

Wee Tree Fees

Provincial nursery seedling trees are no longer for free, a bulletin says. Too many people in the past have gummed up a good thing by ordering trees in excessive lots, leaving them about to wither and planting them in non-receptive soils.

As it stands now Scotch pine trees will cost $14 per thousand and and other species, $10. This policy of charging is not new in most European countries, most States of the United States and other Canadian provinces.

Orfuns Beat The Raiders Taking 19-0 Grid Win To Tie For Top Of Group

Orfuns blanked Oshawa Raiders 19-0 before a good-sized crowd in Morrow Park last night to climb into a first-place tie with Cobourg Ghosts in their O.R.F.U. intermediate "A" group standing. It was the third straight victory for Tony Kotowski's crew in four starts this season, and the loss dropped the Raiders deeper into third place, ahead of Kingston. The top two teams at the end of the schedule playoff in home-and-home games, the winner going after the provnicial "A" crown—and a possible trip west—and the losers taking the Ontario "B" trail. Oshawa Raiders were an hour and 10 minutes late in arriving and the shivering fans grew quite impatient at the long delay in starting. Local officials may complain to the Union and see that a fine is levied on the offending club.

It was a good game of football, with the Orfuns making few mistakes, though roughing penalties and illegal interference spoiled several of their marches. The line held well to give the fleet backfielders elbow room on passes and kicks, and time to shake loose for hefty gains. Jack Matthews kicked consistently well, having an edge on Krawek in the hoofing department. The Oshawa line was fairly solid, too, but the backs lacked the variety on plays dished up by Jim Milligan and his crowd. Only in the fourth frame did the Raiders click to any extent on passing, while Orfuns mixed in fine passes at opportune times to roll up the yardage.

GROUND GAINERS

Main ground gainers were Roy Armstrong, Rabbit White, Bus Jensen and Johnny Berry. Bill Huntley contented himself with nursing a sore leg and kicking the converts. Milligan threw some swell passes and generally handled a smart game in the quarter slot. Only a few times did Oshawa drive deep into Peterborough territory, and they failed to click for a point.

Orfuns drove early on plunges by Army and Milligan, and the latter threw a lengthy pass to Don McGillis. Armstrong ran it 20 more to Oshawa 10-yard chalk, but Milligan was thrown then for a loss, and Huntley kicked. Clive Naismith got in fast to rough Al Beaton for a point. Later on an Oshawa march, Ouelette broke through to block Craweck's kick and White bucked 10.

Armstrong reeled around end next quarter for eight but a penalty hurt, and Matthews kicked. Jensen later took the Raiders' kick and White plunged three times to set the ball in scoring position, Army going over for the major. It was not converted. Berry had a 20-yard runback and Jensen plunged to move the sticks. Milligan passed to Jensen, and then Milligan threw a 20-yarder to Jim Wilde for a try, Huntley kicking the convert.

GRABBED A FUMBLE

A local fumble after the half started Oshawa off, but Beatty and Trimm stopped line bucks. Howe pounced on a loose ball, but they later had to boot it. On a return kick, Jerry McGillis ran it back 12, but again penalties interfered. Fitzgerald stopped Smith cold on a runback and Oshawa missed several passes. On the stroll again, Jensen, Army and White ploughed and raced up the field till Milligan got a pass away to Don McGillis for the last major count, Huntley splitting the uprights to convert.

Smith had a nice runback in the fourth for Raiders, and Stukus twice hit Berguson with lengthy passes as they bored in. Loreno's lateral to Hood put them just a few yards out, but they fumbled and lost. Matthews kicked to his 35 and again Oshawa came up fast on forward flips, but they tried one too many and Orfuns took possession. White bucked 18 and Jensen skirted end before a penalty stopped them and they kicked to Oshawa's 13. Stukus pulled the ancient Statue of Liberty play for eight but they lost it again. Berry bucked four and Matthews kicked the final point. Trimm stopped Hood neatly. Orfuns were using 6-3-1-2 defence. Bob Wilde was banged up in a sideline tackle at the finish. Teams:

Oshawa: Harrell, C. Beaton, A. Beaton, Craweck, Lyzun, Berguson, Wotton, Loreno, Stukus, Ford, Smith, Martin, Peeling, Hood, Edwards, Harper, Mollon, Korabeck, Howze, Horne.

Orfuns: R. Wilde, J. Wilde, Beatty, Huntley, Armstrong, Berry, White, Naismith, Russelle, Thompson, DeCarlo, Beavis, Ouelette, Conlin, Fraser, Trimm, Howe, Newark, Milligan, Jensen, McIntyre, Fitzgerald, Bartley, J. McGillis, Groves, D. McGillis, Berthelot, Burns, Matthews, Giardino.

Officials: J. Rowntree, C. Bush and C. Rowntree.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

In the excitement of having the local lacrossers back in Mann Cup finals, we mustn't forget that this is the grid season, too. They do overlap, eh? Anyway, just a mention of three high school football fixtures here today to keep fans posted. At 2.30 this aft in Morrow Park, St. Mike's of Toronto tackle St. Peter's High in the first game of their senior Catholic Conference playoffs—and it should be a neat number. Two tilts this eve in Riverside, Oshawa Central vs. P.C.V.S. juniors at 6.30 in group play, and Jarvis Collegiate of Toronto at 8.30 in a senior exhibition with the Garnet and Grey gridders. Keen action assured in both tussles.

A great many folk in and around Peter's borough are talking lacrosse these days. That spectacular fourth-frame win for the Petes' Timbermen over Toronto Yorks here Thursday to take the eastern series sure got the customers "het up." And also many others who never saw a gutted-stick game but thrilled to the local club's comeback to make the Canadian finals. Playing coach Bobby Thorpe really had his men rolling in the late stages to earn that victory—and Bob was one of the real stars of the contest. Minus Ike Hildebrand, the whole team clicked just when it counted most. Toronto Yorks were worthy foes in that eastern final, and no one will deny that. They extended the Timbermen to the very limit.

Fans Flock To Toronto

Hundreds of local fans hope to take in most if not all of the best-of-seven Mann Cup finals in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens. They play Sunday afternoon at 2.30 and then on Tuesday and Friday nights of next week. That Sunday opener should draw some 7,000 or so lacrosse fans from various parts of the province as the Toronto papers are playing it up. No special from here Sunday, but specials for the rest of the series. Motorists may get game tickets at Dit Clapper's till 3.30 today, and all-expense train tickets there for future frays or at the C.P.R. ticket office. Last year, our crew won in B. C. but this time Peterborough fans have a chance of seeing 'em in the big series in Toronto. It's great advertising for our city.

Some of the club officials are taking in an afternoon meeting today of the Canadian Lacrosse Association. The huddle in Toronto is to clear up rules, etc., of the Mann Cup series, both the Vancouver and Peterborough clubs being represented, as well as C.L.A. officials and referees. At this time, Manager Bob Curtin will see if he can get replacements for Ike Hildebrand and Jerry Fitzgerald. He hopes to get one anyway and two, if possible. We hear unofficially that the club would like to get big Merv McKenzie, Hamilton's star defenceman and always a scoring threat. They're also thinking of the Toronto stars, Weiner Croft, Scotty McPhail and Stu Scott. A couple of these guys would help the Timbermen plenty in the money serial.

Old Familiar Faces

A story in elsewhere shows that Vancouver—calling themselves Pilseners this year, instead of Combines—have much the same squad as the one the Petes took in seven games out west last fall. Big Jim Kinna (who played a season here) is with them again. They'll be tough enough, no doubt. Timbermen, after a couple of days' rest, motor up to Toronto tomorrow morning for the opener. Gord Campbell of the Star gave the local club full credit for earning the victory over Toronto Yorks on Thursday, and the Yorks also called Petes the better club. Bunny Morganson was more reluctant to admit this and dealt at length with the great showing put up by the losers. They did do well, but then the winners must have done better, eh?

Peterborough Orfuns came up with another ace showing here last night to wallop Oshawa Raiders 19-0 for their third straight grid win in four starts. Clicked in all departments to impress a goodly gallery with their football class and hustle. Tony Kotowski's crew had to wait an hour for a late Oshawa outfit, and then rolled through them or passed over them to climb into a first-place tie with Cobourg Ghosts. A rouge by Naismith started 'em off, Armstrong got a major next quarter and Jim Wilde took Milligan's pass for another, converted. A pass to Don McGillis meant another converted try in the third, and Jack Matthews booted the last single. Milligan quartered a smart game back of a strong line. Two former P.C.V.S. players, Bus Jensen and Army Armstrong, are fitting in fine. Orfuns are at Oshawa next Tuesday.

Experts Disagree Whether Berra, Gorman At Fault

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Is Yogi Berra guilty of one of the most colossal blunders in World Series history?

Or was the squat catcher crossed by bespectacled Tom Gorman, the freshman pitcher of New York Yankees?

Who deserved the rap for the "rock" that cost the Yankees yesterday's World Series game?

The issue was still up in the air today as veteran sports writers, players and baseball officials discussed the controversial play that resulted in Brooklyn's 5-3 victory.

Berra, New York's slugging All-Star receiver, joined the exclusive group of World Series "goats" when he failed to chase a passed ball in the ninth inning while two Dodgers dashed home. Those tallies proved to be the winning ones.

"I LOST IT"

Why didn't Berra make an effort to retrieve the ball after it got away from him until it was too late?

"I lost the ball," the catcher mumbled in the silent clubhouse after the game. "I didn't know where it went. I just didn't see it."

Berra accepted the full blame for letting Gorman's pitch get away from him after Peewee Reese and Jackie Robinson had pulled off a double steal.

Manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees doubted, however, that Gorman threw what Berra had called for.

"I think maybe that guy (Gorman) crossed him (Berra) up," said Stengel. "He (Berra) called for a fast ball. Maybe he (Gorman) threw him a curve."

But Berra defended his young pitching mate.

FINGER IN BAD SHAPE

"I called for a fast ball and got it," he declared. "It was my fault that it got away. I knew what was coming."

Berra displayed the index finger of his left hand which was struck by the pitch. It was bleeding profusely. The tip of the finger was split and the nail was torn.

"The pitch hit the tip of the mitt and smashed the finger," Berra said. "There was such sharp pain, for a moment I was stunned. . ."

Gorman, a glum young man, told just about the same story after he finally got around to talking with the waiting reporters.

"He (Berra) asked for a fast ball and that's what I threw," he said. "At least that's what I intended to throw."

Red Sullivan Replaces Bruins' Milt Schmidt

HERSHEY, Pa. (CP) — Milt Schmidt will be missing from the ice when Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League meet Hershey Bears of the American Hockey League tonight.

It will be the third and final exhibition game of the training season between the two teams. Both games ended in tie scores.

Schmidt has been out because of a knee injury. He is expected to be in shape to open against the Canadiens Oct. 12.

Meanwhile, George (Red) Sullivan, of Peterborough, who broke into professional hockey three years ago with the Bears, will fill in for Schmidt. Sullivan spent most of last season as a penalty killer but this season he is being groomed as a handy man.

B.C. Lacrosse Champions Opposing The Petes Reported As Strong Club

VANCOUVER (CP).—The Vancouver Combines — a 17-player squad and four officials — left Friday by T.C.A. for Toronto to meet defending champions, Peterborough Timbermen, in the Mann Cup lacrosse finals.

The Combines were the Western finalist a year ago. Pilsener's sponsor the club.

Led by quiet, well-liked Coach Johnny Cavallin, the Combines won the British Columbia championship by a 4-2 game margin September 25, beating the Vancouver P.N.E. Indians.

The eastbound team is a hard-hitting one and Manager John Dale said: "We'll have a better chance against the East than we had last year. We at least will be playing on a dry floor, not the swimming pool we had to put up with last year."

THE TEAM

Here are the members of the team:

Smith, Kinna, Huddlestone and Whittaker are Combines' Big Four on defence.

Rated by some an all-time great, Smith, a city fireman who also plays first class soccer, is a great two-way player — a big, yet fast scorer.

BIG JIM KKINNA

Huge and rough Kinna, a Vancouver boy, is well known in the east as he played a season in Peterborough.

Huddlestone is tall, effective and a good scorer. He plays senior hockey and played pro for New Westminstear Royals for two seasons.

Whittaker is something of an all-round athlete. A first class soccer player, he went to Britain as a well-paid pro for Notts County, playing centre-forward. He now plays for Senior North Shore soccer squad and is a tough defensive lacrosse player.

Goalie Jack Green, though a handsome young man who puts a gleam into the eye of female lacrosse fans, is one of the best goalies on the coast.

Forward stars include Ticehurst, who is perhaps the fastest man on the club and a terrific scorer, and the Buchanan brothers, who are not too tall, but are lacrosse veterans and great scorers. Husky Dave Redline is an awkwardly effective rookie. He, too, is a soccer star.

The officials include: George Grey, secretary; Carl Grauer, president, and Louie Moro, trainer.

BIG JIM BACK.—Husky Jim Kinna, who played for the Petes' lacrossers several years ago, as a B.C. import, will be back in action with the local Timbermen tomorrow in Toronto. But this time he will be opposing the Petes, playing defence for the Vancouver Combines when the Mann Cup finals open in Toronto on Sunday.

SOME SPARE

Maurice Woods, spare goalie.—Played junior for B.C. All Stars against the East in 1950 and 1951. This is his first year with a senior club.

Jack Green, goalie.—has been amongst the top goalies in the league since he moved up from junior ranks to Richmond Seniors in 1948. He was top goalie.

Gogi Stewart, rover. — Has played with the club for three years, was a thorn in the side of Peterborough in 1951 until his jaw was broken, sidelining him for the balance of the series. A topnotch soccer player in Canada.

E. Hanson, forward. — Played senior five years, two years for Vancouver and three years for Richmond. He is a good man on loose balls and has a deceptive shot.

B. Byford, defense. — Has played senior for six years for Burrard's and Vancouver. A very good checker and playmaker; he also plays senior soccer in Vancouver.

K. Webb, forward and centre.—Played senior lacrosse for eight years with Navy, Richmond and Vancouver. He's a hustling type of lacrosse player and one of the most consistent on the team.

J. Anderson, defense. — Played senior for nine years with Burrard's and Pilsener's; is one of the best playmakers in the league and is one team captain. He won the most valuable player award in senior for three years, one with Peterborough and two with Vancouver. The biggest man on team, 6 ft. 4 ins.

J. Swanson, defense. — Played senior for four years with Vancouver in Burrard. Has a hard shot and is a good checker.

E. Smith, centre.—Played senior for 11 years with Pilsener's and Burrard's. Won the intercity League trophy for most valuable player in the playoffs, this year, on the coast.

R. Leatherbarrow, utility. — Is also one of the team captains. Played senior for 12 years with Salmon-Bellies, Richmond, Indiana, Burrard's and Pilsener's. A good utility man and can play any position on the floor.

F. Whittaker, defense.—Played senior for seven years. Stayed out of lacrosse in 1951 and came back this year for Pilsener's as one of the best defense men in the league. Also plays senior soccer.

H. Buchanan, centre. — Played senior for nine years with Burrard's and Pilsener's; is one of the best playmakers in the league and is one team captain. He won the most valuable player award in 1950.

E. Buchanan, rover—Best stickhandler on the team. Played senior lacrosse for four years. A younger brother of Harry Buchanan, he has a hard shot and is very deceptive around the goal mouth.

D. Redline, forward.—First year regularly as senior. Played junior for B.C. All Stars last year; also plays senior soccer.

B. Ticehurst, forward.—Played senior for four years. He is fastest man on team, has a hard shot and is very tricky around the goal. Shoots golf in the 70's.

B. Marsh, rover.—Played senior for two years, in 1950 for Richmond and in 1952 for Pilsener's, was on B.C. Junior All Stars in 1951, had tryout for St. Louis Browns' baseball team last year and is a very good athlete.

Coach, J. Cavallin. — Played against St. Catharines in 1940 at Toronto. Played 12 years for Richmond and Burrard's; played for Salmon-Bellies in 1944 in the Eastern final and coached club for past four years.

THE OFFICERS

Manager, J. Dale. — Played against St. Catharines in 1940, for Salmon-Bellies in 1944 against the East. Coached Burrard's for five years and was one of the outstanding lacrosse players on the coast for years.

Secretary-Treasurer, G. Gray.—Has been with the club, Burrard's and Pilsener's for 15 years; four years as secretary - treasurer. Manages to play a few games each year if team is short-handed due to injury and this year has been no exception; played in mid-season when the team was hit by the 'flu. May even see action in this series if injuries lay off too many players.

President, C. Grauer.—Played with Old Richmond and St. Helen's team for years in late 1930s and early 1940s. Has been president for two years of the Pilsener's and president of Richmond prior to this.

E. Sakich, utility. — Played senior three years with Richmond and Pilsener's One of the promising young players who will probably be a future star of the team.

D. Huddleston, forward. — Played senior for five years with Indiana and Pilsener's. Is one of

Wing Players Dominate All-Star Game

DETROIT (AP)—It's virtually a case of Detroit Red Wings versus the field in the sixth annual National Hockey League All-Star game at Olympia Stadium tomorrow.

The "dream game" of hockey will be played in Detroit for the second time. The game itself is a charity contest, the bulk of the receipts being turned over to the N.H.L. pension society.

Selection of the teams is on the same basis as established last year. The first team is chosen by a press and radio panel and reinforced by players from the league's four United States cities. The second team is reinforced by players from Montreal and Toronto.

The Red Wings also dominate the first team. In addition to the four Red Wings named to the team, coach Tommy Ivan added four more Detroit players to his lineup. This means the Red Wings will have eight of the 17 players dressed for the first team. In addition Ivan will coach the team, with Carl Mattson of Detroit acting as trainer.

Dodgers Holding 2-1 Series Lead Trip Yankees 5-3

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—It appears to be unsafe to write the Dodgers out of this World Series. Charlie Dressen's gang has bounce.

Going into today's fourth game at Yankee Stadium holding a 2-1 lead and with their magnificent rookie, Joe Black, ready to give it another whirl, the National Leaguers were back in the driver's seat, fully recovered from the trouncing the Yankees gave them in the second game.

Serious doubts were expressed that the Dodgers would heal in time to get back into the playoff. They answered that one in full as they slugged easy Ed Lopat from the hill in yesterday's 5-3 comeback. Again they looked to be a great ball club in every respect, and it was the Bombers' turn to look a good deal less than terrific.

Peewee Reese showed the throng of more than 66,000 why the National League considers him to be as brilliant a shortstop as there is in the business. The old geezer, Elwin (Preacher) Roe, showed them pitching class in the pinches which they will remember.

MAGNIFICENT GAMBLE

In throwing Black back at Casey Stengel's crew, instead of saving him for relief duty the rest of the way as he had originally planned, Dressen again proves that he has the heart of a born gambler.

But he was taking a shrewd gamble. Should the big Negro beat Allie Reynolds again and make it 3-1 in victories the Dodgers would become overwhelming favorites to win their first world championship.

Stengel has no choice but to hand the ball to Reynolds, his only 20-game winner, and hope that the Chief has a better game in his system than he had in losing the opener. Reynolds in his best form is a hard man to shave Casey would have held him back another day and probably have used Johnny Sain today if Lopat had won, but he can't afford to monkey around with second-line pitchers at this stage.

In fact, the Yankees know now that they have a good ball team out there against them, and it would be less than surprising if some of their customary confidence was missing after yesterday's depressing experiences. It is not often that the Yankees get licked on a passed ball. Usually they count on such things happening to the other club.

BERRA INJURED

Not only did the low pitch which got through Yogi Berra let in the two deciding runs in the top of the ninth, but it bunged Yogi up to where he is certain to be much less than his usually effective self for the balance of the Series, if, indeed, he is able to play at all.

For some reason known only to himself, the Yank backstop always catches with the index finger of his left hand sticking out of the glove. That was the digit which got split on the play, and he was wearing a bulky bandage on it last night. He said it was hurting terribly.

There was considerable argument whether Yogi should have been charged with a passed ball. Many observers, including this one, thought that young Tom Gorman, who had just relieved Lopat, cut loose a wild pitch, but the official scorers saw it otherwise.

Whichever it was, Berra appeared to be a fellow playing blind man's buff as he searched the premises for the pellet while Reese and Jackie Robinson came tearing across the plate. Of course Andy Pafko followed up with a single to right field which would have scored them anyhow, but no one will ever know whether he would have made the hit if the wild goings-on had not unsettled Gorman.

TREMENDOUS GAME

Reese played a tremendous game He sparked the Dodger offence with three hits, one of them a perfect bunt which set up his team's first run in the third. He changed the entire trend of the contest in the fourth when he went far to his left to snag Phil Rizzuto's grounder and toss to Robinson for a forceout at second. If that one had gone through, the Yankees would have scored at least two runs and Roe might well have been on the losing side.

ROE SHOWS CLASS

Roe, we thought, gave his finest performance in the next inning, when, after two were out, Gene Woodling and Berra cracked successive singles. That brought up dangerous Hank Bauer, and Roe's first three pitches to him were balls. It was a ticklish situation, as the veteran lefthander had only a 2-1 lead at the time. His next seven pitches were strikes and Bauer fouled four of them off before he finally bounced out to second.

Lopat's failure to puzzle the National Leaguers only served to prove once again that they eat up southpaws. They murdered them all season, and one may feel certain that Stengel will not show them another in the Series. Reese and Robinson, in particular, were able to hit Lopat's soft stuff with amazing precision to whatever point they picked out.

Rochester Trips Kansas 8-4, Ties Up Series

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Right-hander Jack Crimian's brilliant relief pitching for the second straight night helped Rochester Red Wings to an 8-4 victory over Kansas City Blues here last night to tie the Little World Series at three games apiece. Temperatures in the 5° kept the crowd down to only 3,093.

Crimian, who hurled four innings of no-hit, no-run relief Thursday night as the Wings beat the Blues, came on in the eighth with a 6-4 lead, nobody out and a runner on second base.

Crimian retired the side in order and then repeated in the ninth.

CAMPANELLA SPECIAL — Yankee runner Hank Bauer slides to an out at second base an eyelash after Brooklyn catcher Roy Campanella threw to Dodger second-baseman Jackie Robinson (right centre). Minutes later in the same inning of the World Series second game, Campanella retired the Yankees' Phil Rizzuto at the same base. Umpire Al McKinley (right) signals the out. Dodgers came back to win the third game 5-3.

Base Running Gives Brooks Third Game

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP)—The lean coon-hunter from Ash Flat, Ark., ate high on the hog yesterday.

"But I'm sure glad I didn't have to face Yogi Berra another time around," Elwin (Preacher) Roe said in the Brooklyn dressing room, gently massaging the whip-like left arm which for the second time in a World Series had tamed the mighty Yankees.

This time it was 5-3 on six hits and three of those hits were a home run, double and single off the bat of the Yanks' squat catcher, Yogi Berra.

BETTER IN '49

Roe said he hadn't the stuff he showed in 1949 when he beat the Yankees' Vic Raschi 1-0 in the second game of that series.

"I couldn't do anything with my curve, so I had to use my slider," he said. 'My curve would break six inches one time, six feet another. But my slider was working okay. I used it more than anything else."

A few feet away, also the centre of exploding flash bulbs and fast-scribbling pencils, the Dodgers' restless little manager, Charley Dressen, paid tribute to Roe's clutch pitching and Brooklyn's daring base running.

BASE RUNNING WON

"Roe was wilder than usual but was good in the tight spots," said Dressen. "Base running won for us today."

What proved to be the two winning runs came in the top of the ninth after successive singles by Peewee Reese and Jackie Robinson.

Reese and Robinson pulled a double steal to take third and second, respectively, then scored when Berra let one of Tom Gorman's pitches get away from him.

"Reese signalled me from second that he wanted to make the move," Dressen said. "I signalled him to go ahead. Reese made the break and Robinson followed."

PLAY SAVES GAME

"That fine play of Peewee's in the third inning may have saved the game for us," said Dressen.

Roe had loaded the bases with two out when Phil Rizzuto hit a sharp blast through the centre of the infield. Reese made a spectacular glove-hand stab of the ball, which was labelled a hit, and tossed to second for the force-out, ending the inning.

THE BIG INNING STARTS—Into the warmth of congratulations, Yankee hitter Billy Martin trots across home plate in the Yanks' big sixth inning. Martin's 3-run homer scored Joe Collins (41) and Gil McDougald (12) ahead of him. Dodger catcher Roy Campanella (left) looks on in disapproval as his team went down to 7-1 defeat in the second game of the 1952 World Series. That's umpire Art Passarella in front of the plate. Brooklyn went ahead again in the series Friday with a 5-3 win.

Yogi Berra Takes Blame For Losing Series Game

By TED SMITS

NEW YORK (AP)—Yogi Berra took the blame on himself yesterday in the tense, gloomy Yankee dressing room for the pitch that escaped him in the ninth inning and allowed two potent Dodger runs to score in the third World Series game.

"I did it myself, it's my fault," said Berra.

Manager Casey Stengel had suggested that pitcher Tom Gorman might have thrown a pitch Berra was not expecting, but the stocky Yankee catcher refused to pass the buck.

The pitch hit the forefinger of Berra's left hand and scooted off towards the Dodger dugout. It was first ruled a wild pitch and then was called a passed ball.

FINGER HURT

Berra catches with the forefinger of his left hand outside the glove—a freak habit. The finger was badly swollen and bled at the fingernail.

Peewee Reese and Jackie Robinson, who had just pulled a double steal to advance to third and second, scored while Berra, confused by the pain, stood stock still.

The mishap took away any pleasure Berra might have had in hitting his third Series homer—a bases-empty blast in the eighth.

It was a tough day for the Yankee slugger. In the eighth he dropped Duke Snider's high foul just back of the plate.

"They outplayed us," Stengel said. "In the long run they played the best game. They won it themselves."

YANKS PUZZLED

The Yankees were not only depressed. They were puzzled. Preacher Roe didn't look like the greatest thing ever on the mound, but he was in command.

"What did he have?" Mickey Mantle was asked.

"Dunno," said the young Yankee slugger who went hitless after making five safeties in the first two games. "Dunno, but he sure must have had something."

More Britons Get Opportunity To Ski

LONDON (CP)—British skiers will have additional opportunity to learn the sport, says the ski club of Great Britain.

Many Britons go to Norway to ski. This year skiing after dark on Norwegian slopes, especially floodlit, will be an enticement to visitors from the United Kingdom.

The expeditions to Scandinavia will begin in January, 1953 and continue to April. Hundreds of young people, who have never been on skis, have applied for membership in the new training groups.

The expeditions are only open to applicants who have had no previous experience on skis. It is limited to women between the ages of 18 and 35 years and 18 to 40 years for men.

No Predictions From Black Hawks Biggest Aim To Get Out Of Cellar

By BRITT JESSUP

PEMBROKE — (CP) — Each year about this time Chicago Black Hawks break up training camp with the old familiar theme: "We're going to make the playoffs this year.". And each season since 1945-46 the National Hockey League club has been a woeful last, or next to it.

Now, the Hawks are taking the attitude that things should be done in order. This year it's "let's get out of the cellar."

NO PREDICTIONS

"I'm not predicting a thing," says newly-appointed Coach Sid Abel. "All I can say is we'll be trying to get out of the cellar and into the playoffs."

The Hawks have gone through five coaches since evil days hit the club in 1946 and Abel, who built himself an all-star reputation with Detroit Red Wings as a centre ice man, took up the Chicago offer as a challenge last spring.

The 33-year-old former Red Wing probably will be the league's only playing coach. "I plan to go in wherever and whenever I think I can help the club," he said.

Abel may be needed much sooner than he thinks. The Hawks open the schedule at Montreal against Canadiens Oct. 9 and from pre-season indications Dick Irvin's club should be up there from the opening face-off.

BIG SHAKEUP

The Hawks go into this season with a shakeup from top to bottom.

Taking over as proprietors were Arthur M. Wirtz, president of Chicago Stadium; his business associates, James D. Norris, and Norris' younger brother, Bruce. The Norris' gave up their interest in Detroit Red Wings—to their dad—to make the Hawks deal.

TRADE WINDS

The day the new ownership was announced trade winds started to blow.

Harry Lumley, after two seasons as goalkeeper, went to Toronto Maple Leafs in a four-for-one trade. Hawks got defenceman Gus Mortson, centre Cal Gardner, goalkeeper Al Rollins and forward Ray Hannigan.

Hawks also picked up defenceman Ed Kryzanowski and forwards Fred Glover and Mim Enio. They brought up Pete Conacher, son of Charlie, from their junior A farm at Galt, Ont.

Abel, for defencemen, will pair off Mortson and Al Dewsbury, captain Bill Gadsby, and Clare Raglan, and Lee Fogolin and Kryzanowski.

Gardner was put between Bill Mosienko on right wing and George Gee on left. Gus Bodnar, a Chicago veteran, will pivot Glover and Conacher.

Jim McFadden will centre Gerry (Doc) Couture and Pete Babando.

Fred Hucul and Jim Peters likely will fit into utility roles.

TO STUDY FIGHT CLAIM

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP)—The late Eddie Connolly of Saint John, one of the greatest boxers ever turned out in the Maritime provinces, fought Matty Matthews June 5, 1900, at New York in a bout that at the time was accepted generally as for the welterweight championship of the world.

Connolly won the bout, but it never was incorporated in the records. The welterweight division was in the confused state at that time and title changes were often.

Now, more than half a century later, recognition may come to Connolly.

Nat Fleischer of New York, an authority on ring records, has informed G.K. Garnett, secretary-treasurer of the Saint John Boxing and Wrestling Commission, that he will look into the Connolly claim, and the bout may be entered in the records as a world championship affair.

Connolly's claim to the world title has been debated for 52 years. It was revived by Garnett at the recent sessions of the National Boxing Association at Montreal.

Three league fixtures are scheduled for today.

The referees ask $12 for referees and $5 a game for linesmen at Vancouver, and $10 and $4 at New Westminster and North Vancouver.

Broke Two Posts Left, Fined

LINDSAY (ENS).—A careless driving charge against a 20-year-old Lindsay youth, Donald Quibell, was dismissed in Lindsay police court by Magistrate Gee, but he was convicted of failing to report an accident, and fined $10 and costs on the charge.

Quibell's car was damaged last month, when he pulled off the side of Highway 35 in Lutterworth township, Haliburton County, early one morning. He sheared off two guide posts by the side of the road while doing it.

Counsel for the accused, H. E. Richardson, contended that the rain and fog at the time had been responsible for the accident, and that an error in judgment, not carelessness, had been the cause of the accident. Crown counsel Lorne Jordan contended that the accused must have been travelling at an excessive speed to cause the accident.

Magistrate Gee ruled that the accused had given a reasonable explanation for his driving at the time of the accident, but ruled out counsel's suggestion that the bill presented for the damage was too high, making the accident not liable to report by the driver. A minden garage estimated the damage to the car at $78, but a Lindsay garageman corrected this, by the use of figures for used parts to $35 including labor.

Defence argued that the magistrate was making it mandatory, in convicting Quibell of the charge, for anyone involved in an accident, to use new parts in estimating the damage.

An earlier motion for dismissal, on the grounds that the warrants and summonses had been filled out in the name of the late King, was rejected by Magistrate Gee since he contended that the accused had waived his rights to this protest by appearing in court.

Democratic Farm Record Praised By Stevenson

FORT DODGE, Iowa (AP) — Governor Adlai E. Stevenson stacked the Democratic farm record today alongside what he said is a Republican "record of obstruction" and told American farmers:

"You'd better be careful what you do on election day."

The Democratic presidential nominee laid down no new Democratic promises to the people who till the land.

ATTACKS EISENHOWER

Instead, Stevenson cracked down on the Republican farm record and his Republican rival, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

"I don't believe," he said in his prepared text, "America will entrust its future to the masters of a house divided against itself on foreign policy, on domestic policy and perhaps most of all on farm policy."

He said in effect that the Republican party has no farm policy of its own — only a copy of the Democratic platform.

Fort Dodge was a mid-day speaking stop between major campaign addresses last night at Columbus, Ohio, and tonight at St. Paul, Minn.

Stevenson spent yesterday on his first campaign swing into Ohio. He devoted the day to ripping into Republican Senator Robert A. Taft on Taft's home grounds, jabbing at Eisenhower as embracing Taft and "Old Guard" isolationists.

AUDIENCES SMALLER

The crowds were considerably smaller than those which welcomed Eisenhower two weeks ago.

That was the case both in Cincinnati, Taft's home town, and in Columbus, where Taft and Stevenson were speaking almost simultaneously in halls a quarter-mile apart.

Taft said election of Stevenson would mean "a continuation of the wavering, unstable, pro-Communist philosophy that has almost brought this country to destruction."

Stevenson said Taft is "the uncrowned boss of the Republican party"—a throw-back to his contention that Eisenhower now has surrendered to the policies of the man he beat out for the G. O. P. nomination.

Stevenson urged expansion of the Social Security System—something Eisenhower also has recommended—to cover more workers, increased benefits as living costs go up, more federal aid for education.

Atomic Bomb Test Site Has Colorful History

BROOME, Australia (Reuters)—The bleak Monte Bello Islands off Australia's northwest coast—scene of Britain's first atomic tests soon—claim a history of romantic, swash-buckling days as a headquarters for pearlers.

Monte Bello's only living historian, silver-haired Daniel McDaniel who spent two of his 73 years as a master pearlier on the southernmost Hermite Island, remembers the days when the islands were under lease to Capt. Thomas Haynes, who formed a company to cultivate mother-of-pearl shell in Hermite Lagoon. McDaniel took over the pearly farm when Haynes was discouraged by the cyclones, storms, tidal waves and frequent droughts.

SET UP FARM

Haynes and a shipmate, Edward Cokayne Chippindall, sailed from Singapore in the schooner Sree Pas-Sair about 1885, and collected a cargo of mother of pearl shell and pearls from Hermite Lagoon.

Haynes set up his pearl farm by damming the lagoon and importing shell oysters from other grounds to interbreed.

McDaniel himself was later wiped out of the business by a sudden hurricane. He moved to Broome, where he still runs a fleet of fishing luggers.

Despite the climate and violent weather, McDaniel claims the island has all the virtues of a holiday resort centre, suitable for deep-sea fishermen.

Observers here say the Hermite Lagoon is the likely target for the weapon British scientists intend to explode, probably this month. Hermite, as the largest of the three main islands, would offer the best point for later observation.

Airmen's Kiddies Act At Home In U.K. Village

By JACK GOLDING

NORTH LUFFENHAM, England (CP)—Children of Canadian airmen stationed here with the R.C.A.F.'s No. 1 fighter wing carry on in the lush Rutland countryside, with its quiet little villages, just as they might in cities such as Saint John, Toronto or Winnipeg.

There is a school for all the local children housed in a former barracks. Of the 135 there are some 90 Canadians between the ages of 4 and 14. The youngsters wear tartan shirts and "jeans," ride bikes and carry on much as they would in Canada.

The Canadian "married patch" has 79 brick duplexes, 17 temporary married quarters buildings and about 75 trailers. The cost of living is reasonable in these circumstances, most of the wives agree. Facilities for washing and playing in inclement weather are provided for the trailer dwellers.

RURAL HAMLET

The village from which the fighter station gets its name is North Luffenham. This rural hamlet, set in rolling hills, has a population of about 450. Most of them either farm or work for the R.C.A.F.

Much of the village is walled with six-foot stone enclosures. The parish church dates back to Norman times.

"The Fox and Hounds," one of two pubs, sports a ghost. The story goes that the pub was once a bakery and that the baker, in a moment of annoyance, stuffed his girl friend in an oven. Her white footprints appear now and then but some locals say the cause is not so much spiritual as chemical—a reaction of atmospheric conditions on the stone floor.

Another village on the air base fringe is Edith Weston. It has about 35 inhabitants and three shops. Airmen and their wives often go to the "Wheatsheaf Inn," renamed by Canadians "Smoky Joe's." Some of the grey limestone cottages in this village, occupied by Canadians, now have television aerials pushing up through thatched roofs.

NAMED FOR QUEEN

The little community gets its name from Editha, wife of Edward the Confessor. It was the western part of estates given her by Edward, founder of Westminster Abbey in the 13th century.

The "big" town near Canada's air base is Stamford. It lies about 95 miles north of London and about seven from the fighter wing. It is a sample of Old World English charm with its quiet river, 13th-century churches and crooked little streets. The Romans used the place as a stopping-off point en route North.

Time For Change Dominant Theme Of Republican Party

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

New York (CP)—The issues in the United States general election have tightened into solid patterns.

"It's time for a change" is the dominant theme of the Republicans and Democratic candidate Adlai Stevenson has acknowledged that this argument is "one of my biggest hazards." The Democrats' answer to the "change" theme is that their party alone is the party able to bring about constructive change.

The Republicans say they want a change in almost all the big issues—foreign policy, corruption in government, labor legislation, farm price supports and the Communists-in-government problem.

MATTER OF HANDLING

The foreign issue seems to boil down to which candidate could best handle conduct of policy now being followed. The Democrats, however, say that the right wing of the Republican party will control Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and hold down foreign aid and cut defence expenditures as well as taking unnecessary risks of war with Russia.

Republican candidate Eisenhower accuses the Democratic administration of "stupid bungling" which "trapped" the U. S. into the Korean war. Stevenson says the Korean war could be the turning point in world collective security.

The Republicans hit at President Truman's "containment of Russia" policy as passive—an attack which aroused fears among some quarters in Western Europe and elsewhere. The Democrats have pointed up those fears, arguing that the attack indicates a possible recklessness in provoking Russia.

BLASTS CORRUPTION

Eisenhower has received some of his biggest applause in all-out slams at "the mess in Washington," his most-repeated phrase used in connection with charges of corruption in the Democratic administration. This is where a "change" is called for strongly by the Republicans. Stevenson notes that in his governorship of Illinois he swung the ax unmercifully on Democrats and Republicans alike found guilty of corruption—which he calls "treason."

The Taft-Hartley labor law—the core of the labor issue—is the one point where the Democrats seem to want more "change" than the Republicans. The Democrats call for repeal of this law—which most of labor considers restrictive—and writing of a new law. The Republican platform wants it retained with some changes which "experience might have called for."

The core of the farm issue is price supports. The government now gives the farmer a loan on his crop based on parity—which represents a price that will give the farmer a fair return in relation to the things he has to buy.

NOT FAR APART

At present crops are supported at 90 per cent of parity and Stevenson, as well as Eisenhower, backs that figure. The Republican platform "aims" at a program that will bring "full parity of prices." Stevenson tries to cast doubt on use of the word "aim" instead of a definite stand in the Republican platform.

"McCarthyism" has become synonymous with the Communists-in-government issue. Stevenson assails Eisenhower's support of Senators Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin and William Jenner of Indiana who are in the forefront of charges that the government is riddled with Communists. Jenner has called Gen. George Marshall, former Defence Secretary and State Secretary—a friend of Eisenhower's—a "living lie" and "front man for traitors."

Eisenhower, without mentioning names, says he would not support "any thing that looks to me like unjust damaging of reputation." Stevenson said the attack on Marshall "is the type of patriotism which is. . . the last refuge of scoundrels." This month McCarthy won an overwhelming victory in the Republican nomination for senator in Wisconsin against an opponent who made an attack on "McCarthyism" his chief issue.

Replacing Linoleum Worn By High Spots In Floor

As your house has aged, floorboards under kitchen and bathroom linoleum have perhaps contracted or become cupped. This has caused linoleum to wear at high spots, or to bulge, so you want to replace it.

This job can be done without the aid of an expert. Yes, you'll make mistakes, and for this reason it is best to start with a smaller room in replacing old, or laying new, linoleum. You will profit by your mistakes and be ready for the major room.

First, of course, remove all the old material. Then go over the floor with a nail-set, setting any projecting nails below the surface.

By laying straightedge at right angles to the floorboards, you can quickly spot irregularities that should be planed and sanded smooth. A rented sander will be well worth the expense. Clean floor and let it dry thoroughly.

Tools you will need to fit and paste linoleum are an adhesive spreader (you can make one from a plasterer's trowel by filing notches an eighth of an inch apart on two edges with a three-cornered file), a scriber, a linoleum knife and a six-foot straightedge.

If you purchase felt-backed linoleum it will not be absolutely necessary, although it will help, to use a lining felt between floor and covering. If you buy burlap-backed linoleum, lining felt is a must.

Remove quarter-round trim from baseboard. Lay felt at right angles to floorboards and trim to fit. Butt felt joints, don't lap them.

Spread adhesive ahead as you roll lining felt into place, being sure to miss no spots. To remove air pockets and firmly set the felt, roll it with a length of heavy pipe or kitchen rolling pin from center to edges.

Cut linoleum at least four inches longer than required to reach wall to wall. With ends curling over baseboard, place side edge of linoleum about an inch from the wall and scribe a line the full length on the strip. Cut on line with linoleum knife

This is not necessary if linoleum meets wall nearly flush without cutting. Quarter-round trim at baseboard will cover any gap less than width of trim.

Now, with cut edge against wall, draw a chalk mark on linoleum and on lining felt at same point. Then move one end of linoleum to butt against baseboard. The distance now separating the two chalk marks corresponds to the amount of linoleum to be trimmed off the end. Set the scriber to that distance, then scribe and cut the end.

Do the same at the other end of the strip, first marking with chalk, and paste the entire length down in the same manner used on lining felt. Repeat procedure on succeeding [illegible]

Butt all seams tightly, and smooth them down. Allow four days for drying, keeping room at 70 degrees.

If you wish to use border strips, it is a simple matter to scribe and cut linoleum to fit borders just as you did to fit it to the walls.

The scriber can also be used to mark linoleum for fitting around pipes and other obstructions.

A FEW SIMPLE tools are all that you need for that linoleum-laying job. A scriber, spreader, straight-edge and linoleum knife will fill the bill.

Gibbs Publishes Book On Journalists

LONDON (CP)—Sir Philip Gibbs, who was knighted as a reporter in the First World War, has published a book "The Journalist's London" (Wingate) about newspapers and their proprietors.

He traces the history of newspapers back to the earliest broadsheets and tells how taxation suffocated the small papers financially and raised the prices of more substantial publications.

Sir Philip, who worked on the Daily Express, has some colorful comment on Lord Beaverbrook, Canadian-born publisher of the Express.

The author refers to Beaverbrook as "a gnome-like little man with terrific energy and dynamic ideas."

Of Beaverbrook's work as wartime Minister of Aircraft Production, Sir Philip says he was "a terror on the telephone. . .a totalitarian dictator to his staff."

Speaking of Beaverbrook's desire for peace, Sir Philip writes: "It is still a pity that Lord Beaverbrook's optimism and his hatred of war's insanity could not prevail over Adolf Hitler."

DECORATE CANADIAN —Cpl. A. C. Springate, of Montreal, receives the Netherlands Bronze Cross from Lieut.-Col. C. J. M. Nass, military air attache for the Netherlands, at a recent ceremony in London. The award was for Cpl. Springate's contribution to Dutch underground activities in 1944-45. A wireless air gunner, Cpl. Springate joined the underground when his Halifax bomber was shot down on a glider-towing mission over Holland. He worked for seven months in the underground radio communications. He now is with the R.C.A.F.'s Fighter Wing Headquarters at North Luffenham.

RCAF Corporal Decorated

LONDON (CP)—Cpl. Alfred Springate of Montreal recently received a decoration from The Netherlands government for services performed eight years ago.

Springate, now stationed at North Luffenham, Rutland, with the R.C.A.F.'s No. 1 fighter wing, went to The Netherlands embassy in London to receive the Dutch Bronze Cross at a private investiture.

The decoration was in recognition of Springate's services with the Dutch underground in 1944-45. A wartime wireless air gunner with the R.A.F. Springate was shot down near the Zuider Zee on a glider-towing operation.

Escaping from the Germans, he joined the Dutch underground and aided in wireless transmission. Details of his services became known only recently, causing the belated award.

Springate, born in India, joined the R.C.A.F. in 1948.

CROWNING GLORY — Crowns intended as decorations during Queen Elizabeth's coronation ceremonies in June, 1953, are given a brightening up by Joan Bellis. The crowns are made in a factory in London's Old Kent Road section that has catered to six coronations so far, with Elizabeth's making the seventh.

Charges Four Men Abduct Candidate

MONTREAL (CP)—Ben Ash, independent candidate in the federal by-election in Outremont-St. Jean riding Oct. 6, said last night he was kidnapped by four men who drove him around the city for three hours and released him clad only in his undergarments. He said he did not know the four men.

Mr. Ash told police he had received a number of telephone calls telling him to drop out of the electoral race. He said he plans to remain as a candidate.

Irresponsible Parents

MARITZBURG, South Africa (CP)—The law should permit adoption of babies when parents do not carry out their responsibilities, said Mrs. A. W. Hoernle in her presidential address to the National Council for Child Welfare.

Canadian Airline To Start Jet Service

EDMONTON (CP)—Grant McConachie, president of Canadian Pacific Airlines, said yesterday the airline will start jet service between Honolulu and Australia early next year.

He said the company has taken delivery of its first 44-passenger British-built jet Comet and that a second is to be delivered within 60 days. The orders were placed two years ago.

"The jets are to be in Honolulu Jan. 1 to be ready for service by the end of February," Mr McConachie said.

The company was starting immediately on its pilot training and ground service program.

The Comets will make the Honolulu-Australia route in two hops of 2,000 and 1,200 miles. They are uneconomical for the 2,800-mile Vancouver-Honolulu run, for which the company will start taking delivery Jan. 1 of six super DC-6B aircraft.

Between Vancouver and Tokyo, he said, the company plans to operate 6-passenger aircraft which will probably make one stop westward but will make the 4,700-mile eastward flight non-stop in 16 hours.

"This will be the only non-stop service between Asia and North America," he said.

Police Force Loses Raise

PICKERING (CP)—A yearly increase of $300 granted two months ago to the six-man Pickering township police force has been rescinded.

Letters to members of the force from council said the salaries of the policemen will be reduced monthly until the increase already received by the men is recovered by the township.

The action was taken, one councillor said, because the police commission said it had no authority to grant a wage increase.

Two officers, Constables Walter Higgins and Gordon Channing, said they will resign.

A first-class policeman receives $2,800 a year.

MAHOGANY EXPORT

Export of mahogany has been a leading industry in British Honduras for more than two centuries.

"BIGGEST BERTHA" GETS AROUND —In top photo, Uncle Sam's recently unveiled 280-mm. atomic artillery cannon demonstrates its high mobility as it turns off a highway, across railroad tracks into a side road near the Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Md. Transporter cabs at front and rear do the trick. Either can pull while the other pushes; moving the gun section forward or backward. And they can move the gun "sideways" by turning at right angles to the gun section and proceeding parallel to each other. Bottom photo shows the world's first atomic artillery battery. The complete unit consists of two of the 280-mm. guns and eight supporting trucks. Trucks carry maintenance equipment, ammunition and supplies.

Luncheon Diet Plays Part In Health Of Growing Child

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Few things play a more important part in the health of growing children than what they eat. They must have enough calcium for their bones and teeth, enough iron for their blood, enough calories so that they will have some left over for growth after vigorous exercise, and enough vitamins.

It is at school age that youngsters first begin to get away from the dietary control of their homes, and yet as much attention should be given to food at this time as at any other.

Breakfast and supper are usually still taken at home, but luncheon is often another matter, and yet this is just as important as the other meals.

Many schools have cafeterias where the youngsters choose their own food. Some children do poorly at this, and should be carefully instructed by the mother as to what they should have each day, and how much to pay for it. A bottle of pop and a piece of pie a la mode is hardly a balanced meal.

Of course, the lunch should be considered in relation to what foods are given at other meals. If, for example, milk is not taken at breakfast and supper, then it should certainly be obtained at noon. In addition to milk, lunch should include some protein food such as meat, eggs, cheese or fish, some bread and butter or potato, and some green vegetable or fruit.

Often parents prefer to give the youngster his own lunch to take from home. If milk can be obtained at school in addition, well and good. If not, a thermos bottle of milk can be included.

The same principles apply to the home-prepared lunch as to those just mentioned. Sandwiches, buttered and filled with meat, eggs, tomato, lettuce and the like, changed from day to day, are usually satisfactory and attractive to most youngsters.

An apple, orange, peach or some similar fruit will supply another important need. If the child has a sweet tooth, a piece of chocolate can be included for dessert.

CHECK WITH YOUNGSTERS

The youngster should actually eat the lunch which is supplied. Some children, unless watched, will trade off their fruit for a piece of pie or pop, and thus not get the balanced meal which they are supposed to eat. A little tactful questioning and checking-up every few days is in order.

The importance of a good diet for growing children cannot be stressed too much. But at the same time parents should not hound their children about food every day.

If the diet week by week is satisfactory, and if the child is growing normally and getting neither too fat nor too thin, the chances are that he (or she) is eating all right.

MUSIC IN A PINCH—This contraption might not deliver the tonal quality of a Stradivarius, but Woodbury Nickerson, of Roxbury, Mass., is satisfied with the "music" of his homemade "violjn." He made it out of one of the claws of a 39-pound, four-ounce lobster he caught off Scituate, Mass.

Navy Announces Casualty List

OTTAWA (CP)—The navy Friday announced its first casualty list of the Korean War, with an officer and two seamen listed as dead and another three seamen injured in action.

All casualties were members of the destroyer Iroquois, hit by a Communist shore battery while on patrol duty off the Korean coast, the navy said.

The Iroquois, which joined two other Canadian destroyers in Korea —the Nootka and the Crusader— last June, was alone at the time. A shell fired by the shore battery caused slight structural damage, the navy said, but it is continuing in operations.

Capt. W.M. Landymore of Brantford, Ont., and Ottawa is the ship's commander. The enemy action was believed to have occurred several days ago.

So far, the army has reported a total of 1,048 casualties in Korea, while the R.C.A.F., with only a handful of pilots actually in combat flying with American jet squadrons, has reported none. Of the army casualties, 188 have been reported dead, 777 wounded, 72 injured, 10 missing and one prisoner-of-war.

Halifax Water Found Contaminated

HALIFAX (CP) —Undetermined bacteria growth in water mains under this port city of 103,000 is causing contamination of the water [illegible] said last night.

New tests to determine the contamination agent will be completed today. Meanwhile, soft drink manufacturers and taverns are doing a landslide business.

Dr. A.E. Berry, direct of sanitary engineering for Ontario and an authority of water supply, said it isn't a "serious" contamination. "Similar conditions," he said, "have been experienced in other Canadian centres, some in Ontario." He declined to name them.

Smuggling Dying Trade Due To Secret UK Ship

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON (Reuters) —Smugglers nosing their small craft into lonely British coves or lying quietly in some creek or river have a deadly adversary in the revenue cruiser Vigilant, Britain's most secret ship.

So well are the Vigilant's movements concealed that only a few officials know where she will be at any given time. With her radar guide and information from special agents, she has scared off so many small craft which used to operate round the coast that revenue officials say smuggling today is a dying trade.

After the Second World War many thrill-seeking veterans, unable to settle down to hum-drum occupations, went into business as smugglers.

At one time, there was an almost regular ferry service based on a minimum passage fee of £200 a head "whatever you are carrying." Craft ran to and from the Thames Estuary and in and out of south coast creeks.

Small craft crept in towards the coast at night, put their cargoes into watertight cases and threw them overboard into shallow water. Their position was marked by an emergency buoy.

Perhaps a week later, shore parties would set out to recover the cargoes.

But since the Vigilant came into service in 1946, the movements of small smuggling craft are known before they get anywhere near the coast.

The Vigilant, formerly an Admiralty trawler, hides in lonely creeks, sweeping the channel with her radar eyes and exchanging reports by radio telephone with headquarters in London.

Operating with her are a fleet of revenue launches, coast patrols on foot and about 2,000 men trained in the job of stopping the smuggling of goods into Britain and of arms and currency out of Britain.

Matthew Offers Much Found Lacking In Other Gospels

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

The gospel by St. Matthew, the first in our New Testament, is distinctive in that it offers much that is lacking in the other three Gospels and in the consolidated and well-arranged way in which it has presented the teaching of Jesus.

It is doubtful, for instance, that the passage that we call "The Sermon on the Mount," which takes three solid chapters, 5th, 6th and 7th, in Matthew, was all delivered at one sitting, though St. Matthew opens it with Jesus going up to the mountain and closes it with Him coming down. The same teachings in Luke's Gospel are in a different setting and are not all in one passage. The Lord's Prayer, for instance, which is in Matthew 6, is in Luke 11, and in Luke's Gospel is apart from much that corresponds to the Sermon on the Mount, as in Luke 6:20-38.

As presented by Matthew, the collected sayings of Jesus become a charter of Christian faith and practice, the constitution of the Kingdom which Jesus proclaimed. It is here that Matthew's Gospel excells, as Luke's excells in the Christmas story and in the wonderful recording of the Parables of Jesus, particularly the Parables of The Good Samaritan and The Prodigal Son.

Another distinctive and important contribution of the Gospel by Matthew is the chapter of "Woes," Matthew 23. How distinctive this is, and how much Matthew records, unmentioned by other writers, may be seen by comparing Matthew 23 with similar passages in Luke 11.

This is important, for it emphasizes an aspect of Jesus and His ministry that is widely disregarded or neglected. We think of Jesus as the gentle Christ walking in the fields and byways, conversing with His disciples, blessing the little children, a nature-lover with the lilies of the field, the birds, the winds, and skies in His discourse, illustrating His truth concerning God's grace and the love of man to man with the simple, wonderful tales that we call the Parables.

Jesus was not a social reformer in the common, present-day conception. He was not concerned with the passage of laws and regulations. How could He be in that setting of Jewish and Roman authority? But it is a profound mistake to believe that Jesus was only a teacher, preacher, and Savior, with a Gospel only for individuals. His whole Gospel was social. It struck at the deepest motives in social conduct and social welfare.

The Christian life demands something more than just gentleness and personal integrity. It demands Christian responsibility and aggressiveness.

St. Andrew's W.M.S. Meet

MARMORA (ENS)—The Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's United Church held their monthly meeting on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. Sproul who as president opened the meeting with a reading "Begin the day with God."

Mrs. C. Tupper assisted by Mrs. H. C. Barlow conducted the worship service on the theme "God's grace, the water of life."

It was reported that five books and six monthlies had been read and five stranger and 10 sick calls made.

A bale of clothing is to be packed by the members by November 1. Plans were made for the Thanksgiving meeting to be held in the church in October with Mrs. Tupper in charge of the new study book. Mrs. W. J. Black gave the secretarial report.

Mesdames M. Wells and W. J. Pack gave interesting reports on their visits to Whitby Ladies' College and the Ladies' Training School. The hostess served refreshments.

WELL HARDENS WATER

Lindsay's auxiliary source of water supply, the well in Victoria Park is responsible for complaints that the water is unusually "hard" lately. It was revealed at a meeting of Lindsay Water Board Wednesday that some days as much as half a million gallons are taken from the well. Reasons given for the increase in water consumption are: one industry is using considerably more and the Lindsay Arena is using water to cool the fluid in the refrigeration pumps.

Fly In Eye

A fly which flew into his eye was blamed by one driver for a two-car accident at Aylmer and Romaine Sts., Friday afternoon. Robert Black of Toronto, said he was travelling west on Romaine and just approaching the intersection when a fly struck him in the eye. He applied his brakes but missed the pedal. Before he could get rid of the fly and get the car stopped, a collision occurred with a southbound Aylmer St. car. An estimated $600 damage resulted, $300 to the car Black was driving and $300 to the other car, driven by Mrs. Earl Wright, 256 Wolfe St. A passenger in the Wright car, Mrs. William Peacock, 267 Bethune St., was taken to the Clinic where three stitches were required to close a cut on her left knee.

Pavement Laid Next Week On Charlotte St.

Final stage of the paving job on Charlotte St. west will be begun next wek with the laying of the asphalt top, Gordon Kerr of the contracting Warren Company said today.

"There have been no avoidable delays," he said. "I think the public will understand that there would be no advantage to us in wasting any time getting the work completed. But, we do want to give Peterborough a good job on our contracts."

Ald. Harold Rehill raised a question of progress on the Charlotte St. paving at the board of works meeting Monday night. He said there was a west-end rumor that from appearance the work wouldn't be completed this year. He suggested that "something be done to put a bomb under the paving company."

Ald. J. E. Gillespie said the detail of laying the concrete curbs and gutters had to be done by hand, and would slow down progress.

"But, there were days when they had only three men on the curbs," Ald. Rehill remarked, quoting information he had received.

"We could write Warren Paving," said Mayor Waddell, and Ald. T. D. Miller put that suggestion in a motion, asking for speed in completion of the work. Ald. Rehill seconded it.

On that point, Mr. Kerr said today: "Our foreman is one of the best in the business. We have reached the stage where the gravel base is laid, and the city puts on an asphalt primer. But, rain held that priming up, because it would lose its effect, and we couldn't be satisfied with the job. And, just to repeat, the company wants to give the city a thorough job, because we may be figuring on future work.

"However, our president, Huch Lehmann was here Thursday and met City Engineer Chalmers. I understand Mr. Lehmann told Mr. Chalmers that the asphalt top would be under way some time next week. I don't know just what day."

Mr. Kerr reviewed details of the progress since the Charlotte St. job was started, and emphasized that it was the desire of the company to finish it as soon as possible, because there was no gain to the company in stretching it out one day.

City Engineer Chalmers told the board of works there was a time limit in the contract.

"I asked about that when the contract was let," said Ald. Syd Black. "I didn't want to see any repetition of Perry St. last year."

Mr. Kerr dismissed the rumor Ald. Rehill had heard about getting the street open before the end of the year.

"There is nothing to that," he said. "We are as concerned as anybody about getting finished, but we want to make it a good job. We are not delaying anything, and not skimping anything. The last gravel was spread a few days ago, and as I say, wet weather held up the asphalt priming."

The members of Peterborough Lodge No. 111 and Otonabee Lodge No. 13 are asked to attend Monday, Oct. 6th. Installation of officers.

Ex-Treasurer Charged With Theft

William Barr Elects Higher Court Trial; Former Counties Clerk

COBOURG (ENS) — Former clerk-treasurer of Northumberland and Durham, William Barr, 31, appeared before Magistrate R. B. Baxter Friday charged with theft of $3,647.60.

Barr is charged with converting this amount of United Counties money to his own use while serving as clerk-treasurer between January 1, 1947 and December 10, 1951, when he resigned.

Barr through his counsel, H. R. S. Ryan of Port Hope asked to waive preliminary hearing and he was committed for trial. No plea was taken and bail was fixed at $3,000 on Barr's own recognizance and Robert Love of Cobourg as surety.

UNUSUAL PROCEDURE

Commenting on the unusual procedure of the accused asking to waive a preliminary, Magistrate R. B. Baxter said it was the first time since he had been on the bench here that such a procedure had been requested.

Alex Hall, crown counsel replied, "Yes, but there are a number of cases in which it has occurred."

In committing Barr for trial, Magistrate Baxter said, "I suppose that is tantamount to admitting there is sufficient evidence to commit the accused for trial."

The laying of the charge, following an investigation into the counties' books, ordered last December following Barr's resignation.

A special firm of auditors appointed to carry out the investigation reported a shortage of the amount named in the charge, which Barr is charged with stealing by converting to his own use.

GIVEN TIME

When county council met in committee to discuss the auditor's report, it was criticized for excluding the press. The only official announcement released following the meeting was a resolution, which gave Barr until May, 1952 to pay back the amount of the alleged shortage.

Later, Warden Harry Campbell announced that the amount of the alleged shortage had been repaid.

The charge against Barr was laid through the Attorney General's Department in Toronto. Barr was not arrested, but appeared on a summons served by O.P.P. Cpl. Douglas Wilson of the Cobourg detachment.

Car Passenger Fractures Knee

Thrown forward against the windshield of the car in which she was a front-seat passenger, Mrs. Florence Crowe, 42, of R.R. 2, Ida, late Friday night sustained a fractured knee.

She was taken to St. Joseph's hospital where she was also treated for a cut on the head, a jaw injury and bruises. Her condition today is satisfactory.

Mrs. Crowe was a front-seat passenger in a car being driven west on Parkhill Rd. at 11.45 p.m. by her husband. The couple were on their way home to Ida when they came to a hill, two miles west of the city.

An eastbound car, driven by Fred Delaire, 31, of 467 Elm St., broke over the hill and the two vehicles collided just east of the crest. Neither driver saw the other in time.

Mrs. Crowe was thrown forward against the windshield and was later taken to hospital by ambulance.

Neither her 39-year-old husband, Ernest, nor Delaire, were injured. The Delaire car received about $350 damage and the other $100.

O.P.P. Corporal Fred Rawlings and Constable Wallace Mohns investigated.

Oshawa Man Hurt

An accident at Lansdowne and George Sts., shortly after midnight today resulted in extensive damage to the car involved and [illegible] complained of a sore leg, but did not require medical attention. He was a passenger in the car driven by James H. Brown, 559 King St., Oshawa.

Brown was travelling south on George St. An eastbound transport, driven by Aime Chaff, 134 Nicolet St., Hull, Que., was travelling east on Lansdowne St., when the collision occurred in the intersection.

The transport driver told police he felt an impact at the intersection and applied his brakes. The car was jammed between the rear wheel of the tractor and the body of the trailer. It was dragged more than 100 feet after the impact.

"GETTING ONE'S GOAT" is displayed by two Saanen goats as "Jessie" (left) hogs the oat dish from "Millie." The two animals are half of a herd of four owned by Mrs. Clara Armstrong of River Rd. N., who looks after them herself from milking to butter making. In peak pasture season Mrs. Armstrong says that each goat produces about half a pound of butter per week; after keeping goats for 25 years she has nothing but praise for them and treats them more like pets than farm animals.—

Common Sense Could Save Lives Says Fire Chief

"By following a few commonsense fire prevention rules you may be able to save the lives of your family or friends. Let's cut the fire loss in Peterborough during the coming year."

Acting Fire Chief Stewart Foster issued this admonition to Peterborough residents and businessmen on the eve of Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 5 to 11.

"We are constantly going out on calls to put out fires that need never have started. It's not that we begrudge the time or effort, but we know that every fire causes unnecessary expense and inconvenience to somebody.

"Even a chimney fire makes a mess and sometimes leads to serious property damage."

During the first nine months of 1952 Peterborough's fire loss was $351,766, and Acting Chief Foster would like to see that figure slashed drastically during the next year.

In the coming week, he and members of the fire department will direct a campaign to make local residents vigilant in fire prevention.

"Schools will be carefully inspected and fire drills held to see how quickly the children can evacuate the buildings. Hospitals, factories and public buildings will also be checked for the fire hazard.

RECORD BETTER

Peterborough's record is better this year than last. The total loss in 1951 was $627,254. And even over the nine-month period the respective figures for 1951 and 1952 are $561,614 and $351,766.

Here is a monthly list of fire loss this year:

January, $1,068.70; February, $4,242.10; March, $2,906.30; April, $285,283,14. (This includes the $199,417 loss April 3 at the Braund block on Charlotte St. and the $77,569 fire April 28 at the exhibition grounds—$9,000 on the barn; $36,122 to the Peterborough Canoe Co., and $32,447 to Timber Structures).

May, $55,366. (This includes the $55,000 loss at the Lawrence Salvage Yard, Erskine Ave., that was gatted May 6.)

June, $1,470; July, $185.; August no loss; September, $245.

I'll Attend Children's Aid

A regional conference of Children's Aid Societies in the district held in Lindsay, Friday, was attended by six board members and five members of the staff of the Peterborough Children's Aid Society.

K. C. Dalrymple was chairman for a panel discussion in the evening on the subjects of finance and publicity as related to Children's Aid Societies. Miss Rachael Young, chairman of the Peterboroug society was in charge of the superintendents' group meeting in the afternoon and Harold Treen of the Peterborough staff led the social work group in the evening.

The conference was attended by representatives of Children's Aid Societies' boards from Peterborough, Victoria, Durham, Northumberland and Victoria counties.

Those attending from Peterborough were Mr. Dalrymple, Bruce Sargent, Blake Bell, Mrs. Wharry, Peter Moore and Mrs. Charles Pilon, all of the board, and the following staff members, Miss Young, Mr. Treen, Miss Dorothy Metcalfe, Miss Clara Morris and Mrs. Isabel Murray.

Don McGillen To Attend Meeting In Buffalo

C.G.E. Plant In Guelph To Cost $7 Million

A building permit for $7,000,000 issued to General Electric Company Friday was the largest ever issued by Guelph township. The permit issued by township clerk Thomas J. Gilchrist is for the company's new plant to be erected on the outskirts of Guelph.

Work has already begun on the new plant, which will be on the Guelph-Kitchener highway northwest of Guelph.

Guelph city council has requested the Ontario Municipal Board to approve annexation of the property where the plant is being built, so it will be in the city.

The new industry is expected to employ 1,000 workers and the value of the buildings will be more than twice the assessed value of existing property in Guelph township.

It will also be greater than one-third of the value assessed property in the city of Guelph which last year was $19,708,970.

Mr. Harold Wildish, noted Evangelist, will be at Peterborough Oct. 26 to Nov. 16. Keep these dates open.

5 Men Serve With R.C.A.F. Fighter Wing

Five men from Peterborough and one from Kinmount are among the 164 R.C.A.F. personnel from Ontario who will be forming part of the R.C.A.F.'s fighter wing at Gros Tenquin, France.

The names of F.O. J. E. Greatrix, L.A.C. W. S. Cummings, F.O. H. A. Clements, L.A.C. J. McCormick, L.A.C. H. D. Webb, of Peterborough, and A.C. I. N. Harris, of Kinmount, are included in the list released by Air Force headquarters in Ottawa today.

F.O. Greatrix, L.A.C. Cummings and A.C. I.N. Harris will be serving with the 430th Squadron and the others are with the 416th Squadron.

The announcement states that the majority of the airmen are already at Gros Tenquin and busy setting up facilities for the arrival of the three fighter squadrons now en route from Canada in Operation Leap Frog II. This is the largest R.C.A.F. jet flight ever to cross the Atlantic.

The fighter wing is part of Canada's contribution to NATO forces and ground personnel are also accompanying the Sabre jets in North Star transports. The ground crews are based at refuelling bases along the route, to service aircraft crossing the North Atlantic.

Called To Bar 39 Years Late

EDMONTON (CP) — James R. Lowery, 68, of Vancouver, yesterday was admitted to the Alberta bar—39 years after he graduated in law from the University of Alberta and about 30 years after he passed his bar examinations.

"I don't like to start something and never finish it," he explained to Chief Justice G. B. O'Connor, who admitted him to the bar.

Mr. Lowery's intended law career was put off after university graduation while he fought in the First World War, being injured at Vimy Ridge and retiring with the rank of major after writing bar examinations in 1922 he became interested in oil.

A native of Scotland, who came west in 1905 as [illegible] tion manager of the Edmonton Journal, Mr. Lowery founded Home Oil Co. and was its president until he resigned last year. He now is chairman of the board.

Mr. Lowery said he won't practise law.

Construction Jobs Starting Provide Work In City, Fewer Claim Insurance

Federal Building, Filtration Plant, Churches All Provide Work In Near Future
Number of Claims Drops 300 In September

Several construction projects started during September, particularly the federal building on Charlotte St., have stepped up the demand for workers, William H. Mellis, manager of the National Employment Office here said Friday. Other projects underway are: the addition to the filtration plant, a new Catholic church in the south end and an addition being built to Mount St. Joseph Convent.

The total number of claims for unemployment insurance for September were 702, a drop of more than 300 from the 1,031 listed at the end of August. Of these, 409 were from the city and 293 from the surrounding district served by the Peterborough office.

These figures compare with 659 claims at the end of September 1951 when 422 were claiming benefits in the city and 237 in the district.

DEPENDS ON SPEED

If the contractors can get the foundations of the new federal building laid before winter, and get part of the skeleton of the structure up, the project will provide employment for a number of workers all winter, Mr. Mellis said.

He added that the favorable employment picture here is attracting job seekers from other centres, judging by the number of inquiries being received by the local employment office.

Mr. Mellis pointed out that the number of claimants does not mean that everyone on the list is out of work. Several Western Clock Co., departments are still on short time. The company worked a four-day week in most departments all summer. A month ago they returned to a full work week and this week reverted to short time.

There were 1,069 people looking for jobs at the end of September as compared with 893 a year ago. There are 68 vacancies at present, eight more than the first of October last year.

The outlook for employment in industry during the coming months appears to be just about stable, Mr. Mellis said.

There is no prospect of drastic layoffs in any Peterborough industries and Mr. Mellis said it was likely, the level of employment in industry will remain about the same as at present.

NATIONAL PICTURE

In the nation-wide labor picture, Labor Minister Milton F. Gregg has said that Canada's working force of 5,000,000 is not adequate to meet the needs of the defence program and supply the requirements of expanding industry. In effect he said that immigration was the one solution.

But against this was the declining trend in immigration in the first eight months of the year. If this continues the year's total will be below the 1951 total of 194,391 immigrants.

This would seem to indicate that workers can look for more employment in Peterborough district and in other construction projects across the country.

1,222 Sign Up At Night School, Lower Than 1951

Enrolment for night school courses at P.C.V.S. for fall and spring terms decreased slightly this year. Registration this week numbered 1,222 as compared with 1,478 last year, but others are expected to increase the enrolment when classes start next week; probably another 100 will attend various classes.

The largest group this year is the industrial, with 621 registered. This course is the largest offered by the school, including auto mechanics, drafting, blueprint reading, building construction, electricity, machine shop, mathematics, plumbing, woodworking and sheet metal work.

250 IN COMMERCIAL

The second largest group is registered for the commercial classes, numbering 250. Mostly young women have enrolled there in classes in bookkeeping, cost accounting, typewriting, shorthand and other subjects.

The home economics course which offers classes in cooking, foods for business girls, sewing and children's sewing attracted 250 women.

About 100 men and women have applied for classes in various subjects such as art, sketching, elementary applied psychology, public speaking and collegiate Upper School subjects.

On of the largest single classes is the one, English and civics for new Canadians. On Monday and Wednesday more than 60 new Canadians registered in this class and more are expected when classes begin.

Another group ,one for nurses, has 40 registered.

Kelsey's 261-Year-Old Trail Traced By Pioneer Clergyman

REGINA (CP)—Rev. J.W. Whillans, a modern Sherlock Holmes, doesn't think a 261-year-old trail is too cold to follow.

The pioneer prairie clergyman has almost completed research to determine the exact course taken by the first white traveller to see the western Canadian plains.

The traveller was Henry Kelsey, a young Hudson's Bay Company employee. Mr. Whillans has written a book he hopes will establish Kelsey in the niche of fame he deserves. The book is hoped to be ready for publication shortly.

Since the accidental discovery of the Kelsey diaries after they had lain 200 years in an Irish mansion, and their subsequent publication in 1929 by the Public Archives of Canada, the almost-forgotten name of Kelsey has risen in prestige.

GETTING RECOGNIZED

A constituency in northwest Saskatchewan was named for him. A monument at The Pas, Man., describes him as the discoverer of the Canadian prairies. The call letters of the CBC station at Watrous, Sask., CBK include a "K" standing for Kelsey.

Aside from the fact that the diaries were lost so long, Mr. Whillans says lack of knowledge about Kelsey is due to uncertainty over the actual path his exploration followed.

Mr. Whillans says that when he operated missions in the Carrot River area in 1907, the unsettled country was much as it was when Kelsey passed through. Numerous passages in the diary seemed familiar.

The parson came from his native Scotland in 1903, before Saskatchewan became a province.

His research has convinced him that the spot in Kelsey's diary referred to as "Deering's Point" on the "Waskashreeseebee" River is actually The Pas, on the Saskatchewan.

MANY BUFFALO THEN

From this point, Kelsey made a 600-mile journey to the prairies where he saw immense herds of Buffalo. He made another long trip into the plains in his second summer in the country.

Mr. Whillans studied the Kelsey diaries, then visited various points on what he considers the path Kelsey took. The points matched topography in the Kelsey descriptions.

His findings indicate that Kelsey left Fort York in June, 1690, and with a company of Indians reached the Saskatchewan River at Deerings Point a month later.

Ascending the Saskatchewan, he left it, then crossed shallow Saskeram Lake and reached the river again where it takes a great bend to the north. Not far from Cumberland House he abandoned his canoe.

Travelling westward on foot between the Carrot and the Saskatchewan, Kelsey reached the South Saskatchewan River and followed south on the east bank into open prairie.

Going west, Mr. Whillans says, Kelsey was on the Eagle Hills and the ridges along the Battle River, and must have reached Alberta.

PACT WITH INDIANS

Somewhere near the Alberta-Saskatchewan border he met the Indians he sought and made a peace pact with them.

It was 48 years before another white man saw the Canadian prairies, 59 years before another ascent of the Saskatchewan was made as far as the Forks, and 64 years before any other than an Indian again reached the Saskatchewan from Hudson Bay.

"Kelsey's last days were shadowed by unemployment, poverty and neglect," Mr. Whillans says.

"Today, his dust lies in a nameless grave somewhere in London, where he was born.

"But the great heart of the Prairies will warm to the brave boy when it comes to know his story."

Lee Testifies In Own Court Defence

HAMILTON (CP)—Henry Lee, 37, yesterday testified in his own defence on a murder charge and described how two men abducted him and Mrs. Mary Rosenblatt, took them on a 24-hour trip and finally shot her and wounded him.

Lee is charged with the murder of Mrs. Rosenblatt, found dead in a car early June 3. Lee was beside her in the car with wounds in the chest.

Lee denied there was any suicide pact between him and Mrs Rosenblatt. He demonstrated in court how a .22 calibre rifle is held when shots are fired.

Lee said he had been intimately acquainted with Mrs. Rosenblatt after they met two years ago.

TWO STRANGE MEN

Saturday, May 31, he said, he and Mary were at his house when two strange men entered "They were in a rough mood. They made me tie her ankles and wrists and we were taken upstairs to my bedroom."

The men then took them in Lee's car for a ride through Brantford, Kitchener, London and Chatham, lasting until the next day. When they got out of the car into another, he managed to elude them, but while they were driving home about midnight Sunday, the other car pulled alongside.

Lee continued: "My gun (a .22-calibre rifle) was lying on the floor under the front seat. I got out of the car, and as I got out, Mary put the rifle on the seat. I made a grab for it the same time as one of the two men. We wrestled for it, and the gun went off. Mary screamed and then I knew this was it. There were more shots and I felt stings in my chest."

Fined Minimum On Impairment

LINDSAY (ENS) —A visit to the Lindsay Central Exhibition brought two Toronto men into Lindsay police court Friday, one on a charge of drunk driving, the other as the complainant, whose car was struck in an accident on William St. W. on Sept. 20th.

Merle Brethour, a truck driver was charged, after he struck the parked car of Robert Cook, visiting relatives on William St. His counsel, Edward Dewart, asked that the charge be reduced to one of impairment while in control, and pleaded guilty to the reduced charge.

STARTED TO ROLL

Brethour testified that he and a companion, James Hatchen, of Toronto, had been duck hunting all day, and had arrived in Lindsay towards evening, having had nothing to eat since noon. They had stopped for a few drinks, in a beverage room, and then started for the exhibition. As they were passing the house in front of which Cook's car was parked, the car started to roll from the curb and Brethour's car struck it head-on.

Some $200 damage was done to the Cook car in the accident. It was investivated by Chief Webster, of the town police, who laid the charge after watching Brethour's condition and talking to him.

Magistrate Gee commented in accepting the reduction plea, that the two men were apparently able to remember and tell everywhere they had been during the time of the accident, and before it.

Crown Councel, Lorne Jordan protested the decision but Brethour was fined the minimum on the impairment charge, $50. And assessed costs of $45 in addition. A case of beer found in the car was allowed to be kept by the accused since it had no bearing on the case.

Hydro Engineers Get New Wage Contract

TORONTO (CP)—A new contract between the Ontario Hydro Commission and an independent association representing hydro's professional engineers was signed yesterday, bringing wage increases to 750 engineers.

Retroactive to April 1, 1952, the agreement provides for an 11-per-cent increase in starting rates, raising them to $285 a month, and a five-per-cent increase to all other grades. Other provisions include a revision in the method of calculating cost-of-living changes.

The employees' organization is the federation of employee professional engineers and represents approximatly 1,100 engineers in Ontario.

Buffalo Man Acquitted

WELLAND (CP) — Theodore W. Honick, 39, of Buffalo, N.Y., yesterday was acquitted of manslaughter in the death of Mrs. Alice Graves, 68, of Crowland township. Mrs. Graves was killed when thrown from a car as it was struck from the rear by Honick's car at a highway intersection near here.

No machines are used there on "hay days" so this pile of hay atop an old-fashioned wagon is a scene out of the past.

Gas Hogs Before Death

CHICAGO (AP)—A livestock m described yesterday how hogs are "gassed" into unconsciousness in his plant with carbon monoxide just before they are slaughtered. L.W. Canadian Press Inaugurates News Service In French

MONTREAL (CP)—The Canadian Press last night officially inaugurated its Service in French, a day-and-night report of Canadian and world news to CP's French-language member newspapers.

At 8 p.m. EST, Prime Minister St. Laurent threw a switch formally to open the new service, set up on a trial basis a year ago. Before that trial period began CP's French-language members received their newsreport in English.

As the service opened, messages of congratulation to CP started moving in the report and were copied on a teletype printer especially installed for the inauguration ceremony, attended by men prominent in public life, journalism and radio and held in the Blue Room of Montreal's Windsor Hotel.

Herve Major of Montreal La Presse, president of the co-operative news agency when the plan for a service in French was approved by the CP annual meeting last year, presided at the ceremony.

P.M. WISHES 'GOOD LUCK'

Mr. St. Laurent said he was happy to take part in a ceremony which emphasized the principle of the bilingualism of Canadians and their newspapers. He wished every success for the service and the newspapers that received it.

Provincial Secretary Cote, representing Premier Duplessis of Quebec, said all of the people of Canada, and especially those of Quebec province, are happy to see that CP's Service in French has become a reality.

Georges Aguesse, French press attache representing Herbert Guerin, French ambassador to Canada, said France has followed with interest the development of the service, which he termed further proof of the close ties between Canada and France

Phil Lalonde, manager of Montreal radio station CKAC, celebrating its 30th anniversary next week, spoke for radio stations and extended their congratulations to CP.

Gillis Purcell, CP general manager, paid tribute to Mr. Major and others who worked to establish the service.

Those attending included Roy H. Thomson, president of CP; Charles H. Peters of the Montreal Gazette, and A.-F. Mercier of Quebec l'Evenement-Journal, CP directors; Jean Lepeltier, Canadian manager of Agence-France Presse; Marcel Ouimet, director of the CBC French network, and representatives of the 10 newspapers, receiving the service.

NEW MACHINES USED

Three months ago the service was equipped with teletypes with capital and small letters and French accents. This equipment is the first of its kind in existence.

Mr. Thomson issued the following message in connection with the inauguration:

"Under the presidency of my predecessor, Herve Major, The Canadian Press launched a year ago a service of news delivered in French to its 10 member newspapers published daily in that language.

"Since that experimental start, the project has been approved by CP's member newspapers in all 10 provinces. And for three months now, the service has been delivered on specially-adapted modern equipment that exists nowhere else in the world.

"It is the hope of The Canadian Press that its bilingual news organization will continue to keep pace with the growth of this bilingual country."

Mr. Major expressed hope that employment by the national news agency will become the goal of French-language newspaper men.

He said the names "Canadian Press" and its French equivalent, "Presse Canadienne," will become synonymous when bilingual personnel is part of the news organization in the different parts of Canada.

Real Estate Booms

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian real estate sales this year will reach $2,500,000,000, an increase of nearly 20 per cent over last year, Ernest I. Oliver, president of the Canadian Association of Real Estate Boards, predicted last night. He said in an interview prior to the opening Monday of the organization's annual conference that the post-war real estate boom is accelerating

Hormones Cure Maniac

TORONTO (CP)—Hormone treatment has restored a periodic homicidal maniac to apparent health, a Toronto psychiatrist said yesterday. Dr. J. C. Dewan told the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons here that the patient, a mother of three children, was a homicidal maniac one-third of the time and normal the rest of the time before he started hormone treatments.

French Engineer Hitch-Hiked Almost Around World For $5

MONTREAL (CP)—Antoine Coreigo, 26-year-old French engineer, has hitch-hiked almost around the world for $5.

He arrived here recently to prepare himself for the last leg of his journey to Paris, where he started the 2½-year trip which has taken him through 23 countries.

Coreigo is president and founder of "The Messengers," a group whose aim is to show students how to "girdle the globe on a fin."

"The idea is simple," he said. "Start out with five bucks in your pocket. When you run out of cash, work, then move on to the next country."

ORGANIZE BRANCHES

The Messengers have organized branches in 10 cities around the world, the last one in New York. He hopes Montreal will be another centre.

The Messengers hitch-hike by road, rail and air; never pay for their lodgings and cook their own meals. Coreigo has cut tobacco in Connecticut, washed dishes in Rome, logged on Vancouver Island, pressed pants in Cairo and worked in a mental hospital in Boston.

He has only one complaint—foreign countries don't give visas without a financial guarantee and won't allow travellers to work.

So he went to the United Nations Economic, Scientific and Cul- [illegible] which is interested in getting youth to travel cheaply as a supplementary education on completing university. His trip then was made as a study which he will submit to the Organization when completed.

Designing Minimum Home To Appear Maximum Size

It should be remembered that simplicity in exterior design gives the small house the appearance of a maximum size. The fewer different materials used on the exterior the better the appearance usually will be—several different materials, especially those which contrast in color and texture will break up the exterior into a series of small units or segments making the house appear even smaller than it is.

Use of structural methods which minimize height are usually the most economical and will result in a small house of better proportions than when the house is high in relation to width and length. Exterior proportions are also improved by setting the house as low on the ground as possible.

AVOID BREAKS AT EAVES

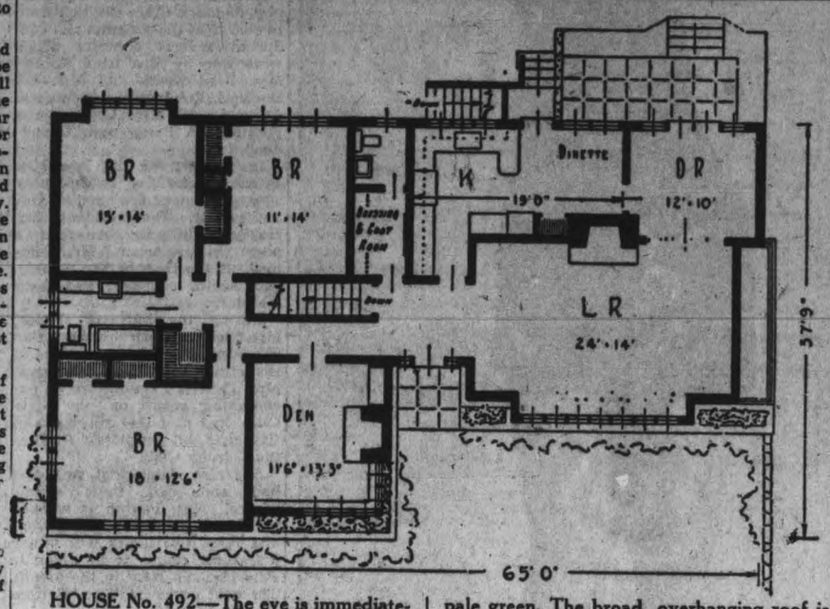
Breaks in the roof lines at the eaves should be avoided. This saves cost as well. Unnecessary gables and dormers, over-elaborate cornices and non-essential features can profitably be omitted.

By the proper spacing and grouping of doors and windows, even a rectangular house can be given character and pleasing variation from its neighbors. The size and location of windows and doors should be such that a pleasing relationship exists between wall openings and wall spaces. Corner windows often may be used effectively when the exterior design composition is well studied. These windows are usually advantageous as a means of securing increased wall space in small rooms and provide adequate light and ventilation.

Unless corner windows are used windows of the usual type should not be placed too near the exterior corners, since this has the effect of making the exterior appear weak where it should appear solid and strong.

WELL PROPORTIONED PORCH

A rectangular plan can often be made interesting in exterior appearance through the use of a well proportioned porch, the entrance doorway, garden walls and fences and similar accessories.



Bay windows add to the livability and enjoyment of the house, contribute to the exterior appearance and can be economically built. There is also the opportunity of combining a single material in different forms . . . in the case of wood, the use of flat boards, with or without moulded edges, vertical boards with battens, and ordinary clapboards or shingles. Brick and stone may be combined or used with wood for interest in texture, but in non-contrasting colors to obtain a harmonious whole that will first appear to the eye as a single unit.

When a garage is needed and the site size permits, it may be effectively attached to the small house. An attached garage has the effect of making the house appear larger by increasing the exterior mass of the building . . . also providing a more convenient location for the garage than when placed on the site some distance away. Through this use of the garage a rectangular house may be given the same interest and appearance as that of the L-shaped house. When this is done the roof lines of the garage should be considered in relation to those of the house in order to obtain the best composition of building masses.

Construction of a chimney of good proportion in relation to the size of the house is important, but if the budget is very limited it is highly desirable to use an inside chimney. Chimneys containing one or two flues built of minimum size are too tall and narrow fc good exterior appearance ar when built on gable ends have th effect of dividing the house in two parts, thus destroying its unity and the effective appearance of width.

Proper location of the house on the lot and the planning of the lot in relation to the house entrances affects livability of any home. The development of the plot need not be done all at once. By planning the location of lawn, garden, flower and shrubbery areas in advance the site can be gradually improved as the additional outlay comes within the budget.

HOUSE No. 492—The eye is immediately caught by the splendid array of flowers in front of this wide-eave, western style home. Strategically placed stone flower troughs are indicated in the sketch plan below. Most dramatic display, when this picture was taken, was the bed of brilliant red geraniums under the living room picture window. This fascinating one-storey home has gable ends of cedar clapboards painted pale green. The broad, overhanging roof is a darker green. Main walls are white stucco, and the stonework is grey. The plan reveals an interesting and practical arrangement of rooms. The three bedrooms are separated from the "living" area of the house and are close to the main bathroom. Quite apart and private is the beautiful den, with its corner window. For further information, write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Heating System Needs Annual Attention

By MR. FIX
Distributed by NEA Service

If periodic attention is given to maintenance of the heating system of your new home—if it has reasonable care and is not overtaxed—it should never give any trouble to speak of.

When your heating system was selected, its rating capacity was checked with the manufacturer's specifications to be certain that the house could be heated to a comfortable 70 degrees when the outside temperature is minus 20 to plus 20 degrees.

This heating range is considered normal and adequate for average climatic conditions.

The National Home Builders Association recommends that, immediately upon taking title to a new home, you should learn everything possible about the heating system installed.

There is a wide variety of heating systems, methods and installations, the association points out. Learn how yours operates, how it functions at maximum efficiency and what kind of fuel to use. The heating contractor can provide you with this vital information. Read the manufacturer's operating instructions carefully.

Almost all warm-air furnaces have built-in filters. The filter is usually found close to the furnace where the cold air returns to the furnace from the rooms.

Made of fiberglass, these filters are intended to collect dirt and dust and for efficient heating should be replaced at the beginning of each heating season, and again during the season if necessary.

Dirty filters permit dust to be circulated through the system, to be deposited on carpets, drapes, walls and furniture.

Usual replacement consists of removing one or two metal screws, pulling out the filter and inserting a new one obtained at a hardware or department store.

Forced warm-air heating systems contain an electric motor and fan within the furance enclosure and require periodic oiling at the beginning and during the heating season. Front or side panels can generally be removed, thus exposing the fan and electric motor, as well as the oil cups.

Avoid over-oiling the electric motor, and, as an extra precaution, wipe the motor with a clean cloth when oiling or changing the filter.

Filters on the oil lines to oil-fired furnaces should also be changed periodically. Always use the proper grade of fuel.

Some owners of gas-fired furnaces will want to turn off the pilot light during the summer. Removal of the front panel of the furnace will expose the shut-off valve for the pilot light.

Most homeowners, however, find it desirable to burn the pilot during the summer months, since the extremely small amount of heat generated will keep the burner dry, thus avoiding corrosion, and will keep the furnace in readiness for the first cold snap of fall.

With all types of automatic heating systems there is an occasional failure of controls, which doesn't mean there is anything essentially wrong with the system—usually a simple adjustment is all that is needed. Unless you're fully informed on how these adjustments are made, it is best to rely on skilled service for that purpose.

LEARN from the manufacturer's operating instructions about upkeep of your home's heating system and the minor servicing you can do.

He was commenting at a daily news conference on Russian Prime Minister Stalin's suggestion in a magazine article that Britain eventually will engage the U. S. in conflict to insure her independence "and of course high profits."

Kitchen Often First Step In Modernizing Of Homes

The first room modernized in most homes is the kitchen.

This forms one of the most satisfying projects and also can be one of the most painless as far as the family budget is concerned.

You don't have to buy a lot of new equipment all at once and pay for the moving of windows and doors and tackle a major redecorating job at the same time. You can do the work a step at a time.

In fact, kitchen planning experts of the General Electric home bureau in Bridgeport, Conn., who design thousands of kitchens every year, point out that you can achieve the same results in remodelling a kitchen over a period of years buying new equipment as you go.

The main thing is to have a detailed plan of what you want your kitchen to be.

EFFICIENT LAYOUT

The most efficient layout for a kitchen has been found to be one where the work flows smoothly over a work surface from refrigerator to sink to cooking area around the range. Each work surface should have ample storage space in the form of base and wall cabinets.

Many old-fashioned kitchens were unconsciously arranged in a workable order with the exception of work surfaces and storage space. A kitchen table usually provided the only work surface and a pantry, many steps from sink or stove, contained all dishes and condiments.

Nowadays it is not enough to have a rough idea of where you want each of the important departments of your kitchen. You should know down to the last inch where every appliance and piece of furniture will fit in your finished plan. Then when you buy any appliance, you can have in mind both your present kitchen and the place that appliance will occupy in the kitchen you hope to wind up with.

For example, if your plan calls for placing the refrigerator at the far left of your layout, you will want a left hand door. Otherwise you will have to walk around the open door on your way to sink or range.

When you buy cabinets, buy them for permanence, so others can be added to give complete unity.

If you have any doubts about planning your kitchen—and there is much skill and experience to be involved—your best bet is to consult your local appliance dealer, who can have your kichen planned for you in miniature, according to scale. He can help you to measure your space and plan an attractive, efficient kitchen. Appliance manufacturers maintain such service.

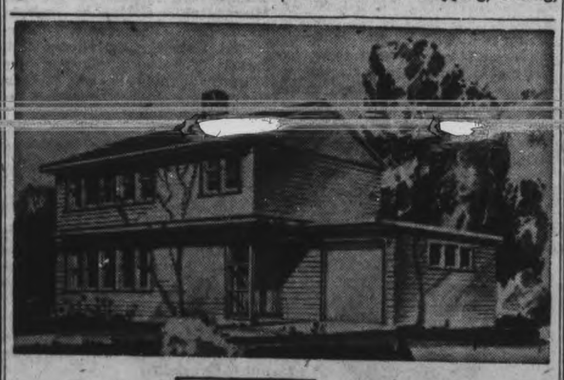
HANDSOME FLOORS POSSIBLE

Floor coverings are handsome and versatile, Lineoleum comes in many designs and colors, and helps make present-day kitchens handsome. Asphalt and rubber tile also come in wide variety and fit beautifully into kitchen decorating schemes. Ceramic (clay) tile makes an elegant kitchen floor; here again the color possibilities are wide. Wide pine boards in old houses, newly renovated, are often scraped and waxed.

Counter tops make use of plastic materials, linoleum, clay tile. We have also rediscovered the virtues of marble(for bread and candy making and cake frosting among other things) and maple (for cutting and chopping). One type of kitchen cabinet has counter tops of heavy black plastic with a stainless steel trim. But, if desired, one of the base cabinet tops may be ordered in molded maple —perfect for chopping, slicing, and cutting. This cutting top, like the old-fashioned butcher block, means that you don't have to get out and put away a separate cutting board each time you want to slice bread, trim meat, or cut vegetables.

NEW TRENDS IN CURTAINS

Curtains for windows show new trends. Various fabrics and every type of pattern and color are used. White cottage type or tailored nylon curtains are simple to wash, need no ironing, and the dirt seems to "slither" off them. Cotton prints in small allover designs in several colors often repeat the colors of the room. Glazed chintz — plain colors, floral designs and stripes—are popular. And many women are making curtains of plastic material. Some windows continue their decorative valances along the sides. These may be scalloped pine or wide bands of stiff pleated material.



Lighting fixtures vary from the conventional type to the new pull-down arrangement from Scandinavian countries. Fluorescent tubes are popular. If they are used, choose the color carefully. Blue tubes may have an unhappy effect on kitchen colors and foods. The fluorescent tubes that range from white to yellow are best for the kitchen.

Use Water For Egg Get New Cake

By MARY MOORE

Doris, that's my non-cooking sister, has made a new cake. What is more she had the courage to change one of those tricky chiffon cake recipes.

There are countless times when I have changed recipes—especially accidently, when both children have been talking to me at once—and have had good but surprising results—and then have put the recipe in the paper with a see-what-new-recipe-Mary - has-cooked-up-for-you-today attitude.

But she did hers deliberately. She subsituted 1 tablespoon of water for an egg white. She blithely used what she calls single-action baking powder for double action, adding a mere ½ teaspoon to make up for that word "double."

She flirted around with other details, and the result was so memorable that the recipe is now in my permanent files. And in a moment you will have a chance to add it to yours.

✧ ✧ ✧

DORIS' CHIFFON CAKE

One and one-half cups sifted any kind flour, 3-4 cup sugar, 2 teaspoons single action baking powder (as you see I am quoting), ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup corn oil, ⅜ cup water, 2 egg yolks, ½ teaspoon each of vanilla and lemon flavoring, ¼ teaspoon cream of tartar, 3 egg whites plus 1 tablespoon cold water. Mix and sift first four ingredients. Make a well in them and add the corn oil, water, egg yolks and flavoring (that is the ⅜ cup water). Beat until smooth. Add the cream of tartar to the egg whites and the 1 tablespoon water and beat until egg whites form very stiff peaks. Gently fold first mixture into egg whites until well blended. Fold—do not stir. Turn this batter into ungreased tube pan. Bake in oven of 360 deg. Fahr. about 35 minutes or until cake springs back when touched lightly with tip of finger. (Isn't she precise and dainty sounding?) down, letting hang until cold. Immediately turn pan upside

(This isn't in the recipe but verbally she told me she had never heard of hanging up a cake and the only equipment she could find to do it on was a milk bottle. I presume she stuck the tube part of the tube pan in the top of the bottle. Some people will go to tremendous lengths to follow instructions — but you know I think she has discovered something.) The recipe ends feebly with the remark that if you want to remove the cake from the pan loose with spatula.

Now to give this masterpiece its crowning glory you spread all over:

✧ ✧ ✧

ELSIE'S FLUFFY FROSTING

(Elsie is a friend of hers in her office.)

(I quote.) "Put 1 good tablespoon butter in a saucepan and add 2 squares chocolate (melted). Cool. (I imagine she stirred it some before cooling.) Put 1 heaping cup icing sugar, add ¼ cup milk, stir with spoon to mix. Now beat with rotary beater until it is fluffy like the title says—this may take years! „Amen."

Now you are on your own—apparently she knew how to follow these instructions for the cake she brought to my house was perfect—the best cake I can remember—and in my many years I've tasted plenty of them.

EVERY NORMAL child walks when he is ready to walk. There is no use worrying about him if he is a bit slow or coaxing him to "Come to Mother!"

FOR PARENTS ONLY:

Baby Will Take First Steps When He's Ready To Walk

By NANCY CLEAVER

"Baby took his first steps today!"

What piece of news can compete with this announcement for dramatic interest in the family circle?

It is a Big Moment for parents when baby takes his first steps—especially for young fathers and mothers who have been impatiently hovering over their first child. But every baby starting to walk is something of a miracle. Even if there are a dozen children, this is always an exciting time in the family.

Mothers are apt to be anxious if baby is slow to walk. They compare his age and progress with a neighbour's child, or other babies they have known. Starting to walk re-assures them that their child is making normal progress. He has been a darling baby, but he can't stay an infant forever.

NEVER HURRY

Never try to hurry a baby in walking—nor prevent him from walking once he gets started. Baby will walk by himself when he is ready. This is usually around a year or a year and a half. Some lithe, very active children walk at an earlier age and some heavy, placid youngsters are "slow walkers." But in walking, as is in other skills, parents might as well accept that in timing, as in other things, each child varies.

A baby develops in different ways at his own rate and not according to any one set schedule. When he is concentrating on his new-found power of locomotion, his progress in learning to talk may be temporarily halted. One thing at a time, is baby's idea.

Sometimes a parent is fearful that a child will be bow-legged if allowed to walk too early. Certainly many small youngsters appear to have rather crooked little "underplainings." But a serious bow-legged condition is seldom caused by walking too soon. This appears as a rule from serious malnutrition which produces rickets.

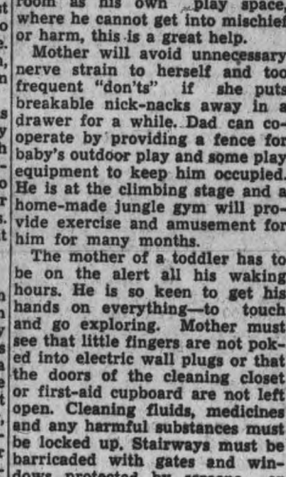
Fortunately in Canada most babies receive an abundance of calcium in milk, a balanced diet, and cod liver oil, and so this bone disease is comparatively rare. A normal, properly-fed small child may have a temporary bow-legged appearance. But his little legs will soon straighten themselves.

A too-anxious mother sometimes rubs her child's legs in an effort to straighten them. Baby's legs do not require massage to kep them in good condition but baby does need proper shoes. They should be light, comfortable, with sufficient support. Mothers must be constantly on the alert that a child's shoes and socks are long enough.

Once in a while a baby is retarded in walking because he feels no need to go exploring. Everything he wants is brought to him, so why should he exert himself? A too great use of a "walker" or stroller also delays a child's striking out on his own.

CAN MAKE CHILD FEARFUL

A parent's over-eagerness can make a child fearful of this new strange feat of walking. What he needs is self-confidence. Neither should mother be too anxious about baby's occasional tumble. He is bound to have a bump once in a while.



But mother does have to take a new look at the house and yard and her own work schedule once baby starts to walk. Now he needs a larger enclosed play area than a small play pen. If he can have part of the kitchen or dining room as his own play space, where he cannot get into mischief or harm, this is a great help.

Mother will avoid unnecessary nerve strain to herself and too frequent "don'ts" if she puts breakable nick-nacks away in a drawer for a while. Dad can cooperate by providing a fence for baby's outdoor play and some play equipment to keep him occupied. He is at the climbing stage and a home-made jungle gym will provide exercise and amusement for him for many months.

The mother of a toddler has to be on the alert all his waking hours. He is so keen to get his hands on everything—to touch and go exploring. Mother must see that little fingers are not poked into electric wall plugs or that the doors of the cleaning closet or first-aid cupboard are not left open. Cleaning fluids, medicines and any harmful substances must be locked up. Stairways must be barricaded with gates and windows protected by screens or bars.

Mother needs to cut out any unessential parts of her usual household routine in order to get sufficient rest. She should plan to lie down in the early afternoon when her child has his nap.

If father will take a little greater responsibility for his child's evening play-time or an outdoor walk, this will lighten mother's load.—Dad will benefit too, by getting to know his small son or daghter much better. Now, more than ever, because he is leaving [illegible] and stepping out into the Big World, a child needs two parents.

Institute Honors Grandmothers At Lakefield

LAKEFIELD — (ENS).—Roll-call at the October meeting of the Lakefield Branch of the Women's Institute, held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. James Charlton, was answered by introducing a grandmother, it being their annual "Grandmother's Meeting."

Honoring grandmothers present prizes were given to Mrs. R. Matthews for having the most great-grandchildren, to Mrs. J. Johnston for being the oldest grandmother present, and to Mrs. Piper of England for being the grandmother present from the farthest distance.

In memory of the late Mrs. Bruce Dunford, a two minutes' silence followed the opening Ode and prayer. The president, Mrs. Howard Bullock, then read a poem "In Memoriam." Mrs. Dunford, at the time of her passing, was health convener and press secretary.

During the business session, Mrs. Clarence Foster reported that 992 persons had been X-rayed at the clinic held here last week. Mrs. Thoams Payton gave an encouraging report on the Girls' Club, and said that three out of five girls had completely finished the Garden Club.

She also stated that two girls had completed their second course. Mrs. Payton is assisted by Mrs. Roy Farrow in this work and these two ladies will attend a training course to be given in Peterborough later in the month. The next project will be "Cottons Can Be Smart."

Plans were completed for the refreshment booth to be held at the Lakefield Fair, and it was decided to ask the ladies of Hall's Glen to bring their play to Lakefield in the near future, if arrangements can be made.

The November meeting will be postponed for one week owing to the annual provincial convention to be held in Toronto. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Fred Kemp on November 13. The question of hiring a bus to go to Toronto at the time of the convention was discussed and members were asked to notify the executive before next Tuesday if they intend to go by bus.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Gordon Dunford, Miss Clara Kidd, Mrs. C. Foster, and Mrs. Wilbert Abbott.

FREE FISH DINNERS

210 Persons Eating Fish In Research Board Test

VANCOUVER (CP) — Sixty-four fish-loving Vancouver families are getting free fish dinners courtesy of the federal Department of Fisheries.

The families—210 persons in all—are testing fish caught by the Tauranga, a specially equipped boat chartered by the department.

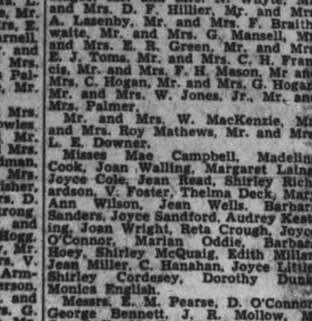
The tests are being conducted for the Fisheries Research Board which has equipped the Tauranga with refrigerating equipment.

The tests are to determine how the market value of fish is affected by various methods of handling after they are caught. The relative merits of freezing at various stages after fish are caught against simply keeping them cool on ice is the main experiment.

The fish are delivered to the testing families in packages marked only with an "R" or an "L".

The tasters fill in questionnaires dealing with odor, flavor and texture, before and after they eat.

Once in a while identical packages are delivered to test the discrimination of the families.



Cod, sole, halibut and other bottom-fish have been tested to date and recently the Tauranga left here for southern waters for a load of tuna.

The taste-testing panel includes people from all walks of life. Until recently it numbered 211—but a policeman was persuaded his cat couldn't fill out a questionnaire.

DOROTHY DIX

Longing For An Ex-Beau Most Futile Occupation

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: At 24, I have been married eight years. My husband is good to me, but my thoughts keep going to the past.

From the time I was 12 until I was 15 I had a sweetheart, Dan Then he joined the army and, two years later, I made the mistake so many girls make. In order to right it, I married Carl. Then Dan came home and said if I had waited for him he would have married me and cared for my son

Though I have seen Dan only occasionally since, I can't stop thinking of him. I know I love him and will never be truly happy without him.

While my husband is a good provider, and kind to us, he says he doesn't love me any more. I feel that by now I have paid for my mistake and am entitled to what happiness I can have with Dan. I don't want to hurt anyone, but I can't go on like this much longer.

WEARY.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You have been living in a dream world for a long time, and by now you should be ready to wake up and face reality! Adding mistake to mistake is not going to bring happiness. You've been making one mistake after another, have achieved nothing but misery, and certainly by now are old enough to realize that wishful thinking is the most unproductive pastime in the world.

YOU WERE TOO YOUNG

You were, first of all ,too young to become seriously interested in Dan. If you had cared for him, surely you would have had the patience to wait for him. A love affair with a boy for whom you apparently didn't have much affection was, of course, the worst mistake and, despite Dan's protestations, you were fortunate to be married afterwards. Dan came home from war as a knight errant, ready, verbally, to take on his lady's trouble. Had you been otherwise situated, his gallantry would not have been so vociferously asserted.

Are you going to compound this tragedy of errors by leaving a husband, who is the father of your child and provides adequately for you? You aren't even sure that Dan still loves you, or is willing to take a wife away from her husband.

Think it over carefully before jumping into another mess.

Mooning over past loves is a sure path to unhappiness taken by all too many wives. Of course, it is a human weakness to feel that the grass is greener in the other fellow's yard, or the fish that got away was the best of the catch, but when the factions involved are as fundamental as one's family, a far-distant graveyard is the safest place for dead romance. Don't try to revive the past—especially at 24. You have a long and productive future ahead of you; make the most of it.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a woman of 58, widowed for the last 30 years. I raised my two children alone. Both are now married and doing well. Now I am unable to work, and have been under doctor's care for some time. My children completely ignore me. They offer no financial assistance, though they know I need it; when they do visit, which is rarely, they stay for a few minutes and run along.—E. A.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Children who neglect a needy parent are the most contemptible breed of humanity I know. And, shameful as it is, their number is legion.

It's a humiliating course to take, but sometimes the only way a mother can obtain even a modicum of help from her offspring is to appeal to a welfare agency or the Family Court. Understandably, a mother would often rather starve than admit such brutal neglect on the part of her sons and daughters. There is nothing else you can do to force them to part with money, and absolutely nothing you can do to awaken them to a sense of duty. Prayer may produce results — it's all you can depend upon.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Is there some way that help can be obtained for those of us who are partially blind, who have over 10% sight without glasses, and up to 50 or 60% with them? Some are being helped by the Institute for the Blind but others of us find it very hard to get along. There must be work we can do. We seem to have too much eyesight to be eligible for help from institutes for the blind, yet we certainly need assistance from someone. Sometimes it seems that it would be better if we were totally blind.

S. H. and B. V.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: There is a widespread need for organized work among those who are partially or almost totally blind. If any of my readers can offer suggestions, or help for these unfortunates, I would be very happy to forward the information to those who need it.

Marmora IODE Plan 10th Anniversary

MARMORA — (ENS). — The September meeting of Marmora Chapter I.O.D.E. was recently held in the Masonic Hall, with a small attendance.

With the Regent presiding, letters of appreciation from people in England who had received food parcels were read. The sum of $20 was voted to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind appeal. The loss of four valued members, Mrs. B. W. Hughes, Mrs. Harry Easton, Miss Cecelia Towns, and Mrs. George D. Young because they have moved, brought expressions of regret. The offices left vacant by them will be left so until nomination meeting in December. It was decided to hold the tenth anniversary meeting on October 26.

A committee will make preparations for the same. Films will be made available to the High School for the coming year. English classes for new Canadians were discussed and every effort will be put forward to support this effort. Members were thanked by the Regent for services rendered and contributions in connection with the recent fair and cooking school.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Readers' Saturday Column Conducted By Mary Moore

QUESTION: From Mrs. W. W. P. asking for Rich Currant Loaf. I hope this resembles what she is seeking.

RICH CURRANT LOAF

One cup milk, 1 cup cold water, 1 fresh yeast cake or 1 package granular yeast, 2 teaspoons salt, ¼ cup sugar, ½ or 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ¼teaspoon cloves is optional, ½ to 1 teaspoon grated nutmeg, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind, 2 tablespoons soft shortening, 5½ cups sifted bread flour, ½ cup each washed and dried raisins and currants, ½ cup finely cut candied peel—this may be mixed or citron only, ¼ cup drained sliced maraschino or glace cherries (use more cherries if desired—such as ¼ cup each red and green). Scald the milk. Add cold water. Test for lukewarm by dropping on wrist—if you cannot feel it when drop touches inside of wrist it is lukewarm. Add crumbled yeast or if dehydrated granular yeast is used add it plus 1 teaspoon sugar. Stir until dissolved and let stand in warm place 20 minutes. Add salt, sugar and spices and orange rind. Sift the flour, then measure into large mixing bowl. Prepare fruits and nuts if used. One-third cup each walnuts and blanched almonds may be added if desired. Add fruits and nuts t sifted flour. Make a well in centre of flour mixture. Add shortening to the lukewarm liquids, mix well, and pour into well in flour. Stir until all flour is dampened. Remove spoon and knead with one hand in bowl using swinging rotary motion, for 5 minutes until dough becomes smooth. Knead on greased, not floured, board for 8 minutes. Then let rise in greased bowl, covered for 2 hours in warm room. Punch down on greased board, shape into 2 loaves, and place in greased loaf pans. Cover and let rise in warm room at least 1½ hours. Bake at 425 for 15 minutes, and at 400 deg. Fahr. for 35 minutes longer. About 5 minutes before baking time is up loaf may be glazed with mixture of 2 tablespoons each sugar and milk.

QUESTION: Could I have sweet mustard pickle and bread and butter pickle and oatmeal drop cookies. Thank you. Mrs. Helen S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I have mailed the pickle recipes to you.

OATMEAL DROP COOKIES

One-half cup soft shortening, or half shortening and half butter, 1¼ cups sugar, 2 eggs, 6 tablespons molasses or corn syrup, 1¾ cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon each salt, soda, cinnamon, 2 cups rolled oats, ½ cup cut-up nuts, 1 cup washed and dried raisins or ½ cup raisins and ½ cup coocoanut. Cream shortening and cream sugar into it. Beat in the eggs and the flour, soda, salt and cinnamon and stir into first mixture. Stir in remaining ingredients. Drop from teaspoon onto buttered cookie sheet, placing them 2 inches apart. Bake 8 or 10 minutes at 400 deg. Fehr.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: Your column is new to me as I have been in this section for only 1½ years. . . earlier this year one of your fans wrote for recipes to vary the meals for her husband who is on a diet for stomach ulcers. . . I want to mention a cook book for stomach ailment patients—it was written by a Chinese doctor whose name I can't remember but a publisher's index could locate the name. "Good Food for Bad Stomachs" has splendid recipes and advice and is by Dr. Sara Jordan and Sheila Hibben, published by Doubleday and costing $3.50.

. . . During the years I was in a bachelor apartment I developed quite a technique in baking cakes in pressure cooker. . . I am enclosing clipping . . . outlining technique step by step . . . I found cake mixes now available just right size for the four or six quart presto cooker.

How long is it advisable to leave 4 or 5 lb. roast at room temperature to warm it up? . . . Do you have a recipe for coffee cake with a mocha and fruit stuffing. . . many thanks for a column that is different. Mary McD.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Thanks to you for all of your help. I used the clipping for column on baking cakes in pressure cookers. Meat requires 2 hours to warm to room temperature after being removed from refrigerator. See rich Current Loaf above. I have mailed you copy of column containing Coffee Cake which appeared earlier this week.

What's Right?

You would like to ask a personal question, but feel hesitant to do so.

WRONG: Go ahead, prefacing your question with an apology such as "I know it is none of my business, but —."

RIGHT: Curb your curiosity and don't ask the question.

Quebec Wants TV Censorship

QUEBEC (CP) — Quebec wants censorship of television programs, both live and filmed, and the government plans legislation giving the Provincial Board of Censors the right to censor CBC productions.

The government's intention was announced yesterday by Premier Duplessis when he disclosed various legislation projects for the first session of the 24th Legislature opening Nov. 12.

Mr. Duplessis told a press conference the government plans to extend jurisdiction of magistrate's court, bring changes to the Electoral Act to prevent irregularities, increase funds for housing and farm aid and enact highway and driving regulations.

He gave no details of the censorship legislation. The law, if adopted, would have the CBC submit programs to the board established to censor motion pictures and obscene literature.

Two Candidates In Good Health

CHICAGO (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Governor Adlai E. Stevenson, their doctors said today, are in good health.

The physical condition of the Republican and Democratic presidential nominees was described by the physicians in replying to a series of questions about their medical records. The questions were submitted by This Week magazine and NEA Service.

Dr. Emmet F. Pearson of Springfield, Ill., Stevenson's doctor, said the governor is in sound health and enjoys "excellent nervous and emotional stability."

Eisenhower's physician, who was not identified, reported the 67-year-old General in "good health."

The replies disclosed that both presidential candidates have to watch their diet because of a tendency toward overweight.

Dr. Pearson said Stevenson, who is 52 and weighs 185 pounds, keeps from becoming overweight by voluntarily restricting fattening foods in his diet.

Eisenhower's doctor reported the General has an excellent appetite but watches his diet.

Town Group W.A. Holds Meeting

MILLBROOK (ENS) — The town group of St. Andrew's Women's Association met on Tuesday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. Chester Fisher. Mrs. Fisher opened the meetnig with the reading of a poem on "Friendship."

The devotional period was taken by Mrs. Homer Ouellette assisted by Mrs. J. T. Crowley who gave the scripture reading.

Mrs Arthur Fallis, the treasurer, reported a bank balance of more than $350.

Further plans were made for the annual bazaar and sale of home baking to be held in the waiting-room on November 15th.

The Rev. Margaret Butler gave the story "Two Thousand Miles for a Book," which dealt with supplying Bibles to the Indians.

Refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed at the close of the meeting.

The November meeting is to be held at the home of the Misses Clarry.

Canada's Chief Nurse Never Lost Faith In People

TORONTO (CP)—When Helen McArthur, at 22, joined the staff of the out-patients clinic of the University of Alberta hospital at Edmonton, it was in the middle of a depression.

The hospital was jammed with patients unable to pay for treatment, and with itinerant laborers, some seeking jobs, some looking for money. Nurses were forbidden to give or lend money to patients.

But Nurse McArthur lent one of her patients 25 cents to buy some dark glasses.

"It must have been an omen," she said in an interview. "Since then I've never ever lost faith in people—that man bought his glasses and was walking down the street when he found a quarter on the sidewalk. He returned to the hospital immediately and paid me my money."

REMEMBERS LESSON

The incident had its lesson which Miss McArthur, at 41, still remembers. Coupled with her faith in people is the steady enthusiasm which she radiates in her present dual job as director of nursing services for the Canadian Red Cross and as president of the Canadian Nursing Association.

Nursing to Miss McArthur has been a career that has encompassed college life and the business of delivering babies on Indian reserves. She has fought epidemics in a district with a radius of 180 miles which boasted one doctor and one other nurse.

Before assuming her administrative duties Miss McArthur in turn had been a bedside, outpost, public health and teaching nurse.

On leaving college her first job was an appointment to the public health staff at High River, Alta., a farming community in the foothills of the Rockies.

REWARDING JOB

Canada's chief nurse remembers her days at Lesser Slave Lake as the most satisfactory life. Here, at 26, she lived in a small house on the fringe of an Indian reserve. She had a few hundred persons to look after. A doctor and another nurse were 60 miles away. Roads often were impassable.

"National jobs may sound important, but you're never nearly as important again as when you were the nurse at the outpost," says Miss McArthur. "It's when you come along and bring a baby into the world all by yourself, because you can't get the mother out and the doctor can't get in, that you get satisfaction."

Later Miss McArthur was offered a fellowship at Columbia University in New York and took courses in advanced obstetrics. She never delivered another baby though, because war broke out and an administration job for which she was slated in Alberta was pushed aside. Instead she was put to teaching nursing at the university.

At the end of the war Miss McArthur entered the government service. One year later she joined the Red Cross as head of its nursing services.

Renew Arguments Eisenhower Veering Toward Isolationism

By JOHN TRACY

NEW YORK (CP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's current swing through the Midwest has renewed the arguments between opposing political camps whether the former commander of North Atlantic Treaty forces is veering now towards isolationism.

Charges that the Republican presidential candidate was becoming a captive of his party's isolationists were first made last month when he obtained the support of Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, his defeated opponent for the presidential nomination.

SURRENDER CHARGED

Before the nomination, Eisenhower indicated that he was opposed to the conservative wing of the party's Old Guard of which Taft is considered the leader. After Taft's assurance of support for Eisenhower, opponents charged that the General had surrendered to the Old Guard.

With the General campaigning in the isolationist-minded Midwest this week, the Democrats have again broken out the theme that Eisenhower has been taken into the camp of the "reactionary Old Guard."

Eisenhower made a speech at Champaign, Ill., Thursday which the New York Post, a supporter of the Democratic ticket, said would find favor with "every die-hard isolationist" bid for votes" because to get Taft's support, Eisenhower "has to swallow the Taft foreign policy, hook, line and sinker, disguised as a budget cut."

"No such cuts are possible without impairing our security — without in fact wrecking it. . ." said Truman. "This would be sheer folly in the face of the known dangers of Soviet aggression."

Eisenhower has not answered specifically the charges that he is moving towards Republican isolationism, but continues to hammer at the Democratic administration for "bungling" close to a third world war.

Holidayer Wounded

ANCONA, Italy (Reuters)—Two Swiss vacationers said yesterday they were shot at by a Yugoslav plane while motor-boating across the Adriatic. They later received an apology from Yugoslav authorities. The men said a Yugoslav plane apparently mistook them for refugees and opened fire with a machine-gun. One of the men was wounded in the leg. Yugoslav authorities, the men said, gave the wounded one $1,000 in compensation.

U.K. Readers Dislike Change

MANCHESTER, England (AP)—Six days ago the Manchester Guardian started printing news on its first page, where for 131 years only classified advertising had appeared. For Britons, it was a horrible earthquake.

Hosts of dear old ladies and gentlemen are sure the world will never be the same. Some who don't like to read news on page one threaten to stop reading altogether.

One indignant man said he guessed he will have to subscribe to The Times of London, which still knows what to do with news—put it back on page six where it belongs.

The Guardian editors admitted they undertook the change only after deep soul-searching.

"Are we to assume," one correspondent asked, "that your readers are so lacking in intelligence that they cannot pick out the salient pieces of news for themselves but must have them presented in bold type on the front page?"

W.A. Will Redecorate Interior Of Church

ROSENEATH (ENS). — Planning to re-decorate the interior of the church, to be paid for by W.A. funds, was the important item of business at the October meeting of St. James' Anglican W. A.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. A. J. Patstone, with the president Mrs. Ray McCracken presiding. Mrs. Jack Webb gave the scripture reading.

Mrs. James Brown, treasurer, reported sending a donation of $10 to assist in purchasing blankets, for the training school for girls in Toronto, leaving a balance on hand of $289.60.

Mrs. James L. Timlin presented the Little Helpers' report and Mrs. W. J. Robins gave a report of Exera-Cent-a-Day activities.

Mrs. John Ferguson, Oak Heights, presented an illustrated travelogue of her recent trip to the Pacific coast and through the southern States.

Mrs. Hector Winkworth conducted a floral quiz which was won by Mrs. Edgar Braithwaite's group.

Plans were made for the November meeting to be held at Mrs. William Robins.

The meeting closed with prayer. Afternoon tea was served by the hostess assisted by Miss Della Plant, Miss Mavora Patstone, Miss Clara Williamson and Mrs. J. Smullin.

Indian Robbed

TORONTO (CP)—Michael Kewagshig, an Indian from Southampton, told police he was beaten unconscious and robbed of $400 when he visited a bootlegger's establishment last night. Police arrested Howard Chard, 29, of Toronto and charged him with robbery with violence.

Kenneth Forbes To Paint Kenner Portrait

One of Canada's most distinguished portrait painters, Kenneth Forbes, R.C.A., has accepted a commission to paint the portrait of the late Dr. H. R. H. Kenner which will hang as a meorial in the new Kenner Collegiate.

Kenneth Forbes, a Canadian living in Toronto, is represented in the Liverpool Art Gallery, the National Gallery of Canada, the Toronto Art Gallery and in other public and private collections. He is famous for his portraits of prominent persons, and these hang in the Houses of Parliament, universities, legislative assemblies and across Canada where persons of consequence have been given the immortality of oil.

The Kenner portrait will be the first Forbes painting to hang in Peterborough.

ARTISTS INTERVIEWED

Before commissioning the painter, the Kenner Memorial Committee sought expert advice and was in communication with various artists about their willingness to undertake the work and their rates. The choice narrowed down to three, and four members of the committee went to Toronto to interview them and see their work. Their findings were reported back to the whole committee, which unanimously decided to ask Mr. Forbes to do the portrait.

Friday, Howard Macdonald, chairman of the Kenner Memorial Fund, announced that Mr. Forbes had accepted the commission, although he usually does not work from photographs.

Numerous photographs and snapshots of Dr. Kenner are available, from which the artist will draw a likeness.

"We are extremely fortunate in securing Mr. Forbes", he said. "He was most co-operative, and, when the public nature of the memorial and of the collection for it was explained, he was sympathetic to the project, and did not let the matter of fee stand in the way."

Portraits done by Kenneth Forbes by commission have carried with them fees ranging from $1,500 to $5,000, depending on the size of the canvas. Under arrangements made with the artist, the amount of the commission fee Mr. Forbes is accepting for the Kenner portrait is not being publicized.

Mr. Forbes, the son of a painter, studied art in Montreal, Cornwall (England), and the Slade School of Art, London, winning numerous prizes and scholarships during his student days. He has had the distinction of having ten canvasses exhibited at the same time at the Royal Academy, London, and was chosen to represent England in the Carnegie Exhibition in the United States in 1924. He has lived in Toronto since that years, but has continued to have work hung at Royal Academy shows.

NOT MODERNISTIC

Mr. Forbes professes an aversion for modernistic art and his work reveals a strong penchant for polished, rich traditional styles.

Mr. Forbes served with fusiliers and machine gunners during the First Great War.

At its meeting this week the Kenner Fund Committee, whose headquarters are at the Collegiate, determined to renew the appeal, and urge those who have not yet subscribed to the portrait and scholarship fund to do so.

The appeal has two purposes to secure a portrait of the long-time principal of the P.C.V.S. and also to memorialize him through establishing scholarships at the new collegiate named in his honor.

Arthur Ptichford, secretary-treasurer says that the Fund is now more than sufficient to pay for the portrait alone, but not enough to establish adequate scholarships as well. The emphasis of the appeal is now given to the scholarships, to get money for them. "Another thousand dollars is needed", he said.

Cheques received during the last two weeks ranged between one dollar and a hundred dollars: and came from Peterborough residents and points as far removed as Newfoundland and Windsor.

Lord Mayor Of London Having Passport Trouble

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON

LONDON (CP)—Sir Leslie Boyce Australian-born Lord Mayor of London, of all people, is having passport trouble.

His difficulty, Sir Leslie told a gathering at a Mansion House function, is that he is no longer recognized as a "British Citizen" and consequently not entitled to renewal of a British passport he has carried since the First World War.

The First Citizen of the Empire's metropolis ran into this spot of bother when he sought an extension of his credentials only to learn that he now is classified as a "Commonwealth citizen," requiring him to take out an Australian passport.

"The legislators. . .have been trying so to fix things that those of us who come from the self-governing dominions will no longer be 'members of the British Empire'—the most glorious institution that history has ever known," Sir Leslie said.

MORE FORTUNATE

"They now tell us that we are members of the Commonwealth of Nations whatever that may mean. Those of you that come from the colonies are more fortunate. I envy you because you have not got these people treating your birthright as though it were something for sale or to buy, telling you that you are no longer a British citizen—although you are probably the first citizen of London—and invalidating your perfectly good passport."

The regulations governing renewal applications such as the Lord Mayor's were embodied in the British Nationality Act, passed in 1948.

Canada had approved a similar measure in 1946 and the other dominions fell in line early in 1949.

Sir Leslie had planned to take his family on a cruise, but as his British passport was about to lapse he applied for three years' renewal.

RETURNED TO HIM

It was returned three weeks later but instead of receiving the renewal stamp a notice had been attached advising Sir Leslie that by an act of Parliament he was no longer a British citizen but an Australian.

In an editorial, the London Evening News deplored the regulations.

"Surely it woul not be beyond the wit of man to devise a common passport for all of them," the paper said. "If the Empire—as Sir Leslie still unashamedly calls it—means anything at all, surely it can bestow such common citizenship?"

Britain To Survey Raising Of Youth

LONDON (CP)—How young people of the present generation are being brought up in Britain is to be the subject of special investigation by the King George Jubilee Trust. Seven government departments, including the Ministries of Education, the Admiralty, War Office and Air Ministry, are to help.

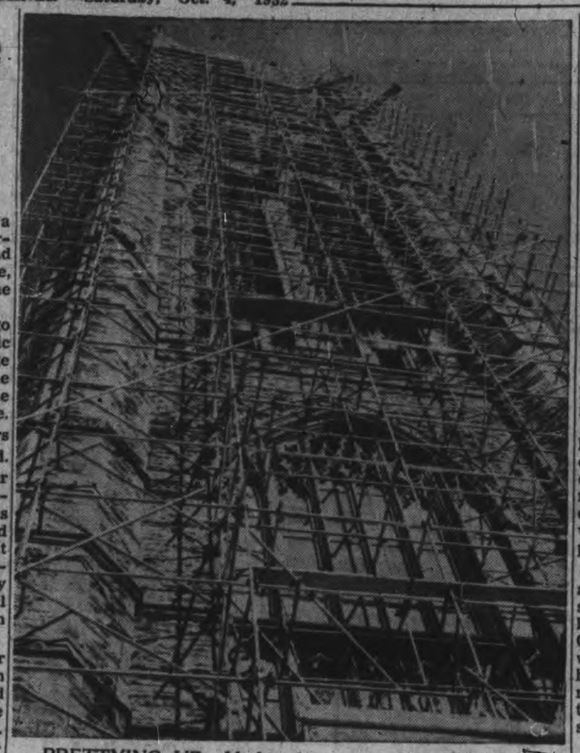
The survey will inquire into the varied influences that affect the young from the time they enter a primary school until they are about 20. For boys, the period of national service also will be covered

The Jubilee Trust, formed to commemorate the silver jubilee of King George V in 1935, is the country's leading organization dealing with the physical, mental and spiritual welfare of the younger generation.

Farmer Killed By Car

HANOVER (CP)—Herman Wedow, 58-year-old district farmer, was killed last night 300 yards from his farm home when he was hit by a car 2½ miles north of here. Police said Wedow climbed off a tractor, walked behind a north-bound car and was struck by a south-bound car. Hanover is 30 miles south of Owen Sound.

Had Music Store Marshall Turner Reaches Age 92



Marshall Turner, formerly a music store owner in Peterborough, is celebrating his 92nd birthday on Sunday at his home, 1395 Monaghan Rd., where he lives with a brother and sister.

It was more than 30 years ago that Mr. Turner had his music store in this city, on north George St. When he closed his shop, he moved to Los Angeles where he lived in retirement with his wife.

Several years ago his wife died, and Mr. Turner returned to Peterborough. His mind is keen and he takes great delight in reading. His hobby of painting still lifes is not often taken up.

Mr. Turner was born in Roseneath, and after living for some years on the family farm, moved to Brighton. From there he came to Peterborough to open his music store.

PRETTYING UP—Under this maze of scaffolding, the Peace Tower of the Parliament Buildings at Ottawa is getting an extensive face-lifting. Workmen are repointing the stone and cleaning out old joints. The big clock (not visible) at the top of the 292-foot tower is being repainted.

Toronto Stock Exchange Adds Half-Hour To Trading Schedule

By HARRY KINGDON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The Toronto Stock Exchange this week added an extra half hour to its trading schedule—but no one seemed to use it.

The volume of shares traded, in fact, declined slightly. In the previous three weeks, an average of about 2,107,000 shares were traded daily. This week the daily average was down to 2,098,000 shares.

Some observers found in this lower volume a ray of encouragement for a stronger market.

The trend in the last four weeks has been downward. An average of all four indices kept by the exchange — industrials, golds, base metals and western oils—shows a decline of 14.98 points in the four weeks.

LACK OF CONFIDENCE

The encouragement comes from a theory that a heavy volume of shares traded in a declining market indicates a lack of confidence. Conversely, a light volume on days when the market declines and a heavier volume on days when it rises should indicate a confidence that the market is due to rise soon.

A survey of the last four weeks with this theory in mind shows:

In the three weeks between Sept. 8 and Sept. 26, the average share volume on declining days was 2,387,000. On days when the market rose or was mixed the share volume averaged 1,827,000. This heavier volume on low days should indicate a weak market.

But this week, the picture changed slightly. On four declining days, the share volume average was 2,000,000. On the one mixed day, the volume averaged 2,197,000 shares. The heavier volume on a better day fostered the belief that the downward trend is petering out.

These figures, of course, provide only an indication and the value of the theory and deductions from it will be seen in the next few weeks.

DECLINE IN MID-WEEK

A look at Toronto and Montreal activity this week showed prices mixed in Toronto with industrials and papers weaker in Montreal. On Tuesday, a decline set in in both centres and continued until papers and industrials turned mixed in Montreal Thursday. Friday, both Toronto and Montreal reported further declines.

New York trading was quiet all week with prices mixed on Monday. A decline set in Tuesday, continuing until a demand for rails and television shares steadied prices Thursday. Prices remained steady Friday.

From Friday to Friday, the Toronto Stock Exchange indices showed industrials down 3.81 at 314.67, golds down 1.18 at 86.70, base metals down 5.04 at 180.60 and western oils down 4.43 at 120.88.

In the Montreal averages, banks were down .30 at 31.20, utilities down .1 at 87.6, industrials down 4.9 at 203.0, combined down 3.3 at 164.5, papers down 21.92 at 672.14 and golds down 1.91 at 64.63.

SIX PERISH—Smouldering ruins were all that was left less than an hour after fire swept a one-room frame house near Sudbury. Mrs. Milton Gauvreau and five children, ranging in age from 16 months to 12 years, died in the blaze. A rescue could not even be attempted, so quickly did flames engulf the structure.

Polio Cases Down Third In Ontario

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario so far this year has had only one-third as many cases of poliomyelitis as in 1951, Health Minister Phillips said yesterday.

Up to Sept. 1, 526 cases of the disease were reported, compared with last year's 1,503 cases, the second heaviest year on record. The worst year was 1937 when nearly 3,000 persons were stricken.

Of this year's total, Dr. Phillips said, 163 persons were paralyzed and there were 22 deaths. Last year, paralysis was present in 486 cases and deaths numbered 67.

NOT SEASONAL CHANGE

Dr. Phillips said a seasonal change had been noticed. "In 1937 the polio season was from about Oct. 15 to Nov. 1. Today it goes almost around the calendar."

The disease seemed to follow a pattern of being high in odd years and low in even years, he added, with a cycle of six years.

Dr. Phillips also said that since 1937 doctors had found that polio no longer is confined almost to children. Today they had many cases occurring in adults between the ages of 20 and 50.

VITAMINS SOURCE

The liver of salt-water fish, especially cod and halibut, is the best natural source of vitamin D.

3-Month Strike Ends At Waterloo

WATERLOO (CP)—Strikers at the Sunshine Waterloo Company Ltd. plant last night voted to end their three-month strike.

About 300 members of local 3292 United Steel Workers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) stopped work July 3 after failure to negotiate a new wage contract.

The new contract, which extends for 18 months, gives employees an hourly increase of 10 cents plus an additional five cents next February, and two weeks' vacation with pay after three years. Piece workers are guaranteed a daily basic rate instead of the fortnightly one. The contract also calls for payment each week instead of every two weeks.

The union originally sought a 30-per-cent increase across the board and the company sought to reduce the wage scale by 5½ cents an hour. The basic rate then was $1.05 with an average rate of $1.20.

Children Die In Fire

KENORA (CP)—Lois Green, 12, and her five-year-old brother, Lorne, children of Mr. and Mrs. Axel Green, died when fire destroyed their two-storey frame house here yesterday. Mrs. Green, who suffered severe burns, escaped from the lower floor with her youngest child, John 4. The father was at work.

Charges Gov't Fails Provide Proper Funds

WINDSOR (CP)—Municipal and provincial governments in Ontario are failing to provide proper funds for the separate education of Catholic children, Most Rev. John C. Cody, Bishop of London, said here last night.

He told members of a Catholic organization this was one reason the diocese is carrying out a fund-raising campaign, to which Windsor residents will be asked to contribute $250,000.

He also said some of the funds may be used to assist in establishing new parishes in West Lorne, Emeryville, London, Chatham, Sarnia and Woodstock.

Claxton Concludes Round Of Conferences

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defence Minister Claxton of Canada, concluding a round of conferences and inspections in the United States, said last night that "great progress" has been made during the last two years in building up the mutual defences of the two countries.

Claxton talked to reporters as he neared the end of a six-day visit.

Cavan W.A. Holds Church Meeting

CAVAN (ENS). — The Cavan W.A. met in the United Church on Wednesday. The president, Mrs. Ray Sayer, was in charge of the meeting and conducted the devotional period.

Miss A. Tinney was at the organ. Mrs. Armitage read the scripture. It was decided to make some quilts in the near future. It was also decided to hold a supper and bazaar Oct. 29 and to have films shown by the National Film Board following the supper.

Committees were appointed to make arrangements for the supper and bazaar. The motion was passed that the W.A. give the same amount as last year to the fall thank-offering. The president closed the meeting with a benediction.

Russians Like Scott

MOSCOW (Reuters) — The English-language newspaper Moscow News yesterday published a special article commemorating the 120th anniversary of the death of novelist Sir Walter Scott. The article said the Scots writer is a great favorite with Russian readers.

Check Records For 10 Years

TORONTO (CP)—Police dug back 10 years into the attendance records of a west-end public school seeking to identify a person seen near a drug-store held up Sept. 22.

As a result Joseph Reback, 23, was arrested in Brantford yesterday. He was charged with armed robbery in connection with the hold-up Aug. 6 and again Sept. 22 of Louis Quirk, east-end druggist.

Police said that after the Sept. 22 hold-up they were told by an unidentified person that he had seen a young man near the shop whose face was familiar. He said he had once lived in the district and gone to the same school, adding that he would know the name if he heard it.

Police checked school records until the citizen recalled the name.

Turkeys Flourish

SASKATOON (CP) — Saskatchewan had the largest increase in turkey population of any province this year, says Prof. W.J. Rae, head of the poultry department at University of Saskatchewan. The increase here was 95.2 per cent, compared with 47.1 for all Canada.

St. Thomas Guild Pot Luck Dinner

MILLBROOK (ENS) — The members of St. Thomas' Anglican Guild enjoyed a pot luck supper at the home of Mrs. T. A. Campbell on Wednesday evening. Among the guests was the rector, the Rev. A. A. Chote.

Following the supper the regular guild meeting was held. Mrs. Percy Hamilton, the president, was in the chair and conducted the opening prayers. Mrs. Campbell, the treasurer, reported a profit of $78.05 from the rummage sale held last week, and that there was a satisfactory bank balance.

It was decided to hold another rummage sale in the waiting-room on November 8th to dispose of the remaining articles. It was decided also that educational films from the National Film Board should be shown on two Thursday nights in October. The second one will be on October 30th.

Detailed plans for the bazaar and tea to be held in the waiting-room on October the 25th were completed.

Mrs. Albert Jones, a recent bride, was presented with two lovely Colport china cups and saucers.

The nomination meeting will be held in November at the home of Mrs. Percy Hamilton.

Liquor Charges Swell Court

BANCROFT (ENS).—During a lengthy session in Magistrate's Court at Bancroft on Wednesday afternoon, Magistrate R. C. Jackson heard a variety of cases.

Pleading guilty to charges of keeping liquor for sale and illegal possession, Reginald Bowers, 25, Bancroft, was sentenced to two months imprisonment on the first charge, and a fine of $100 and costs on the second, with an alternative of three months, consecutive to the first penalty. He was committed on both charges.

Arthur Dionne, St. Ola resident, charged with keeping liquor for sale illegally, was remanded to October 15 for judgment. Dionne was defended by W. J. Arthur Fair, Q.C., Peterborough. The case was prosecuted by Crown Attorney Gordon Robertson, Q.C.

On conviction of supplying liquor to a minor, Harold Storey, Bancroft, was sentenced to one month in jail. Bernard Phillips, 20-year-old St. Ola youth, was fined $50 and costs for driving while his licence is under suspension, and $10 and costs on a charge of failing to notify the Department of Highways of purchase of a car. His car was impounded for three months.

Maynooth resident, Alexander Shields, 20, was placed on a one year suspended sentence when he was convicted of the theft of a quantity of gasoline. He was ordered to pay court costs amounting to $34.50 and was fined $10 and costs for careless driving and a like amount for causing a disturbance in a public place.

Having undersized bass cost Orval Dingman and William Ormond $10 each.

Four other men paid fines for infractions of the Highway Traffic and Liquor Control Acts.

Get Out Of Town Or Take Jail Term

LINDSAY (ENS) —A promise to get out of town within a week saved John Pethick, originally of Port Hope, from a sentence on a third conviction within two months on a drunk charge in Lindsay police court Friday.

Pethick was arrested for the third time since late August, Thursday by Constable Percy Mark. He pleaded guilty to the charge but said he had a job waiting for him in Weston. He promised to get out of town and be ready to start work on Monday.

Magistrate Gee remanded Pethick out of custody for a week. If he is in town when the time is up, he will be sentenced as a third offender, and will spend some time in the county "boarding house" as the magistrate calls the jail.

How To End Korean War Big Problem

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—How to end the war in Korea stands out as the biggest problem among the 65 items on the preliminary agenda of the United Nations General Assembly which opens Oct. 14.

But there are other issues packing plenty of explosive power, including racial strife in South Africa and demands for independence from Tunisia and Morocco.

The questions of atomic control and general disarmament, which have highlighted past Assembly sessions, are up for study again although these problems seem hopelessly deadlocked by the cold war. Russia, however, has thrown propaganda resolutions on disarmament into previous Assemblies and could do so again.

PEARSON LIKELY HEAD

Canada's External Affairs Minister, L.B. Pearson, is expected to be at the centre of all debates as president of the Assembly. His candidature for the top post is unopposed so far.

He will be the first Assembly president to bang the gavel in the new General Assembly hall of the U.N. permanent headquarters on the banks of the East River in mid-Manhattan. The $68,000,000 headquarters is made up of three buildings—the 39-storey Secretariat Building which houses the U.N.'s 3,600 staff members, the low-lying conference building, and the General Assembly building.

Being completed in time for the Assembly opening.

Delegates and advisers from the 60 countries which make up the U.N. will fill the auditorium floor and in the gallery there will be room for 800 visitors and 234 newspaper men. There are also facilities for radio and television coverage of the Assembly.

TV ON HAND

The TV cameras will again be focussed on such figures as the fiery Andrei Vishinsky, Russia's Foreign Minister, State Secretary Dean Acheson of the United States, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Britain and Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France.

Acheson will be on hand at the beginning, ready, it is reported, to make U.S. statements before the U.S. presidential election Nov. 4. But Eden and Schuman will not be coming to the Assembly until after the elections since they feel that any policy statements they might make would be misconstrued as attempting to influence the U.S. elections. Vishinsky also may be delayed by the Communist party congress in Moscow.

KOREAN DEBATE SURE

This assembly is certain to discuss the Korean war—the first time in 1½ years that any U.N. body has done so directly. At the last Assembly the majority went along with the U.S. view that a discussion of the problem should be avoided until there was an armistice or "other development."

Now the U.S. is reported to be ready to slap a resolution down immediately after the opening of the North Koreans and Chinese Communists to end the war on the basis of the latest truce terms and, if not, to face the possibility of another U.N. condemnation and stricter embargoes.

Discussion in the Assembly of the details of the disagreements on exchange of prisoners of war could, in effect, bring the truce talks into the Assembly. The prisoners issue has deadlocked the truce talks to date. Its solution apparently would lead to an immediate truce.

DISLIKES 'MEDDLING'

Observers are speculating whether there will be only 59 delegates instead of 60 at the main Assembly and committee meetings after the session gets under way. South Africa's Prime Minister Daniel Malan has threatened to withdraw South Africa from the U.N. if the world organization does not stop what he calls "meddling" in South African affairs.

Malan objects to the U.N.'s demand that South Africa bring under the U.N. trusteeship the former German colony of Southwest Africa which South Africa now controls under a mandate from the League of Nations. Also the U.N. has repeatedly attempted to mediate the dispute between India and Pakistan and the South African trouble over the question of treatment of Indians in that country. These Indians in South Africa have come under the restrictions of the Malan government's racial discrimination policies.

These policies are expected to provoke one of the most bitter of U.N. debates since a group of Arab-Asian countries recently decided to demand that the U.N. discuss the problem of racial unrest in South Africa as a threat to international peace.

Other Arab-Asian projects are demands for independence for Tunisia and Morocco. Debate of these demands has been put off at previous Assemblies but the Arab-Asian group is so insistent it is accepted that they will be discussed now. France, as administrator of the two territories, is expected to argue that they are no concern of the U.N. and a tough fight is in the offing, reflecting the growth of nationalism among under-developed areas.

Among other problems the Assembly will discuss are: Proposed new memberships in the U.N.; the U.N.'s budget for 1953 of $47,765,200—$331,556 less than 1952; land reform; Arab refugees from Palestine and world refugees generally; freedom of information; the Israeli-Arab conflict; economic development of backward areas and technical assistance; and an Austrian peace treaty.

"Now I had opened the way to the depot at the head of the river, there was no other difficulty to surmount than the prevailing sickness, the fever and the ague which at this time was as common among the old settlers as among ourselves. The first party I had ascended the river with consisted of 20 men of the country hired as axemen, and 30 of the settlers; not one of these men escaped the ague and fever, and two died."

3 Hurt As Racers Crash

BRANTFORD (CP)—Two stock cars crashed through the guardrails at Mohawk Place here last night, injuring three spectators. Paul Rutherford and Donald Henderson of Burford and Jerry Powers of Brantford were taken to hospital. Their injuries are not believed serious. The two drivers, Clark Hood of Brantford and John Reek of Kitchener, were not injured.

Grauman's Place Monument To Film Greats

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Footprints in the cement of the forecourt of Grauman's Chinese Theatre are one of the few permanent marks a movie star can leave.

Most fame is fleeting, but it is particularly so in Hollywood.

In Hollywood there are no museums and virtually no monuments, and little is written in the way of permanent history.

It was a stroke of his showmanship genius when the late Sid Grauman thought up the idea of having stars make their marks in the gooey cement. Tourists never seem to tire of fitting their shoes into the footprints of the famous.

AH, MEMORIES

Many of the names on the forecourt floor have disappeared from the Hollywood scene. Colleen Moore, Pola Negri, Norma and Constance Talmadge, Diana Wynyard.

Many others have been claimed by death: Jean Harlow, Bill Hart, Douglas Fairbanks, Wally Beery, Tom Mix, May Robson.

Some of the signatures bring back memories of idyllic marriages that went sour. For instance, Doug Fairbanks and Mary Pickford, first to sign in 1927, appear side by side. So do Dick Powell and Joan Blondell. And Barbara Stanwyck and Robert Taylor made their marks in the same block of cement. Their marriages proved not as permanent.

Also recorded in the cement are famous mementoes of movie history. One can view the imprint of John Barrymore's profile, Betty Grable's legs.

In the past, stars were selected for the cement immortality because of their great achievements. But now the selections are generally made to publicize a picture that is opening at the Chinese.

FLOATING MINING PLANT TAKES A TRIP—One of the most remarkable accomplishments in the history of U.S. industry took place recently with the building and dramatic moving of the world's only floating sulphur mining plant 65 miles from Grande Ecaille, La., to Bay Ste. Elaine. The unique, $2,000,000 plant, built by the Freeport Sulphur Company to extract sulphur from a deposit hundreds of feet beneath Bay Ste. Elaine, will pour nearly 2,000,000 gallons of superheated water (325 degrees F.) into the deposit every 24 hours to melt the sulphur. At full operation, the plant is expected to produce 100,000 long tons of sulphur a year. Photo shows the plant, mounted on a huge steel barge, being towed through a narrow canal in the Louisiana marshland. Most difficult part of the trip was negotiating a 90-degree turn into Bayou Lafourche to get the unweildy plant through a swing bridge at Leeville.

Costly Schools

OSHAWA (CP)—Board of Education has called for tenders for construction of four new public schools. The schools, of one-storey construction, will cost about $175,000 each.

3-Day Delivery On Army Mail

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's army and air force personnel in Europe are going to get a three-day delivery service on air mail from home.

Defence headquarters said yesterday a nucleus postal depot has been established in London to expedite internal movement of mail to and from the armed services in Britain. An air division postal unit near Metz, France, staffed by Canadian postal corps personnel, will handle mail for all R.C.A.F. units in France.

By mid-October the three-day service will be in effect.

Headquarters said that for choice of gifts being sent home by airmen in France it's Parisian perfume two to one. Gifts from members of the 27th brigade in Germany are mostly leather goods.

Eisenhower Says He Doesn't Agree With Methods Used By McCarthy

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower came out formally yesterday for the re-election of Senator Joseph R. McCarthy but said—in the presence of the Wisconsin Senator—that he does not agree with McCarthy's methods.

Eisenhower made the statement at his first whistle-stop appearance in McCarthy's home state.

McCarthy has been the centre of sharp controversy ever since he first charged, more than two years ago, that Communists had wormed their way into the federal government, and in some cases, he said, reached high office. The Senator's opponents accused him of "character assassination."

Standing on the back platform of his campaign train yesterday, Eisenhower first urged his audience to vote for all the Republican candidates in Wisconsin—which would include McCarthy, who won the Republican nomination last month. Then Eisenhower said:

"It is, of course, well known to you and to many others that there have been differences of opinion, sometimes on important matters, between me and the other people in the Republican party. Indeed, it would be a miracle if there were not.

"The differences between me and Senator McCarthy are well known to others. But what is more important is that they are well known to him and to me, and we have discussed them.

"I want to make one thing very clear. The purposes that he and I have of ridding this government of the incompetents, the dishonest, and above all the subversive and the disloyal, are one and the same. Our differences, therefore, have nothing to do with the end result we are seeking.

"The differences apply to method."

Ohio Man Drowns On Fishing Trip

BLIND RIVER (CP) — Thomas James Stuver, 62, of Berbarton, Ohio, was drowned Thursday in the Mississaugi River.

Stuven and Herman Kaiser, also of Berbarton, were fishing in an outboard motor boat when it capsized in a heavy whirlpool on the lower end of the river. Kaiser was able to swim to shore.

Blind River is 86 miles east of Sault Ste. Marie.

Yanks Even Series 3-2

EBBETTS FIELD, BOOKLYN—New York Yankees edged out the Brooklyn Dodgers 3-2 in the sixth game of the World Series today to tie the series up in games, 3-3. Raschie was credited with the win, though Allie Reynolds came in to relieve him in the eighth. Home runs told the story again, as Duke Snider slammed out two for the Dodgers, and Yogi Berra and Mickey Mantle hit one each for the Yankees. The Yankees went ahead in the seventh inning when they scored two runs, scored again in the eighth to sew it up. Dodgers came back with a run in the bottom of the eighth on Snider's second homer, threatened slightly in the ninth when Reynolds was shaky, but could do nothing.

Billy Loes, 22-year-old righthander 13-8 was Manager Charlie Dressen's choice to oppose New York's Vic Raschi 16-6. Loes only series experience came in the second game in relief of Carl Erskine. He hurled two innings and got socked for a three-run homer by Billy Martin.

Raschi won the second game when he topped Erskine with a three-hitter. The veteran righthander is starting today with only three days of rest.

Umpires — Passarella (AL), plate; Goetz (NL), first base; McKinley (AL), second base; Pinelli (NL), third base; Honochick (AL), left field; Boggess (NL), right field.

A capacity crowd of some 35,000 was on hand in the bright, sunny weather.

FIRST INNING

YANKEES: Art Passarella, who figured in yesterday's controversial decision at first base, was soundly booed when his name was announced as the plate umpire. McDougald took two called balls, then went out on a hard grounder to Cox. Rizzuto raised a soft pop to Reese on the edge of the outfield grass. Mantle walked on five pitches. Mize flied to Snider who made a fine running catch of the looping driver in right-centre. No runs, no hits, no errors, one left.

DODGERS: Cox dropped a looping double just inside the left-field foul line. Reese, attempting to sacrifice, [illegible] out with [illegible] stretched arms. The bandits, passing ribald jokes among themselves, searched women passengers to the underclothes for money and jewelry. Men who protested were forced to drop their trousers to the ankles.

Stevenson Shifts Speeches To Reds

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Governor Adlai E. Stevenson's campaign for the presidency reached a crossroads today—with a shift in emphasis and issues. From a series of speeches built largely around selling the idea that another Democratic election victory will mean continued prosperity, the Democratic nominee turned to drafting a major address on the menace of Communism. The prosperity theme ran through speeches Friday and Saturday in Ohio, Iowa and Minnesota. The Communism issue, on the basis of present plans, is to be the topic of a major address in Detroit tomorrow night—the first major address on a five-day aerial sortie into seven states in the midwest and deep south.

From using a deft, sharp needle to jab at the Republican party and at Republican candidate Dwight D. Eisenhower, Stevenson apparently has switched to a sledge hammer approach.

COUNTERS IKE'S CHARGE

As he swung through Ohio, Iowa and Minnesota at the close of last week, Stevenson bore down on the premise that the American people have been pretty happy and prosperous for the better part of 20 years under Democratic administration. That, obviously, was intended to counter the Republican time-for-a-change chant, and Eisenhower's statements that dollars aren't worth as much as they used to be.

He called Eisenhower a captive of the Republican "old guard," a man who "seems to have embraced or been embraced by the most reckless and embittered wing of his party."

He said Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin is a "champion of the inquisition, champion of trial by ordeal and slander."

He said Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio is the political mentor of the general and a man who has "made opposition a matter of principle."

RAPS MUMBO-JUMBO

Then, in one of the broadest swipes he has taken so far at the rival party the Democratic nominee went on to say:

"With do-nothing, care-nothing, mindless mumbo-jumbo they will let America and the world slide into depression. And such misery bears the seeds of another world war.

"They are the party of confusion, hesitation, weakness, and that is the signpost that points to disaster and war."

5 Drown As Car Drops Into River

L'ISLET, Que. (CP) — Two women and three children were drowned Saturday night when their automobile was backed over the side of a pier in this lower St. Lawrence south shore town and dropped into 12 feet of water.

The dead were identified as Mrs. Henri Cloutier, her three children —twin girls aged six and a seven-year-old son—all of Quebec, and Mrs. Georges Cloutier, 38, of L'Islet, about 40 miles from Quebec.

Georges Cloutier said the five victims were sitting in the automobile with the engine idling. The headlights were shining on his brother and other fishermen when the ebbing tide forced them to advance along the long concrete pier.

He said his wife, apparently unfamiliar with his brother's car, shifted into reverse gear. The automobile shot out of control, dropping over the side.

Lost In Dense Bush Pair Find Way Out

TIMMINS (CP) — Ray Blood, 29-year-old mine machinist of South Porcupine, and his 10-year-old nephew Ray Woods, returned home today after a night spent in 20-degree weather in dense bush four miles east of here.

The two became lost while partridge hunting and passed the night beside a camp-fire which in addition to keeping them warm kept the bears prowling in the area.

Meanwhile a party of three miners, Jerry Helle, 26, Albert Menard, 26, garageman Art Miller, 27, still are missing in bush country 15 miles west of here. The three disappeared yesterday while on a hunting expedition. Jackets, lunch pails, shotgun shells and partridge were found in their car.

Hint Mossadegh May Seek Further U.K. Negotiations

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—A source close to Iran's government suggested last night that Premier Mohammed Mossadegh may seek further negotiations on the latest Anglo-American notes on the oil crisis, even though the western replies ignored Iran's recent "last-ditch" demands and stood on the west's last offer.

The communications from Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Britain and State Secretary Dean Acheson of the United States, delivered yesterday, said Mossadegh had "misunderstood" the meaning of the Aug. 30 joint proposals from Prime Minister Churchill and President Truman.

But though they ignored Iran's last demands for back royalties, the new notes did spell out western acceptance of four concessions Mossadegh had demanded for more than a year.

This, it was felt, might induce the Premier not to carry out his threat to withdraw his diplomatic representatives from London if Britain does not accept his conditions for settling the 18-month-old dispute that followed nationalization of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company's properties in Iran.

In London, sources said first reports from Britain's charge d'affaires in Tehran indicated Mossadegh's reaction was not favorable.

EMPHASIZE 4 POINTS

The new Anglo-American notes emphasized the previous Truman-Churchill offer included these points — although they were not spelled out then:

Britain recognizes the nationalization of Iran's oil industry; Britain recognizes Iran's right to manage her oil industry herself; Britain does not seek a monopoly on buying Iranian oil, and Britain does not seek to revive Anglo-Iranian's 1933 oil concession.

The Iran informant suggested Mossadegh may seize on these points as an Iranian victory and then ask for continued negotiations on claims for compensation made by both sides.

Judge's Wife, Grandchild Die In Crash

Milk Board Chairman One of 6 Others Injured In Accident

POWASSAN (CP)—The wife and granddaughter of Judge A. B. Currey, chairman of the Ontario Milk Board, were fatally injured Saturday night near here in a two-car crash. Also killed was Ivan W. Cline, 22, North May hydro meter reader.

Judge Currey, 64, and five others were taken to hospital suffering multiple fractures, lacerations and shock. An attending physician said last night all appeared to be out of immediate danger.

The granddaughter, Jane Ann, 21 months, was riding on the knee of her grandmother on the front seat beside the judge. The child's mother, Mrs. John Currey, 29, of Sudbury, war riding in the back seat with an aunt, Mrs. Floss Currey, about 60, of Newmarket.

The judge's car collided with one driven by Donald Hartwick, 25, of North Bay. Cline, Mrs. Harold Cline, 24, and Viola Smith, 20, were passengers.

The judge's wife, 66, died on the way to hospital and Jane Ann died yesterday. Cline died shortly after being admitted to hospital.

CHANGED SEATS

"My wife told me she asked Jane to ride in the back seat, but she wanted to ride in the front with her grandparents. The radio was playing and she was humming a little song just before the crash occurred," said John Currey, son of the judge. A C.P.R. fireman at Sudbury, he rushed to North Bay after the accident.

"Father was scheduled to attend a meeting of the Milk Board in Toronto on Tuesday. The party stopped at Sudbury and took my wife and daughter along for a holiday in the city," Currey said.

He said his father told him in hospital that another car northbound, had suddenly driven straight for the Currey auto. The judge swung his car to the right but could not escape the impact. The Currey car came to rest strad-

Bandits Rob 250 Travellers

CAGLIARI, Sardinia (AP) — The grimmest manhunt this bandit-infested island has ever known was organized today to track masked highwaymen who robbed 250 travellers while police massed in the big cities for their annual parades.

Italy's top bandit-smasher, Gen. Ugo Luca, sent here after wiping out the notorious Salvatore Giuliano band in Sicily, rushed hundreds of Carabinieri to the mountains where the bandits staged their Sunday robbery.

The 10 masked men, carrying tommy-guns, roadblocked the main highway near Ozieri, less than 40 miles from General Luca's headquarters at Nuoro. For two hours they stopped all autos and buses, [illegible] passengers out with [illegible]

DIES SUDDENLY—Canada's first ambassador to the United States, Hon. Leighton Goldie McCarthy died suddenly Saturday. He was 82.

Ex-Ambassador Hon. L. McCarthy Dies Suddenly

PENETANGUISHENE, Ont. (CP)—Hon. Leighton Goldie McCarthy, 82, Canada's first Ambassador to the United States and a leading business man and lawyer for more than half a century, died suddenly Saturday.

He collapsed after listening to a World Series broadcast at his summer home, Longuissa, at this Georgian Bay resort.

In Ottawa, Prime Minister St. Laurent said Mr. McCarthy, as Canadian ambassador throughout the greater part of the Second World War, "crowned a lifetime of public service to our country."

As Canadian minister in Washington from 1941 to 1943 and for the next two years as ambassador, Mr. McCarthy was noted as a shrewd observer of the American scene. He was a close friend of the late President Roosevelt and was a trustee of Roosevelt's Warm Springs Foundation, a development for paralytics.

Mr. McCarthy was president of the Canada Life Assurance Company from 1928 to 1938 and then was appointed chairman of the board. He resigned this office in 1946, but continued as a member of the board.

In recognition of his work over a period of 35 years with the Canadian Red Cross he was awarded the Society's highest honor as honorary counsellor in 1949.

Mr. McCarthy was born in Walkerton, Ont. and educated in Barrie. He was called to the Bar of Ontario in 1892 and moved to Toronto. He later was the senior member of the law firm of McCarthy and McCarthy.

When only 29 he was elected Liberal Member of Parliament for Simcoe North in 1898, succeeding his uncle, D'Alton McCarthy. He was re-elected in 1900 and 1904 and retired in 1908. Three years later he ran for election in his old constituency, but was defeated in the general Liberal rout.

Following the outbreak of the Second World War, he volunteered his services to the government and in 1941 he was given the diplomatic post in Washington. He spent his remaining years in Toronto.

He was predeceased by his wife, the former Muriel Drummond, in 1949. Surviving are four daughters and one son.

Chief Justice Pickup Swears In MacKay

TORONTO (CP)—In a ceremony before Chief Justice J. W. Pickup today Mr. Justice F. G. MacKay of Owen Sound was sworn in as a justice of the Supreme Court of Ontario and a member of the Ontario Court of Appeals. It was Mr. Pickup's first official function since his appointment as chief justice.

Mr. MacKay, called to the bar Sept. 13, 1923, was prominent in Owen Sound and Walkerton trial courts for many years. He became a King's Counsel in 1938 and was active in the Law Society of Upper Canada.

The new justice was congratulated by Cyril F. H. Carson, treasurer of the Law Society of Upper Canada, who also welcomed Mr. Pickup on behalf of the members of the bench. Hon. James C. McRuer, chief justice of the high court, welcomed the two men on behalf of the other justices.

Tackle Everest

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Six Swiss mountain climbers toiled up the bleak slopes of unconquered Mount Everest today for a final struggle toward the snow-covered summit, 5½ miles high. No man has ever climbed this world's tallest peak and returned to tell about it.

It was the second attempt this year for the Swiss party. One of the team, Raymond Lambert, climbed to within 900 feet of the summit May 28 before fierce storms drove him back. A husky alpine mountain guide, Lambert lost all his toes and several fingers while guiding a climbing party up Mont Blanc on the French-Swiss-Italian border during the bitter winter of 1938-39.

The six men left their base camp, 12,200 feet up in the Himalayas, yesterday. Two men will be chosen at the last advance camp to make the final effort to reach the top.

Their success or failure likely will remain unknown to the world for at least three weeks after their final climb toward the peak. Their only means of communication is by special runners from the base camp to Katmandu, Nepal's capital, 170 miles away.

Nine Children Orphaned By Tragedy

Planned To Spend Day At Camp East of North Bay

NORTH BAY (CP)—Five persons were drowned—two of them doctors—when a boat upset Sunday afternoon on Moran Lake, part of the Kipawa Lake Chain about 50 miles northeast of North Bay.

Word of the tragedy reached North Bay this morning.

The victims were all from Ville Marie, Que. They were identified as Jean Savoie, a veterinary surgeon, and his wife; Dr. Emil Gaboury, a dentist; Mrs. Louis Dobbout and Mrs. G. Morin, 24. Nine children were orphaned by the tragedy.

They were in a party of eight persons who motored from Ville Marie to the lake Sunday afternoon and brought two boats.

The five who were drowned started up the lake in the larger of the two boats, powered by a 25-horsepower motor.

In the second boat, a 16-foot skiff with five horsepower motor were Dr. Godbout, Dr. Morin and a Mr. Piche.

The three in the small boat reached the camp of a doctor friend where the eight planned to visit and waited for the others.

When they failed to make an appearance, the three set out to investigate. A few miles down the long, narrow lake they found the larger boat upset.

Search of the waters and shoreline showed no signs of survivors.

Dragging operations have been started but none of the bodies has been found.

The party's plan was to spend the day at the camp and return to Ville Marie Sunday night.

2 Armed Thugs Rob Tavern

TORONTO (CP) — Two armed men, wearing empty money bags as masks, robbed a tavern of $1,500 in cash today.

Mrs. Ruth Straum, cashier at the Town Tavern in downtown Toronto, was checking her cash shortly after 9 a.m. when she heard a knock on the locked door.

A man said "This is Johnny, open up." Mrs. Straum thought it was one of the entertainers at the tavern and opened the door.

One man carried a knife and the other a revolver. They threatened Mrs. Straum with the knife and when she became hysterical, they told her to calm down, "we don't want a murder on our hands."

They took the cash she was checking and fled.

Marines Fight 6 Hours Fail To Take Hill

SEOUL, Korea — (AP) — U.S. Marines fought through six bloody hours of Chinese Communist artillery and machine-gun fire today in a futile effort to recapture an important hill positions on Korea's western front.

The Marines [illegible] close to the crest of the low outpost hill, but the Reds held fast. Chinese troops captured the hill Friday.

Most of the action along the 155-mile battlefront last night and today centred on the sensitive western front. Patrol clashes were reported from the eastern end of the line.

Malenkov Unloads Scathing Attack On U.S. And Bosses

MOSCOW (AP)—George M. Malenkov opened the 19th all-Soviet Communist party congress last night with an hours-long denunciation of the United States and its "bosses," who he said were bent on world domination and war on the Soviet Union. Keynoting the first such party congress in 13 years, the leading member of the Soviet Union's ruling Politburo charged the United States is driving the capitalistic world toward economic breakdown and war, while the Soviet Union seeks only peace and is growing ever stronger and more prosperous.

Joseph Stalin and an audience of 2,000 delegates in the Kremlin's great hall heard Malenkov as he charged the "bosses" of the United States had decided to "wreck the peace and prepare a new war," a war on the Soviet Union, the "chief opponent of a new war and the chief pillar of peace."

STRENGTHENING DEFENCE

The Soviet Union, Malenkov continued, is "unwaveringly carrying out a policy of peaceful co-operation with all countries," but he warned that because of the "threats of new aggression from the side of the western warmongers, it is strengthening and will strengthen its defence capabilities."

Malenkov's long speech was made public first on a broadcast early today by Tass, the Soviet news agency. (Non-Communist reporters are not attending the congress sessions.) The keynote address, delivered in the past by Stalin himself, presumably laid the basis for policies to be approved by the congress. (Malenkov is generally regarded as Stalin's most likely successor.)

Also on the agenda of the congress sessions, expected to last a week, are approval of the new five-year plan launched 18 months ago for vast increases in industrial and agricultural production, and major changes in the party's organization, [illegible]dling the highway, while Hart-

Underground Group Admitted In Russia

LONDON (AP)—Georgi Malenkov, right hand man of Joseph Stalin, admitted last night the Soviet hierarchy still has underground opposition in Russia.

Reporting to the 19th Communist party congress, Malenkov said:

"We are not ensured against the influence of hostile ideology from abroad, or from the remnants of hostile ideologies at home which have not yet been eradicated.

"When ever any organization is weak, an attempt is always made by elements of the anti-Lenin groups to secure control of them."

Malenkov's speech was broadcast by Moscow radio and monitored here.

20 British Seamen Drowned As Boat Sinks

HULL, England (AP) — Twenty seamen of the British fishing trawler Norman drowned when their 629-ton vessel foundered in a dense [illegible], it was reported here today.

Only one survivoer, 19-year-old Norman Spencer, was picked out of the icy sea by a Norwegian ship, Poseidon. Another fishing trawler reported picking up eight bodies.

The crew, all of whom came from Hull, abandoned ship Saturday.

Plan Statue, Fund To Be King's Memorial

LONDON (Reuters)—Prime Minister Churchill told the country Saturday night that the memory of King George VI will be kept alive with a statue in London and also a charitable foundation.

In a broadcast launching a national memorial fund, the Prime Minister asked Britons "to give as much or little as your circumstances allow to a noble cause in memory of a kind, good man."

The King died last February after a long illness at the age of 56. He had reigned 15 years.

The first task, said Churchill, is to raise a statue "to carry to the living generation and to those who come after us a physical presence of the king."

SCULPTOR NOT CHOSEN

The sculptor is yet to be chosen and site selected, he said.

Churchill said it was certain the King would have wished that a greater part of the money collected would be spent in charitable causes which he cherished

"We therefore intend that apart from the money set aside for the statue, what you feel able to offer should be used to form a permanent foundation called after King George VI, for the spiritual, mental and physical needs of both the young and of the old."

He asked his listeners to send their offerings to the Lord Mayor of London, Australian-born Sir Leslie Boyce, who is organizing the fund drive.

Punched In Face Youth 20 Dies

TORONTO (CP) — A 20-year-old youth died yesterday after he had been punched once in the face by an unknown attacker. An autopsy on the youth, Leslie Arndt of Toronto, showed he died of a brain haemorrhage.

After the assault, Arndt was brought home by a friend, Allan F. Groff, 22, of Toronto, and an all-night watch was kept by his mother. Mrs. Frances Arndt told police later that her son's color changed during the night and she tried to reach a doctor. When she tried to shake him awake, the boy coughed and then died in her arms.

Detectives are holding Groff for questioning. Police said he was with Arndt when the assault occurred.

Groff told police he and his friend were walking down Dufferin St. about 2.30 a.m. At the Davenport Rd. intersection an old model car stopped. Groff said he thought there were five men in the car. One of them got out and walked back to the two youths shouting: "You're not going to say anything like that to me." The man then punched Arndt in the face, Groff said.

The youth fell to the pavement and the attacker returned to the car, which drove off. Groff said a second car stopped and the driver offered to take the two home. Arndt was still unconscious when he was carried up the steps of his home, Groff said.

Chinese Reds Too Smart

Drive Against Private Owners Disastrous

By FRED HAMPSON

HONG KONG (AP)—The Communists in China are lending money to the capitalists—lots of money—at low interest rates. The capitalists are reluctant to take it. Some won't take it.

It came about because the Communists last fall decided the capitalists—private owners of industry and businesses—were corrupting government workers and the people of bribing, cheating, stealing, profiteering and avoiding taxes.

The Communists said these bourgeois habits of the private owners, who still ran about half of China's industry and business, had to be eliminated.

They launched the "five anti" campaign. Capitalists were accused, forced to confess, and fined staggering amounts. Some went to jail. Some went to prison camps. Some were shot. Hundreds committed suicide.

By March and April, it became apparent that the Communists had succeeded mainly in eliminating production and employment. In May, the Reds called it off and began frantically to repair the damage.

Owners who had been fined into bankruptcy were offered government orders, capital loans and guaranteed profits up to 30 per cent if they would only begin operating again.

STEW IN OWN JUICE

Most of the survivors did not want to go back to work. They felt the final squeeze-out was only being postponed. Let the Reds run the plants. But the Communists lacked technical and managerial personnel.

By Aug. 2, the Communists by their own announcements had lent private business and industry the equivalent of $150,000,000

It does not seem to have been enough. The Peiping Peoples Daily announced that the Peoples Bank of China "had decided to increase the amount of loans and to lower interest rates as much as 50 per cent."

Probably no one will ever know how seriously the Reds crippled themselves with their "five anti" campaign.

Not only money and production were lost, but skilled managers and technicians were eliminated.

2 Lacrosse Fans In Collision On Way To Game

Two Peterborough men received minor injuries Sunday morning when the car in which they were passengers was in collision with two westbound cars near Oshawa.

Earl Foster 59, of 292 Townsend Street, received a blow on the head and was knocked unconscious temporarily when thrown forward against the windshield. He received first-aid and then continued on to the Peterborough Vancouver lacrosse game.

He may have suffered slight concussion, because today he was unable to remember the incident or going to the game.

A neighbor, 23-year-old Ernie Mills of 294 Townsend Street, received a scrape on his forehead. Both men were passengers in a westbound car driven by Norman L. Wedlock, 22, of 509 Parkhill Road.

The accident was on Highway 2, just east of Oshawa, about 11.15 a.m. It consisted of a rapid series of rear-end collisions, involving three cars, after the first slowed down in the westbound line of traffic.

Driver of another of the three cars was Bertram Goodwin of 600 McKellar Street. Neither he nor his passengers were injured.

Provincial Police from Bowmanville investigated.

U.S. Air Force Develops Space Suit

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Air Force revealed Saturday the development of a space suit that has enabled airmen to fly above altitudes where human blood boils and pure oxygen alone is insufficient to keep a man alive.

Officers said such a suit had to be perfected before progress could be made in developing the jet and rocket aircraft of the future.

At altitudes above 50,000 feet the normal breathing of pure oxygen alone will not sustain life and the lungs must be directly supercharged to function in the thin atmosphere. Above 63,000 feet human blood at body temperatures will boil, resulting in the body expanding to twice its normal size and death in a matter of seconds.

GIVE PROTECTION

The T-1 resembles the popular conception of a space suit. It combines altitude protection with that now given by slip-on garments which protect an airman against sudden changes in gravity pull and also includes a crash helmet, oxygen mask, earphones, microphone, goggles, defroster and oxygen bail-out bottle.

The suit is worn uninflated and inflates automatically whenever pressure in the airplane cabin is lost. The inflated suit and helmet supercharge the airman's lungs with high-pressure breathing oxygen. The suit also automatically applies counter-pressure to the body surface, thus protecting the wearer from collapse.

including replacement of the politburo and Organization Bureau (Orgburo) by a praesidium

HIT U.S. POLICIES

Malenkov's bitter charges against the United States were preceded by similar accusations from another politburo member, former Foreign Minister V.M. Molotov, who denounced U.S. "ruling circles" for creating "aggressive war alliances like the North Atlantic bloc directed against peace-loving states of the Soviet Union, the Chinese Peoples Republic and countries of the peoples democracies."

"The bosses of the United States," said Molotov, ". . .knew from the experience of the Hitlerites. . .that it was impossible even to dream about world domination without the use of force."

Malenkov charged the United States with creating bases throughout the world and "remilitarizing West Germany and Japan" for "criminal purposes." These were some of his other charges against the United States:

The U.S. is "refusing to ban atom and germ weapons and reduce conventional armaments." The Soviet Union wants to do so.

SAYS WANTS PEACE

The U.S. "refuses to conclude a peace pact." Russia wants one.

The U. S. "knocks together aggressive blocs against peace-loving peoples, while the treaties concluded by the Soviet Union with foreign states are aimed exclusively at the struggle against revival of Japanese or German aggression."

The U. S. "attacked Korea and endeavors to enslave her, while the Soviet Union has nowhere conducted any military operations from the very moment of the end of the Second World War."

The United States is "intensively urging the other capitalist countries on to war. . .American forces are dictating to all participants in their bloc their goals of war."

Malenkov said the Communist party's chief task in the field of foreign policy is to counter all this by "struggling against the preparation and unleashing of a new war," to intensify the "peace partisan" movement throughout the world, and "to insistently expose all preparations for a new war and all intrigues of the warmongers."

OUTLINES POLICY

He outlined these additional policy planks to be followed by the party in foreign policy:

1. Strengthen the defensive might of the Soviet state and "raise our preparedness to administer a crushing rebuff to any aggressors."

2. Strengthen and develop the "indestructible, friendly relations with the Chinese and other peoples republics."

3. Implement in the future the policy of "international co-operation and development of business relations with all countries."

On the economic front, Malenkov accused the United States of boosting exports by "shameless dumping" and forcing the other capitalist nations to adopt a "war economy." This, he declared, had raised economic output but was developing widespread unemployment, falling living standards and bitter rivalries between nations.

All this, he continued, "means the world system of the capitalist economy as a whole has become much weaker than it has been before the war."

CAN LEAD TO WAR

He said Britain, France, Germany, other western nations and Japan already are trying, or would try, "to force their way out of subordination to the U.S.A. The conflicts at present dividing the imperialist camp can lead to a war between one capitalist state and another."

Airman's Son Injured Watching Manoeuvres

NORTH BAY — Ar urgent appeal was made Sunday night for blood donors for 11-year-old Grant Ross, critically injured Sunday as he was a spectator at a military exercise between the R.C.A.F. and the Canadian Army at North Bay air base.

The boy, son of Flt.-Sgt. A. G. Ross, of the R.C.A.F. village, was almost disembowelled by a blank cartridge fired from a rifle in the hands of a member of the R.C.A.F. who was helping to defend the base against a mock attack by the army. No details of the shooting were made public by provincial police or the R.C.A.F.

The boy was watching the war games with a group of other boys about 100 yards behind the site of the old R.C.A.F. mess at the edge of the [illegible] rifle was [illegible] the boy's body when the cartridge exploded. The blast ripped his clothing apart and split the wall of his stomach.

Hospital officials said the boy's condition was very serious.

The boy's father was taking part in the exercise in another area when the shooting occurred. Flt.-Sgt. Ross said he did not know his son was injured until he overheard a conversation in which it was stated Grant had been shot.

Primary Teaching Illustrated At Conference

As a new venture in educational service, the Primary Section of the Ontario Educational Association sponsored a most successful Primary Conference in Peterborough on Saturday.

Three hundred and fifty primary teachers, public school principals and inspectors attended the sessions in Queen Mary School. They represented seven counties, Prince Edward, Durham, Northumberland, Ontario, Hastings, Victoria and Peterborough.

Miss Norma Arkies, Belleville, the Provincial president, presided for the morning program and the luncheon. She stated the purpose of the conference in extending the work of the primary section by providing professional service for primary teachers.

In introducing K. S. Wightman, superintendent of Peterborough schools, she expressed the gratitude of the executive and of those in attendance for the opportunity of meeting in the Queen Mary auditorium. Mr. Wightman spoke briefly, referring to the important qualifications of primary teachers and to the inherent values of conferences for teachers.

Miss Phyllis Todds, a primary reading consultant with the Toronto Elementary Schools emphasized in her introductory statement that reading is a facet of language development; that not all children are ready for reading at the same time.

"By taking the simple precaution of not giving children formal reading instruction until they are ready for it, much of the present retardation in reading can be prevented." With a demonstration class of ten Grade 1 pupils, she illustrated some basic techniques in teaching reading at the pre-primer level.

Miss Bertha Dick, B.A., B.Paed., of the North Bay Normal School staff conducted a Grade 3 demonstration class to show various follow-up activities that can be used effectively after a story has been read by the pupils.

After the luncheon served at Murray St. Baptist Church, Miss Betty Lawson, the supervisor of speech for the Hamilton Public Schools gave a comprehensive outline of "Speech Activities in the Primary Grades," illustrating group activities and individual help for the stutterer, the lisper, the hard of hearing, the cleft palate, and the nasal voice.

Expressions of appreciation were extended to the "Others Class" of Murray St. Church for the delicious luncheon, and to Miss Dick, Miss Todd and Miss Lawson for their contributions to the interesting and challenging program.

Bessborough Trophy To Be Drama Award

TORONTO (CP)—The Bessborough Trophy, for years top prize in the Dominion Drama Festival, may be continued as an award for outstanding achievement in Canadian theatre, it was disclosed following a festival executive meeting this week-end.

At a press conference officials released views of the Earl of Bessborough as to disposal of the trophy which the former Governor-General placed in competition in 1933 and which in 1953 will be replaced by a trophy given by a distillery company which made a $15,000 annual grant to the Festival earlier this year.

In a letter to the executive Lord Bessborough said: "The best plan I could see for the continuance of the Bessborough Trophy was that it should be awarded from time to time by the Dominion Drama Festival for an outstanding dramatic production, professional or amateur, having competed in the regional festivals or not, and with no restriction imposed on the nature of the play. The sort of production I have in mind that would win the trophy would be of very real national importance and recognized as such."

D.J. Ongley of Toronto, a vice-president of the Festival, said Lord Bessborough's proposal has been accepted but that details still are being worked out.

The meeting confirmed Col. R.S. Bolton, Peterborough, as an honorary governor.

Dates of the 1953 regional festivals include Eastern Ontario, Jan. 12-Jan. 17; Western Ontario, March 9-March 14, and Central Ontario March 16-March 21.

Baptist Church At Indian River 50th Anniversary

Indian River Baptist Church celebrated its 50th anniversary on Sunday and today. Morning and evening services and Sunday school were held at capacity gatherings and president of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec Sidney Johnston was the special speaker; he will also speak at a turkey dinner this evening at Park Street Baptist Church, Peterborough, with which the Indian River Church is affiliated.

The Indian River Church has had an interesting and steady growth according to its half a century of records.

In the spring of 1902, T. H. Cornish, of McMaster University, Toronto, began holding Sunday school and services in the School House at the corner of Highway 7 and the Indian River Road, under the auspices of the Park St. Baptist Church, Peterborough.

Seven months later the Indian River Baptist Church building was opened on September 21. The church was organized on September 3. The names of original members are: Annie Borland, Wm. Borland, Mrs. Wm. Borland, Wm. Foster, Mrs. Wm. Foster, Mrs. Robert Evans, Molly Minore, Mrs. John Elmhirst, Janet Elmhirst, Mary Elmhirst, Annie B. Duff, Lily May Duff, James Duff, Wm. Breckenridge, Janet Breckenridge, Louis Shearer, Sussie Nesbitt, Harry Nesbitt, Bert Borland, Mabel Shortridge and Annie Walker.

The first deacons were Wm. Borland and Wm. Breckenridge. The clerk-treasurer was James Duff. Mr. Wm. Johnson, of Ashburnham, was the contractor who built the church, and Andrew Shearer donated a lot 60 x 160 feet.

Dr. Welton, of McMaster University, preached at the dedication services on Sunday, September 21, and on September 24 the church was admitted to the fellowship of the Peterborough Association. The church, which was debt free April 1, 1906, cost $900.

In 1909 a parsonage was secured which was debt free in 1951. The Rev. A. Dewar was the first regular pastor, settling with the Indian River and Warsaw Baptist Churches, November 2, 1902, with a salary of $440.

The first observance of the Lord's Supper was the first Sunday of February, 1903. In the fall of 1912, it was decided to remove the tower and move the church to Indian River village. About 1933, the church terminated its relationship with Warsaw and linked up with Norwood.

The Indian River Church officers are noted for their long, consistent and faithful service. Four of these officers have service totalling 125 years, Mr. A. Evans, clerk (47 years); Mr. Wm. Dewart, treasurer (31 years); Mrs. Wm. Dewart, organist (25 years); Mrs. Melville Miller, custodian (22 years).

U.N. A Child Yet Says H. A. Mowat

The United Nations is only a child in age, Herbert A. Mowat of Toronto told members of the B'nai B'rith Club at the Beth Israel Synagogue Sunday night.

Because of the U.N.'s large membership and the great hopes held out for it, people expect as much of it as if it had been in operation for many years, the speaker said. It will be many years before the U.N. is ready to exercise all its functions, he added.

MISTAKES

Mr. Mowat said that, for a child, the U.N. was strong, but that it would make mistakes before it gained the strength it was expected to have.

That it was stronger than the League of Nations was apparent in the fact almost every nation in the world was a member or wanted to belong to it. Russia, in spite of its numerous walkouts, always returned.

Mr. Mowat was introduced by Morton Golumbia and thanked by Len Pulver. Joe Rogow, president of the club, was chairman. Also on the platform was Leo Copp, president of the Peterborough branch of the U.N. Association. He made a plea for more members from the city and district.

4 Slightly Hurt In 2 Accidents Over Weekend

Four people were injured slightly in two weekend car accidents in the city.

The driver of one car and two passengers in the other car were injured in a head-on collision on Water St., near the Auburn Dam Saturday night.

Emerson McCormack, 260 King St., was driving north on Water St., and told police he pulled to the right to avoid an oncoming car which veered across the centre of the street.

James Wood, 465 King St., was driving the southbound car. The collision occurred on the east side of the street.

Wood had a small cut on his lower lip. He was arrested and taken to the police station. Later he was examined by Dr. J. M. O'Brien and taken to St. Joseph's hospital. His condition today is said to be satisfactory.

Presbyterians Start Services In Southend

The Presbyterians in the south-end of the city met as a congregation for the first time on Sunday in the Confederation School. More than 75 adults were present for the church service conducted by James Dutton and Gwen Craw was at the piano.

The Sunday school, organized under Earl Powers as superintendent and a capable staff of teachers, reported an attendance of 85. It was decided that the Sunday school would meet during the church service in three other rooms of the school made available by the Board of Education. Duck Hunters Given Ducking

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Two Campbellford hunters got a ducking on Saturday when their boat capsized in the rough waters of Bradley Bay a few miles southeast of the town.

Jim McPherson, 21, and William Bleeker, 23, were thrown into the water when strong winds lashed the waters of the bay, upsetting the boat. Bleeker managed to hang on to his gun as the craft went over but McPherson's gun went to the bottom. The pair clung to the overturned boat and were pulled out about two minutes later by George Rose and Allan Taylor, who were in a boat nearby.

WATER VERY ROUGH

The water was so rough that the second boat, with a ten horsepower motor, towing the disabled rowboat, experienced some difficulty in making its way to a marshy island where the two wet duck hunters tried to dry themselves out.

Rose and Taylor, who were clad in heavy clothing, shared some of it with the dripping hunters and the party made their way back to the mainland where they finished drying out.

To top it off—the party got no ducks.

Blaze Damages Cobourg Church

COBOURG (ENS)—Fire of undetermined origin damaged one corner of St. Peter's Anglican parish hall gymnasium Sunday morning while the congregation was at Sunday morning service in the adjoining church. A passerby, Fred Brown, saw the smoke coming through the roof of the gymnasium and gave the alarm. The church was evacuated in short order.

Cobourg fire department fought the fire for about an hour, hampered by thick smoke. The blaze originated in the northeast corner of the gymnasium, against a wooden partition. Much of the smoke came from mats used in gymnasium training. The flames practically destroyed a piano which was in the corner and also damaged the gallery. Considerable smoke damage was caused to the church. Had the fire occurred at night, the 100-year-old church might have been lost.

Brooks and Robert Rittwage of Brighton were fined $17 court costs and remanded out of custody until called upon when they appeared in police court on a charge of breaking into a Chinese cafe in Brighton on October 2. The pair informed the magistrate that the Chinese proprietor had closed up earlier than usual and that they pushed a cardboard out of the screen door and opened the rear door of the premises, in order to summon the proprietor to make them some sandwiches.

"It appears that you two thought you were big shots and could do whatever you wanted to. There are some people who think that it is all right to push a Chinese around," commented Magistrate R. B. Baxter in finding them guilty.

Drunkenness Is No Excuse

When through his own fault or intemperance, a person loses control of his actions, he disgraces himself and is a menace to others, whether he is uncontrollably angry, is caught up in any other emotional orgy, or is drunk. Drunkenness is the most common public form of intemperance, but intemperance in any form is anti-social and should not be condoned in civilized societies.

* * *

Two examples of society dealing with intemperate drinking have recently been given in Ontario. A Hamilton man was sentenced to seven years in penitentiary for strangling his young wife. He had originally been held for murder but the grand jury reduced the charge to manslaughter. Undoubtedly there were other considerations taken into account in reducing the charge and giving what seems rather a light sentence—we have not read all the evidence—but it seems apparent that the convicted man's drunk condition was taken into account. He had returned home late at night after drinking at a beverage room. His wife (a former model) and his sixteen-months-old child were asleep. The man said in his evidence that when he awoke in the morning he was still "tight". He had an argument with his wife, lost his head, and strangled her with a necktie from the bedside table.

* * *

There is a maxim in military law that drunkenness is no excuse for breaches of the law. There are specific penalties for drunkenness, but if a soldier is charged with another crime, whether he was drunk or sober when he committed the crime does not affect the military court's judgement. There should be a similar detached view in civilian courts. The essential fact is not whether a person was drunk or sober but that he caused an accident or killed a person.

* * *

Our second instance of Ontario society dealing with drunkenness as a factor in a case comes from Goderich. A drunken driver appeared before the magistrate. The magistrate began by sending the offender to jail for a month without the option of a fine. When it appeared that the man had no driving permit he was given additionally a fine of ten dollars and costs and an extra fortnight in jail. The magistrate finished it off by ordering that no driving license be issued to the lawbreaker for the next two years.

* * *

Drunkenness is no excuse for lawbreaking.

The Uncertain U.S. Press

No one can say that the United States press is unable to learn a lesson. Until this year, its commentators and columnists easily assumed prophetic assurance in Presidential election campaigns. They relied upon their own interpretations of past trends and current events, and upon public opinion polls. Then, in 1948, the press and the polls alike took a terrific drubbing when President Truman confounded them by winning the election handily. The memory of that campaign has produced a characteristic of the present one which has been described by Stewart Alsop as "bewilderment and timidity." Since Mr. Alsop says frankly that he was one of the formerly omniscient ones, we think his description may be accepted as accurate.

... there are plenty of reasons for uncertainty in the present campaign. As the campaign has progressed, appraisals of the relative strength of the two candidates have increasingly tended to make it unsafe to predict the result. At the moment, an examination of the Republican ticket alone gives the impression that it will be the choice of the majority. The same impression is produced by appraising the Democratic ticket alone.

General Eisenhower is tremendously popular personally, and his Republican running-mate, Senator Nixon, is a young and vigorous politician who gained favourable publicity in the Hiss-Chambers case. They are running against an Administration which has had to face charges of corrupt practices, some of which have been proven. They are running against a party long in office and constantly criticized in the press of the nation for the effect those years have had on it. They are running against a party which no longer possesses its greatest political asset—the Solid South. But they are also running with Senator Taft and his foreign policy, with Senator McCarthy and his demagoguery, and with an "old guard" and isolationist group that will seriously handicap them in certain states.

Governor Stevenson is an administrator of proved ability and integrity and his personal popularity appears to have grown rapidly with the campaign tours. Senator Sparkman, Democratic candidate for Vice-President, is able and a noted compromiser on issues affecting the North-South division. The Democratic candidates have the advantage conferred by the vast number of political appointments the party has made, and the voting strength of the most thoroughly organized political-labour arm. They are thought to have an edge in the agricultural vote and the Negro vote. But they face the scandals of the present Administration, the recently highly publicized crime trials with political overtones, some most remarkable ambassadorial appointments, a rebellious South, and have about one-third the amount of funds possessed by the Republicans. In this connection, of course, both parties are about even in the matter of alleged campaign fund irregularities.

In view of the foregoing the best advice any commentator can offer his readers would be to refrain from betting on the outcome. We know that would be good advice in any election contest, but there are occasions when a bet on a favoured party looks almost like a good investbent. This does not appear to be one of them, although the eventual margin of victory may give it a different appearance.

How Offensive Is Peace?

Peace-making has become peace-mongering and a term of obloquy, as war-mongering used to be. To 'smear' a man in the United States all you need do is call him a peace-monger. What is the matter with peace, that its advocates are suspected of being traitorous to their native lands?

It is only half the explanation to say that nothing is wrong with peace but that now is the wrong time to proselytize for it, since it appeases Russia by relaxing Western attention, suspicions and re-armament efforts. Although Russia must consider peacemakers in the West blessed we should not therefore automatically call them cursed. The beatitude should have universal virtue whether or not Russia blesses the peacemakers—if we are truly Christian, believe in peace and want peace. Maybe we do not so believe and so desire; there may be something wrong with peace itself.

Peace is not a normal state for humanity to exist in; ever since Adam was driven from the Garden of Eden peace has been unhuman. Peace is also unnatural: animals and the elements are always warring. These are the first flaws of peace, and from them come the other humanly undesirable effects: depressions, unemployment, softening of individual and national incentives, withering of nations, and—from a stern point of view—too much ease and security, too little challenge for ordinary mortals. Threats of peace in Korea adversely affected the stock market. Rapprochment with Russia and calling-off the Cold War would be attended by serious economic difficulties. So it seems that in their accumulated wisdom of milleniums of warfare, statesmen and people and nations stumble along with war as their crutches and shadow. Peace is, indeed, not all it is cracked up to be.

Yet somehow a great many people feel that peace has virtues which outweigh its weaknesses, and somehow or other many people feel deep within them that peace is a good thing. A divine spark may give them this feeling, for peace, though unhuman and unnatural, is an ideal transcending humanity and nature, and indeed may be the highest state which man can attain here on earth, exalting human nature beyond the brute and society beyond its human imperfections. Peace may be the innate individual urge to survive this world. This is a kind of spiritual value, and rash would he be who denounced the conception because it, like religious belief, is beyond scientific measurement. It would be unwise to say that peace is an evil and peace-makers ceatures of the devil.

... the next few weeks India will be staging something in the nature of a world "peace offensive." Indian diplomats have been working for some time towards this, and the All-India Congress Committee (the annual assembly of the country's leading political party) has passed a resolution calling for a meeting of the Great Powers to attempt to ease world tension. Last week India's Vice-President left on a tour of the Middle East and European capitals. He (Dr. Radhakrishnan) is a disciple of Mr. Nehru's independent foreign policy, and, as Indian ambassador in Moscow until recently, he believes firmly in Stalin's personal wish for peace. The Indian Vice-President will include Iron Curtain capitals in his tour. In addition to this, the Indian delegation to U.N. is headed by Mrs. Pandidt, Mr. Nehru's sister; this delegation will press for new peace talks between East and West.

How offensive will India's new "peace offensive" be, when it emerges in New York? It will be said, of course, that the Indian view and policy for peace is "unrealistic." But peace is always unrealistic, being a Christian tenet and unnatural to this world and its societies.

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

NOW THAT the long-playing record is firmly established dealers are selling off their old stocks of 78 r.p.m. records at bargain prices. As far as recordings of short works are concerned there is no advantage in long-playing records except in portability and compactness. There are actually disadvantages. Short works such as songs are usually grouped together, several of them taking up one side of a L.P. record, so that if one wishes to have a recording of, for example, a Schubert song it is necessary to buy about fifteen other songs at the same time, and then when wishing to play one's choice one has to search for the correct groove on the record. I still think that there is a place for the 78's, and the discriminating purchaser can pick up some excellent bargains at the present time. Of course the L.P.'s are a tremendous improvement as far as the more extended works are concerned. Even with automatic couplings there is always an awkward gap between the records on the 78's, and they are so bulky and so easily broken. The 45's, sponsored by Victor, do not seem to have caught on. The reasons for this are not far to seek. The actual recording time of each disk is no greater than that of a twelve inch 78, and unless one has the proper turntable one has to mess around with special attachments.

✧ ✧ ✧

FOR THE FIRST TIME in its history Peterborough has been chosen as the rendezvous for the Federation of Canadian Music Festivals next year. This body, which coordinates the efforts of Music Festivals throughout the country, arranging for adjudicators and so on, meets each year to transact necessary business. It is attended by representatives from all parts of Canada, and sometimes also by visiting adjudicators from England. I gather that they are usually far too busy with reports and recommendations to be able to make music, but it would be a graceful act to arrange a programme of music in honour of their visit.

✧ ✧ ✧

REVERTING TO the subject of gramophone records intending purchasers would be well advised to consult one or other of the guides to recorded music. These are to be found in most public libraries and contain a large amount of useful data. One of the best of these is by Kolodin, an American critic. His opinions on various recordings are extremely candid, owing nothing to any particular interest. Furthermore, he is at times quite witty. While anything in the nature of absolute completeness is unfortunately unattainable he covers a very wide range and includes most well-known recordings; new editions come out regularly and keep the reader up to date. His judgment is on the whole very sound, and he is not hypnotized by the big names: if Toscanini turns out a recording that he considers to be below par he has no hesitation in stating his opinion about it. If at times his conclusions are open to dispute (and what critic is infallible?) they are forthright and stimulating.

✧ ✧ ✧

ONE OF THE most remarkable figures of the nineteenth century was Liszt. As a pianist he was generally acknowledged to be peerless. Contemporary witnesses speak not only of his amazing dexterity and strength but also of the delicacy and lightness that he could employ in certain passages. As a composer his importance is beginning to be more widely recognized. In this field he was overshadowed in his lifetime by his in-law, Wagner, and many new developments were wrongly attributed to the wizard of Bayreuth. In itself Liszt's work is very uneven in quality, and many fastidious ears are repelled by his frequent lapses into banality. Liszt's music has a rhetorical quality to it, even in his quieter and comparatively intimate compositions. It is always striking poses, making tremendous statements, dazzling the audience with fireworks or speaking in stage whispers. This is partly due to the character of the man himself. Liszt had a good deal of the actor in his make-up; even his private life was conducted in a blaze of publicity, and this long before Hollywood became a byword. There is another reason for this rhetorical quality in his music. Composers of piano music in preceding years had written works to be played in private houses either alone or to a small company. The piano recital as we know it today was, if not "invented", at least mainly developed by Liszt, who appears to have been the first to use the term recital. The large new audiences of the rising middle-class craved for something spectacular, and Liszt gave it to them in ample measure. But the old intimacy was lost in the immensities of the concert hall. The gentle and conversational tone was replaced by the raised voice and the stage whisper; nuance gave way to the heroic gesture.

✧ ✧ ✧

YET IN SPITE of these obvious shortcomings which can be explained though not condoned Liszt remains one of the great seminal forces of his age. It was he that invented the tone poem, that most typical manifestation of the late Romantic period. Nobody quite knows where Liszt, a pianist of pianists, picked up his knowledge of orchestration. The pianist-composer is usually at his weakest in that department, as witness Schumann and Chopin. ... pianistic passages ... these passages ... theoretically playable but they do not lend themselves to the instrument and fail to "come off". But liszt must have had an instinctive feeling for the orchestra to have been able not only to master the art of writing for it with a minimum of formal study but also to explore new sonorities.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANOTHER contribution of his was the "cyclical" treatment of form. This is best illustrated in his piano sonata. Though designed to be played without a break from beginning to end instead of the conventional division into movements it is actually written in four distinct sections joined on to each other by connecting passages. Movements had been joined together before, as for example the scherzo and finale of Beethoven's fifth symphony, but in the sonata Liszt joins them all together. The other innovation was even more drastic. The themes used in the first section are used again in many altered forms in the remaining sections, and no new material of any significance is used. This gives the whole work a greater unity than was possible before. Cesar Franck, d'Indy and others used this devise extensively, and it has left its mark on many works of a quite un-Lisztian flavour. It has not won universal acceptance as its wholesale employment is apt to result in monotony. In its essence it is the application of variation form to symphonic development. The problem of form in music is largely a reconciliation between the conflicting demands of unity and diversity; the cyclical idea weighs the scales pretty heavily on the side of the former. Perhaps Beethoven went as far as is prudent in this direction, when he occasionally introduces "quotations" from earlier movements into his finales.

Gate Money—The Burmese Way

By E. V. FORECAR

FROM THE bamboo thicket on the bank above the road a lean, brown man in a tattered khaki shirt watched the lon g stretch of highway winding through the jungle and into the flat paddy lands beyond. He had a distant view of sun-baked, stubble-covered fields; but his eyes were on a moving swirl of dust above the thread of the road.

Peering through the sun-glare, the lean man watched the moving cloudlet of dust. The better to do so, he wiped the sweat from his eyes. Then, instinctively, he reached for the tommy gun beside him. Even in the Burmese jungle a rebel goes more safely with a weapon in his hands . . . And he still had not decided upon the identity of that approaching vehicle.

Now he was certain of it, and across his shoulder he called to his companions behind the clump of bamboos. "Wake up, all of you. A bus comes . . ."

Grumbling at this interruption of their siesta the rebels roused themselves; one of them slid down the bank into the road. Then he stood, rifle slung across his shoulders, and nonchalantly lit a cigarette . . . He knew that at the sight of him the driver of the omnibus would halt. This rebel post was a recognized "gate" for all traffic along the main road.

The vehicle came to a stop. The bandit on the road strolled across to it, counted the passengers, examined the goods aboard, made his estimate of the toll to be paid, and demanded this of the driver. The latter was ready with the money which he quickly handed over. Meanwhile, the rebels on the bank had freely criticized the fear-stricken passengers, commenting on the women, but assuring them that they were safe from molestation. "You're far too valuable to us as travellers," cried one ruffian with a grin at the prettiest woman.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE DRIVER, on the best of terms with the robbers, gave them what information he had of troop movements. "The company stationed at Tawmyo has moved out along the railway. A train was wrecked last night at Tinbin and the troops are chasing the rebels who did it."

At this there was a general laugh, one youthful bandit saying, "They won't catch anybody. It's our business to keep the railway out of action. How else are we to earn our livings at these 'gates'? . . . As soon as that break at Tinbin is repaired we shall blow the line somewhere else."

Shrugging his shoulders, the driver grimaced. "You fellows live too dangerously . . . Here is a small present for you." And he threw to the man in the road a bundle of cheroots and a couple of tins of cigarettes. "Goodbye! Look out for me tomorrow. I shall be going back to Tawmyo with a load of tinned goods and some passengers."

"All right. Have your money ready when you get here. And we shall expect to get some of those goods . . ."

The bandit in the road moved aside and the bus drove on. Then the sentry in the worn khaki shirt resumed his vigil, watching from the cover of the bamboos.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS INCIDENT is typical of Burma today. Save for the Karen insurgents, many of that larger bodies of rebels have been broken up, although it still remains within their power to disrupt the economy of the country and to fatten on the law-abiding members of the public.

The common technique is to control all the main lines of communication and to establish "gates" where tolls are extorted for the passage of goods or travellers.

This system works well in Burma, particularly nowadays when the main roads and waterways are generally deserted and only traversed by those compelled to make journeys. It is a return to the days of the Burmese kings when a traveller had to take his life in his hands when venturing far from his own home.

Of course, this explains the frequent and determined attacks upon the railways. Here the rebels cannot establish their gates. So the railways must not be allowed to function, and would-be passengers must be frightened off them. The rebel plan seems to be working well, and the incentive is a strong one. The easy collection of gate-money is a certain temptation to the criminal-minded members of Burma's population.

What is the remedy? "The Nation", a leading Rangoon daily newspaper, suggests that local inhabitants should be made responsible for the safety of railways, roads and waterways within their area, and that their failure to protect them should be punished.

The scheme is worth considering, and Burma could well follow the example of Malaya in collective security measures. However, the Burmese Government seems to pin its faith to military action, although a defter approach to the mosquito-like activities of small rebel bands seems to be indicated.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

God looked down from heaven upon the children of men, to see if there were any that did understand, that did seek God. . . . There were they in great fear, where no fear was. (Psalm 53:2, 5.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Fear thou not, for I am with thee: be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness. (Isa. 41:10.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And when Jesus was come into Peter's house, he saw his wife's mother laid, and sick of a fever. And he touched her hand, and the fever left her and she arose, and ministered unto them. (Matt. 8:14, 15.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And there came a leper to him, beseeching him, and kneeling down to him, and saying unto him, If thou wilt, thou canst make me clean. And Jesus, moved with compassion, put forth his hand, and touched him, and saith unto him, I will; be thou clean. And as soon as he had spoken, immediately the leprosy departed from him, and he was cleansed.

And he straitly charged him, and forthwith sent him away; and saith unto him, See thou say nothing to any man: but go thy way, shew thyself to the priest, and offer for thy cleansing those things which Moses commanded, for a testimony unto them. But he went out, and began to publish it much, and to blaze abroad the matter, insomuch that Jesus could no more openly enter into the city, but was without in desert places: and they came to him from every quarter. (Mark 1:40-45.)

NO CHAMPLAIN MONUMENT

Sir: In our Social Study lesson we are learning about Samuel de Champlain and his travels. It is our understanding that a monument is erected in Orillia, Ontario, in his memory. We also understand he travelled by way of the Otonabee River, and, if so, we are curious to learn if possible, why a similar monument was not erected in our fair city.

Sincerely yours,

ALREADY DEAD

The lecturer was ranting on his favourite subject—the evils of tobacco.

"Carefully compiled statistics," he asserted, "demonstrate that every cigar a man smokes shortens his life by a week, and each cigarette by three days."

A man in the audience rose to inquire, "Are those statistics accurate?"

"Absolutely accurate, sir," declared the lecturer. "Why?"

"It's quite important to me," replied the man, "for if they're accurate, I've been dead some 287 years."

Jarvis Grabs Close One Over P.C.V.S. Seniors As Junior Drop Another

A quick whistle by Referee Gord Young cost P.C.V.S. Garnet and Greys a victory over Toronto's Jarvis Collegiate Saturday night. The Toronto team, one of the city's strongest this year, managed to eke out a 12-11 exhibition win. In the first game of the doubleheader, Al MacQuarrie's Garnet and Grey juniors were set back 12-1 by Oshawa Central Collegiate in a league game. Although they finished stronger than Central, the Collegians had trouble within the last 10 yards and absorbed their second loss in three starts.

The called-back scoring play which would have given P.C.V.S. a 16-12 win was one of the night's feautre plays. Dave Langhorne tossed a long 30-yard pass to Geale in the clear on Jarvis' 10; he crossed, but the whistle was blown just as the ball left Langhorne's hand.

Later, Young admitted the quick whistle which was blown for no reason at all. It was a costly blow.

SMART PASSING

Game highlights were a brilliant passing play featuring Langhorne and Dan Griffin, plunging by Murray Grafstein, Spin Hope, and Don Scriver, long-distance punting by Jarvis' Tattle, running by Toronto's Kirkup, Sanders and Tattle, and Stephens' passing.

Jarvis, featuring double quarterbacks, started strong but were held scoreless until Tattle kicked to Corbett at the deadline for a point. But within a minute a fumble placed Jarvis in main scoring position.

Tattle passed to Jones, then Tattle and Head plunged to the one-yard line where Tattle passed again to Bonney for the first major score.

In the second quarter, Langhorne jumped high on the Jarvis 25, passed to Griffin who, on the dash leaped high, bringing down the ball on the 10-yard line. From there Grafstein tore through centre to score standing up; Langhorne tied the score on the convert.

The quick whistle play followed in the next minute as Jarvis lagged. The Garnet and Grey kept Jarvis well back but couldn't score.

FINALLY WORKED

All night Stephens attempted long spread-passing plays and finally clicked at the end of the third quarter; he tossed to Kirkup at the P.C.V.S. one-yard line for 32 yards. Tattle ran around right end for the score. MacPherson's first convert attempt missed, but he scored on the second after P.C.V.S. were offside on the first.

The Garnet and Grey's final score was started on its way when Grafstein broke loose from P.C.V.S. 25 for 25 yards to the P.C.V.S. 50. After several plunges featuring Grafstein and Langhorne, Langhorne passed to Sanders. Hope promptly plunged for a first down placing the ball on the Toronto three where he crossed over. The convert attempt failed.

WEAK TO START

A weak first half cost the junior Garnet and Greys a win. This win would have helped their cause a great deal, now they will have to win out-of-town to stay in the lakeshore group running.

A one-man team, John Ruskay, who emphasized running and kicking, almost single-handedly defeated the Garnet and Grey. It was his good quarterbacking, kicking and running that accounted largely for Oshawa's touchdowns and keeping the P.C.V.S. squad from getting into scoring position.

For P.C.V.S., only Stewart Brooks and Dave Coit were effective as they showed less than in their opening game a week ago against Oshawa C.V.I. Brooks was also effective in both running and kicking but Ruskay held a slim margin, especially in the first half.

SCORES A MAJOR

A partly blocked kick by Brooks, while standing on his goal line, was grabbed by Oshawa's John Chaszewski in the final minute of the first quarter. Chaszewski crossed over for the touchdown which Ruskay converted.

Early in the second quarter, P.C.V.S. scored their single when Brooks punted from the Oshawa 37 to Turner in touch territory. Turner was smeared behind the line for the point.

A fumble by the Garnet and Greys on their 45-yard line resulted in Oshawa's second TD minutes later. George Goodall broke away to the five-yard line before caught and then was two plays later. Ruskay converted for the final point.

SARNIA SHUTS OUT YORK

SARNIA (CP) — Displaying a wide open running attack, Sarnia Wildcats breezed to a 34-0 intermediate O.R.F.U. victory over East York Blue Devils yesterday before 500 fans. Stan Campbell was the scoring star, counting four touchdowns.

DODGER ACES — Pictured above are three Dodger pitchers who have won one game each. Left to right they are: Preacher Roe, Carl Erskine and Joe Black. With the help of Billy Leas today, they should win one more game between them to give Brooklyn the World Series against the Yanks. Erskine won yesterday, 6-5, in eleven innings.

THE PASSED BALL—The winning runs across the plate in the Dodgers' ninth of the third series. Everyone on the field watches catcher Yogi Berra chase a passed ball that allowed Reese (second from right) to score, and after him came Jackie Robinson. At right is Yankee pitcher Tom Gorman. Number 48 is Dodger batter Andy Pafko. Sunday Dodgers won the best yet in the 11th, 6-5.

Picture Seems To Show Umpire Wrong

NEW YORK (AP)—A picture sequence of yesterday's World Series game appeared to show that American League umpire Art Passarella made a wrong call—and Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick admitted it.

Passarella called New York Yankee pitcher Johnny Sain out at first base in the 10th inning. The pictures, taken by Associated Press photographer John Lindsay, showed Sain's foot on the bag and the ball not yet in first baseman Gil Hodges' mitt.

"According to the picture, it looks as if Passarella called a wrong play," Frick said.

"If he did, he's only human. I assure you it's not the first wrong call ever made by an umpire, if it was that. What's all the shouting about? Players make mistakes, too. So do officials. So does the Commissioner. A player makes an error, another forgets to cover a base, a pitcher makes a wild pitch, a catcher lets a ball get away from him. Very little is said.

"But once an umpire makes a wrong call, he is crucified. Why? An umpire is only human. He can make mistakes too. All I'm interested in is whether he was in the right position to make the call. The picture shows he was."

Passarella said he didn't blame editors for showing the picture.

"It's a good one," he said. "But pictures don't always tell the true story. I was on top of the play and called it as I saw it. In my judgment, the runner, whoever he was, was out. That's the way I called it, and I'll stick to it."

Sain was leading off the 10th when the disputed play occurred. If he had been called safe, it would have put a runner on first with none out.

Erskine Says Lucky 5's Help Dodgers Score Win

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP)—"I had the 5s going for me today and I knew I couldn't lose."

Thus Carl Erskine, Brooklyn's gritty 25-year-old righthander, described a strange set of circumstances which surrounded his 6-5, 11-inning victory over New York Yankees yesterday in the fifth game of the World Series.

"It's the craziest thing I ever heard of," the pitcher added.

"Early this morning I got a telegram from a friend in Texas. "The wire said: 'Best of luck to you, Carl, on your fifth wedding anniversary, this fifth day of October in the fifth game of the World Series.'

"I felt then that this might be my lucky day.

"But when The Yankees scored five runs in the fifth inning, I had a sickening feeling. I felt this might be the end."

DRESSEN CONFIDENT

But Manager Charley Dressen let the rightie game, despite Johnny Mize's ponderous home run, and Erskine came through with a magnificent pitching performance.

"I never had any intention of taking him out," said Dressen. "Not once, not even when I went to the mound in the fifth inning and talked to him."

At that time two runs were in, two men were on base and the sky looked dark for the Dodgers and Mr. Erskine.

Dressen added:

"I just told Carl to stick in there and win one for his fifth wedding anniversary."

RE-EMPHASIZE CONFIDENCE

Dressen re-emphasized his confidence in his pitcher when he let him bat first in the seventh, although the Dodgers were a run behind, and go to the plate again n the eighth and 11th with the score tied.

Rightfielder Carl Furillo, who made a heart-stopping, leaping catch of Johnny Mize's 11th-inning blow, which looked for a time like [illegible] fourth home [illegible] Series, said he just "jumped and prayed."

Yankees With Backs To Wall Protest First-Base Rulings

By TED SMITS

NEW YORK (AP)—New York Yankees, their backs against the wall in the 1952 World Series gave grudging praise to the Dodgers yesterday and let out a mighty roar of protest against two first-base decisions.

Johnny Mize, whose third home run of the Series put the Yankees ahead 5-4, found no joy in his feat.

"Johnny Sain was safe at first in the 10th," he grunted. "Why, Gil Hodges was lying off the bag. But they called him out. If the call had been right and Sain was on, it could have been a different ball game."

"And in the eighth!" Mize's face, always red, turned redder. "I shifted across the bag with my foot as I caught the ball. Gil Hodges was out. But they called an error on Phil Rizzuto. Claimed I had to reach back for the bag. I didn't, because I didn't need to."

"They" was Art Passarella, American League umpire at first base.

HAD NO EFFECT

Actually neither call vitally affected the course of the game, unless it can be presumed that, if Sain were safe in the 10th, the Yankees might have gone on to do something. There were two out in the eighth when Hodges was ruled safe at first, and Carl Erskine, Dodger pitcher, promptly grounded out.

Mize's amazing hitting in this series—three home runs and a double so far—prompted the inquiry whether he would change his mind about retiring and go on playing, at least until he has made his 2,000th hit in regular season play. He now has 1,985.

"Dunno," he said. "Depends on what the front office thinks. Depends on what Casey thinks."

As for Manager Casey Stengel, he allowed how "that fella pitched better ball in the last half of the game"—meaning Carl Erskine who retired 19 Yankees in order after Mize's fifth-inning homer.

"Their outfielders made some good catches," said Casey. "They had to do it."

Law Of Averages Snider Says

NEW YORK (AP)—"It's the law of averages catching up. I sure hope it catches up some more Monday."

Jubilant Duke Snider, hitting her of Brooklyn Dodgers' 6-5, 11-inning World Series win over New York Yankees yesterday, made the remark and then excused himself to pose for photographers who were asking "for one more."

When the photographers finally released him, the handsome centrefielder admitted that his game-winning hit "was my greatest thrill in baseball. That homer in the first game proved to be the winning run, but I knew that this was the winning run.

"But when Mize hit that belt in their half, I knew Carl (Furillo) just had to get it or it was in the stands. It was a great catch."

Against Johnny Sain, the 26 year-old Californian rapped a single, was hit by a pitch, and slashed his all-important two-bagger. His three hits in five at bats gave him a Series average of .313 on seven hits in 22 trips. His four runs batted in gave him a total of six for the Series.

Frick Forgets Ticket Barred At Entrance

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick forgot his ticket to yesterday's World Series game between the Yankees and Dodgers.

When he strode up to the gate, the ticket taker said:

"Hundreds of guys like you have tried to get by me, but not one has succeeded. Move on."

Frick somehow managed to get in the park because he watched the game from his regular box.

But it never was explained how he got in.

Notes On Series

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP)—Outstanding star of the 1952 World Series?

It's a close contest between the Yankees' "old pappy," Johnny Mize, and the Dodgers' Duke Snider, who wore the horns of the Series in 1949.

Mize, 39-year-old National League refugee who is beginning to pine for calm summers in Florida, has poled three prodigious home runs in successive games to tie a record and is hitting a rusty .444 in nine plate appearances.

Snider has hit two home runs, personally won two ball games for Brooklyn and been a Dodger spark-plug all the way. His homer won the first game, 4-2 and his double in the 11th won yesterday's game, 6-5, after his homer had given Brooklyn a lead, later lost.

"This has given me the greatest thrill of my life," says Duke, a disappointment in Brooklyn's losing series with the Yankees three years ago when his Series batting average was .143. This time it is .318.

This could easily be the home-run-hittingest World Series of them all. Ten homers have been struck. The record for a six-game series is 11, hit by the Yankees and Giants in 1936. For a seven-game set, it's 12, set by Pittsburgh and Washington in 1925.

Rookie Billy Martin continues to be unawed by the Series. He juggled George Shuba's grounder in the first inning to set up Brooklyn's first run. Later the veteran Ewell Blackwell filled the bases. Martin called time and went over to tell Blackwell to keep a stiff upper lip.

Ottawa Rough Riders Spill Argonauts 25-21 In Thrilling Grid Battle

By JACK SULLIVAN, Canadian Press Staff Writer

One of these days a wag is likely to ask if Saskatchewan Roughriders and Montreal Alouettes are still in the Canadian football leagues. They've been acting like cellar-dwellers almost since the Western Interprovincial and Big Four Football Unions started operating this season. The Roughies lost 20-6 to the Eskimos at Edmonton Saturday and the Als were crushed 26-0 by the mighty Hamilton Tiger-Cats at Montreal Sunday in games that had the fans almost yawning. It was Satskatchewan's seventh straight setback and the Al's sixth.

TWO TOP CONTESTS

All the thrills, spills and goofy goings-on were packed into the two other big league games at Calgary and Ottawa where 29,000 football happy fans — 17,000 at Ottawa and 12,000 at the western stadium—watched the choice tilts of the the choice tilts of the crowded week-end.

The Rough Riders spilled Argonauts 25-21 in a spine-tingling come-from-behind battle that accomplished two things. It marked Argonauts' first loss of the season and was the first victory in the last 10 Toronto-Ottawa clashes for the 1951 Dominion Champions.

The Toronto loss, coupled with Tiger-Cats' triumph, left the two clubs knotted at the top of the standing with nine points each. The two points gained by the Rough Riders shot them within striking distance of a playoff berth with six.

The weekend Western Canada double-header concludes tonight with Winnipeg meeting the Eskimos at Edmonton and the Roughriders at Calgary. Top billing goes to the Bomber-Eskimo battle and it is likely to be a pitching duel between Jacobs and flinging Frankie Filchock.

OTTAWA RALLY

Ottawa's victory over Argonauts wasn't too surprising but the way they picked themselves off the Lansdowne Park field sent the fans home talking to themselves. The spectators were looking for the nearest exits when Argonauts rolled up a 16-0 lead in the first 16 minutes.

The fans found their lungs when Riders barged over for 12 points in the second quarter and tacked on two converted touchdowns and a single to take a third-quarter 25-16 lead. Argonauts fought back, went over for another touchdown and were only one yard from pay dirt with a minute of the game left when Doug Smylie fumbled and Riders pounced on the loose ball.

That was it. The Argonaut hex was broken at a time when the Rough Riders were desperate for points.

In the Ontario Rugby Football Union, the leading Sarnia Imperials whipped the winless Windsor Royals 33-1 and Toronto Balmy Beach edged out Brantford Redskins 17-12.

Canadiana Wins Orpen Cup Race

TORONTO (CP) — Canadiana, owned and bred by E.P. Taylor of Toronto, won the Orpen Cup and Saucer renewal by 10 lengths at Long Branch race track Saturday. The victory was worth $12,470 to the Taylor stable.

The filly was so far in front of the field of 14 that the real race was for second. Bonsand, owned by Charlie Krupp, nosed out Addison Stable's Avella. Vince Sheridan's Briarcrest was fourth.

Canadiana paid $2.50, $2.80 and $2.30. Bonsand returned $8 and $3.90. Avella paid $2.80.

Galloping Ghosts Ro'l To Beat Kingston 61-0

COBOURG (ENS)—Those who stayed home Saturday to take in the world series instead of going to the park to watch the Ghosts vs. Kingston rugby game did the wise thing. In a one-sided game that was painful to watch, the Ghosts defeated Kingston 61-0. The army crew were unable to cope with the superior Cobourg team and the game was so one-sided that many fans left before the close of the final quarter.

Score was 11-0 at first quarter; 35-0 at half time, 43-0 at third quarter time, and in the final chapter the Ghosts added 18 more points.

There were some long runs made but the longest one in the game occurred in the final quarter when Reese raced from the Cobourg 30 yard line to score a major against Kingston. Following were the scores:

PETES TROUNCE VANCOUVER TO OPEN FINALS

Turn In Bangup Lacrosse To Earn 9-1 Victory In First Mann Cup Tussle

By CEC. PERDUE

Clicking like a well-oiled machine, the Peterborough Timbermen rolled through Vancouver Pilseners in Maple Leaf Gardens on Sunday to earn a 9-1 victory. It was the first game of their best-of-seven Mann Cup finals, the second one being in Toronto on Tuesday night. A paid crowd of 4,222 saw the cup defenders dominate play throughout the tilt. They turned in a polished performance, while the West Coast club dished up a rather inferior brand, possibly being below form after their trip.

The Petes received bad news when they arrived in Toronto and were informed that the C.L.A. had not only refused them a replacement for Ike Hildebrand, but also refused to permit them to use Al Garbutt in this series. Officials said that Vancouver was using no replacements in these playoffs, and Peterborough could not have one either. Also, they claimed that C.L.A. rules do not permit a player in more than two games with one club to perform for another club in the same season. This, despite O.L.A. permission to the Petes to use Al Garbutt, of Fergus, some time ago. Local officials have asked to have this point reviewed at a Monday meeting.

The game was fairly fast and quite clean, despite stiff checking in spots, and with the losers laying on the gad more in the late stages. Vancouver drew three of the five minor penalties handed out by referees Joe Murphy and Lou Vipond. No injuries were suffered on either side.

OUTFOOTED THEM

Timbermen outran the westerners, checked them up closely and held possession of the ball more. They looked several goals a period better, though the losers showed latent power and gave signs of playing better lacrosse than they showed Sunday. Goalie Moon Wootton had to make some brilliant saves, and he almost got a shutout with a swell showing. He not only blocked out shots but twicechecked a rival back of his net to gain possession and teach them caution in circling his citadel. Jack Green in the other cage didn't show too much, despite some good saves.

It was 2-0 in the first quarter for Peterborough, and the Thorpe team had a 5-1 lead at the half. They threw in three more without a return in the third, and added one in the fourth. The winners actually were doing the pressing in the final frame and looked considerably better in the last five minutes of play.

LOU GOES GOOD

Two goals each were scored by Lou Nickle—who turned in a fine running game — steady Nip O'Hearn and tricky Harry Wipper. One each went to Bob Thorpe, Dootch Vitarelli and Roger Smith. Leading in assists was Ross Powless with two in a nice effort, as O'Hearn, Curly Mason and Don Ashbee each helped on one. Russ Slater was hampered by a sore knee but was always dangerous. There were no weak cogs in the Petes' machine in this tilt. Jim Swanson got the lone marker for the B.C. champions, none showing much Sunday.

Play opened speedily on the big cement floor and Nickle came close to a breakaway. Twice Moon pulled sweet stops and once broke his stick on a check. Nickle was gated for charging the goalie after Green had stepped into an attacker. The Petes' defence was solid as Vancouver pressed, and Wipper ragged the ball neatly till Nickle returned. He missed a quick shot on a long forward pass from Thorpe in the clear, but then Lou got in to take a passout from Powless and blaze the ball into an upper corner of the net. O'Hearn made it 2-0 on a fast pass from Powless and a snap shot on the run, Green being unable to get his stick on the blast. It wound up 2-0.

A PENALTY EACH

Marsh, of the B.C. team, drew an early penalty in the second for charging Wootton, and O'Hearn followed him for roughing. Wipper got around defence with his long legs pounding to whistle a high angle shot into the hemp for a 3-0 lead. A Vancouver goal was scored but not counted as the [illegible] argument from them. With the two penalties up, play was up and down at a goodly clip with Wipper and Killingbeck robbed on neat thrusts. Smith broke in the clear and took a perfect pass up from Mason to finish neatly after a hard run with No. 4 goal. Moon robbed Webb at point-blank range, but Swanson came in next from the side to pick a corner for their only goal. O'Hearn got it right back on a fast break in front and hard shot, unassisted.

A NIFTY SOLO

Vitarelli pulled a dandy solo down the centre, zig-zagging, and around a check to go right in and outguess the goalie and make it 5-1. Wipper added one at 5.25 with a fast backhander on a pass up from Ashbee, who took a pass from O'Hearn as the latter was knocked down. It was a grand three-way play. Nickle tore in from the side like an express train and blazed the apple into the oven as the Timbermen took over completely. They were passing well, checking closely and generally keeping possession. Buchanan got the nod for high-sticking and Nickle almost got one more goal before the gong.

Bob Thorpe scored in the first minute of the fourth when he checked and recovered near his own goal and raced all the way up the side to slap a fast angle one by Green to make it read 9-1. The Petes kept outrunning them. Moon thefted Redline nicely and, with Webb away for roughing, Sakich almost tallied on a breakaway.

Webb returned and the Vancouverites tried hard, but were well outplayed in the last five or six minutes. The Petes kept possession on pattern passing in the enemy zone, and only some fast stepping by goalie Green plus wide shooting on several attempts kept the count down. The Petes were getting a big hand all along from hundreds of their followers on deck, while many other fans were riding the B.C. bunch toward the finish. Teams:

Vancouver: Goal, Green; defence, Whittaker and Kinna; centre, Hanson; wings, Anderson and Swanson; rover, Smith; alternates, H. Buchanan, Huddlestone, Redline, Ticehurst, Marsh, Webb and Sakich.

Petes: Goal, Wootton; defence, Killingbeck and Nickle; centre, Thorpe; wings, Burns and Vitarelli; rover, Ashbee; alternates, O'Hearn, Wipper, Mason, Slater, Powless, Smith and Robinson.

AS PETES TAKE THE OPENER—Wheeling in high gear at Maple Leaf Gardens on Sunday afternoon, the Petes' Timbermen soundly trimmed Vancouver 9-1 to open the Mann Cup finals for the Canadian senior lacrosse championship. Even goalie Moon Wootton got into the checking act as shown in the top photo when he halted Vancouver's Harry Buchanan back of the Peterborough net, and stopped him so hard that the ball was shaken loose where an alert Curly Mason, left, snared it. Below, Don Ashbee is shown chasing a loose ball just outside the B.C. crease, while an anxious goalie Jack Green crouches before his net. — (Examiner Photos by Grant).

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

One up and three to go—that's the Mann Cup series score for the Petes' Timbermen today. They earned a 9-1 win o'er Vancouver yester aft in Toronto to open the best-of-seven Canadian senior lacrosse finals. Next one is Tuesday night (no special train going that p.m.) and third one is Friday, when a special will go from here. Next week, it's Monday, Wednesday and Friday, if it goes that long. Don't be too sure that it won't go to six or seven games, either. Petes won the first one out west last year quite handily but were trimmed next start and it went to seven hard-fought frays ere they took the title. It could happen again.

While the Timbermen looked like champs in a polished display, the B. C. winners didn't show much. Which isn't natural. Jim Kinna said afterward that many of the boys had gone out "on the town" on Saturday night and were away below form. And that's understandable. No doubt they'll settle away for the next one and make it a real battle. Sunday they didn't give the Thorpe team nearly the fight Toronto Yorks did every game of that eastern series. On the other hand, the Petes were really rolling. Passed well, outran their rivals, checked well and had better goaltending. Some 4,300 on deck, a great many from Peterborough, and they had lots to cheer about.

No Garbutt Nor McKenzie

On arriving in Toronto, the players were informed that the C. L. A. was granting them no replacement for Ike Hildebrand—since Vancouver had no replacements this year—and that Al Garbutt couldn't play in this series. On account of he had played part of the season for Fergus. Seems it's a C. L. A. playdown rule, but the O. L. A. never advised our club of this when okaying Garbutt's transfer to Peterborough. A rough deal, and local officials are still arguing the point. More credit then to the Timbermen with several youngsters aboard for soundly defeating the Vancouver crew. Every guy on the team toiled tirelessly throughout and there were no injuries, though Rusty Slater is limping yet on a bad leg from an earlier injury.

We especially liked the work of Moon Wootton, Lou Nickle, Nip O'Hearn, Harry Wipper and Ross Powless, though it's hard to pick stars when they're all clicking. Guys like Dootch Vitarelli—a lovely solo goal—and scrappy Curly Mason and hustling Don Ashbee, etc., all contributed plenty. Apart from Jim Swanson's goal and some rugged checking by Jim Kinna, you couldn't say much for the B. C. squad in this game. They just didn't have it for a playoff series. That's why we look for a reversal of form comes Tuesday. P.M.L.A. officials plan to take all bantam, midget and juvenile lacrossers up free to see the Friday fray — a mighty fine gesture, eh?

Punting Those Pigskins

On the local football front, St. Peter's seniors looked impressive here Saturday to down St. Mike's 17-5, and Johnny Lynch's squad should take the Catholic Conference title in the return match. P.C.V.S. seniors had tough luck (on a fast whistle by the ref) to drop a 12-11 exhibition win to the good Jarvis crew of Toronto. Bev Goulding's team rated another touchdown. Oshawa Central dumped Al MacQuarrie's junior P.C.V.S. pack 12-1 at Riverside. Wednesday sees P.C.V.S. play St. Peter's juniors, while Belleville seniors are here Friday. Cobourg Ghosts trounced Kingston 61-0 to resume leadership in the O.R.F.U. group. Orfuns go to Oshawa on Wednesday in loop play.

Sorry to learn of the death of J. E. (Jack) Sullivan. The former alderman was the first president of the men's City Softball League, when they played indoors, and was on the executive for some 15 years. He was a junior baseball official in the days of the late Lew Lebarr, Jack Deannard, and veterans like Charlie Curtis, Alex Kay, and others. Also served for several years on the senior ball executive when Hugh Campbell was president and Knotty Lee the team manager. Played some ball in his younger days, but will be best remembered as an official in various sports and a keen follower of practically all athletics. Prominent citizens and hard workers like Jack Sullivan do a lot of good in keeping local sports at a high level.

Softball Executive Has Windup Dinner

The annual windup dinner of the men's senior softball league executive on Saturday night, was a most enjoyable one with members of the executive, their wives and a few other guests in attendance.

President Bob Batley reported a successful season, thanked the fans and all who had contributed; and averred next season would prove even better, with keen competition assured from the outset.

PRESENT TROPHIES

The various trophies were presented, including: the Taylor, emblematic of city honors; the George Dormer to the team finishing first in the regular schedule; and the Peller, awarded to the most valuable player to his team during the season. Neil Thompson, ace short stop of the Seabrooke Motors squad, was the recipient of this trophy. Neil also accepted the Taylor Trophy on behalf of his team; while Art Hunter received the Dormer cup for the U.E.W. nine.

Such veterans of the softball years as Dave Leether, the Dormer boys, George and Harold, Les and Pat Calladine, Percy Harrison, Frank Woods, Jack Playford, Bob Batley, along with hard-working secretary Johnny McPhee and Jack Legrow were on deck and all expressed satisfaction with the new upward trend of softball, locally. John McPhee thanked the press for fine publicity during the year; also radio station CHEX. Cards and dancing finished off the evening's enjoyment.

St. Peter's High Captures First Of Grid Playoffs Against St. Mike's Squad

St. Peter's High senior Saints won the first of a home-and-home series Saturday from St. Michael's College of Toronto 17-5 for the senior "B" Ontario Catholic Conference title. The verdict for Coach Johnny Lynch's Saints was never in doubt after the first half and they should have totalled up a much higher score against the inexperienced Toronto boys. The Saints, all experienced, ran into trouble in the first half when their timing was off on offensive plays. They suffered from offsides which seemed to throw them off their game until the second half. They started to roll with ease then and were never threatened.

In only on department St. Michael's held a slight edge over St. Peter's and that was in kicking. Jack Richardson and Frank McGillen, Saints' punters, were hurried on kicks, but McGillen finished strong. St. Mike's Egan kicked a steady game and the [illegible] his kicking [illegible]

WELL HANDLED

Richardson handled the team well after the first quarter, the St. Michael's line making him work faster, throwing off his timing early in the game. But he strengthened to call a good second half.

Carl Brioux was the major ground-gainer for the Saints. The husky backfielder, despite a sore knee, went for yards every time. Former junior Dick Foley also went well at times.

After St. Mike's threatened to score from the kickoff, the Saints roared back from their 45-yard line. Brioux, Foley, and Richardson carried to the St. Mik'e 15 where Toronto received a roughing penalty, followed by a talking back penalty which placed the ball on the three-yard line. Foley went over from there for the first TD. Richardson made the convert attempt good for another point.

ST. MIKE'S SCORE

Late in the second quarter, McGillen was rushed on a kick near the goal line; it was partly blocked and Angelo Comi recovered to score for St. Mike's. The convert attempt was blocked.

A roughing penalty and a long punt by Egan placed the ball on the Saints' 20 in the third quarter. But Brioux, Foley and Richardson plunged the ball to the St. Mike's five where Gord Snape went over standing up.

Richardson minutes later passed to Byrnes to start another rush. He followed up with another pass to Byrnes which went to the one-yard line. But here the ball was fumbled. Conroy recovered behind the line but was smeared for another St. Peter's point.

Later Foley intercepted a St. Mike's pass at the Toronto 26. Richardson romped for two first downs; then Brioux cut to the three-yard line. He followed up [illegible] the final touchdown play, crossing through centre.

The lineups:

St. Peter's High— Flying wing, Byrnes; halves, Fitzpatrick, Brioux and Foley; quarter, Richardson; snap, O'Connell; insides, O'Leary, Hickson; middles, Sullivan, Clark; ends, McGee, McGillen; alternates, Snape, Corkery, Loescher, LeBarr, Shaughnessy, Whatman, McCormick.

St. Michael's — Flying wing, Mercer; halves, Seymour, Curran, Scorrano; quarter, Egan; snap, Wood; insides, Lamantia, Sullivan, Clark; ends, Godde[illegible] Comi, Quinn, Keenan, Quealy, Beavers, Finch, Natale, Conroy, Douglas, Gabon, Hiller, Cronin, Hultay, Mitchell.

St. Mike's Capture Catholic Golf Title

St. Michael's College won the first annual Ontario Catholic Conference golf title at the Kawartha Golf Club on Sunday with a low gross of 385. De La Salle was next with 391, followed by St. Peter's 402 and St. Jerome's of Kitchener with 413. Four players comprised each team.

Fourteen-year-old Gary Cowan of St. Jerome's and R. Vachon of De La Salle tied for low players with 89 each. Members of the local St. Peter's team were Jack Richards, Bob McCormick, Brian Guerin and Bob Burns. Low player on the team was Richards with 92.

Lakefield To Ice One Club In T.V.L.

Lakefield hockeyists decided at a weekend meeting in the village to be represented by one club this coming winter in the Trent Valley Hockey League. A meeting of players and those interested will be held next Sunday at two p.m. in the Town Hall. President Bob Chittick presided at the first session.

It was also decided that the club would not import any out-of-town players, other than those who have previously played for either Lakefield club. An executive from both teams will be appointed at the next meeting as the first step in combining the two clubs into one strong T.V.L.

Gavilan Outboxes Billy Graham In Second Battle

HAVANA (AP)—Cuba's Kid Gavilan outboxed and outsmarted New York's Billy Graham in their second battle for the welterweight boxing championship of the world.

Gavilan last night took at least 11 of the 15 rounds, and left no doubt about the decision this time. There are still many who say Graham should have had the decision in their New York title bout Aug. 29, 1951.

Gavilan this time was the master of the situation nearly all the way. But the Cuban was so cautious not to let his welterweight crown get away from him that it was not much of a spectacle, as a fight.

Graham himself commented that Gavilan threw him off by not leading.

NOT SO GOOD

As for his own showing, Graham said:

"I wasn't nearly as sharp, nor as fast, as I expected to be."

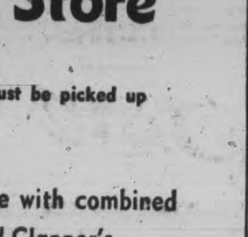
This was a masterpiece of understatement. At times Graham looked like a novice as he swung wildly, on a few occasions coming no closer than two feet to Gavilan.

The 15-round battle, fought in open air, came after their Saturday night encounter had been washed out by rain.

Sports department officials estimated the crowd at 35,000 to 40,000, but a check-up with stadium officials showed official attendance of only 15,824. The one-day delay and threatening weather Sunday was blamed.

Senior Ball Team Honored At Dinner

The Peterborough Senior Baseball League, C.O.B.L. champions, had an enjoyable windup dinner Saturday night as guests of Ray Tanner. President Max Swanston, as chairman, congratulated the team, thanked the club executive and expressed appreciation to Ray Tanner, not only for the dinner, but for his successful efforts in staging two "booster nights" during the season.



Manager Joe Stewart informed the gathering that the club would be back next season and in a stronger C.O.B.L. He thanked the juniors for their help, a number of the juniors being present.

Treasurer Lloyd Grose expressed thanks, too, to all, including the drivers, and made suitable club presentations to Ray Tanner, Jim Ellis, George Bennett, Ed Alberico, Harley Carr and Fred Scates for help during season. Vice-president Dr. Cliff McKee said both seniors and juniors would be back in action next summer. Cy Whatley, Jack McNamara, Dr. Ralph Clark and Fred Scates also spoke briefly. Ray Tanner, as final speaker, told of how he enjoyed working with the team, of the boys' will to win, and he congratulated them upon taking the league title.

Torrid Dodgers Win 6-5 After 11 Innings

By GAYLE TALBOT

BROOKLYN (AP)—The official World Series program says on page 25, speaking of Duke Snider: "If he gets hot, he can break this Series wide open." They can write that again.

The Duke became torrid yesterday, along with a pair of his outfielding mates, Carl Furillo and Andy Pafko, and if the Series isn't broken, it's at least severely bent.

Brooklyn Dodgers need only one more victory as they face New York Yankees in Ebbets Field today, and they are moving with great momentum after yesterday's 6-5, 11-inning victory.

Billy Loes is Manager Charlie Dressen's nominee to try to wrap it up. The Dodgers chances of winning depend almost entirely upon whether big Vic Raschi is in something less than the brilliant form he was last Thursday, when he gave them a rare hiding.

TOP-FLIGHT JOB

But the job they did yesterday on a couple of second-line Bomber Throwers, Ewell Blackwell and Johnny Sain, was a beaut. Snider won it with his three timely blasts, home run, double and single—and Furillo and Pafko saved it for game Carl Erskine with two as magnificent catches as will be seen in any World Series.

Erskine didn't permit another Yank hit Sunday after Old Jawn Mize unloaded his three-run homer to put the Bombers in front 5-4 in the fifth. In fact, he retired the last 19 Yank batters in succession.

Some thought that Pafko made the greater catch when he leaped to make a one-handed stab of Gene Woodling's long belt in the second inning. Others thought Furillo's robbery of Mize for the second out in the 11th won the prize.

It would be easy to overlook Erskine's remarkable performance. The box score says the Yankees made five hits, but you should have seen them. The first one, by Mickey Mantle to lead off the fourth, was a drag bunt. The next three, which put the Yanks back in business in the fifth, were mangy singles which dribbled through the Brooklyn infield. The only one worthy of the name was Mize's homer. It was well and truly swatted.

SAIN WAS SAFE

Sain's hopper past the mound to lead off the 10th was a difficult ball to handle, and Jackie Robinson had to be an exceptional second baseman to make a play on it at all. Gil Hodges also had to be a fine first baseman to stretch out and take Jackie's off-balance throw. Without much doubt, Sain was across the bag when the ball arrived. Umpire Art Passarella apparently was "blacked out" on the play. When, after some hesitation, he called Sain out, his ears were badly singed by Coach Bill Dickey and other Yankees.

The American Leaguers were arguing loud and long last night that the play was a turning point. They eventually convinced themselves that, but for the bad call, they would have scored in the inning and won the contest. But it was a little difficult to go along with them, because the next three Yankee Batters—counting Mantle, who opened the 11th—were loud outs.

REYNOLDS WON SATURDAY

Allie Reynolds and the ageless Mize teamed up Saturday to lead the Yankees to a 2-0 victory over the Dodgers in the fourth game of the Series.

Reynolds, facing rookie Joe Black for the second time in the Series, limited the Dodgers to four hits—two by Peewee Reese and one each by Pafko and Furillo. He struck out 20 men, getting Robinson three times, and walked only two.

Mize, starting at first base in place of Joe Collins, broke the scorelessness of the contest with a home run off Black in the fourth inning which proved to be enough to win.

Black gave up three hits before he was taken out for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

Johnny Rutherford, a native of Peterborough, who grew up in Detroit, came on and gave up one hit—a triple by Mantle.

"COOL CONTROL"

THROWING A FORWARD PASS

1 Grip ball with fingers across lacing, thumb under the ball. Spread hand as wide as possible. Proper grip gives throwing and handling control. Use left hand to press ball firmly into throwing hand. Throw is overhand for greatest accuracy.

2 Avoid sidearm passes because they are easily blocked. Ball is raised above and behind shoulder, beside the ear. Right foot draws back and takes body's weight; left arm and hand stretches in direction of throw. Weight shifts to left foot as ball is thrown.

3 Follow through with throwing arm in front of face to prevent interception. A good pass is retrieved high. For spin draw fingers and hand downward and inward as ball is released. Body motion on 'follow-through' helps add distance to throw.

Yes, it's control that counts in football as in every sport — control which brings the extraordinary quality that sets one performer above the other. In the ability to approach things coolly, to control every move and moment, lies the answer to better results.

This is one of a series designed to increase the pleasure of Canadians who participate in sports.

New York Yankees won their fifth World Series in six years by defeating Brooklyn Dodgers 3-1 in the fifth game of the series 11 years ago today. The finale of the 1941 battle was marked by a wordy battle between Joe DiMaggio, ace hitter of the Yankees, and pitcher Whitlow Wyatt of the Dodgers.

Rochester Wins Little World Series By 6-4

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (CP)—With right-hander Jack Crimian starring in a relief role for the third successive game Rochester-Red Wings won the Little World Series Saturday night by defeating Kansas City Blues 6-4 in the decisive game of their best-of-seven series.

The victory for the International League champions capped a great comeback in the series. At one point they trailed the American Association representatives 3-1 in games.

Crimmian appeared in a relief role three nights in succession as the Red Wings fought back from the brink of elimination.

TAKES OVER

In the deciding game he took over in the sixth from Jackie Collum after Kansas City had scored four runs to get within two runs of the Red Wings. He put out the fire and gave up only two hits the rest of the game.

The series players' pool, drawn from the first four games, amounted to $46,641. The Red Wings took shares of $1,212 for each player compared with $730 a man for the losers.

Truman Using Every Trick In Election Oratorical Bag

By JOHN TRACEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP)—A New York Post cartoon shows two trackside bystanders looking at flaming railroad ties as a train disappears in the distance. One explains to the other: "Truman just gave a little back-platform talk."

That just about sums up President Truman's whistle-stopping "give 'em hell" campaign to take the glamor off Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican presidential candidate.

EVERY TRICK

Truman is using every trick in his oratorical bag to take a swing at the man he once named to head the North Atlantic Treaty Forces.

Some of his back-platform talks are heavy with sarcasm.

At other times he talks like a man who has been hurt at seeing a protege take the wrong path.

For instance, at San Francisco Saturday he told a crowd:

"I would never have engaged in criticism of the General, merely for partisan purpose. No, the reason I have spoken out is far deeper than that.

"The reason is that the General has betrayed himself. He has betrayed himself by his wild attacks on policies and programs for which he had a great credit."

TOUGHER THAN '48

Some of the men in Truman's press train say he is putting up a tougher fight now than he did in the 1948 presidential campaign.

Anthony Leviero, New York Times reporter with Truman, writes that the President apparently believes his place in history is at stake to a large extent in this campaign.

Leviero reports that Truman is gambling his name with all the controversy that attaches to it, against the immense prestige of the military hero.

Truman was accused of aiming a below-the-belt swing at Eisenhower, when he referred to Eisenhower's 1945 statement about the Russians.

Truman, in a speech at Havre, Mont., recalled the General's statement that "there is no one thing that guides the policy of Russia more today than to keep friendship with the United States."

Truman went on to say that the Eisenhower statement "carried great weight and it therefore did a great deal of harm."

WHY CHANGE MIND?

The pro-Eisenhower New York Times, in an editorial headed "Cheap, Mr. President", asked: Why, if Truman lacked confidence in Eisenhower's military judgment, did he afterwards give him the highest military post within his power of appointment?

Some Democrats are said to be pleased with Truman's down-to-earth politicking. Others are said to fear he may go too far and get a "sympathetic vote" for the General.

Time magazine observed this week:

"Nobody had fully appreciated the high level which the 1952 campaign had previously attained until Harry Truman went into action."

Vincent Hunt Dies In Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Vincent Perry Hunt, 93, an original member of the Royal Conservatory of Music of Toronto, died Saturday. For many years, he was director of music at Albert College, Belleville.

Born at Whitby, Mr. Hunt studied music in Toronto and later at Leipzig, Germany. In 1886, when the Toronto Conservatory of Music was organized, he joined the staff as a teacher of piano and organ. He became director of music at Albert College and organist at the Bridge Street Methodist Church, now United Church, Belleville, in 1899.

Later he served eight years as director of music at the University of Alberta. He returned to Belleville and resumed his position with Albert College. He was also supervisor of music for Belleville schools and conductor of the Belleville philharmonic.

Since his retirement, Mr. Hunt lived in Toronto and Pittsburgh.

To Appeal For Blood

TORONTO (CP) — A national blood donor drive will be staged during the week of Oct. 24 by the United Nations Association to aid wounded U.N. soldiers in Korea.

TV Increases Power

TORONTO (CP)—The CBC's television station here, CBLT, now is operating at full strength. Increase in signal strength has jumped the effective radiated power of the picture signal from 5,000 to 25,000 watts. The change has indicated that some sets may require adjustment.

Rectory Razed By Fire

BARRIE (CP)—The rectory of St. Paul's Anglican Church, about three miles south of here, was burned yesterday with a loss estimated at $15,000. Sparks from a chimney were believed responsible.

Early Aviator Col. Post Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Col. Augustus T. Post, 78, pioneer balloonist and aviator, died Saturday night.

He was a man fascinated by air travel and the gasoline age.

In 1900, he took his first jaunt into the air, going aloft in a 52-passenger balloon.

Eight years later, he fell 2,000 feet from a balloon and landed unhurt on a bed in a Berlin house.

Then, in 1909, he and Clifford B. Harmon set an American balloon duration record of 48 hours, 26 minutes.

Post piloted racing motorcycles and automobiles for years.

He was the 13th man to fly in an airplane in the United States [illegible] the Wright brothers.

2,000 Ex-Nazis Pardoned By Reds

BERLIN (AP)—President Wilhelm Pieck of East Germany has pardoned more than 2,000 former Nazis jailed since the war's end for "Fascist activities," it was announced yesterday. The action was taken at the request of the Communist east zone government, which recently lifted all restrictions imposed after the war on former German wehrmacht officers and Nazi party members and followers.

Reaume May Run

WINDSOR — (CP) — Controller Lawrence A. Deziel Saturday announced his withdrawal from the Windsor mayoralty race. He said pressure of work forced him to withdraw a Sept. 24 commitment to run in the December election. Observers believe Mayor Arthur J. Reaume will try for an eighth two-year term and that lawyer Thomas Brophey, who was mayor for eight days in 1950, may try to contest the post.

ONE OF THE BEST DISTRICT FAIRS, in the opinion of the experts, was held Saturday at Lakefield. Good weather attracted large crowds and the Peterborough County Shorthorn Association had their largest day, "Better than many of the large regional fairs," said one judge. There were many homey contests, too; in the top left photo Wallace Smith of Keene tunes up in the roar of the crowd for the old-time fiddling contest. A Shorthorn yearling class, top right photo, was headed by prize-winner Lorne Pimmett, Indian River, at extreme right. In the lower photo part of the large crowd is shown from the crowded grandstand as a heavy draft team prances along the racetrack.—(Examiner Staff Photos)

Fire Burns Out Kitchen, Damage $2,000

Fire early Sunday night gutted the kitchen of the home of Bernard Lessard, 478 Wellington St., and caused an estimated $2,000 damage. Included in the loss are an electric refrigerator, an electric stove and a washing machine.

Acting Fire Chief Stewart Foster is investigating the cause of the fire. A smouldering cigarette butt is thought to have started the blaze that was first noticed shortly before 7 p.m.

Firemen had to use a two-and-a-half-inch hoseline to quell the flames. The heat was so great that some of the metal on the washing machine was melted. A passerby who got into the house was unable to save the refrigerator because it was too hot to touch.

The Lessard's had been away since Saturday, but friends of Mr. Lessard had been there earlier in the day.

SEEN BY PASSERBY

Flames were first sighted by Mrs. James V. Shaughnessy, of 512 Sherbrooke St. She and her husband were driving along Wellington St. and pulled up in front of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McGarrity who live across the road from the Lessards.

"I noticed some flames through the kitchen window on the side of the house," said Mrs. Shaughnessy. "I called my husband's attention to them and he later told me it was the table burning in the kitchen."

The fire alarm was put in at the McGarritty home and then Mr. and Mrs. Shaughnessy and Mrs. Helen McGarritty went into the Lessard home to save what they could.

"The smoke and heat were too much for me," said Mrs. Mc Garritty. "Mr. Shaughnessy got the electric refrigerator out and it was too hot—almost red hot."

A next-door neighbor, Mrs. J. T. Thompson, said she went outside to hang out some clothes about 6.30 p.m. and there was no sign of fire in the Lessard home. The outbreak was noticed less than half an hour later.

Firemen had to pull down the plaster ceiling to snuff out the last spark of fire. The inside of the kitchen was gutted and it burned part of a back porch; otherwise the flames did not get out of the one room.

The intense heat badly damaged a chesterfield in the next room and there was heavy smoke damage as well. The house will have to be completely redecorated.

Army Engineers Plan National Convention

Final plans for the reunion were completed at a meeting yesterday. They include a banquet and dance Saturday and the placing of a wreath at the cenotaph Sunday.

Near Record Crowd Swarms In To See Lakefield Fair

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—Lakefield Fair's attendance for this year reached a near-record, officials of the fair said Saturday. Exact attendance figures are not known, but estimates set the crowd at about 5,000.

Shorthorn cattle exhibitors at the fair had 75 entries, and their showing was said to be one of the outstanding features of the fair. It was the first year the Shorthorn Club had exhibited.

In the harness racing, Stan Blewett's Peter C took two firsts and a second in its class, as did Mr. Bob Henley, owned by J. W. Baskin of Renfrew.

Sheep and swine entries were the largest in years, and calf club entries were said to be good. Heavy and light horses were fewer in number than in previous years, but judges agreed that all were of an excellent type.

Inside the buildings, the ladies' work and baking exhibits were outstanding, and for the arts, crafts and flowers shown the judges had many compliments.

Music for the entertainment was provided by the Orono Band, and Crompton Simmonds of Hamilton staged the grandstand show. Skipping, step-dancing and old time fiddlers' contest entrants keenly contested for the prizes.

Harry Wipper Catches Two Rifling Room

It wasn't funny to Harry Wipper and it certainly couldn't have been funny to the fellow he hit. But the Peterborough Timbermen got quite a chuckle out of big Harry's Saturday night adventure in a Toronto hotel.

Wipper came up from Montreal on Saturday to be on hand for the Mann Cup opening game in Maple Leaf Gardens Sunday. He is a McGill student. The tall defenceman for the Petes—weighing around 180 pounds—forgot to lock his hotel room door when he went visiting a friend in another part of the hotel Saturday evening.

Returning some time later, Harry surprised two thieves in his room, rifling the bureau drawers—and Harry had a wallet with $60 in it. The thugs jumped Wipper but one of them was promptly sent sprawling with a hard punch.

The other wrestled with the local lacrosse player and they crashed about the room. The first one then jumped to his feet and yelled at his mate as he ran out, the mate following fast. They left empty-handed and bruised, while Harry has cut knuckles to show how hard he hit one of them.

When he gets excited, the "Whip"—as he is known in O.L.A. circles — stammers a bit. He quickly called the hotel desk but the clerk couldn't quite make out what the urgent call was about. By the time a house-detective arrived, the would-be thieves were probably halfway across Toronto, and still going.

Friendly Partridge

Partridge season has come to the home and the school. Cold nights and real fall weather have given the birds the urge to be warm. For examples, take these two cases that occurred last week: Mrs. E. Lawson of Cavan Twp., was carrying a pail of chips and a bucket of water into her home when she heard something pitter-patter in beside her. She looked into the hall and there was a fat partridge that refused to leave. The Lawsons had partridge for supper. At the Normal School, when a window smashed, pupils had the idea a stone was thrown through the window. It was a partridge.

Girl 14, Borrows Car, Hits Auto

A 14-year-old girl who convinced her boy friend she was 18 and borrowed his car faces two charges in connection with a hit-run accident Friday afternoon.

She will be charged with leaving the scene of an accident and driving without a licence.

Grant Miller, 354 Charlotte St., left his car parked on the east side of Downie St., just north of Charlotte St. A passing car clipped the left front fender, doing an estimated $85 damage.

The car did not stop according to witnesses.

Unable to locate his car until midnight, the girl's boy friend notified police that it had been damaged and that he was unable to find out what had happened to it.

The girl was questioned by police concerning the accident which resulted in damage to Miller's car and the two charges are being laid today.

Constable William G. Scott investigated.

Pickets Quiet, Deloro Plant Still Closed

Constable Expects No Trouble As Strike Continues

MARMORA (Staff)— Peaceful picketing continues at the five entrances to the Deloro Smelting and Refining Company, four miles northwest of here, where 400 workers are on the fourth day of their strike.

"Everything is quiet," said Chief Constable Bertram Lounsbury of Marmora today. "We're not anticipating any trouble, either."

The Deloro workers, members of Local 889, International Union of Mine Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.), went on strike Friday morning when the company refused to accept their contract demands.

The company agreed to accept the recommendations of an O.L.R.B. conciliation board, but the union turned the majority report down.

The board recommended a 10-cent-an-hour increase, to be applied either as a general wage increase or its equivalent in fringe benefits.

UNION DEMANDS

Demands of the union are for a substantial wage boost (the minority report of the conciliation board suggested 15 cents an hour), a reduction of the work week from 44 to 40 hours, a greater company share of the cost of sick-pay insurance, and other fringe benefits.

The union also charges that working conditions at Deloro are "unhealthy"; that arsenic fumes and dust are causing respiratory diseases, including lung cancer. They point to the fact that the Continental Casualty Co. last July cancelled their sick-pay policy because there were too many claims.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK
October 5th to 13th

Fire Hazards In Most Houses From Basement To Attic

You don't have to be a detective to discover a fire hazard.

Most home fires are cased by a few well known hazards. Once you know what these hazards are you can increase your fire safety by taking a few simple steps.

Just open your purse or reach into your pocket, you will probably find a pack of cigarettes there. They look harmless but those cigarettes and the matches you use to light them keep the fire department busy. They cause a third of all fires.

It is not necessary to stop smoking, but keep in mind that a smouldering cigarette can destroy your home as surely as a stick of dynamite.

Here is how to prevent that:

When emptying ashtrays make sure every cigarette butt is out. Never toss a lighted match away, hold it for a moment after you have used it then put it in the ash tray, do not toss it into a waste-paper basket. Inspect your kitchen and living room before retiring or going out at night, see that no cigarette butts are left burning in ash trays, put them out.

THE BASEMENT

The basement is another bad place for fires to start. Inspect your furnace and pipes and have them cleaned regularly. Replace all damaged or old smoke pipes. Don't leave rubbish or kindling near the furnace. Check to see if the ceiling and walls near the furnace or pipes feel hot to your hand; if so, use some insulation to keep them from charring or catching fire.

Use covered metal cans for ashes. Never use paper or wooden boxes or baskets for ashes. Don't leave paints, oils, turpentine or other such materials near furnace. Don't use a blow torch or any open flame to thaw frosted pipes. Use hot water or call a plumber. Be sure you are using the proper size fuses. Fifteen amp fuses are recommended for most household circuits.

THE KITCHEN

Stove ovens should be cleaned out regularly to avoid an accumulation of grease. If a grease fire does start while you are cooking, cover the burning pan with a large flat cover or smother it quickly with ordinary baking soda. If you use a gas stove, keep it clean.

Don't let window curtains or hanging towels blow over the flames. If you use a coal or wood stove check the clearance between stove and walls. Clearance should never be less than 9 inches, pipes should be 1½ times the diameter of the pipes away from all wood or combustible material. Never use coal oil or gasoline to start a fire in the stove. Place all ashes in covered metal container, never use wood or paper boxes or baskets.

ATTIC

Clean out old pieces of furniture put there with the intention of someday repairing it. Also get rid of bundles of old papers, old Christmas decorations, old clothing mattresses, old pictures. If they are of no value put them in the garbage.

The wiring in the attic: look it over, maybe an extension cord is used to locate something with. If the cord is hanging on nails or over hooks, tie some good cord or string on the extension cord and loop the string over the nail. The outer covering of the extension cord will in due time become hard or will fray and crack, causing wires to become bare. To be safe, call in an electrician and have him install a light and a wall switch.

PRECAUTION TIPS

Never leave children alone in the home. Numerous fires have taken place all over the country and children have lost their lives by being unattended. If parents must got out they should arrange to have a dependable baby-sitter stay with the children. And they should also give instructions on what to do in case of a fire.

Don't use candles at children's parties. If used on a birthday cake make sure there is an adult present when they are lit and when they are blown out. Don't allow children to play near or around bonfires.

If a fire does start in your home there are two very important things to do immediately.

First—Get everybody out of the house.

Second—Call the fire department. Close all doors as you leave. Don't try to fight the fire yourself before calling the fire department, because little fires become big fires in a hurry.

The fire department is ready to serve you at all times, the only thing they ask of you and your neighbor is to co-operate with them by keeping the fire hazards down to a minimum.

Welcome To Fires Built In Many Homes In the City

Many homes are menaced by "built-in" fire hazards. This is the warning sounded by Ontario Fire Marshal W. J. Scott during the present Fire Prevention week.

"Built-in" is the term used by the Fire Marshal to describe structural hazards in homes—defective chimneys and heating apparatus, combustible wood shingle roofs and faulty electrical wiring and equipment. Official figures show that approximately 50 percent of all residential fires result from these causes.

Official records also provide the basis for this startling statement by the Fire Marshal: Thousands of homes are destroyed or damaged by fire every year because of failure to eliminate structural hazards.

REMOVING SOME

The Fire Marshal sees greater hope for the future, however, because many home owners who are preparing to remodel or make repairs can plan now to knock out the built-in hazards which otherwise might destroy them and their homes.

Here are some fire safety recommendations to include in remodelling plans:

1. The heating plant should be enclosed in masonry or some other fire-resistant wall; should stand on a concrete foundation; and the ceiling above the furnace should be covered with plaster, gypsum board or asbestos material. Make repairs promptly and clean yearly.

2. Masonry chimneys should rest solidly on the ground and be free-standing. That is, they should not lend support to or be supported by the house. The chimney should be built of solid masonry units or concrete at least four inches thick and lined with fire-clay or fire-brick. There should be separate flues for each heating device. Clean the chimney once a year.

3. Use fire-resistant roofing such as asphalt shingles. Dried, curled, combustible wood shingles are good tinder for a spark from a chimney or other sources.

4. Overloaded electrical circuits are a serious hazard. Before adding a new electric range or other appliances, check the wiring to be sure it is adequate. Have plenty of outlets to eliminate long extension cords. Keep appliances clean and in good working order.

Fire Marshal Scott warns that "hollow walls form a flue through which fire races from floor to floor." To prevent this he recommends fire stops of metal, asbestos or gypsum board at the top of the foundation wall in the basement, and non-combustible insulating material blown into the walls.

Have Juke Box In N.J. Church

HARRISON, N.J. (AP) — A juke box in a church?

You'll find one in St. John's Lutheran church here, and when you make a selection, out pours the soothing strains of a hymn.

It was the church's pastor, 37 year-old Rev. Theodore Bornhoeft, who got the idea of installing the juke box—an idea born of concern over the fact that there wasn't enough of a response to a new policy of keeping the church open all day as a place for prayer and meditation.

So the juke box, with its flashing lights, was installed about a month ago in the choir loft.

Now there are many people coming into the church to pray, the pastor said. Visitors pay nothing for the musical selections, and pick their favorite hymn as background music while they worship

Shelter Closed During Winter

LONDON (CP)—Clapham's "Deep Shelter," a well-known hostelry for visitors to London, will be closed Oct. 1 for the winter months.

The War Office, current controlling tenants, said the hostelry will be reopened next year. It will be occupied by 3,000 troops during Coronation Week, but it is not yet known whether the "Boarding House," sometimes known as "Hotel Subterranean," will also be available for Commonwealth visitors.

The Deep Shelter, with 2,500 [illegible] as a happy answer to a tiny tourist budget. Adults get a bed for 4s, children and soldiers for 3s. Cafeterias offer good cheap food.

This summer the average monthly occupancy was 5,000.

Need Defence Forces

WASHINGTON (AP)—Japanese Ambassador Eikichi Araki said yesterday his people now are strongly opposed to militarism but realize with regret a need for defence forces of their own. "They (the Japanese) have realized that military power isolated from international co-operation and community interests is of little use for the attainment of national welfare and prosperity," he said in a radio broadcast.

Youth 17 Pastor

CINCINNATI (AP) — La Serre Bradley Jr., a 17-year-old high school student from Lexington, Ky. has accepted the pastorate of the New Testament Baptist church, St. Bernard, O. The congregation of 500 members called him two months ago. The youth, a senior at Fayette high school, Lexington, already has delivered 65 sermons at the church. He has been preaching since he was 13.

Truman Prepares Addresses For Quick New England Tour

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

ABOARD TRUMAN TRAIN (AP) President Truman's campaign strategy board worked on two new speaking itineraries for the "give 'em hell" campaigner today as he pressed his anti-Eisenhower drive across Utah and Colorado.

Tentative plans call for a whirlwind tour of New England—highlighted by a major address in Boston—and still another midwestern tour carrying Truman into Pennsylvania, Ohio and other states on his way home to Missouri to vote.

Truman's current 8,500-mile, 15-day coast-to-coast trip winds up in New York Saturday with two speeches. Before that he will stump upstate New York from Buffalo, where he speaks Friday night.

Truman cut loose at Eisenhower and Senator Richard M. Nixon, his vice-presidential running mate, in talks Saturday in the San Francisco area.

Saturday night in a speech broadcast in California from Oakland, he declared the Republican presidential nominee has joined in spreading a "wave of filth" about foreign policy that "brings us closer to a world war."

And Truman contended that Eisenhower as a general, and later as chief of staff, participated in Korean, German and other military decisions he now is denouncing as blunders and bungles.

Three Republican senators who describe themselves as a "truth squad" following Truman and commenting on his statements took issue with this. Senators Bourke B. Hickenlooper (Ga.), Homer Ferguson (Mich.), and Francis Case (S.D.) insisted in a joint statement the decisions were political.

Eisenhower, the President said Saturday, "owes his popularity to the high positions he has held, and the good work he has done in them. I do not wish to detract from his achievements. But when he turns around and slanders our national effort as a procession of blunders and failures, then I am going to call him on it."

Seven Owe Lives To Captured Corporal

By BILL BOSS

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA (CP) — Seven Canadian soldiers say they owe their lives to a Montreal corporal who now is probably in enemy hands.

Listed as missing and believed a prisoner is Cpl. M.J.G Ladouceur of Montreal who last Sept. 6 commanded an ambush laid by the 1st Battalion, the Royal 22nd Regiment.

Weeks of investigation and reconstruction of the action, just completed by Maj. Bernard Pelletier of Ottawa, have pieced together a story indicating the 22-year-old corporal resisted long after he was seized.

WARNS PATROL

While captive he warned off a patrol sent out to bring him in, shouting that it was heading right into an enemy trap. The men Ladoucer is credited with saving were a sextette led by Cpl. Jean-Robert Gingras of Quebec City.

Ladoucer's ambush was just outside a Van Doo minefield in a valley ahead of the battalion's position. He had five men with him.

Two files of Chinese stalked into their position.

The Canadians were just taking them on when their bren gun had a stoppage. Ladoucer at the same moment decided that the Chinese, estimated at 30 to 40, were too strong for his group and ordered a withdrawal, telling his men he would be right behind them He was seen to go back to pick up the radio set.

RETURNS TO CLOSE GAP

Pelletier's reconstruction indicates that Ladoucer, remembering also that the gap in the minefield had not been closed went back to shut it.

During the ambush's withdrawal Pte. J.E. Daigle of Lakeburn, N.B. was slightly wounded.

When Pelletier learned Ladouceur was missing he sent out Gingras.

Gingras's patrol was nearing the area when, from the neighborhood of a tree just beyond the minefield came Ladouceur's voice in French:

"Don't come any closer—they're still here."

Almost simultaneously Communist artillery and mortar fire opened and an estimated 60 Chinese rained rifle and machine-gun fire on the patrol.

Wounded in the exchange were Ptes. Guy Lecuyer, St. Jerome, Que., and Gerard Poisson, Victoriaville, Que. Pte. Marcel Beaunoyer of Berthierville, Que., a medical assistant, bandaged their wounds during the battle.

The action took place in front of a platoon area commanded by Sgt. Roger Champoux of Sherbroke and Stratford, Que., whose information enabled Pelletier to direct mortar and artillery fire onto the Chinese.

When Gingras finally withdrew, leaving Ladouceur still in the enemy area, Pelletier dispatched a third patrol, led by Cpl. J.A Ganin of Ottawa.

Ganin's men discovered only marks on the ground, as though a man had been dragged, struggling furiously.

FIND "DOG TAGS"

Four days later the battalion intelligence officer, Lieut. Joseph Fournier of Quebec City, checked the minefield. There he discovered Ladouceur's "dog tags," obviously ripped from his neck, and one of his running shoes.

Their discovery prompted Pelletier's investigation and reconstruction of the action.

Results indicate that Ladouceur was seized in the Van Doos' minefield as he was returning to close the gap. He was dragged, struggling, to the tree, just beyond it.

There the Chinese omitted to gag him, and he was able to shout his warning.

Say Half Recruits Rejected Should Have Been Accepted

MONTREAL (CP)—Half the men rejected as recruits in the Second World War on the ground they had pulmonary tuberculosis should not have been turned down.

That's the conclusion reached by Drs. A. D. Temple and Everett F. Crutchlow of the staff of St. Hyacinthe Veterans' Hospital following a survey of rejected recruits.

They say in an article in the current issue of the Canadian Medical Association Journal:

"It would appear, on the basis of a seven- to eight-year follow-up, using both X-rays and clinical histories, a diagnosis of unstable or active tuberculosis was not justified in nearly 50 per cent of the rejected recruits.

"Even allowing for some who may have been potentially unstable under full active service conditions it seems reasonable to assume that many of these rejected recruits could have been accepted for limited service."

The report is based on a survey of the 1,000 cases from the districts of Montreal, Quebec and surrounding areas.

They criticized regulations established in 1939 for the interpretation of recruit X-rays because they did not contain any provision for the re-examination of doubtful or border-line cases.

They also said there is a great need for standardization of reports and diagnosis by enlistment boards and consulting specialists.

Find Successor For Dead Star In New York Show

By MARK BARRON

NEW YORK (AP)—Blonde Constance Carpenter, a Piccaddilly trouper of considerable persistence, has inherited the Broadway mantle of Gertrude Lawrence in "The King and I."

Signed a few days ago to a $1,000-a-week, run-of-the-play contract, Miss Carpenter has won recognition for years of hard work and also supplied the answer to the question that arose with Miss Lawrence's death: Who would be her successor in the focal and poignant role of the Rodgers-Hammerstein musical hit?

The new leading lady is not unaccustomed to the role of gentle, cultured Anna Leonowens, the Englishwoman who became governess to the numerous children of the King of Siam in the early 1860s.

"As a stand-in for Miss Lawrence I have played the role for more than 100 times," Miss Carpenter said, "sometimes when she was on vacation and sometimes when she was ill.

"I was once also a standby for a standby. That was when I played the role for Celeste Holm one night when she was scheduled to substitute for Miss Lawrence."

It happened this way: Miss Holm had come on from her Hollywood film chores to replace Miss Lawrence while the latter was taking a vacation. But the night that Miss Holm was to take over, Richard Rodgers, the composer-producer of "The King and I," was conducting a symphonic concert on Long Island. Rodgers wanted to conduct for Miss Holm's first appearance.

REAL PINCH-HITTER

So Miss Carpenter was called in to give a single performance for Miss Holm. In baseball language, it was the same as a pinch-hitter pinch-hitting for a pinch-hitter who was supposed to be pinch-hitting for the star of the show.

Although born in England, Miss Carpenter is well known to Broadway audiences. Miss Carpenter played in two or three shows here before she struck a gold mine in a show where she first had composer Rodgers produce songs for her brisk and poetic talents.

"Rodgers was then composing—that was in 1928—a musical based upon the Mark Twain story," Miss Carpenter said. "The musical was 'A Connecticut Yankee' and in it I sang two of Mr. Rodgers' best-known songs, 'My Heart Stood Still' and 'Thou Swell'."

Fight Fire With Caution, Common Sense

Why do some home owners consistently ignore fire warnings? Why do they gamble the loss of their homes—the largest single investment most of them will ever make—to fire? In the event that they have failed to understand the elementary precautions to take against fire, we will cover them here in understandable language.

More than 70,000 home fires are caused each year by abused or misused electrical equipment. Don't let an amateur handyman alter the wiring of your home—call an electrician.

SAFETY VALVES

Fuses are the safety valves of your home's electrical system. Check the location of the fuse box as soon as you move into a new home. Never use pennies or substitute 30-amp. fuses where 15-amp. fuses should be used.

When electric outlets fail to work, it is usually a sign that a fuse has blown. The cause may be (1) overloading the circuit by plugging in too many appliances, (2) a short circuit resulting from a worn cord or defective plug connection, (3) voltage too high for the appliance used, (4) the starting of an electric motor.

To replace a fuse, cut off all current by throwing the master switch. Stand on a dry surface and avoid touching the metal part of the fuse box. Install new fuse and close the master switch.

If your home is to be vacant for more than a few days at a time, pull the main switch to shut off all electric power.

Use of gasoline for cleaning in the house invites fire and explosion. Make certain all inflammables are stored according to the manufacturer's instructions. Never store inflammables in glass jars with screw tops—a cork stopper is safer.

CAUSE EXPLOSION

Remove dust from your vacuum cleaner before putting the cleaner away, but don't throw the loose dust into the stove, heater or incinerator. It may cause an explosion.

Before using your fireplace, if you have one, light a newspaper in it to make sure that smoke is being drawn off properly. Never start a fire in a fireplace until you are sure the damper is open. Incidentally, keep the damper closed when the fireplace isn't in use to keep room heat from escaping up the chimney.

It is not advisable to build a fire directly on fireplace bricks. Use andirons or a grate. Your fireplace should have a snug, well-fitted screen. Extinguish the fire each night before retiring. Never use kerosene to start a fire.

At least one fire extinguisher should be kept in ever home. Rubbish and trash accumulations are prime ammunition for fires that breed in out-of-the-way places. Animal or vegetable oils on any combustible material may ignite spontaneously under certain atmospheric conditions.

Store wastepaper and trash in metal cans and dispose of it regularly to avoid accumulations in basement, attic or other storage places. Stack newspapers and magazines neatly in bags or boxes away from the furnace.

Oily mops and cloths are safe from spontaneous combustion if they are hung where they will get plenty of ventilation.

One other instruction may save your home from fire: use your everyday common sense.

FIRE PREVENTION TECHNIQUES, learned through tragic experience with fire loss in lives and property, are illustrated above.

Officials Seek Cause Of Animal Plague

LONDON (CP)—Ministry of Agriculture officials seek to learn the source of a mysterious plague that has brought death to hundreds of pigs in farming areas of southern England.

Although its cause has not yet been traced, one theory is that the plague may have its origin from a vegetable protein imported from Asia.

Research men report that detection is difficult as the disease is not revealed by normal blood tests.

One Million Veterans Rehabilitated

By DOUGLAS HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—With little fanfare, Canada has virtually rounded off the massive job of rehabilitating 1,000,000 veterans of the Second World War and dug in to handle their long-range problems right into the 21st century

The Department of Veterans Affairs now estimates the final bill for rehabilitation at a little less than $1,500,000,000, exclusive of war pensions. It is generally conceded to have been a marked success for two main reasons—a buoyant economy and the scope of the program itself.

The department which once spent $50,000,000 a month now has settled down to live on an annual budget of roughly $225,000,000, more than half of it made up of pension payments to the maimed, ailing and bereaved of two world wars and Korea.

NEW HEADQUARTERS

In downtown Ottawa, across the street from the Supreme Court building, the government is erecting a handsome six-storey D.V.A. headquarters for the job that lies ahead—handling the human legacies of war through the rest of this century and beyond.

In one way or another, as pensioners, needy recipients of war veterans allowances, people needing hospital care, or as the last of thousands who went through university, roughly 250,000 Canadians still get monthly payments or care through the department

Another 57,000 are linked to it through Veterans Land Act contracts, more thousands through insurance policies. No fewer than 238,000 veterans still haven't used up all their re-establishment credit.

The bulk of the department's work now consists of the problems it will face over the next half-century—that and looking after the rehabilitation of the few thousand men who have come back from Korea and returned to civilian life.

VARIETY OF JOBS

It runs veterans hospitals and homes, an insurance agency and a welfare service to handle all sorts of social problems. It pays pensions to 194,300 maimed or ailing veterans, dependents, war widows and orphans, it judges the applications of others, pays allowances to 38,600 needy and aged overseas veterans and widows of veterans, administers the huge land-settlement program known as the Veterans Land Act, does all sorts of other things.

And, on a minute scale, it's still at the job of getting veterans on their feet in civilian life. In addition to the relative trickle from Korea, there are, for instance, 1,700 veterans taking university training.

There still are 238,000 veterans who have used none or only part of their re-establishment credits after seven years of peace.

More than 1,400 Second World War veterans, for example, have $1,000 and up coming to them. The credits can be obtained in cash for a variety of things—buying furniture was the most popular. Or they can be skipped in favor of V.L.A. aid, or college or vocational training.

The total cost of Second World War rehabilitation, projected to its conclusion, now is set at $1,456,000,000. Its main elements are $112,000,000 for administration; $106,000,000 for treatment; $1,237,000,000 for benefit and grants such as college training, straight re-establishment credits, war service gratuities and V.L.A.

It gave educational aid to 54,000 men and women, settled 57,877 on farm or small holdings, poured hundreds of millions of dollars into the economy.

In arriving at the figure, D.V.A. came across a strange coincidence that harks back to a controversy that used to arouse war-time tempers. It was said then that thousands of men were staying in civilian life and making money while servicemen were poorly paid and took the risks of war.

The coincidence is this:

Statistics show that the average war worker saved roughly $1,500. That is the same sum the government spent to rehabilitate the average veteran.

Eisenhower Now Prepared For Feud With Truman

By DON WHITEHEAD

ABOARD THE EISENHOWER SPECIAL (AP) — Dwight D. Eisenhower beamed his political charm on Washington state today amid signs that a rip-snorting Eisenhower-Truman feud will highlight the final month of the presidential campaign.

Eisenhower has scrapped his "no personalities" tactics and aides say he can be expected to rip into President Truman in future speeches as he did Saturday night in Fargo, N.D.

The Republican presidential nominee—completing his first cross-continent drive—planned to begin his bid for Washington's votes with a brief speech in Spokane. Then he was to visit Ephrata, Wenatchee and Everett before making a major speech in Seattle tonight.

TRUMAN MAIN TARGET

Eisenhower decided to pin-point Truman as his main target in the Fargo speech. All day Saturday as he flew between stops in the Dakotas, he made notes aboard his plane.

That night Eisenhower opened his address by reminding his audience that "another campaign" had preceded his through the city a few days before. This was a reference to Truman's appearance in Fargo.

"Now from its rear platform," he said, "I am told, salvo after ed hot salvo was fired at me. Now, I merely say that I have been shot at by rear artillery. I am far too old to be greatly disturbed by noisy but harmless blanks.

"However, it seems that we are supposed to accept that kind of racket as typifying the purpose or nature of the current Democratic campaign: sound without substance; promise without performance; howls without harmony."

Bethany Women Plan Bazaar For November

BETHANY — (ENS). — Members of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. Paul's Church were entertained at the home of Mrs. Allan Gribble, vice-president, for their October meeting. It was decided to send a quantity of home-made jams and jellies to the Anglican Church Home for the Aged in Toronto. Plans were made for the annual bazaar to be held in the Town Hall on November 15. A turkey supper will be served. Committees were appointed to look after arrangements. A card of thanks for a sunshine box received was read from Mrs. J. J. Hamilton, the president, who has been ill at her home for some time.

Churchill Finishes Year Still With Welfare State

By JAMES F. KING

LONDON (AP)—Winston Churchill is winding up his first year as peacetime Prime Minister with Britain still a welfare state.

The 77-year-old champion of private enterprise has checked the swing to socialism; he hasn't reversed it.

He's found the going slow, sometimes rocky, in trying to break the socialistic grip clamped on this austere island in six years of post-war Labor rule.

Basic foods still are rationed. The government still runs the coal mines, steel mills, airlines, railroads, road transport—and the Bank of England.

Controls are plentiful. Rents are frozen. With the country hard up financially, all parties agree many controls must stay.

STILL THE MASTER

The doughty Churchill, who rallied a nation in war, warns that times will be difficult and even dangerous for some time yet, in peace.

"I should be misleading you if I led you to suppose that greater efforts were not needed," he told the country a few weeks ago. "We have got our head above water. Our future task is to swim up against the stream."

Churchill's "personal type" leadership that worked magic during war has brought grumbling among some of the younger backbenchers in his own Conservative party—but nothing so serious even to suggest a revolt.

The old soldier-statesman still is quick on his feet in swapping verbal punches in House of Commons debates. His hearing is not so good these days—sometimes he even wears a hearing aid—but he's lost none of the knack of turning a sharp phrase.

WINNING BATTLE

Export more to get dollars; import less to stave off bankruptcy; step up production; trade not aid.

This has been the core of the Churchill program in the year since overthrowing the Labor government last October. He claims it is succeeding.

Specifically, here's the economic progress the Conservatives cite since taking over:

During the last quarter of 1951, Britain's sterling-area reserves loss was $934,000,000. In the first quarter of 1952—under Churchill—the loss was $636,000,000. In the second quarter, after taking into account U.S. defence aid, the loss was only $15,000,000.

MORE HOUSING

Probably the proudest accomplishment of the Churchill regime has been the housing program. He created a Ministry of Housing and predicted a few weeks ago that the 1951 campaign promise of 300,000 new houses a year would be fulfilled.

In the first six months this year, the Conservatives claim that 110,964 houses were built—24 per cent more than the Labor government built during the same period in 1951.

Britain's cost of living has risen in line with the rest of the world since the Tories took over. The cost-of-living index is up from 129 to 137.

Churchill says the jump in food prices caused by a slash in government subsidies has been more than offset by liberalizing income-tax exemptions to free 2,000,000 wage-earners from any tax.

Churchill has promised that the new session of Parliament convening in a few weeks will quickly denationalize two big industries—the steel industry and road transport.

PLEA FOR UNITY

He has made a plea for unity in coping with the critical economic situation—and has won support of ranking Labor leaders for restraint in wage demands.

The lines are clearly drawn, however, as he launches the second year of his administration—with Labor warning they will seize again any industries handed back to private enterprise once they get into power.

Another Nazi Gets Freedom

BONN, Germany (AP)—Another convicted German war criminal was released Saturday from the British prison at Werl—the third freed by Allied authorities in three days.

Otto Amelung, 39, originally sentenced to death in May, 1948, for being implicated in the killing of inmates fleeing from a concentration camp, was given his freedom this morning after serving the equivalent of a 10-year sentence with good conduct remission.

Former Col. Gen. Eberhard von Mackensen, also originally sentenced to death by a British military court, was released from Werl Thursday. The Americans yesterday freed Franz Alfred Six, former Berlin university dean, who had been sentenced to 20 years in 1948 for acts committed while a member of the S. S. (Nazi Elite Guard).

The speed-up in Allied clemency for war crimes cases was regarded here as of direct assistance to the West German government in its campaign for parliamentary ratification of the European Army treaty.

Expanding Aircraft Industry Significant Industrial Feature

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

One of the significant features of Canada's current industrial growth is the development of a rapidly-expanding and varied aircraft industry which has become an important link in Canada's defence planning.

Millions of dollars have been poured into its development in the last two years. But the investment is paying off not only in big military contracts from both Canada and the United States, but in employment of thousands of Canadians, some of whom otherwise might have migrated to the plane factories of the U.S.

Although the industry still is comparatively young, it already has accumulated sufficient orders to keep it rolling for another three years at least, Defence Production officials estimate.

Canadair Ltd. of Montreal, for example, has Canada-U.S. orders for jets and piston-driven propeller aircraft.

PLENTY OF ORDERS

By far the largest plane plant in Canada, Canadair, defence production officials disclosed, has orders to produce about 1,000 Sabre jet fighters for the R.C.A.F.; another 370 for the United Kingdom, as a Canadian gift under North Atlantic mutual aid commitments; and about 60 of which Canadair produced for the American Air Force this summer. Another order from the U.S. may soon materialize.

In addition, Canadair has a contract to produce some 200 T-36 twin-engine piston-driven trainers for the American air force and about 500 T-33 intermediate jet trainers for the R.C.A.F.

At Malton, A. V. Roe Ltd., in which the federal government has invested some $125,000,000, has federal orders to produce about $100,000,000 worth of Orenda jet engines. Some $66,000,000 of this order is for Orendas which Canadair will use to fit into the Sabre.

The Orenda, built by Canadian designers, also will power the CF-100 Canuck jet fighters which A.V. Roe is producing for the R. C. A. F. Extent of the Canuck order is secret, but officials say it is "substantial."

SUBSIDIARY PLANTS

Toronto's DeHavilland plant also has large American orders for its Beaver transport plane which is being enlarged into the Otter. Orders for the craft have come from both the American Air Force and army.

And at Fort William, the Canadian Car and Foundry Co., is producing a large order of Harvard trainers for both the Canadian and American air forces. Next year, Canadian Car will switch over to produce the new American T-34 trainer, also for both countries.

Centralized in Ontario and Quebec, the expanding aircraft industry has woven a net of subsidiary industries, created by sub-contracts for a thousand and one items required in plane production. This has sparked employment and investment almost across the entire country.

DETROIT (CP) — A Monroe county collision which took three lives yesterday raised Michigan's week-end traffic toll to seven. A Detroit woman was killed when she stepped into the path of a street-car. Fan Mail Still Pours In For Mona Lisa In Louvre

PARIS (AP)—Did you know that [illegible] painting of Mona Lisa de la Giacondo, wife of the Florentine gentleman Francesco de la Giacondo, has inspired a trickle of correspondence since 1880.

A new year's greeting card from Germany, addressed simply "Mona Lisa, Louvre, Paris," was the most recent missive. No file of the letters has been kept, but museum staff members said the mail has been of a serious tone.

The world's most famous portrait of a woman hangs in the 500-yard long Grande Gallerie of the richly-ornamented Louvre Palace, once the home of France's kings.

Many years before the palace became a museum in 1792, King Louis XIII once galloped up and down the Grande Gallerie on a camel he had received as a gift. The Louvre is quieter now, but probably just as crowded.

Mona Lisa's mysterious smile and her knowing look keep a throng milling about her portrait.

The tantalizing urge to touch the rich and sombre canvas is so great that a low railing has been set up to keep Mona Lisa's admirers at more than arm's length. But even this barrier was not enough. Reluctantly the museum's workshop [illegible] the frame holding the portrait.

Even aside from the over present throng around the Mona Lisa, this has been a year of crowds in the Louvre. Attendance has been the greatest since the war. During a record day in August more than 9,000 visitors strolled through the miles of galleries to see some of the 146,750 paintings, statues and objects d'art.

Among visitors of all countries at this great tourist mecca, the order of interest appeared to be: No. 1—The statue of Venus de Milo, No. 2—the Mona Lisa, and No. 3—The big winged statue of Victory of Samothrace.

FAMOUS DIAMOND

A hot competitor of the "big three" for the interest of visitors is the magnificent 136-carat Regent Diamond. This delicately cut stone about the size of a walnut burns with low blue flame in the guilded Gallerie d'Appollon. It was once in the crowds of French kings, then in the hilt of Napoleon's sword.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill used to be one of the Louvre's frequent visitors. He is the only visitor permitted to touch the canvases.

If your worn chain has parted

Lee Sentenced To Be Hanged In Murder Case

HAMILTON (CP)—Harry Lee, 37 was sentenced to be hanged Dec. 30 by Mr. Justice W. F. Spence Saturday when found guilty of the murder of Mrs. Mary Rosenblatt, mother of two. Mrs. Rosenblatt was found shot June 2 near Sheffield.

The jury deliberated four hours. Lee, a caretaker, showed little emotion and stood quietly in the box.

The trial lasted nearly a week. The murder was discovered when Lee drove up to a garage at Sheffield early in the morning with Mrs. Rosenblatt dead in the front seat. She had been shot twice in the chest. Lee also was wounded in the chest. A .22-calibre rifle, the murder weapon, was found in the back seat of Lee's car.

A love note written by Mrs. Rosenblatt was found in Lee's pocket. It read: "I wanted to go with Harry tonight for this ride, and I am as much to blame as he is. We're both crazy in love with each other. Mary Rosenblatt."

Testifyin in his own defence, Lee said he and Mrs. Rosenblatt had been abducted by two men, taken on a car ride lasting 24 hours and then when he struggled with them for the rifle, were shot.

STRICTLY PERSONAL — World's longest personal letter ever written is tapped out on his typewriter by Seaman Pat Kelley, Jr., at a naval air station in Japan. Helping him stretch out the record-breaking epistle is a fellow sailor, David Rodger. Kelley debunks the chronic excuse of having "nothing to write about" with his 40-foot, month-long project. He estimates he hit the typewriter 14,000 times.

Dr. Jordan Says

Too Frequent Use Of Drugs Likely To Cause Addiction

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

One of today's biggest social and medical problems is narcotic addiction, or what is perhaps more commonly known as the drug habit. This problem is serious and a danger, not only to the unfortunate individuals who contract this habit, but to the entire fabric of society.

What causes drug addiction, and what can be done about it? No one really wants to become a drug addict with all the sad physical, mental and social effects which eventually result.

Consequently it is felt that most victims of the habit are those who feel themselves inadequate to face life, who have feelings of inferiority, who are social misfits in some way, and who have been suffering from ill health and have unwisely taken these habit-forming drugs too long, until they can no longer stop.

In referring to the drug habit one usually means a craving for one of the derivatives of opium, although cocaine and marihuana can also be included among the habit-forming drugs.

To opium and its derivatives, suffering humanity owes an enormous debt, since these substances have been used over the centuries to relieve unbearable pain, but they cannot be used indefinitely without running the risk of developing a craving.

The symptoms of habit-formation come slowly. At first the health is little disturbed, but gradually the dose of the drug used has to be increased in order to produce the pleasant symptoms.

When the habit has been finally formed, the victim of drug addiction becomes mentally depressed and often suffers from vague symptoms in the digestive tract or elsewhere whenever the effects of the drug have worn off.

This leads towards more frequent use of the particular drug and the need for larger doses until the confirmed addict is completely at the mercy of dope rings or peddlers who supply it.

As the habit gets worse, the confirmed addict loses weight, develops a poor complexion and tends toward premature greyness. He becomes irritable and restless when not under the influence of the drug. His sleep is disturbed and the appetite fails.

The treatment of fully established drug addiction is difficult indeed. Too often someone who has the habit will commit almost any crime in order to obtain the drug. Treatment, to be effective, is best given in an institution.

The greatest effort in the control of narcotic addiction should be made to inform everyone, including youngsters of high school age, of the dangers of starting down this path, which looks so attractive at the beginning but has only thorns at the end.

In addition, public opinion must be aroused so that measures are taken continuously to smash the dope rings and vicious elements of society which are leading so many innocent victims to disaster.

Unreality Is Subject Of Lesson Sermon

"Unreality" was the subject of the lesson sermon which was read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world including First Church of Christ, Scientist, Peterborough, on Sunday. The golden text was "Let not him that is deceived trust in vanity: for vanity shall be his recompense." (Job 15:31).

Selections from the Bible included the following from Psalms 33: 10, 11: "The Lord bringeth the counsel of the heathen to nought: he maketh the devices of the people of none effect. The counsel of the Lord standeth forever, the thoughts of his heart to all generations."

Correlative citations from the Christian Science textbook, included the following: "In the Gospel of John, it is declared that all things were made through the Word of God, 'and without Him (the logos, or word) was not anything made that was made.' Everything good or worthy, God made. Whatever is valueless or baneful, He did not make—hence its unreality."

Battle Of Hills Not Sign Of Offensive

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SEOUL (AP)—In the cold, impassive language of the communique, "enemy troops attacked two hill positions on the central front and were repulsed by Eighth Army counter-attacks."

That, in the official language, is the "battle of the Hills," the kind of war it has been in Korea for many a weary week. But it really isn't that way at all. Here is what that battle means:

It means crouching in bunkers while the Reds unleash a hell of artillery and mortar fire in volume hitherto unheard of on the Communist side.

It means watching through the gun slits as the enemy emerges from the dusk or mist of the valley below, or comes into the glare of the flares if it is night.

AT CLOSE QUARTERS

It means firing with machine-guns and rifles until you can fire no more. And then it is grenades, bayonets and fists at close quarters against these strange Orientals who laugh or scream in combat.

It means enemy dead in windrows, and your own wounded borne bumping in agony back down the trail.

That is just a glimpse of what it is like in what has come to be known as "The battle of the Hills." You know the names, Bunker Hill, Old Baldy, Big Nori, T-Bone Ridge, Capitol Hill, Finger Ridge.

What is behind this savage, killing effort of the Communists to seize the hills? Why do the Reds fire 47,000 rounds of artillery in a single day—ammunition that must be brought up laboriously by human pack and cart?

NO OFFENSIVE SEEN

Behind the front, you get a variety of answers. But one thing Allied officers agree on. They see as yet no sign that the enemy is massing anywhere for an offensive. There are no tell-tale signs

Most officers mark down the vicious "Battle of the Hills" of September as "heavy harrassing," the killing kind.

Gen. Mark Clark, United Nations Far East Commander, says the relentless Communist assaults do not seem "related to any change in policy" by the Reds. In war, he says, there is "always a fight" for high positions.

The maps at Eighth Army headquarters show that the battleline has not changed materially since armistice delegates negotiated a provisional cease-fire line almost a year ago. Changes in the last 11 months have been minor, perhaps no greater than a half mile at any point.

In the last four weeks, Hills have changed hands as many as six times. Most of them now are in Allied control.

ACTIONS MINOR

By any measure of recent wars, the actions on these hills have been relatively small. Communist assaults in September never exceeded a battalion—some 750 men.

Allied officers say that the fighting qualifies of the Communists, notably the Chinese Reds, are better than a year ago.

Eighth Army officers with access to intelligence say the morale of North Korean troops has dropped low but that the morale of the Chinese troops is good.

As the battle roars on, Allied officers are more concerned with Communist capabilities than intentions.

One enemy capability that has surprised the Allied camp is the Communist ability and willingness to unload those tremendous artillery and mortar barrages, thus expending precious ammunition stores.

An Eighth Army officer said there was no question that the Reds were having trouble bringing supplies up to the front.

"But," he said, "you can support an army without a highway system. The Reds have proved they can do it with donkey carts and by loading supplies on a man's back. They have manpower to spare and they work the hell out of them."

Claim For Damages Ordered Dismissed

TORONTO (CP)—A claim for $650,000 damages against Creative Resources Ltd., Silver Crater Mines Ltd., and R. Dean Wills, a Toronto solicitor, has been dismissed with costs in a judgment by Mr. Justice A.M. LeBel.

Mrs. Veola Jean Adams of Beeton, asked for $50,000 for claimed false representations by Mr. Wills in negotiations over the development of Timiskaming mining claims. She also asked that two agreements with the two companies be declared null and void and in the event the court was unable to do this she claimed $600,000.

Mr. Justice LeBel said he found no misrepresentation on the part of Mr. Wills and he refused the request concerning the agreements.

Police said the three men killed were riding with a fourth in a small car which collided with an American auto. The fourth man was in hospital in critical condition but police would not reveal his name until next-of-kin had been notified. Most Of Jets In Scotland

OTTAWA (CP)—A big portion of Canada's three Sabre jet air squadrons destined for service with the North Atlantic forces in Europe now has reached Prestwick, Scotland, the R.C.A.F. reported last night.

An official said 40 of the 63 fighter jets in the three squadrons reached the Scottish airport Saturday. They will wait there until the other 23 arrive before proceeding to their European base at Gros Tenquin in northeast France.

Of the 23, 22 of the jets are in Greenland and the other in Iceland waiting for the weather to clear up before completing the trans-Atlantic hop.

Seek More Elegant Look In Shoe Designs For Women

MONTREAL (CP) — Here's a woman who is really conscious about her shoes—and other women's too.

She's Sylvie Hamilton, a shoe designer for some of New York's top shoe firms. Here on a brief visit she said: "The trend is toward a more elegant and feminine look, and away from the strictly-tailored style. Shoes need a kick to them."

Footwear need not be restricted to standard styles, colors and fabrics, she said. They can be versatile and interesting.

The shoe industry follows fashion highlights in dresses with a keen eye, and designs shoes accordingly. The soft, fluid lines featured in this year's suits, dresses and coats will have a marked effect on the spring shoe styles.
